33 ¶ And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a spirit of an unclean devil, which cried with a loud voice.
34 Saying, Oh, what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know who thou art, even the Holy one of God.
35 And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. Then the devil throwing him in the midst of them, came out of him, and hurt him nothing at all.
36 So fear came on them all, and they spake among themselves, saying, What thing is this: for with authority and power he commandeth the foul spirits, and they come out?
37 And the fame of him spread abroad throughout all the places of the country round about.
38 ¶ And he rose up, and came out of the Synagogue, and entered into Simon’s house. And Simon’s wife’s mother was taken with a great fever, and they required him for her.
39 Then he stood over her, and rebuked the fever, and it left her, and immediately she arose, and ministered unto them.
40 Now at the Sun setting, all they that had sick folks of divers diseases, brought them unto him, and he laid his hands on everyone of them, and healed them.
41 ¶ And devils also came out of many, crying, and saying, Thou art that Christ that Son of God: but he rebuked them, and suffered them not to say that they knew him to be that Christ.
42 And when it was day, he departed, and went forth into a desert place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him that he should not depart from them.
43 But he said unto them, Surely I must also preach the kingdom of God to other cities: for therefore am I sent.
44 And he preached in the Synagogues of Galilee.

5 1 Christ teacheth out of the ship. 6 Of the draught of fish. 12 The Leper. 16 Christ prayeth in the desert. 18 One sick of the palsy. 27 Levi the Publican. 34 The fastings and afflictions of the Apostles after Christ’s ascension. 36,37,38 Fainthearted and weak disciples are likened to old bottles and worn garments.

1 Then it came to pass, as the people pressed upon him to hear the word of God, that he stood by the lake of Gennesaret, 2 And saw two ships stand by the lakeside, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were was washing their nets.

3 And he entered into one of the ships, which was Simon's, and required him that he would thrust off a little from the land: and he sat down, and taught the people out of the ship.

4 ¶ Now when he had left speaking, he said unto Simon, Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets as a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and said unto him, ¹Master, we have travailed sore all night, and have taken nothing: nevertheless at thy word I will let down the net.

6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.

7 And they beckoned to their partners, which were in the other ship, that they should come and help them, who came then, and filled both the ships, that they did sink.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus knees, saying, Lord, go from me: for I am a sinful man.

9 For he was utterly astonished, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they took.

10 And so was also James and John the sons of Zebedee, who were companions with Simon. Then Jesus said unto Simon, Fear not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the ships to land, they forsook all, and followed him.

12 ¶ h Now it came to pass, as he was in a certain city, behold, there was a man full of leprosy, and when he saw Jesus, he fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will, be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

14 And he commanded him that he should tell it no man: but Go, saith he, and show thyself to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing, as Moses hath commanded, for a witness unto them.

15 But so much more went there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed of him of their infirmities.

16 But he kept himself apart in the wilderness, and prayed.

17 ¶ i And it came to pass, on a certain day, as he was teaching, that the Pharisees and doctors of the Law sat by, which were come out of every town of Galilee, and Judea, and Jerusalem, and the power of the Lord was in him, to heal them.

18 Then beheld, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palsy, and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in, because of the press, they went up on the house, and let him down through the tiling, bed and all, in the midst before Jesus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but God only?

22 But when Jesus perceived their reasoning he answered, and said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sins are forgiven thee, or to say, Rise and walk?

24 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath authority to forgive sins in earth, (he said unto the sick of the palsy) I say to thee, Arise: take up thy bed, and go into thine house.

25 And immediately he rose up before them, and took up his bed whereon he lay, and departed to his own house, praising God.

26 And they were all amazed, and praised God, and were filled with fear, saying, Doubtless we have seen strange things today.

27 ¶ h i And after that, he went forth and saw a Publican named Levi, sitting at the receipt of custom, and said unto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose up, and followed him.

29 Then Levi made him a great feast in his own house, praising God.

30 But they that were Scribes and Pharisees among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eat ye and drink ye with Publicans and sinners?

31 Then Jesus answered, and said unto them, They that are whole, need not the Physician, but they that are sick.

32 ¶ j Then came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ h i Then they said unto him, Why do the dis-

The disciples pull the ears of corn on the Sabbath. 6 Of him that had a withered hand. 13 The election of the Apostles. 20 The blessings and curses. 27 We must love our enemies. 46 With what fruit the word of God is to be heard.

1 And it came to pass on a second solemn Sabbath, that he went through the corn fields, and his disciples plucked the ears of corn, and did eat, and rubbed them in their hands.

2 And certain of the Pharisees said unto them, Why do ye that which is not lawful to do on the Sabbath days?

3 Then Jesus answered them, and said, Have ye not read this, that David did when he himself was an hungered, and they which were with him,

4 How he went into the house of God, and took, and ate the showbread, and gave also to them which were with him, which was not lawful to eat, but for the Priests only?

5 And he said unto them, The Son of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day.

6 It came to pass also on another Sabbath, that he entered into the Synagogue, and taught, and there was a man, whose right hand was dried up.

7 And the Scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the Sabbath day, that they might find an accusation against him.

8 But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Arise, and stand up in the midst. And he arose, and stood up.

9 Then said Jesus unto them, I will ask you a question, Whether is it lawful on the Sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy?

10 And he beheld them all, and said unto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he did so, and his hand was restored again, as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madness, and communed one with another, what they might do to Jesus.

12 ¶ And it came to pass in those days, that he went into a mountain to pray, and spent the night in prayer to God.

13 And when it was day, he called his disciples, and of them he chose twelve which also he called Apostles:

14 (Simon whom he named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew, 15 Matthew and Thomas; James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon called Zelous, 16 Judas James' brother, and Judas Iscariot, which also was the traitor.)

17 Then he came down with them, and stood in a plain place with the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Judea, and Jerusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyre and Sidon, which came to hear him, and to be healed of their diseases:

18 And they that were vexed with foul spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went virtue out of him, and healed them all:

20 ¶ And he lifted up his eyes upon his disciples, and said, Blessed be ye poor: for yours is the kingdom of God.

23 Rejoice ye in that day, and 'be glad: for behold, your reward is great in heaven: for after this manner their fathers did to the Prophets:
24 'But woe to you that are rich: for ye have 'received your consolation.
25 'Woe to you that are full: for ye shall hunger. Woe be to you that now laugh: for ye shall wail and weep.
26 Woe be to you when all men speak well of you: for so did their fathers to the false prophets.
27 ¶ 'But I say unto you which hear, Love your enemies: do well to them which hate you. So far is it, from seeking its own profit in doing well.

1 Of the Centurion's servant. 9 The Centurion's faith. 11 The widow's son raised from death at Nain. 19 John senteth his disciples to Christ. 33 His peculiar kind of living. 37 The sinful woman washeth Jesus' feet.

1 When he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entered into Capernaum.
2 And a certain Centurion's servant was sick and ready to die, which was dear unto him.
3 And when he heard of Jesus, he sent unto him the Elders of the Jews, beseeching him that he would come, and heal his servant.
4 So they came to Jesus, and besought him instantly, saying that he was worthy that he should do this for him:
5 For he loveth, said they, our nation, and he hath built us a Synagogue.
6 Then Jesus went with them: but when he was now not far from the house, the Centurion sent friends to him, saying unto him, Lord, trouble not thyself: for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter under my roof:
7 Wherefore I thought not myself worthy to come unto thee: but say the word, and my servant shall be whole:
8 For I likewise am a man set under authority, and have under me soldiers, and I say unto one, Go, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.
9 When Jesus heard these things, he marveled; and said unto his disciples, I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no not in Israel.
10 And when they that were sent, turned back to the house, they found the servant that was sick, whole.
11 And it came to pass the day after, that he went into a city called Nain, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.

12 Now when he came near to the gate of the city, behold, there was a dead man carried out, who was the only begotten son of his mother, which was a widow, and much people of the city was with her.
13 And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not.
14 And he went and touched the coffin (and they that bare him, stood still) and he said, Young man, I say unto thee, Arise.
15 And he that was dead, sat up, and began to speak, and he delivered him to his mother.
16 Then there came a fear on them all, and they glorified God, saying, A great Prophet is risen among us, and God hath visited his people.
17 And this rumor of him went forth throughout all Judea, and throughout all the region round about.
18 And the disciples of John showed him of all these things.
19 So John called unto him two certain men of his disciples, and sent them to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall we wait for another?
20 And when the men were come unto him, they said, John Baptist hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall we wait for another?
21 And at that time, he cured many of their sicknesses, and plagues, and of evil spirits, and unto many blind men he gave sight freely.
22 And Jesus answered, and said unto them, Go your ways and show John, what things ye have seen and heard, that the blind see, the halt go, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, and the poor receive the Gospel.
23 And blessed is he, that shall not be offended in me.
24 And when the messengers of John were departed, he began to speak unto the people of John, What went ye out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken with the wind?
25 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? behold, they which are gorgeously appareled, and live delicately, are in Kings' courts.
26 But what went ye forth to see? A Prophet? yea, I say to you, and greater than a Prophet.
27 This is he of whom it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.
28 For I say unto you, there is no greater Prophet than John, among them that are begotten of women: nevertheless, he that is the least in the kingdom of God, is greater than he.

29 Then all the people that heard, and the Publicans and Sinners justified God, being baptized with the baptism of John.

30 But the Pharisees and the expounders of the Law despised the counsel of God against themselves, and were not baptized of him.

31 ¶ And the Lord said, Whereunto shall I liken the men of this generation? and what thing are they like unto?

32 They are like unto little children sitting in the marketplace, and crying one to another, and saying, We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced: we have mourned to you, and ye have not wept.

33 For John Baptist came neither eating bread, nor drinking wine: and ye say, He hath the devil.

34 The Son of man is come, and eateth, and drinketh: and ye say, A Prophet, he would surely have known who, and what thing are they like unto?

35 But wisdom is justified of all her children.

36 ¶ And one of the Pharisees desired him that he would eat with him: and he went into the Pharisee's house, and sat down at table.

37 And behold, a woman in the city, which was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at table in the Pharisee's house, she brought a box of ointment.

38 And she stood at his feet behind him weeping, and began to wash his feet with tears, and did wipe them with the hairs of her head, and kissed his feet, and anointed them with the ointment.

39 ¶ When the Pharisee which bade him, saw it, he spake within himself, saying, If this man were a Prophet, he would surely have known who, and what manner of woman this is which toucheth him:

40 For she is a sinner.

41 And Jesus answered, and said unto him, Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house, and thou gavest me no water to my feet: but she hath washed my feet with tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head.

42 Thou gavest me no kiss: but she, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kiss my feet.

43 Mine head with oil thou didst not anoint: but she hath anointed my feet with ointment.

44 Wherefore I say unto thee, many sins are forgiven her: for she loved much. To whom a little is forgiven, he doth love a little.

45 And he said unto her, Thy sins are forgiven thee.

46 Mine head with oil thou didst not anoint: but she, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kiss my feet.

47 Wherefore I say unto thee, many sins are forgiven her: for she loved much. To whom a little is forgiven, he doth love a little.

48 And he said unto her, Thy sins are forgiven thee.

49 And they that sat at table with him, began to say to one another, and saying, Who is this that even forgiveth sins?

50 And he said to the woman, Thy faith hath saved thee: go in peace.

3 And Joanna the wife of Chuza Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others which ministered abundantly: and Basil in his sermon of Baptism saith, He that oweth much, hath much forgiven him, that he may love much more: And therefore Christ's saying is so plain by the similitude, that it is a wonder to see the enemies of the truth draw and rack this place so soundly to establish their meritorious works: for the greater sum a man hath forgiven him, the more he loveth him that hath been so gracious to him: And this woman shoveth by duties of love, how great the benefit was she had received: and therefore the charity that is here spoken of, is not to be taken for the cause, but as a sign: for Christ saith not as the Pharisees did, that she was a sinner, but beareth her witness that the sins of her life past are forgiven her.

4 1Now when much people were gathered together, and were come unto him out of all cities, he spake by a parable.
5 A sower went out to sow his seed, and as he sowed, some fell by the wayside, and it was trodden under feet, and the fowls of heaven devoured it up.
6 And some fell on the stones, and when it was sprung up, it withered away, because it lacked moistness.
7 And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up with it, and choked it.
8 And some fell on good ground, and sprang up, and bare fruit, an hundredfold. And as he said these things, he cried, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.
9 Then his disciples asked him, demanding what parable that was.
10 And he said, Unto you it is given to know the secrets of the kingdom of God, but to others in parables, that when they see, they should not see, and when they hear, they should not understand.
11 The parable is this, The seed is the word of God.
12 And they that are beside the way, are they that hear: afterward cometh the devil, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe, and be saved.
13 But they that are on the stones, are they which when they have heard, receive the word with joy: but they have no roots: which for a while believe, but in the time of temptation go away.
14 And that which fell among thorns, are they which have heard, and after that their departure are choked with cares and with riches, and voluptuous living, and bring forth no fruit.
15 But that which fell in good ground, are they which with an honest and good heart hear the word, and keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience.
16 ¶ 2No man when he hath lighted a candle, covereth it under a vessel, neither putteth it under the bed, but setteeth it on a candlestick, that they that enter in, may see the light.
17 ¶ For nothing is secret, that shall not be evident: neither anything hid, that shall not be known, and come to light.
18 ¶ 1Take heed therefore how ye hear: for he that hath ears to hear, shall receive; and whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he seemedeth that he hath.
19 ¶ 3Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come near to him for the press.
20 And it was told him by certain which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, and would see thee.
21 But he answered, and said unto them, My mother and my brethren are these which hear the word of God, and do it.
22 ¶ And it came to pass on a certain day, that he went into a ship with his disciples, and he said unto them, Let us go over unto the other side of the lake. And they launched forth.
23 And as they sailed, he fell asleep, and there came down a storm of wind on the lake, and they were filled with water, and were in jeopardy.
24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and the waves of water: and they ceased, and it was calm.
25 Then he said unto them, Where is your faith? And they feared, and wondered among themselves, saying, Who is this that commandeth both the winds and water, and they obey him!
26 ¶ So they sailed unto the region of the Gadarenes, which is over against Galilee.
27 1And as he went out to land, there met him a certain man out of the city, which had devils long time, and he wore no garment, neither abode in house, but in the graves.

28 And when he saw Jesus, he cried out, and fell down before him, and with a loud voice said, What have I to do with thee, Jesus the son of God the most High? I beseech thee torment me not.

29 For he commanded the foul spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times he had caught him: therefore he was bound with chains, and kept in fetters: but he brake the bands, and was carried of the devil into wildernesses.)

30 Then Jesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and he said, Legion, because many devils were entered into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not command them to go out into the deep.

32 And there was thereby an herd of many swine feeding on an hill: and the devils besought him, that he would suffer them to enter into them. So he suffered them.

33 Then went the devils out of the man, and entered into the swine: and the herd was carried with violence from a steep down place into the lake, and was choked.

34 When the herdsmen saw what was done, they fled: and when they were departed, they told it in the city and in the country.

35 Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Jesus, and found the man, out of whom the devils were departed, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

36 They also which saw it, told them by what means he that was possessed with the devil, was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the country about the Gadarenes, besought him that he would depart from them: for they were taken with a great fear: and he went into the ship, and returned.

38 Then the man, out of whom the devils were departed, besought him that he might be with him: but Jesus sent him away, saying, 39 Return into thine own house, and show what great things God hath done to thee. So he went his way, and preached throughout all the city, what great things Jesus had done unto him.

40 ¶ And it came to pass, when Jesus was come again, that the people received him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ And behold, there came a man named Jairus, and he was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fell down at Jesus' feet, and besought him that he would come into his house.

42 For he had but a daughter only, about twelve years of age, and she lay a dying (and as he went, the people thronged him.

43 And a woman having an issue of blood, twelve years long, which had spent all her substance upon physicians, and could not be healed of any:

44 When she came behind him, she touched the hem of his garment, and immediately her issue of blood stanched.

45 Then Jesus said, Who is it that hath touched me? When every man denied, Peter said and they that were with him, Master, the multitude thrust thee, and tread on thee, and sayest thou, Who hath touched me?

46 And Jesus said, Someone hath touched me: for I perceive that virtue is gone out of me.

47 When the woman saw that she was not hid, she came trembling, and fell down before him, and told him before all the people: for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately.

48 And he said unto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath saved thee: go in peace.

49 While he yet spake, there came one from the ruler of the Synagogue's house, which said to him, Thy daughter is dead: disease not the Master.

50 When Jesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Fear not: believe only, and she shall be saved.

51 When he went into the house, he suffered no man to go in with him, save Peter, and James, and John, and the father and mother of the maid.

52 And all wept, and mourned for her: but he said, Weep not: for she is not dead, but sleepeth.

53 And they laughed him to scorn, knowing that she was dead.

54 So he thrust them all out, and took her by the hand, and cried, saying, Maid, arise.

55 And her spirit came again, and she rose straightway: and he commanded to give her meat.

56 Then her parents were astonished: but he commanded them that they should tell no man what was done.

8:40 1 The multitude was glad he was come again, and rejoiced greatly.

8:52 1 The word signifieth to beat and strike, and is transferred to the mournings and lamentations, that are at burials, at which times men use such kind of behavior.

8:55 1 The corpse was laid out, and the wench received life, and rose out of the bed, that all the world might see, she was not only restored to life, but also void of all sickness.
9 The Apostles are sent to preach. 7 and 19 The common people's opinion of Christ. 12 Of the five loaves and two fishes. 20 The Apostles' confession. 24 To lose the life. 35 We must hear Christ. 39 The possessed of a spirit. 46 Strife among the Apostles for the Primacy. 49 One cast out devils in Christ's Name. 52 The Samaritans will not receive Christ. 55 Revenge forbidden. 57, 59, 61 Of three that would follow Christ, but on divers conditions.

1 Then called he his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to heal diseases.

2 And he sent them forth to preach the kingdom of God, and to cure the sick.

3 And he said to them, 'Take nothing to your journey, neither staves, nor scrip, neither bread, nor silver, neither have two coats apiece.

4 And whatsoever house ye enter into, there abide, and thence depart.

5 And how many soever will not receive you, when ye go out of that city, shake off the very dust from your feet for a testimony against them.

6 And they went out, and went through every town preaching the Gospel, and healing everywhere.

7 ¶ Now Herod the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and he doubted, because that it was said of some, that John was risen again from the dead:

8 And of some, that Elijah had appeared: and of some, that one of the old Prophets was risen again.

9 Then Herod said, John have I beheaded: who then is this of whom I hear such things? and he desired to see him.

10 ¶ And when the Apostles returned, they told him what great things they had done. Then he took them to him, and went aside into a solitary place, near to the city called Bethsaida.

11 But when the people knew it, they followed him: and he received them, and spake unto them of the kingdom of God, and healed them that had need to be healed.

12 ¶ And when the day began to wear away, the twelve came, and said unto him, Send the people away, that they may go into the towns and villages round about, and lodge, and get meat: for we are here in a desert place.

13 But he said unto them, Give ye them to eat. And they said, We have no more but five loaves and two fishes, except we should go and buy meat for all this people.

14 For they were about five thousand men. Then he said to his disciples, Cause them to sit down by fifties in a company.

15 And they did so, and caused all to sit down.

16 Then he took the five loaves, and the two fishes, and looked up to heaven, and blessed them, and brake, and gave to the disciples, to set before the people.

17 So they did all eat, and were satisfied: and there was taken up of that remained to them, twelve baskets full of broken meat.

18 ¶ And it came to pass, as he was alone praying, his disciples were with him: and he asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and said, John Baptist: and others say, Elijah: and some say, that one of the old Prophets is risen again.

20 And he said unto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answered, and said: 'That Christ of God.

21 And he warned and commanded them, that they should tell that to no man.

22 ¶ Saying, 'The Son of man must suffer many things, and be reproved of the Elders, and of the high Priests and Scribes, and be slain, and the third day rise again.

23 ¶ And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me.

24 ¶ For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it.

25 ¶ For what advantageth it a man, if he win the whole world, and destroy himself, or lose himself?

26 ¶ For whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words, of him shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he shall come in his glory, and in the glory of the Father, and of the holy Angels.

27 ¶ And I tell you of a surety, there be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they have seen the kingdom of God.

28 ¶ And it came to pass about an eight days after those words, that he took Peter and John, and James, and went up into a mountain to pray.

29 ¶ And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 ¶ And behold, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elijah:

31 ¶ Which appeared in glory, and told of his departure, which he should accomplish at Jerusalem.

32 ¶ But Peter and they that were with him, were heavy with sleep, and when they awoke, they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him.

33 ¶ And it came to pass, as they departed from him, Peter said unto Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: let us therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elijah.

34 ¶ While he thus spake, there came a cloud and overshadowed them, and they feared when they were entering into the cloud.

35 ¶ And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son, hear him.

36 ¶ And when the voice was past, Jesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and told no man in those days any of those things which they had seen.

37 ¶ ¶ And it came to pass on the next day, as they came down from the mountain, much people met him. And behold, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my son: for he is all that I have.

38 ¶ And behold, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my son: for he is all that I have.

39 ¶ And lo, a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he crieth, and he teareth him, that he foameth, and hardly departeth from him, when he hath bruised him.

40 ¶ Now I have besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 ¶ Then Jesus answered and said, O generation faithless and crooked, how long now shall I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy son hither.

42 ¶ And while he was yet coming, the devil rent him, and tore him: and Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the child, and delivered him to his father.

43 ¶ ¶ And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God: and while they all wondered at all things which Jesus did, he said unto his disciples, 44 ¶ Mark these words diligently: for it shall come to pass, that the son of man shall be delivered into the hands of men.

45 ¶ But they understood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceive it: and they feared to ask him of that word.

46 ¶ ¶ ¶ Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should be the greatest.

47 ¶ And John answered and said, Master, we saw one casting out devils in thy Name, and we forbade him, because he followeth thee not with us.

48 ¶ Then Jesus said unto him, Forbid ye him not: for he that is not against us, is with us.

49 ¶ ¶ ¶ And John answered and said, Master, we saw one casting out devils in thy Name, and we forbade him, because he followeth thee not with us.

50 ¶ Then Jesus said unto him, Forbid ye him not: for he that is not against us, is with us.

51 ¶ And it came to pass, when the days were accomplished, that he should be received up, he settled himself fully to go to Jerusalem, 52 ¶ And sent messengers before him: and they went and entered into a town of the Samaritans, to prepare him lodging.

53 ¶ But they would not receive him, because his behavior was as though he would go to Jerusalem.

54 ¶ And when his disciples, James and John saw it, they said, Lord, wilt thou that we command, that fire come down from heaven, and consume them, even as Elijah did?
55. But Jesus turned about, and rebuked them, and said, Ye know not of what spirit ye are.
56. For the Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them. Then they went to another town.

57. ¶ And it came to pass that as they went in the way, “a certain man said unto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whithersoever thou goest.
58. And Jesus said unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the heaven nests, but the Son of man hath not whereon to lay his head.
59. ¶ But he said unto another, Follow me. And the same said, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father.
60. And Jesus said unto him, Let the dead bury their dead: but go thou, and preach the kingdom of God.

61. ¶ Then another said, I will follow thee, Lord: but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at mine house.
62. And Jesus said unto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh back, is apt to the kingdom of God.

10 The seventy disciples. 10 The unthankful cities charged with impiety. 17 The disciples returning, are warned to be humble. 29, 30 Who is our neighbor. 38 Of Martha and her sister Mary.

1. After “these things, the Lord appointed other seventy also, and sent them, two and two before him into every city and place, whither he himself should come.
2. And he said unto them, “The harvest is great, but the laborers are few; pray therefore the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into his harvest.
3. “Go your ways: behold, I send you forth as lambs among wolves.
4. “Bear no bag, neither scrip, nor shoes, and salute no man by the way.

5. ¶ And into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace be to this house.
6. And if ‘the son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon him, if not, it shall turn to you again.
7. And in that house ‘carry still, eating and drinking such things as by them shall be set before you: ‘for the laborer is worthy of his wages. Go not from house to house.

8. ¶ But into whatsoever city ye shall enter, if they receive you, ‘eat such things as are set before you, and heal the sick that are there, and say unto them, ‘The kingdom of God is come near unto you.
9. ¶ But into whatsoever city ye shall enter, if they will not receive you, go your ways out into the streets of the same, and say,
10. ¶ Even the very ‘dust, which cleaveth on us of your city, we wipe off against you: notwithstanding know this, that the kingdom of God was come near unto you.
11. For I say to you, that it shall be easier in that day for them of Sodom, than for that city.
12. ¶ ‘Woe be to thee, Chorazin: woe be to thee, Bethsaida: for if the miracles had been done in Tyre and Sidon, which have been done in you, they had a great while ago repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.
13. ¶ Therefore it shall be easier for Tyre, and Sidon, at the judgment, than for you.

14. ¶ And thou, Capernaum, which art excelled to heaven, shalt be thrust down to hell.
15. ¶ ‘He that heareth you, heareth me: and he that despiseth you, despiseth me: and he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me.
16. ¶ And the seventy turned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subdued to us ‘through thy Name.

9.35 1 So speak the Hebrews, that is, you know not what will, mind, and counsel you are of: so the gifts of God are called the spirit, because they are given of God’s Spirit, and so are they, that are contrary to them, which proceed of the wicked spirit, as the spirit of covetousness, of pride, and madness.
9.37 1 Such as follow Christ, must prepare themselves, to suffer all discomforts.
9.39 1 The calling of God ought to be preferred, without all controversy before all duties that we owe to men.
9.60 1 Who notwithstanding that they live in this frail life of man, yet are strangers from the true life, which is everlasting and heavenly.
9.61 1 Such as follow Christ, must at once renounce all worldly cares.
10.1 1 The seventy are sent as the second forewarners, of the coming of Christ.
10.3 1 The faithful ministers of the word are in this world as lambs among wolves: but if they be diligent to do their duty, he that sent them will also preserve them.
10.4 1 This is spoken after the manner of a figure, which men use, when they put down more in words, than is meant: usually among the Hebrews, when they command a thing to be done speedily without delay, as 2 Kings 4:29: for otherwise courteous and gentle salutations, are points of Christian duty: as for the calling it was but for a season.
10.6 1 So speak the Hebrews: that is, he that favoreth the doctrine of peace and embraceth it.
10.7 1 Take up your lodging in that house, which ye first enter into, that is, be not careful for commodious lodging, as men do which purpose to stay long in a place: for here is not instituted that solemn preaching of the Gospel, which was used afterward, when the Churches were settled: but these are sent abroad to all the coasts of Judea, to give them to understand, that the last Jubilee is at hand.
10.8 1 Content yourselves with that meat that is set before you.
10.10 1 God is a most severe revenger of the ministry of his Gospel.
10.17 1 Neither the gift of miracles, neither what else soever excellent gift, but only our election giveth us occasion of true joy: and the only publishing of the Gospel is the destruction of Satan.
2 For Christ’s disciples used no absolute authority, but wrought such miracles as they did, by calling upon Christ’s Name.
18 And he said unto them, I saw Satan, like lightning, fall down from heaven.
19 Behold, I give unto you power to tread on Serpents, and Scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall hurt you.
20 Nevertheless, in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subdued unto you: but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven.
21 ¶ That same hour rejoiced Jesus in the spirit, and said, I confess unto thee, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and understanding, and hast revealed them to babes: even so, Father, because it so pleased thee. 3 22 All things are given me of my Father: and no man knoweth who the son is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, save the Son, and he to whom the Son will reveal him.
23 ¶ And he turned to his disciples, and said secretly, Blessed are the eyes, which see that ye see.
24 For I tell you that many Prophets and Kings have desired to see those things, which ye see, and have not seen them: and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them.
25 ¶ Then behold, a certain Lawyer stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?
26 And he said unto him, What is written in the Law? how readest thou?
27 And he answered and said, Thou shalt love thy Lord God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy thought, and with all thy might, and with all thy saying,
and with all thy wisdom.
28 Then he said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and thou shalt live.
29 But he willing to justify himself, said unto Jesus, Who is then my neighbor?
30 And Jesus answered, and said, A certain man grew up from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.
31 Now it fell out, that there came down a certain Priest that same way, and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.
32 And likewise a Levite, when he was come near to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.
33 Then a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came near unto him, and when he saw him, he had compassion on him,
34 And went to him, and bound up his wounds and poured in oil and wine, and put him on his own beast, and brought him to an Inn, and made provision for him.
35 And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him, and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again, I will recompense thee.
36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbor unto him that fell among the thieves?
37 And he said, He that showed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise.
38 ¶ Now it came to pass, as they went, that he entered into a certain town, and a certain woman named Martha, received him into her house.
39 And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Jesus' feet, and heard his preaching.
40 But Martha was cumbered about much serving, and came to him, and said, Master, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone? bid her therefore, that she help me.
41 And Jesus answered, and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many things:
42 But one thing is needful, Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

11 1 He teacheth his Apostles to pray. 14 The dumb devil driven out. 27 A woman of the company lifted up her voice. 29 The Jews require signs. 37 He being done with the Pharisee, reproved the outward show of holiness.
1 And so it was, that as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said unto him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.
2 And he said unto them, When ye pray, say,
Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy Name. Thy kingdom come: Let thy will be done, even in earth, as it is in heaven:

10:18 1 Paul placeth the devil and his angels, in the air, Eph. 6:12, and he is said to be cast down from thence by force when his power is abolished by the voice of the Gospel.
10:19 1 Shall do you wrong.
10:21 1 The Church is contemptible, if we behold the outward face of it, but the wisdom of God is not so marvelous, in any thing, as in it.
2 Of this world.
3 Then he turned to his disciples, and said, Is read in some copies.
10:22 1 Whosoever seeketh the Father without the Son, wandereth out of the way.
10:23 1 The difference of the old Testament and the new consisteth in the measure of revelation.
10:25 1 Faith doth not take away, but establisheth the doctrine of the Law.
10:29 1 All they are comprehended in the name of our neighbor, by the Law, whomsoever we may help.
2 That is, to vouch his righteousness, or show, that he was just;
that is, void of all faults: and James 5:1 useth the word of justification in this sense.
10:38 1 Christ careth not to be entertained delicately, but to be heard diligently, that is it which he especially requireth.
11:2 1 A form of true prayer.
3 Our daily bread give us 1 for the day:
4 And forgive us our sins: for even we forgive every man that is indebted to us: and lead us not into temptation: but deliver us from evil.
5 ¶ Moreover he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go to him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves!
6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to me, and I have nothing to set before him:
7 And he within should answer, and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed: I cannot rise and give them to thee.
8 I say unto you, Though he would not arise and give him, because he is his friend, yet doubtless because of his 1 importunity, he would rise and give him as many as he needed.
9 1 And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you: seek, and ye shall find: knock, and it shall be opened unto you.
10 1 For everyone that asketh, receiveth: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.
11 1 If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent?
12 Or if he ask an egg, will he give him a scorpion?
13 If ye then which are evil, can give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father give the holy Ghost to them that desire him?
14 1 ¶ Then he cast out a devil which was dumb: and when the devil was gone out, the dumb spake, and the people wondered.
15 1 But some of them said, 1 He casteth out devils through Beelzebub the chief of the devils.
16 And others tempted him, seeking of him a sign from heaven.
17 1 But he knew their thoughts, and said unto them, 1 Every kingdom divided against itself, shall be desolate, and an house divided against an house, falleth.
18 So if Satan also be divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand, because ye say that I 11:3 1 That is, as much as is needful for us this day, whereby we are not debaused to have an honest care for the maintenance of our lives: but that carping care, which killeth a number of men, is cut off and restrained.

11:5 1 Word for word, impudency: but that impudence which is spoken of here, is not to be found fault with: but is very commendable before God, for he liketh well of such importunity.
11:15 1 An example of horrible blindness, and such as cannot be healed, when as upon an evil conscience, and pretended malice, the power of God is blasphemed.
11:17 1 The true way to know the true Christ, from the false, is this, that the true Christ hath no accord or agreement with Satan: And it cast out devils 1 through Beelzebub?
19 If I through Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your judges.
20 But if I by the 1 finger of God cast out devils, doubtless the kingdom of God is come unto you.
21 When a strong man armed keepeth his 1 palace, the things that he possesseth, are in peace.
22 But when a stronger than he cometh upon him, and overcometh him: he taketh from him all his armor wherein he trusted, and divideth his spoils.
23 1 He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.
24 k, l When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest: and when he findeth none, he saith, I will return unto mine house whence I came out.
25 And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished.
26 Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits worse than himself: and they enter in, and dwell there: so the last state of that man is worse than the first.
27 1 ¶ And it came to pass as he said these things, a certain woman of the company lifted up her voice, and said unto him, Blessed is the womb that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.
28 But he said, Yea, rather blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it.
29 1, l And when the people were gathered thick together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: they seek a sign, and there shall no sign be given them, but the sign of 1 Jonah the Prophet.
30 For as Jonah was a sign to the Ninevites: so shall also the son of man be to this generation.
31 1 The Queen of the South shall rise in judgment, with the men of this generation, and shall condemn them: for she came from the utmost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, a greater than Solomon is here.
32 The men of Nineve shall rise in judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: for they "repented at the preaching of Jonah: and behold, a greater than Jonah is here.

33 ¶ "No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a privy place, neither under a bushel: but on a candlestick, that they which come in, may see the light.

34 "The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be evil, then thy body is dark.

35 Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkness.

36 If therefore thy whole body shall be light, having no part dark, then shall all be light, even as when a candle doth light thee with the brightness.

37 ¶ And as he spake, a certain Pharisee besought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sat down at the table.

38 And when the Pharisee saw it, he marveled because he had not first washed before dinner.

39 ¶ And the Lord said to him, Indeed ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of ravening and wickedness.

40 Ye fools, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within also?

41 Therefore, give alms of those things which you have, and behold, all things shall be clean unto you.

42 ¶ But woe be to you, Pharisees: for ye see the tithe of the mint and the rue, and all manner herbs, and pass over judgment and the love of God: these ought ye to have done, and not to have left the other undone.

43 ¶ Woe be to you, Pharisees: for ye love the uppermost seats in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 ¶ Woe be to you, Scribes and Pharisees hypocrites: for ye are as graves which appear not, and the men that walk over them, perceive not.

45 ¶ "Then answered one of the Lawyers, and said unto him, Master, thus saying thou puttest us to rebuke also.

46 And he said, Woe be to you, also, ye Lawyers: for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

47 ¶ Woe be to you: for ye build the sepulchers of the Prophets, and your fathers killed them.

48 Truly ye bear witness, and allow the deeds of your fathers: for they killed them, and ye build their sepulchers.

49 Therefore said the wisdom of God, I will send them Prophets and Apostles, and of them they shall slay, and persecute away,

50 That the blood of all the Prophets, shed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation,

51 From the blood of Abel unto the blood of Zechariah, which was slain between the altar and the Temple: verily I say unto you, it shall be required of this generation, 52 ¶ Woe be to you, Lawyers: for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in yourselves, and them that came in, ye forbade.

53 And as he said these things unto them, the Scribes and Pharisees began to urge him sore, and to provoke him to speak of many things, 54 Laying wait for him, and seeking to catch something of his mouth, whereby they might accuse him.

12 ¶ The leaven of the Pharisee. 5 Who is to be feared. 8 To confess Christ. 16 The parable of the rich man whose land was very fertile. 21 Not to care for earthly things. 31 But to seek the kingdom of God. 39 The thief in the night. 51 Debate for the Gospel’s sake.

1 In the meantime, there gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, so that they trod one another: and he began to say unto his disciples first, Take heed to yourselves of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy.

2 For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed: neither hid, that shall not be known.

3 Wherefore whatsoever ye have spoken in darkness, it shall be heard in the light: and that which ye have spoken in the ear, in secret places, shall be preached on the houses.

4 And I say unto you, my friends, be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that are not able to do anymore.

5 But I will forewarn you, whom ye shall fear: fear him which after he hath killed, hath power to cast into hell: yea, I say unto you, him fear.

6 Are not five sparrows bought for two farthings, and yet not one of them is forgotten before God?

7 Also, and all the hairs of your head are numbered: fear not therefore: ye are more of value than many sparrows.

8 Also I say unto you, Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man confess also before the Angels of God.

9 But he that shall deny me before men, shall be denied before the Angels of God.

10 And whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but unto him that shall blaspheme the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven.

11 And when they shall bring you unto the Synagogues, and unto the rulers and Princes, take no thought how, or what thing ye shall answer, or what ye shall speak.

12 For the holy Ghost shall teach you in the same hour, what ye ought to say.

13 And one of the company said unto him, Master, bid my brother divide the inheritance with me.

14 And he said unto him, Man, who made me a judge, or a divider over you?

15 Wherefore he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for though a man have abundance, yet his life standeth not in his riches.

16 And he put forth a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth fruits plenteously.

17 Therefore he thought with himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have no room where I may lay up my fruits?

18 And he said, This will I do, I will pull down my barns, and build greater, and therein will I gather all my fruits, and my goods.

19 And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years, live at ease, eat, drink, and take thy pastime.

20 But God said unto him, O fool, this night will they fetch away thy soul from thee: then whose shall those things be which thou hast provided?

21 So is he that gathereth riches to himself, and is not rich in God.

22 And he spake unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat: neither for your body, what ye shall put on.

2 They proposed many questions to him, to draw something out of his mouth, which they might traitorously carpt.

Ps. 35:22

1 And he spake unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat: neither for your body, what ye shall put on.
23 The life is more than meat: and the body more than the raiment.

24 Consider the ravens: for they neither sow nor reap: which neither have storehouse nor barn, and yet God feedeth them: how much more are ye better than fowls?

25 And which of you with taking thought, can add to his stature one cubit?

26 If ye then be not able to do the least thing, why take ye thought for the remnant?

27 Consider the lilies how they grow: they labor not, neither spin they: yet I say unto you, that Solomon himself in all his royalty was not clothed like one of these.

28 If then God so clothe the grass which is today in the field, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

29 Therefore ask not what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither hang you in suspense.

30 For all such things the people of the world seek for: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things.

31 But rather seek ye after the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be cast upon you.

32 1Fear not, little flock: for it is your Father's pleasure to give you the kingdom.

33 Sell that ye have, and give alms: make you bags which wax not old: a treasure that can never fail in heaven, where no thief cometh neither moth corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your hearts be also.

35 Let your loins be girded about, and your lights burning.

36 And ye yourselves like unto men that wait for their master, when he will return from the wedding, that when he cometh and knocketh, they may open unto him immediately.

37 Blessed are those servants, whom the Lord when he cometh shall find waking: verily I say unto you, he will gird himself about, and make them to sit down at table, and will come forth, and serve them.

38 And if he come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall find them so, blessed are those servants.

39 Now understand this, that if the good man of the house had known at what hour the thief would have come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be dug through.

40 Be ye also prepared therefore: for the Son of man will come at an hour when ye think not.

41 Then Peter said unto him, Master, tellest thou this parable unto us, or even to all?

42 And the Lord said, Who is a faithful steward and wise, whom the master shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in season?

43 Blessed is that servant, whom his master when he cometh, shall find so doing.

44 Of a truth, I say unto you, that he will make him ruler over all that he hath.

45 But if that servant say in his heart, My master doth defer his coming, and shall begin to smite the servants, and maidens, and to eat and drink, and to be drunken, 46 The master of that servant will come in a day when he thinketh not, and at an hour when he is not aware of, and will cut him off, and give him his portion with the unbelievers.

47 ¶ And that servant that knew his master's will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

48 But he that knew it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes: for unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required, and to whom men much commit, the more of him will they ask.

49 ¶ I am come to put fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it be already kindled?

50 Notwithstanding I must be baptized with a baptism, and how am I grieved till it be ended?

51 Think ye that I am come to give peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

52 For from henceforth there shall be five in one house divided, three against two, and two against three.

12:29 1 A Metaphor taken of things that hang in the air, for they that are careful for this worldly life, and hang upon the arm of man, have always wavering and doubtful minds, swaying sometimes this way, and sometimes that way.

12:31 They shall lack nothing, which are careful for the kingdom of heaven.

12:32 It is a foolish thing not to look for small things, at his hands, which giveth us freely the greatest things.

12:33 A godly bountifulness is a ready way to get true riches.

1 This is the figure Metonymy, for by this word, Alms, is meant that compassion and friendliness of an heart that tendereth the misery and poor estate of man, and sheweth forth itself by some gift, and hath the name given it in the Greek tongue, of mercy and compassion: and therefore he is said to give alms, who parteth with some thing to another, and giveth to the poor, showing thereby, that he pitideth their poor estate.

12:35 The life of the faithful servants of God, in this world is a certain watchful peregrination, having the light of the word going before it.

12:40 None have more need to watch, than they that have some degree of honor in the household of God.

12:42 That is, every month such measure of corn as was appointed them.

12:48 More than of him to whom so much was not given.

12:49 The Gospel is the only cause of peace between the goodly, and so is it the occasion of great trouble among the wicked.
53 The father shall be divided against the son, and the son against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.

54 ¶ Then said he to the people, When ye see a cloud rise out of the West, straightway ye say, A shower cometh: and so it is.

56 Hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the earth, and of the sky: but why discern ye not this time?

58 ¶ While thou goest with thine adversary to the ruler, as thou art in the way, give diligence in the way, that thou mayest be delivered from him, lest he draw thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the jailer, and the jailer cast thee into prison.

59 I tell thee, thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast paid the utmost mite.

13 Of the Galileans, 4 and those that were slain under Siloam. 6 The fig tree that bare no fruit. 11 The woman vexed with the spirit of infirmity, that is, with a disease brought on her by Satan, is healed. 19 The parable of the grain of mustard seed. 21 Of leaven. 23 How few shall be those that are regenerated.

1 There were certain men present at the same season, that showed him of the Galileans, whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.

2 And Jesus answered, and said unto them, Suppose ye, that these Galileans were greater sinners than all the other Galileans, because they have suffered such things?

3 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your lives, ye shall all likewise perish.

4 Or think you that those eighteen, upon whom the tower in Siloam fell, and slew them, were sinners above all men that dwell in Jerusalem?

5 ¶ I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your lives, ye shall all likewise perish.

6 ¶ He spake also this parable, A certain man had a fig tree, planted in his vineyard: and he came and sought fruit thereon, and found none.

7 Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, this three years have I come and sought fruit of this fig tree, and find none: cut it down: why keepest thou it also the ground barren?

8 And he answered, and said unto him, Lord, let it alone this year also, till I dig round about it, and dung it.

9 And if it bear fruit, well: if not, then after thou shalt cut it down.

10 ¶ And he taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.

11 And behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could not lift up her head.

12 When Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thy disease.

13 And he laid his hands on her, and immediately she was made straight again, and glorified God.

14 And the ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus healed on the Sabbath day, and said unto the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then answered him the Lord, and said, Hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the Sabbath day loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, lo, eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when he said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: but all the people rejoiced at all the excellent things that were done by him.
Chapter 13

18 ¶ Then said he, What is the kingdom of God like? or whereto shall I compare it?
19 ¶ It is like a grain of mustard seed, which a man took, and sowed in his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree, and the fowls of the heaven made nests in the branches thereof.
20 ¶ And again he said, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God?
21 It is like leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three pecks of flour, till all was leavened.
22 ¶ 4And he went through all cities and towns, teaching, and journeying towards Jerusalem.
23 Then said one unto him, Lord, are there few that shall be saved? And he said unto them, 24 Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.
25 When the good man of the house is risen up, and hath shut to the door, and ye began to stand without, and to knock at the door, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us, and he shall answer and say unto you, I know you not whence ye are,
26 Then shall ye begin to say, We have eaten and drunk in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets.
27 But he shall say, I know you not whence ye are: depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity.
28 There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the kingdom of God, and yourselves thrust out at doors.
29 Then shall come many from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at Table in the kingdom of God.
30 And behold, there are last, which shall be first, and there are first, which shall be last.

wedding, set not thyself down in the chiefest place, lest a more honorable man than thou be bidden of him, 9 And that he bade both him and thee, come, and say to thee, Give this man room, and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest room.
10 “But when thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room, that when he that bade thee cometh, he may say unto thee, Friend, sit up higher; then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.
11 “For whosoever exalteth himself, shall be brought low, and he that humbleth himself, shall be exalted.
12 “Then said he also to him that had bidden him, ‘When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor the rich neighbors, lest they also bid thee again, and a recompense be made thee.
13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the lame and the blind.
14 And thou shalt be blessed, because they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just.
15 ¶ Now when one of them that sat at table heard these things, he said unto him, Blessed is he that eateth bread in the kingdom of God.
16 Then said he to him, ‘A certain man made a great supper, and bade many.
17 And sent his servant at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.
18 “But they all with one mind began to make excuse: The first said unto him, I have bought a farm, and I must needs go out and see it: I pray thee have me excused.
19 And another said, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them: I pray thee have me excused.
20 And another said, I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.
21 So that servant returned, and showed his master these things. Then was the good man of the house angry, and said to his servant, Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in hither the poor, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blind.
22 And the servant said, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is room.
23 Then the master said to the servant, Go out into the highways, and hedges, and compel them to come in, that mine house may be filled.
24 For I say unto you, that none of those men which were bidden, shall taste of my supper.
25 Now there went great multitudes with him, and he turned and said unto them,
26 If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters; yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple.
27 ¶ And whosoever beareth not his cross, and cometh after me, cannot be my disciple.
28 For which of you minding to build a tower, sitting not down before, and counteth the cost, whether he have sufficient to perform it,
29 Lest that after he hath laid the foundation, and is not able to perform it, all that behold it, begin to mock him,

31 Or what King going to make war against another King, sitteth not down first, and taketh counsel, whether he be able with ten thousand, to meet him that cometh against him with twenty thousand?

33 So likewise, whosoever he be of you, that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple.

20 So he arose and came to his father, and when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran and fell on his neck, and kissed him.
21 1And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, and am no

24 For this my son was dead, and is alive again:

25 1Now the elder brother was in the field, and when he came and drew near to the house, he heard melody, and dancing, 26 And called one of his servants, and asked what those things meant.
27 And he said unto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fat calf, because he hath received him safe and sound.
28 Then he was angry, and would not go in:
therefore came his father out, and entreated him.
29 But he answered, and said to his father, Lo, these many years have I done thee service, neither never gavest me a kid that I might make merry with 30 But when this thy son was come, which hath devoured thy goods with harlots, thou hast for his should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother

16 1 The parable of the steward accused to his master. 13 To serve two masters. 16 The law and the Prophets. 19 Of Dives and Lazarus.
1 And he said also unto his disciples, 1There was 15:11 1 Men by their voluntary falling from God, having spoiled themselves headlong into infinite calamities: but God of his singular goodness, offering himself freely to them, whom he called to repentance, through the greatness of their misery wherein they were tamed, doth not only gently receive them, but also enricheth them with far greater gifts, and blesseth them with the chiefest bliss.

15:17 1 The beginning of repentance is the acknowledging of the mercy of God, which stirreth us to hope well.
15:18 1 Against God, because he is said to dwell in heaven.
a certain rich man, which had a steward, and he was accused unto him, that he wasted his goods.

2 And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? Give an account of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward said within himself, What shall I do? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship. I cannot dig, and to beg I am ashamed.

4 I know what I will do, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.

5 Then called he unto him everyone of his master's debtors, and said unto the first, How much owest thou unto my master?

6 And he said, An hundred measures of oil. And he said to him, Take thy writing, and sit down quickly, and write fifty.

7 Then said he to another, How much owest thou? And he said, An hundred measures of wheat. Then he said to him, Take thy writing and write fourscore.

8 And the Lord commended the unjust steward, because he had done wisely. Wherefore the children of this world are in their generation wiser than the children of light.

9 And I say unto you, Make ye friends with the riches of iniquity, that when ye shall want, they may receive you into everlasting habitations.

10 He that is faithful in the least, is also faithful in much: and he that is unjust in the least, is unjust also in much.

11 If then ye have not been faithful in the wicked riches, who will trust you in the true treasure?

12 And if ye have not been faithful in another man's goods, who shall give you that which is yours?

13 No servant can serve two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and love the other: or else he shall lean to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and riches.

14 All these things heard the Pharisees also which were covetous, and they scoffed at him.

15 Then he said unto them, Ye are they, which justify yourselves before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 h The Law and the Prophets endured until John: and since that time the kingdom of God is preached, and every man presseth into it.

17 Now it is more easy that heaven and earth should pass away, than that one titlle of the Law should fall.

18 ¶ Whosoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, commiteth adultery: and whosoever marrieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.

19 ¶ There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared well and delicately every day.

20 Also there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate full of sores, 21 And desired to be refreshed with the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table: yea, and the dogs came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the beggar died, and was carried by the Angels into Abraham's bosom. The rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torments, he lifted up his eyes, and saw Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.

24 Then he cried, and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue: for I 168 1 This parable doth not approve the steward's naughty dealing, for it was every theft: but parables are set forth, to show a thing covertly, and as it were under a figure to represent the truth, though it is not spoken of goods that are evil gotten, for God will have bountifulness to the poor, proceed and come from a good fountain: but he calleth those riches of iniquity, which men use naughtily.

2 Men that are given to this present life, contrary to whom the children of light are set: St. Paul calleth those spiritual, and the other carnal.

169 1 This is not spoken of goods that are evil gotten, for God will have bountifulness to the poor, proceed and come from a good fountain: but he calleth those riches of iniquity, which men use naughtily.

2 To wit, the poor Christians: for they are the inheritors of these Tabernacles, Theophylact.

1610 1 We ought to take heed that for abusing our earthly function and duty, we be not deprived of heavenly gifts: for how can they use spiritual gifts aright, who abuse worldly things?

1611 1 That is, heavenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and fleeting substance.

1612 1 In worldly goods, which are called other men's, because they are committed to our credit.

25 But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime receivest thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus pains: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Besides all this, between you and us there is a great gulf set, so that they which would go from hence to you, cannot: neither can they come from thence to us.

27 Then he said, I pray thee therefore father, that thou wouldest send him to my father's house, 28 (For I have five brethren) that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham said unto him, They have Moses and the Prophets: let them hear them.

30 And he said, Nay, father Abraham: but if one came unto them from the dead, they will amend their lives.

31 Then he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rise from the dead again.

17 1 Offenses. 3 We must forgive him that trespasseth against us. 10 We are unprofitable servants. 11 Of the ten lepers. 20 Of the coming of the kingdom of heaven. 33 False Christs. 36 After what manner Christ's coming shall be.

1 Then said he to his disciples, 4 It cannot be avoided, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.

2 It is better for him that a great millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were cast into the sea, then that he should offend one of these little ones.

3 Take heed to yourselves: if thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgive him.

4 And though he sin against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, it repenteth me, thou shalt forgive him.

5 And the Apostles said unto the Lord, Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord said, 'If ye had faith, as much as is a grain of mustard seed, and should say unto this mulberry tree, Pluck thyself up by the roots, and plant thyself in the sea, it should even obey you.

7 ¶ Who is it also of you, that having a servant plowing or feeding cattle, would say unto him by and by, when he were come from the field, Go, and sit down at table,

8 And would not rather say to him, Dress wherein I may sup, and gird thyself, and serve me, till I have eaten and drunken, and afterward eat thou, and drink thou?

9 Doth he thank that servant, because he did that which was commanded unto him? I trow not.

10 ¶ So likewise ye, when ye have done all those things, which are commanded you, say, We are unprofitable servants: we have done that which was our duty to do.

11 ¶ And so it was when he went to Jerusalem, that he passed through the midst of Samaria, and Galilee.

12 And as he entered into a certain town, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stood afar off.

13 And they lifted up their voices and said, Jesus, Master, have mercy on us.

14 And when he saw them, he said unto them, Go, show yourselves unto the Priests. And it came to pass, that as they went, they were cleansed.

15 Then one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, and with a loud voice praised God, 16 And fell down on his face at his feet, and gave him thanks: and he was a Samaritan.

17 And Jesus answered, and said, Are there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to give God praise, save this stranger.

19 And he said unto him, Arise, go thy way, thy faith hath saved thee.

20 ¶ And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them, and said, 'The kingdom of God cometh not with observation.'

16:27 1 Seeing that we have a most sure rule to live by, laid forth unto us in the word of God, rashly and vainly do men seek for other revelation.

17:1 1 The Church is of necessity subject to offences, but the Lord will not suffer them unpunished, if any of the least be offended.

17:3 1 Our reproofs must be just, and proceed of love and charity.

17:5 1 God will never be utterly lacking to the Godly (although he be not so perfectly with them, as they would) even in those difficulties, which cannot be overcome by man's reason.

17:6 1 If you had no more faith, but the quantity of the grain of mustard seed.

17:7 1 Seeing that God may challenge unto himself of right, both us and all that is ours, he can be debtor unto us for nothing, although we labor manfully even unto death.

17:10 1 The most perfect keeping of the Law, which we can perform, deserves no reward.

17:11 1 Christ doeth well even unto such, as will be unthankful, but the benefits of God profit them only to salvation, which are thankful.

17:20 1 The kingdom of God is not marked of many, although it be most present before their eyes: because they fondly persuade themselves, that it is joined with outward pomp.

2 With any outward pomp and show of majesty, to be known by: for there were otherwise many plain and evident tokens, whereby men might have understood, that Christ was the Messiah, whose kingdom was so long looked for: but he speaketh in this place of those signs which the Pharisees dreamed of, which looked for an earthly kingdom of Messiah.
21 Neither shall men say, Lo here, or lo there: for behold, the kingdom of God is 1within you.
22 1 And he said unto the disciples, the days will come, when ye shall desire to see one of the days of the Son of man, and ye shall not see it.
23 4 Then they shall say to you, Behold here, or behold there: but go not thither, neither follow them.
24 For as the lightning that lighteneth out of the one part under heaven, shineth unto the other part under heaven, so shall the Son of man be in his day.
25 But first must he suffer many things and be reproved of this generation.
26 1 And as it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be in the days of the Son of man.
27 They ate, they drank, they married wives, and gave in marriage unto the day that Noah went into the Ark: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.
28 Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot: They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.
29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all.
30 After these examples shall it be in the day when the son of man revealed.
31 1 At that day he that is upon the house, and his stuff in the house, let him not come down to take it out: and he that is in the field likewise, let him not turn back to that he left behind.
32 1 Remember Lot's wife.
33 Whosoever will seek to save his soul, shall loose it: and whosoever shall loose it, shall 1get it life.
34 1 Tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shall be received, and the other shall be left.
35 Two women shall be grinding together, the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left.
36 Two shall be in the field: one shall be received, and another shall be left.
37 1 And they answered, and said to him, Where, Lord? And he said unto them, 4 Wheresoever the body is, thither shall also the eagles be gathered together.

18 2 The parable of the unrighteous Judge and the widow. 10 Of the Pharisee and the Publican.
15 Children are of the kingdom of heaven. 22 To sell all and give to the poor. 28 The Apostles forsake all. 31 Christ foretelleth his death. 35 The blind man receiveth sight.
1 1 And he spake also a parable unto them, to this end, that they 1ought always to pray, and not to 2 wax faint.
2 1 Saying, there was a judge in a certain city, which feared not God, neither reverenced man.
3 And there was a widow in that city, which came unto him, saying, Do me justice against mine adversary.
4 And he would not of a long time: but afterward he said with himself, Though I fear not God, nor reverence man,
5 Yet because this widow troubleth me, I will do her right, lest at the last she come and 1 make me weary.
6 And the Lord said, Hear what the unrighteous judge saith.
7 Now shall not God avenge his elect, which cry in the night, and are cast out of the house of God, and their crying out, even as it were with blows.
8 I tell you he will avenge them quickly: but when the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?
9 ¶ He spake also this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves that they were just, and despised others.
10 Two men went up into the Temple to pray: the one a Pharisee, and the other a Publican.
LUKE 18:11

11 1 The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, O God, I thank thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this Publican.
12 1 I fast twice in the week: I give tithe of all that ever I possess.
13 1 But the Publican standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes to heaven, but smote his breast, saying, O God, be merciful to me a sinner.
14 1 I tell you, this man departed to his house, justified rather than the other: for every man that exalteth himself shall be brought low, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.
15 1 ¶ They brought unto him also babes that he should touch them. 2 And when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them.
16 1 But Jesus called them unto him, and said, Suffer the babes to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.
17 1 Verily I say unto you, whosoever receiveth not the kingdom of God as a babe, he shall not enter therein.
18 1 Then a certain ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what ought I do, to inherit eternal life?
19 1 And Jesus said unto him, Why callest thou me good? none is good, save one, even God.
20 1 Thou knowest the commandments, Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steal: Thou shalt not bear false witness: Honor thy father and thy mother.
21 1 And he said, All these have I kept from my youth.
22 1 Now when Jesus heard that, he said unto him, yet lackest thou one thing, Sell all that ever thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven, and come follow me.
23 1 But when he heard those things, he was very heavy: for he was marvelously rich.
24 1 And when Jesus saw him very sorrowful, he said, With what difficulty shall they that have riches, enter into the kingdom of God!
25 1 Surely it is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

18:11 1 Although we confess that whatsoever we have, we have it of God, yet are we despoiled of God, as proud and arrogant, if we put never so little trust in our own works before God.
18:15 1 The children were tender and young, in that they were brought, which appeareth more evidently in that, that they were infants, which is to be marked against them that are enemies to the baptizing of children.
2  To judge or think of Christ after the reason of our flesh, is the cause of infinite corruptions.
18:16 1 The children also of the faithful are comprehended in the free covenant of God.
2  Them that carried the children, whom the disciples drove away.

18:17 1 Childlike innocence is an ornament of Christians.
18:21 1 The enticement of riches carrieth away many from the right way.
18:24 1 To be both rich and godly, is a singular gift of God.
18:29 1 They become the richest of all, which refuse not to be poor for Christ’s sake.
18:31 1 As sure and certain as persecution is, so sure is the glory which remaineth for the conquerors.
18:34 1 Hereby we see how ignorant the disciples were.
18:35 1 Christ sheweth by a visible miracle, that he is the light of the world.
18:39 1 The more stops and lets that Satan layeth in our way, even by them which profess Christ’s Name, so much the more ought we to go forward.
42 And Jesus said unto him, Receive thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee.

43 Then immediately he received his sight, and followed him, praising God: and all the people, when they saw this, gave praise to God.

19 2Zacchaeus the Publican. 13 Ten pieces of money delivered to servants to occupy withall. 19 Jesus entereth into Jerusalem. 41 He foretelleth the destruction of the city with tears. 45 He casteth the sellers out of the Temple.

1 Now when Jesus entered and passed through Jericho,

2 Behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus, which was the chief receiver of the tribute, and he was rich.

3 And he sought to see Jesus, who he should be, and could not for the press, because he was of a low stature.

4 Wherefore he ran before, and climbed up into a wild fig tree, that he might see him: for he should come that way.

5 And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up, and saw him, and said unto him, Zacchaeus, come down at once: for today I must abide at thine house.

6 Then he came down hastily, and received him joyfully.

7 And when all they saw it, they murmured, saying, that he was gone in to lodge with a sinful man.

8 And Zacchaeus stood forth, and said unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor: and if I have taken from any man by forged cavillation, I restore him fourfold.

9 Then Jesus said to him, This day is salvation come unto this house, forasmuch as he is also become the son of Abraham.

10 1For the son of man is come to seek, and to save that which was lost.

11 And while they heard these things, he continued and spake a parable, because he was near to Jerusalem, and because also they thought that the kingdom of God should shortly appear.

12 He said therefore, 1A certain noble man went into a far country, to receive for himself a kingdom, and so to come again.

13 1And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pieces of money, and said unto them, Occupy till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassador after him, saying, We will not have this man to reign over us.

15 And it came to pass, when he was come again, and had received his kingdom, that he commanded the servants to be called to him, to whom he gave his money, that he might know what every man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And he said unto him, Well, good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little thing, take thou authority over ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased five pieces.

19 And to the same he said, Be thou also ruler over five cities.

20 1So the other came, and said, Lord, behold thy piece, which I have laid up in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straight man: thou takest up that thou laiddst not down, and reapest that thou didst not sow.

22 Then he said unto him, Of thine own mouth will I judge thee, O evil servant. Thou knowest that I am a straight man, taking up that I laid not down, and reaping that I did not sow.

23 Wherefore then gavest not thou my money into the bank, that at my coming I might have required it with vantage?

24 And he said to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and give it him that hath ten pieces.

25 1And they said unto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.

19:1 1 Christ preventeth them with his grace especially which seemed to be furthest from it.

19:2 1 The overseer and head of the Publicans which were there together: for the Publicans were divided into companies: as we may gather by many places of Cicero his orations.

19:3 1 The world forsaketh the grace of God, and yet is unwilling that Christ preventeth them with his grace especially which seemed to be furthest from it.

19:4 1 The example of true repentance, is known by the effect.

19:5 2 By falsely accusing any man: and this agreeth most fitly to the master of the customer’s person: for commonly they have this trade among them when they rob and spoil the commonweal, they have nothing in their mouths, but the profit of the commonweal, and under that color they play the thieves, insomuch that if men reprove and go about to redress their robbery, and spoiling, they cry out, the commonwealth is hindered.

19:6 1 Beloved of God, one that walketh in the steps of Abraham’s faith: and we gather that salvation came to that house, because they received the blessing as Abraham had, for all of the household were circumcised.

19:11 1 We must patiently wait for the judgment of God, which shall be revealed in his time.

19:13 1 There are three sorts of men in the Church: the one sort fall from Christ whom they see not; the other, which according to their vocation, bestow the gifts which they have received of God, to his glory with great pains and diligence: the third live idly, and do no good. As for the first, the Lord when he cometh will justly punish them in his time: the other he will bless, according to the pains which they have taken: and as for the slothful and idle persons, he will punish them as the first.

19:16 1 This was a piece of money, which the Grecians used, and was in value about an hundred pence, which is about ten crowns.

19:20 1 Against them which spend their life idly in deliberating, and otherwise, in contemplation.

19:23 1 To the bankers and changers.
26 'For I say unto you, that unto all them that have, it shall be given: and from him that hath not, even that he hath, shall be taken from him.

27 Moreover, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reign over them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 ¶ And when he had thus spoken, 'he went forth before, ascending up to Jerusalem.

29 ¶ And it came to pass, when he was come near to Bethphage, and Bethany, besides the mount which is called the mount of Olives, he sent two of his disciples, 30 Saying, Go ye to the town which is before you, wherein as soon as ye are come, ye shall find a colt tied, whereon never man sat: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any ask you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say unto him, Because the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had said unto them.

33 And as they were loosing the colt, the owners thereof said unto them, Why loose ye the colt?

34 And they said, The Lord hath need of him.

35 ¶ So they brought him to Jesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Jesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spread their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was now come near to the going down of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice, and to praise God with a loud voice, for all the great works that they had seen, 38 Saying, Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord: peace in heaven, and glory in the highest places.

39 Then some of the Pharisees of the company said unto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered, and said unto them, I tell you, that if these should hold their peace, the stones would cry.

41 ¶ And when he was come near, he beheld the City, and wept for it.

42 'Saying, 'O if thou hadst even known at the least in this thy day those things, which belong unto thy peace! but now are they hid from thine eyes.

43 For the days shall come upon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keep thee in on every side.

44 And shall make thee even with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shall not leave in thee a stone upon a stone, because thou knewest not 'that season of thy visitation.

45 ¶ He went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought, 46 Saying unto them, It is written, 'Mine house is the house of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves.

47 And he taught daily in the Temple. And the highPriests and the Scribes, and the chief of the people sought to destroy him.

48 But they could not find what they might do to him: for all the people hanged upon him when they heard him.

20 4 From whence John's Baptism was. 9 The wickedness of the Priests is noted by the parable of the vineyard and the husbandmen. 21 To give tribute to Caesar. 27 He convinced the Sadducees denying the resurrection. 41 How Christ is the son of David.

1 And it came to pass, that on one of those days, as he taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Gospel, the highPriests and the Scribes came upon him, with the Elders,

2 And spake unto him, saying, Tell us by what authority thou dost these things, or who is he that hath given thee this authority?

3 And he answered, and said unto them, I also will ask you one thing: tell me therefore:

4 The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or of men?

5 And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven, he will say, Why then believed ye him not?

6 But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone us: for they be persuaded that John was a Prophet.
7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.
8 Then Jesus said unto them, Neither tell I you, by what authority I do these things.
9 ¶ Then began he to speak to the people this parable, A certain man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange country, for a great time.
10 And at the time convenient he sent a servant to the husbandmen, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beat him, and sent him away empty.
11 Again he sent yet another servant: and they did beat him, and foul entreated him, and sent him away empty.
12 Moreover he sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.
13 Then said the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I do! I will send my beloved son: it may be that they will do reverence when they see him.
14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with themselves, saying, This is the heir: come, let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.
15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore do unto them?
16 He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will give out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they said, God forbid.
17 ¶ And he beheld them, and said, What meaneth this then that is written, 'The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?'
18 Whosoever shall fall upon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder.
19 Then the high Priests, and the Scribes the same hour went about to lay hands on him (but they feared the people) for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.
20 ¶And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should feign themselves just men to take him in his talk, and to deliver him unto the power and authority of the governor.
21 And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest, and teachest right, neither dost thou accept any man's person, but teachest the way of God truly.
22 Is it lawful for us to give Caesar tribute or no? But he perceived their craftiness, and said unto them, Why tempt ye me?
23 Show me a penny. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered, and said, Caesar's.
24 Then he said unto them, 'Give then unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and to God those which are God's.'
25 And they could not reprove his saying before the people: but they marveled at his answer, and held their peace.
26 Then came to him certain of the Sadducees (which deny that there is any resurrection) and they asked him, 27 Saying, Master, Moses wrote unto us, If any man's brother die having a wife, and he die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.
28 Now there were seven brethren, and the first took a wife, and he died without children.
29 And the second took the wife, and he died childless.
30 And the third took the wife, and he died childless.
31 Then the third took her: and so likewise the children of this world marry wives, and are married.
32 But they which shall be counted worthy to enjoy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wives, neither are married.
33 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equal unto the Angels, and are the sons of God, which are God's.
34 Then Jesus answered, and said unto them, The children of the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seven had her to wife.
35 But they which shall be counted worthy to enjoy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wives, neither are married.
36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equal unto the Angels, and are the sons of God, since they are the children of the resurrection.
37 And that the dead shall rise again, even Moses showed it besides the bush, when he said, 'The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.
38 For he is not the God of the dead, but of them which live: for all 1live unto him.
39 Then certain of the Scribes answered, and said, Master, thou hast well said.
40 And after that, durst they not ask him anything at all.
41 ¶ Then said he unto them, How say they that Christ is David’s son?
42 And David himself saith in the book of the Psalms, 1The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy footstool.
44 Seeing David called him Lord, how is he then his son?
45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people he said unto his disciples, 46 Beware of the Scribes, which willingly go in long robes, and love salutations in the markets, and the highest seats in the assemblies, and the chief rooms at feasts:
47 Which devour widow’s 1houses, and in show make long prayers: These shall receive greater damnation.

21 The widow’s liberality above her riches. 5 Of the time of the destruction of the Temple. 19 and Jerusalem. 25 The signs going before the last judgment.
1 And 4as he beheld, he saw the rich men which cast their gifts into the treasury.
2 And he saw also a certain poor widow which cast in thither two mites:
3 And he said, Of a truth I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast in more than they all.
4 For they all have of their superfluity cast into the offerings of God: but she of her penury hath cast in all the living that she had.
5 Now as some spake of the Temple, how it was garnished with goodly stones, and with 1consecrated things, he said,
6 Are these the things that ye look upon? the days will come wherein a stone shall not be left upon a stone, that shall not be thrown down.
7 Then they asked him, saying, Master, but when shall these things be? and what sign shall there be when these things shall come to pass?
8 ¶ And he said, Take heed, that ye be not deceived: for many will come 1in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and the time draweth near: follow ye not them therefore.
9 ¶ And when ye hear of wars and seditions, be not afraid: for these things must first come, but the end followeth not by and by.
10 Then said he unto them, Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, 11 And great earthquakes shall be in divers places, and hunger, and pestilence, and fearful things, and great signs shall there be from heaven.
12 But before all these, they shall lay their hands on you, and persecute you, delivering you up to the assemblies, and into prisons, and bring you before Kings and rulers for my Name’s sake.
13 And this shall turn to you, for a 1testimonial.
14 ¶ Lay it up therefore in your hearts, that ye cast not beforehand what ye shall answer.
15 For I will give you a mouth, and wisdom where­ against all your adversaries shall not be able to speak nor resist.
16 Ye, ye shall be betrayed also of your parents and of your brethren, and kinsmen, and friends, and some of you they put to death.
17 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Name’s sake.
18 ¶ Yet there shall not one hair of your heads perish.
19 By your patience 1possess your souls.
20 ¶ And when ye see Jerusalem besieged with soldiers, then understand that the desolation thereof is near.
21 Then let them which are in Judea, flee to the mountains: and let them which are in the midst thereof, depart out: and let not them that are in the country, enter therein:
22 For these be the days of vengeance, to fulfill all

20:38 1 That is, before him: a notable saying, the godly do not die, though they die here on earth.
20:41 1 Christ is so the son of David according to the flesh, that he is also his Lord (because he is the everlasting son of God) according to the spirit.
20:46 1 We must avoid the example of the ambitious and covetous pastors.
20:47 1 This is spoken by the figure Metonymy, houses, for the goods and substance.
21:1 1 The poor may exceed in bounty and liberality even the richest, according to God’s judgment.
21:5 1 The destruction of the Temple is foretold, that that true spiritual building may be built up, whose head builders must and ought to be circumspect.
21:9 1 The true Temple of God is built up even in the midst of incredible tumults, and most sharp miseries, through invincible patience, so that the end thereof cannot be but most happy.
21:13 1 This shall be the end of your troubles and afflictions, they shall be witnessed both before God and man, as well of the treacherous and cruel dealing of your enemies, as also of your constancy: A noble saying, that the affections of the godly and holy men pertains to the witness of the truth.
21:19 1 Though you are compassed about on all sides with many miseries, yet notwithstanding be valiant and courageous, and bear out these things manfully.
21:20 1 The final destruction of the whole city is foretold.
things that are written.

23 But woe be to them that be with child, and to them that give suck in such days: for there shall be great distress in this land, and wrath over this people,

24 And they shall fall on the edge of the sword, and shall be led captive into all nations, and Jerusalem shall be trodden under foot of the Gentiles, until the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled.

25 ¶Then there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars, and upon the earth trouble among the nations, with perplexity: the sea and the waters shall roar.

26 And men's hearts shall fail them for fear and for looking after those things which shall come on the world: for the powers of heaven shall be shaken.

27 And then shall they see the Son of man come in a cloud, with power and great glory.

28 And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads: for your redemption draweth near.

29 ¶And he spake to them a parable, Behold, the fig tree, and all trees, 30 When they now shoot forth, ye seeing them, know of your own selves, that summer is then near.

31 So likewise ye, when ye see these things come to pass, know ye that the kingdom of God is near.

32 For the kingdom of heaven is as a man that is an householder, which goeth out to meet his hirelings at evening, to give them their hire. And when it is evening, cometh to him that heareth him say, Lord, thou hast nothing to give me? He answereth and saith unto him, Go, thou also, and work until the evening. And when the day is over, the主人 shall say unto those of his hirelings, whom he hath called late, and is ready to give them their hire. And he saith unto one of them, Fellow servant, I beseech thee, give me mine hire. And he saith unto him, I say thee not, since thou wert under to give me money? Wherefore didst thou not give me that which is mine? And he said unto him, Lord, when I came into thy house, thou didst not give me to eat.

33 At the same time of the evening he that goeth out, saith unto one of them, All I desire of thee is to give me to eat. And he saith unto him, Fellow servant, is it not enough for thee that thou hast only one thing to eat? And he saith unto him, Lord, what shall I do? And the Lord saith unto him, Go, eat thy meat in the presence of them that sit at meat with thee.

34 And he saith unto him, I beseech thee, lord, give me also to eat at this table with them that eat at table with thee. And he saith unto him, Out of thine own mouth hast thou said against thee what is right. For thou sayest, I would have eaten at my master's table, and thou art not come in mine hour. And he saith to some that are at table with him, Go out into the streets, and call whomsoever ye shall find, and they shall come in unto me.

35 And he saith unto them that were hired, It is the most just that I pay unto you first. And he called the hired servants by name, and gave unto them their hire; beginning from the last, even unto the first, which came to him. And when those came in that were hired first, thinking that they should have received more, they likewise received one apiece.

36 And he said unto them that were hired last of all the day, When I began to make you hire, was it not agreed that ye should receive a penny? And they received it.

37 ¶Now in the daytime he taught in the Temple, and at night he went out, and abode in the mount, that is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people came in the morning to him, to hear him in the Temple.

32 3 Judas selleth Christ. 7 The Apostles prepare the Passover. 24 They strive who shall be chiefest. 31 Satan desireth them. 35 Christ showeth they wanted nothing. 42 He prayeth in the mount. 44 He sweatheth blood. 50 Malchus's ear cut off and healed. 57, 58, 60 Peter deneth Christ thrice. 63 Christ is mocked and strooken. 69 He confesseth himself to be the Son of God.

1 Now the feast of unleavened bread drew near, which is called the Passover.

2 And the high Priests and Scribes sought how they might kill him: for they feared the people.

3 ¶Then entered Satan into Judas, who was called Iscariot, and was of the number of the twelve.

4 And he went his way, and communed with the high Priests and captains, how he might betray him to them.

5 So they were glad, and agreed to give him money.

6 And he consented, and sought opportunity to betray him unto them, when the people were away.

7 ¶Then came the day of unleavened bread, when the Passover must be sacrificed.

8 And he sent Peter and John, saying, Go and prepare us the Passover that we may eat it.

9 And they said to him, Where wilt thou, that we may prepare it?

10 Then he said unto them, Behold, when ye be entered into the city, there shall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him into the house that he entereth in,

11 And say unto the good man of the house, The Master saith unto thee, Where is the lodging where I shall eat my Passover with my disciples?

12 Then he shall show you a great high chamber trimmed: there make it ready.

13 So they went, and found as he had said unto them, and made ready the Passover.

14 And when the 3hour was come, he sat down, and the twelve Apostles with him.

15 Then he said unto them, I have earnestly desired to eat this Passover with you, before I 4suffer.

16 For I say unto you, Henceforth I will not eat of it anymore, until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God.

17 And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, Take this, and divide it among you:

18 For I say unto you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine, until the kingdom of God be come.

19 And he took bread, and when he had given thanks, he brake it, and gave to them, saying, This is my body, which is given for you: do this in the remembrance of me.

20 Likewise also after supper he took the cup, saying, This 5cup is 6that new Testament in my blood, which is shed for you.

21 Yet behold, the 7hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me at the table.

22 And truly the Son of man goeth as it is appointed: but woe be to that man by whom he is betrayed.

23 Then they began to inquire among themselves which of them it should be, that should do that.

24 And there arose also a strife among them, which of them should it be.

25 But he said unto them, The kings of the Gentiles reign over them, and they that bear rule over them, are called 8bountiful.

26 But ye shall not be so: but let the greatest among you be as the least: and the chiefest as he that serveth.

27 For who is greater, he that sitteth at table, or he that serveth? is not he that sitteth at table? And I am among you as he that serveth.

28 And ye are they which have continued with me in my tentations.

29 Therefore I appoint unto you a kingdom, as my Father hath appointed unto me, 30 That ye may eat, and drink at my table, in my kingdom, and sit on seats, and judge the twelve tribes of Israel.

31 ¶ And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold, Satan hath desired you, 9to winnow you as wheat.

32 But I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not: therefore when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren.

33 ¶ And he said unto him: Lord, I am ready to go with thee into prison, and to death.

34 But he said, I tell thee, Peter, the cock shall not crow this day, before thou hast thrice denied that thou knowest me.

35 And he said unto them, 10When I sent you without bag, and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye anything? And they said, Nothing.

36 Then he said to them, But now he that hath a bag, let him take it, and likewise a scrip: and he that hath none, let him sell his coat, and buy a sword.

37 For I say unto you, That yet the same which is written, must be performed in me, 11Even with the wicked was he numbered: for doubtless those things which are written of me, have an end.

38 And they said, Lord, behold, here are two swords.

39 ¶And he came out, and went (as he was wont) to the mount of Olives: and his disciples also followed him.

40 ¶And when he came to the place, he said to them, Pray, lest ye enter into temptation.

41 And he was drawn aside from them about a stone's cast, and kneeled down, and prayed, 42 Saying, Father, If thou wilt, take away this cup from me: nevertheless, not my will, but thine be done.

43 And there appeared an Angel unto him from heaven, comforting him.

44 But being in an agony, he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat was like drops of blood, trickling down to the ground.

45 And he rose up from prayer, and came to his disciples, and found them sleeping for heaviness.

46 And he said unto them, Why sleep ye? rise and pray, lest ye enter into temptation.

47 ¶ And while he yet spake, behold, a company, and he that was called Judas one of the twelve, went before them, and came near unto Jesus to kiss him.

48 And Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss?

49 Now when they which were about him, saw what would follow, they said unto him, Lord, shall we smite with the sword?

50 And one of them smote a servant of the high Priest, and struck off his right ear.

51 Then Jesus answered, and said, Suffer them to come near unto me, Be ye come out as unto a thief with swords and staves?

52 Then Jesus said unto the high Priests, and captains of the Temple, and the Elders which were come to him, Be ye come out as unto a thief with swords and staves?

53 When I was daily with you in the Temple, ye stretched not forth the hands against me: but this is your very hour, and the power of darkness.

54 ¶ Then took they him, and led him, and brought him to the high Priest's house. And Peter followed afar off.

55 And when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the hall, and were set down together, Peter also sat down among them.

56 And a certain maid beheld him as he sat by the fire, and having well looked on him, said, This man was also with him.

57 But he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

58 And after a little while, another man saw him, and said, Thou art also of them. But Peter said, Man, I am not.

59 And about the space of an hour after, a certain other affirmed, saying, Verily, even this man was with him: for he is also a Galilean.

60 And Peter said, Man, I know not what thou sayest. And immediately while he yet spake, the cock crew.

61 Then the Lord turned back, and looked upon Peter: and Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said unto him, Before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice.

62 And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

63 ¶ And the men that held Jesus, mocked him, and struck him.

64 And when they had blindfolded him, they smote him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophesy who it is that smote thee.

65 And many other things blasphemously spake they against him.

66 ¶ And as soon as it was day, the Elders of the people, and the high Priests and the Scribes came together, and led him into their Council, 67 Saying, Art thou that Christ? tell us. And he said unto them, If I tell you, ye will not believe it.

68 And if also I ask you, you will not answer me, nor let me go.

69 Hereafter shall the Son of man sit at the right hand of the power of God.

70 Then said they all, Art thou then the Son of God? And he said to them, Ye say, that I am.

71 Then said they, What need we any further witness? for we ourselves have heard it of his own mouth.
23 1 He is accuseth before Pilate. 7 He is sent to Herod. 11 He is mocked. 24 Pilate yields him up to the Jews' request. 27 The women bewail him. 33 He is crucified. 39 One of the thieves revileth him. 43 The other is saved by faith. 45 He dieth. 53 He is buried.

1 Then the whole multitude of them arose, and led him unto Pilate.
2 And they began to accuse him, saying, We have found this man perverting the nation, and forbidding to pay tribute to Caesar, saying, That he is Christ a King.
3 And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.
4 Then said Pilate to the high Priests, and to the people, I find no fault in this man.
5 But they were the more fierce, saying, He moveth the people, teaching throughout all Judea, beginning at Galilee, even to this place.
6 Now when Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.
7 And when he knew that he was of Herod's jurisdiction, he sent him to Herod, which was also at Jerusalem in those days.
8 And when Herod saw Jesus, he was exceeding glad: for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because he had heard many things of him, and trusted to have seen some sign done by him.
9 Then questioned he with him of many things: but he answered him nothing.
10 The high Priests also and Scribes stood forth and accused him vehemently.
11 And Herod with his men of war, despised him, and mocked him, and arrayed him in white, and sent him again to Pilate.
12 And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another.
13 ¶ Then Pilate called together the high Priests, and the rulers, and the people,
14 And said unto them, Ye have brought this man unto me, as one that perverted the people: and behold, I have examined him before you, and have found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him:
15 No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him: and lo, nothing worthy of death is done of him.
16 ¶ I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.
17 (For of necessity he must have let one loose unto them at the feast.)
18 Then all the multitude cried at once, saying, Away with him, and deliver unto us Barabbas:
19 Which for a certain insurrection made in the city, and murder, was cast in prison.
20 Then Pilate spake again to them, willing to let Jesus loose.
21 But they cried, saying, Crucify, crucify him.
22 And he spake unto them the third time, But what evil hath he done? I find no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.
23 But they were instant with loud voices, and required that he might be crucified: and the voices of them and of the high Priests prevailed.
24 So Pilate gave sentence, that it should be as they required.
25 And he let loose unto them him that for insurrection and murder was cast into prison, whom they desired, and delivered Jesus to do with him what they would.
26 ¶ And as they led him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, coming out of the field, and on him they laid the cross, to bear it after Jesus.
27 ¶ And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women, which women bewailed and lamented him.
28 But Jesus turned back unto them, and said, Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me, but weep for yourselves, and for your children.
29 For behold, the days will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that never bare, and the paps which never gave suck.
30 Then shall they begin to say to the mountains, Fall on us: and to the hills, Cover us.
31 ¶ For if they do these things to a green tree, they will do much more to thee, O thou whom they have crucified.

23:3 ¶ Christ is quit the second time, even of him of whom he is condemned, that it might appear, how he being just, redeemed us which were unjust.
23:7 This was Herod Antipas the Tetrarch, in the time of whose corruption the people, and leading them into errors.
23:11 ¶ Accompanied with his nobles and soldiers which followed him from Galilee.

Christ is now ready to suffer for the sedition, which we raised in this world, is first of all pronounced guiltless, that it might appear that he suffered not for his own sins (which were none) but for ours.

The hatred of godliness joineth the wicked together.

Christ is quit the second time, even of him of whom he is condemned, that it might appear, how he being just, redeemed us which were unjust.

Those whom the Jews called the Sanhedrin.

The wisdom of the flesh, of two evils chooseth the less, but God curseth such counsels.

Christ is quit the third time, before he was condemned once, that it might appear, how that our sins were condemned in him.

An example of the outrageousness and disorder of the soldiers.

The triumph of the wicked hath a most horrible end.

As if he said, If they do thus to me that am fruitful, and always flourishing, and who lives forever by reason of my Godhead, what will they do to you, that are unfruitful and void of all lively righteousness?

32 1 And there were two others, which were evildoers, led with him to be slain.

33 1 And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him, and the evildoers: one at the right hand, and the other at the left.

34 1 Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them: for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots.

35 And the people stood, and beheld: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, He saved others: let him save himself, if he be that Christ the 1Chosen of God.

36 The soldiers also mocked him, and came and offered him vinegar, 37 And said, If thou be the King of the Jews, save thyself.

38 1 And a superscription was also written over him, in Greek letters, and in Latin, and in Hebrew, THIS IS THAT KING OF THE JEWS.

39 ¶ 1 And one of the evildoers, which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou be that Christ, save thyself and us.

40 But the other answered, and rebuked him, saying, Farest thou not God, seeing thou art in the midst of the tormentors?

41 Then Jesus said, Father, forgive them: for they know not what they do.

42 And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me, when thou comest into thy kingdom.

43 Then Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in 1Paradise.

44 ¶ 1 And it was about the sixth hour: and there was a darkness over all the land, until the ninth hour.

45 And the Sun was darkened, and the veil of the Temple rent through the midst.

46 And Jesus cried with a loud voice, and said, 1Father, into thine hands I commend my spirit. And when he thus had said, he gave up the ghost.

47 ¶ 1 Now when the Centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Of a surety this man was just.

48 And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done: smote their breasts, and returned.

49 ¶ 1 And all his acquaintances stood afar off, and the women that followed him from Galilee, beholding these things.

50 ¶ 1 And behold, there was a man named Joseph, which was a counselor, a good man and a just.

51 He did not consent to the counsel and deed of them, which was of Arimathea, a city of the Jews: who also himself waited for the kingdom of God.

52 He went unto Pilate, and asked the body of Jesus, 53 And took it down, and wrapped it in a linen cloth, and laid it in a tomb hewn out of a rock, wherein was never man yet laid.

54 And that day was the preparation, and the Sabbath drew on.

55 ¶ 1 And the women also that followed after, which came with him from Galilee, beheld the sepulcher, and how his body was laid.

56 And they returned and prepared ointments, and ointments, and resteth the Sabbath day according to the commandment.

24 The women come to the sepulchre. 9 They report that which they heard of the Angels, unto the Apostles. 13 Christ doth accompany two going to Emmaus. 27 He expoundeth the Scriptures unto them. 39 He offereth himself to his Apostles to be handled. 49 He promiseth the holy Ghost. 51 He is carried up into heaven.

1 Now the first day of the week early in the morning, they came unto the sepulcher, and brought the odors which they had prepared, and certain women with them.
2 And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulcher,
3 And went in, but found not the body of the Lord Jesus.
4 And it came to pass, that as they were amazed thereat, behold, two men suddenly stood by them in shining vestures.
5 And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said to them, Why seek ye him that liveth, among the dead?
6 He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake unto you, when he was yet in Galilee,
7 Saying, that the Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.
8 And they remembered his words,
9 And returned from the sepulcher, and told all these things unto the eleven, and to all the remnant.
10 Now it was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women with them which told these things unto the Apostles.
11 But their words seemed unto them as a feigned thing, neither believed they them.
12 2Then arose Peter and ran unto the sepulcher, and looked in and saw the linen clothes laid by themselves, and departed wondering in himself at that which was come to pass.
13 ¶ 2And behold two of them went that same day to a town which was from Jerusalem about threescore furlongs, called Emmaus.
14 And they talked together of all these things that were done.
15 And it came to pass, as they communed together, and reasoned, that Jesus himself drew near, and went with them.
16 But their eyes were holden, that they could not know him.
17 And he said unto them, What manner of communications are these that ye have one to another as ye walk and are sad?
18 And the one (named Cleopas) answered and said unto him, Art thou only a stranger in Jerusalem, and hast not known the things which are come to pass therein in these days?
19 And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him, Of Jesus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet, mighty indeed and in word before God, and all people, 20 And how the high Priests, and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucified him.
21 But we trusted that it had been he that should have delivered Israel, and as touching all these things, today is the third day, that they were done.
22 Yea, and certain women among us made us astonished, which came early unto the sepulcher.
23 And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seen a vision of Angels, which said, that he was alive.
24 Therefore certain of them which were with us, went to the sepulcher, and found it even so as the women had said, but him they saw not.
25 Then he said unto them, O fools and slow of heart to believe all that the Prophets have spoken!
26 Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?
27 And he began at Moses, and at all the Prophets, and interpreted unto them in all the Scriptures the things which were written of him.
28 And they drew near unto the town, which they went to, but he made as though he would have gone further.
29 But they constrained him, saying, Abide with us, for it is towards night, and the day is far spent. So he went in to tarry with them.
30 And it came to pass, as he sat at table with them, he took the bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave it to them.
31 Then their eyes were opened, and they knew him: and he was no more seen of them.

24:11 * Poor silly women, even beside their expectation are chosen to be the first witnesses of the resurrection, that there might be no suspicion either of deceit or violence. * Very early as Mark saith: or as John saith, while it was yet dark, that is, when it was yet scarce the dawning of the day.

24:12 * The cowardly and dastardly minds of the disciples is upbraided by the stout courage of women, (so wrought by God's great mercy) to show that the kingdom of God consisteth in an extraordinary power. * As it were holding down his head, and bowing his neck, looked diligently in.

24:13 * The resurrection is proved by two other witnesses, which saw it, and that it was no forged thing framed of purpose in their own brains, all the circumstances do declare. * Were held back and stayed, God so appointing it, no doubt: Suddenly taken away, and therefore we may not imagine that he was there in such a body as could not be seen, but believe indeed that he changed his place.

24:16 * Were held back and stayed, God so appointing it, no doubt: and therefore his body was not invisible, but their eyes were dimmed.

24:18 * Some of the old fathers think that the other disciple was this our Evangelist, but Epiphanius writing against the Saturnilians, saith it was Nathanael, but all these are uncertainties.

24:20 * It appeareth by the converting of the forewarnings of the Prophets, that all those things are true and certain, which the Evangelists have put down in writing of Christ.

24:31 * Suddenly taken away, and therefore we may not imagine that he was there in such a body as could not be seen, but believe indeed that he changed his place.
32 And they said between themselves, Did not our hearts burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and when he opened to us the Scriptures?
33 And they rose up the same hour, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with them, 34 Which said, The Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon.
35 Then they told what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in breaking of bread.
36 ¶ And as they spake these things, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and said unto them, Peace be to you.
37 But they were abashed and afraid, supposing that they had seen a spirit.
38 Then he said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and wherefore do doubts arise in your hearts?
39 Behold mine hands and my feet: for it is I myself: handle me, and see: for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have.
40 And when he had thus spoken, he showed them his hands and feet.
41 And while they yet believed not for joy, and wondered, he said unto them, Have ye here any meat?
42 And they gave him a piece of a broiled fish, and of an honeycomb, 43 And he took it, and did eat before them.
44 ¶ And he said unto them, These are the words, which I spake unto you while I was yet with you, that all must be fulfilled which are written of me in the Law of Moses, and in the Prophets, and in the Psalms.
45 Then opened he their understanding, that they might understand the Scriptures, 46 And said unto them, Thus is it written, and thus it behooved Christ to suffer, and to rise again from the dead the third day,
47 And that repentance, and remission of sins should be preached in his Name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.
48 Now ye are witnesses of these things.
49 And behold, I do send the promise of my Father upon you: but tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with power from on high.
50 ¶ Afterward he lead them out into Bethany, and lifted up his hands, and blessed them.
51 And it came to pass, that as he blessed them, he departed from them, and was carried up into heaven.
52 And they worshipped him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy, 53 And were continually in the Temple, praising, and lauding God. Amen.
1 That Word begotten of God before all worlds, 2 and which was ever with the Father. 3 is made man. 4 1In the beginning was that Word, and that Word was with God, and that Word was God. 5 Those words, That, pointeth out unto us a peculiar and choice thing had his being. 6 This word (Word) is the first in order in the sentence, and is that word (Word) which was ever with the Father, and that word (Word) is that Word was God. 7 This was the true light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world. 8 He was not that light, but was sent to bear witness of that light. 9 That true light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world. 10 He was in the world, and the world was made by him: and the world knew him not. 11 He came unto his own, and his own received him not. 12 But as many as received him, to them he gave a prerogative to be the sons of God, even to them that believe in his Name. 13 Which are born not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.
14 That Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we saw the glory thereof, as the glory of the only begotten Son of the Father) full of grace and truth.

15 John bare witness of him, and cried, saying, This was he of whom I said, He that cometh after me, was before me: for he was better than I.

16 And of his fullness have all we received, and grace for grace.

17 For the Law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ.

18 No man hath seen God at any time: that only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him.

19 Then is the record of John, when the Jews sent Priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, Who art thou?

20 And he confessed, and denied not, and said plainly, I am not that Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he said, I am not. Art thou that Prophet?

And he answered, No.

22 Then said they unto him, Who art thou, that we may give an answer to them that sent us? What sayest thou of thyself?

23 He said, I am the voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the Prophet Isaiah.

24 Now which they were sent, were of the Pharisees.

25 And they asked him, and said unto him, Why baptizest thou then, if thou be not that Christ, neither Elijah, nor that Prophet?

26 John answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one among you, whom ye know not.

27 He it is that cometh after me, which was before me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthy to unloose.

28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Jordan, where John did baptize.

29 The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold that Lamb of God, which 1:29 This word of the present time signifieth a continual act, for the Lamb hath this virtue proper unto him, and forever, to take away the sins of the world.

1:30 This is he of whom I said, After me cometh a man, which was before me: for he was better than I.

1:31 And I knew him not: but because he should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.

1:32 So John bare record, saying, I beheld, 4that Spirit come down from heaven, like a dove, and it abode upon him,

1:33 And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, he said unto me, Upon whom thou shalt see that Spirit come down, and tarry still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.

1:34 And I saw, and bare record that this is 4that Son of God.

1:35 ¶ The next day, John stood again, and two of his disciples.

1:36 And he beheld Jesus walking by, and said, Behold that Lamb of God.

1:37 And the two disciples heard him speak, and said unto them, What seek ye? And they said unto him, Rabbi, (which is to say by interpretation, Master) 4where dwellest thou?

1:38 He said unto them, Come, and see. They came and saw where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the tenth hour.

1:39 Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, was one of the two which had heard it of John, and that followed him.

1:40 The same found his brother Simon first, and said unto him, We have found that Messiah which was by interpretation, that 4Christ.

1:41 And he brought him to Jesus. And Jesus beheld him, and said, Thou art Simon the son of Jonah: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation a stone.

1:42 And the 4third day, was there a marriage in Cana of Galilee: and he manifested his glory; and his disciples believed on him.
Cana a town of Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there.

2 And Jesus was called also, and his disciples unto the marriage.

3 Now when the wine failed, the mother of Jesus said unto him, They have no wine.

4 Jesus said unto her, Woman, what have I to do with thee? mine hour is not yet come.

5 His mother said unto the servants, Whatsoever he saith unto you, do it.

6 And there were set there, six waterpots of stone, after the manner of the purifying of the Jews, containing two or three firkins apiece.

7 And Jesus said unto them, Fill the waterpots with water. Then they filled them up to the brim.

8 Then he said unto them, Draw out now, and bear unto the governor of the feast. So they bare it.

9 Now when the governor of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for he knew not whence it was, but the servants, which drew the water, knew) the governor of the feast called the bridgeman.

10 And said unto him, All men at the beginning set forth good wine, and when men have well drunk, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept back the good wine until now.

11 This beginning of miracles did Jesus in Cana a town of Galilee, and showed forth his glory: and his disciples believed on him.

12 After that, he went down into Capernaum, he and his mother, and his brethren, and his disciples: but they continued not many days there.

13 For the Jews' Passover was at hand. Therefore Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

14 And he found in the Temple those that sold oxen, and sheep, and doves, and changers of money sitting there.

15 Then he made a scourge of small cords and drove them all out of the Temple with the sheep and oxen, and poured out the changers' money, and overthrew their tables.

16 And said unto them that sold doves, Take these things hence: make not my father's house, an house of merchandise.

17 And his disciples remembered, that it was written, 'The zeal of thine house hath eaten me up.'

18 Then answered the Jews, and said unto him, What sign showest thou unto us, that thou doest these things?

19 Jesus answered, and said unto them, 'Destroy this Temple, and in three days I will raise it up again.'

20 Then said the Jews, Forty and six years was this Temple a building, and wilt thou rear it up in three days?

21 But he spake of the temple of his body.

22 As soon therefore as he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembered that he thus said unto them: and they believed the Scriptures, and the word which Jesus had said.

23 Now when he was at Jerusalem at the Passover in the feast, many believed in his Name, when they saw his miracles which he did.

24 But Jesus did not commit himself unto them, because he knew them all.

25 And had no need that any should testify of man, for he knew what was in man.

23 1 Christ teacheth Nicodemus the very principles of Christian regeneration. 14 The serpent in the wilderness. 23 John baptizeth, 27 and teacheth his, that he is not Christ.

1 There was now a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews.

2 This man came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God, for no man could do these miracles that thou doest, except God were with him.
3. Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily verily I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.

4. Nicodemus said unto him, How can a man be born which is old? can he enter into his mother’s womb again, and be born?

5. Jesus answered, Verily, verily I say unto thee, except that a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6. That which is born of the flesh, is flesh: and that which is born of the Spirit, is spirit.

7. Marvel not that I said to thee, Ye must be born again.

8. The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof; but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every man that is born of the Spirit.

9. Nicodemus answered, and said unto him, How can these things be?

10. Jesus answered, and said unto him, Art thou a teacher of Israel, and knowest not these things?

11. Verily, verily I say unto thee, We speak that we know, and testify that we have seen: but ye receive not our witness.

12. If when I tell you earthly things, ye believe not, how should ye believe, If I shall tell you of heavenly things?

13. For no man ascended up to heaven, but he that had ascended from heaven, that Son of man which is in heaven.

14. And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must that Son of man be lifted up, that whosoever believeth in him, should not perish, but have everlasting life.

15. That which is born of the Spirit is life eternal.

16. 1For God so loved the world, that he hath given his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him, should not perish, but have everlasting life.

17. 1For God sent not his Son into the world, that he should condemn the world, but that the world through him might be saved.

18. He that believeth in him, is not condemned: but he that believeth not, is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the Name of that only begotten Son of God.

19. 2And this is the condemnation, that light came into the world, and men loved darkness rather than that light, because their deeds were evil.

20. For every man that doeth evil, hateth the light, neither cometh to light, lest his deeds should be reproved.

21. But he that doeth truth, cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought according to God.

22. After these things came Jesus, and his disciples into the land of Judea, and there tarried with them, and baptized.

23. And John also baptized in Aenon besides Salim, because there was much water there: and they came to Christ.

Whereas he is said to have come down from heaven, that must be understood of his Godhead, and of the manner of his conception: for Christ’s birth upon the earth was heavenly, and not earthly, for he was conceived by the holy Ghost.

That which is proper to the divinity of Christ, is here spoken of the Son of God, he being the Logos, who was in the beginning with God.

The Church: for Christ showeth in this place, how we come to be saved, the first step whereof is faith and repentance.

It is not all one to believe in a thing, and to believe of a thing, for we believe not in any thing save only in God, but we may believe of anything whatsoever, this saith Nazianzene in his oration of the Spirit.

It is not all one to believe in a thing, and to believe of a thing, for we may believe not in anything save only in God, but we may believe of anything whatsoever, this saith Nazianzene in his oration of the Spirit.

Not Christ, but the despising of Christ doth condemn.

Not only the people of the Jews, but whosoever shall believe in him.

Only wickedness is the cause, why men refuse the light that is offered them.

That is, the cause of condemnation, which sticketh fast in men, unless through God’s great benefit they be delivered from it.

That is, with God, God as it were going before.
and were baptized.

24 For John was not yet cast into prison.

25 Then there arose a question between John's disciples and the Jews, about purifying.

26 And they came unto John, and said unto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Jordan, to whom thou barest witness, behold, he baptizeth, and all men come to him.

27 John answered, and said, A man can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven.

28 Ye yourselves are my witnesses, that I said, I am not that Christ, but that I am sent before him.

29 He that hath the bride, is the bridegroom: but the friend of the bridegroom which standeth and heareth him, rejoiceth greatly, because of the bridegroom's voice. This my joy therefore is fulfilled.

30 He must increase, but I must decrease.

31 He that is come from on high, is above all: he that is of the earth, is of the earth, and speaketh of the earth: he that is come from heaven, is above all.

32 And what he hath seen and heard, that he testifieth: but no man receiveth his testimony.

33 He that hath receiveth his testimony, hath set his seal unto the truth.

34 For he whom God hath sent, speaketh the words of God: for God giveth the Spirit by measure.

35 The Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand.

36 He that believeth in the Son, hath everlasting life; and he that obeyeth not the Son, shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

Now when the Lord knew, how the Pharisees spoke of him, that Jesus made his disciples and the Jews, about purifying.

4 Chapter 4

6 Jesus being weary, asked drink of the woman of Samaria. 21 He teacheth the true worship. 26 He confesseth that he is the Messias, 32 His meat. 39 The Samaritans believe in him. 46 He healeth the Ruler's son.

1 Now when the Lord knew, how the Pharisees had heard, that Jesus made and baptized more disciples than John,

2 (Though Jesus himself baptized not: but his disciples.)

3 He left Judea, and departed again into Galilee.

4 And he must needs go through Samaria.

5 Then came he to a city of Samaria called Sychar, near unto the possession that Jacob gave to his son Joseph.

6 And there was Jacob's Well. Jesus then weariest in the journey, sat thus on the Well: it was about the sixth hour.

7 There came a woman of Samaria to draw water. Jesus said unto her, Give me drink.

8 For his disciples were gone away into the city, to buy meat.

9 Then said the woman of Samaria unto him, How is it, that thou being a Jew, askest drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria? For the Jews meddle not with the Samaritans.

10 Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest what gift of God, and who it is that saith, Give me drink, thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee water of life.

11 The woman said unto him, Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the Well is deep: from whence hast thou that water of life?

12 Art thou greater than our father Jacob, which gave us the Well, and he himself drank thereof, and his sons, and his cattle.

13 Jesus answered, and said unto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water, shall thirst again:

14 But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him, shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life.

15 The woman said unto him, Sir, give me of that water, that I may not thirst, neither come hither to draw.

16 Jesus said unto her, Go, call thine husband, and come hither.

{3:25} Satan inflameth the disciples of John with a fond emulation of their master, to hinder the course of the Gospel: but John being mindful of his office, doth not only break off their endeavors, but also taketh occasion thereby to give testimony of Christ, how that in him only the Father hath set forth life everlasting.

{3:27} What mean you to go about to better my state? this is every man's lot and portion that they cannot better themselves one iota.

{3:31} Is nothing else but man, a piece of work and of the slime of the earth.

{3:32} Savoreth of nothing but corruption, ignorance, dullness, etc.

{3:33} That is, very few.

{3:35} Committed them to his power and will.

{3:36} Shall not enjoy.

{4:1} This measure is to be kept in doing of our duty, that neither by fear we be terrified from going forward, neither by rashness procure or pluck dangers upon our heads.

{4:3} Christ leaving the proud Pharisees, communicateth the treasures of everlasting life with a poor sinful woman, and stranger, refilling the gross errors of the Samaritans, and defended the true service of God, which was delivered to the Jews, but yet so, that he calleth both of them back to himself as one whom only all the fathers, and also all the ceremonies of the Law did regard, and had a respect unto.

{4:4} Even as he was weary, or because he was weary.

{4:9} There is no familiarity nor friendship, between the Jews and the Samaritans.

{4:10} By this word (That) we are given to understand, that Christ speaketh of some excellent gift, that is to say, even of himself, whom his Father offered to this woman.

{4:25} This everlasting water, that is to say, the exceeding love of God, is nothing else but man, a piece of work and of the slime of the earth.
17 The woman answered, and said, I have no husband, Jesus said unto her, thou hast well said, I have no husband.
18 For thou hast had five husbands, and he whom thou now hast, is not thine husband: that saiedst thou truly.
19 The woman said unto him, Sir, I see that thou art a Prophet.
20 'Our fathers worshipped in this mountain, and ye say, that in Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship.
21 Jesus said unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor at Jerusalem worship the Father.
22 Ye worship that which ye know not: we worship that which we know: for salvation is of the Jews.
23 But the hour cometh, and is now, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in 'Spirit and Truth: for the Father requireth even such to worship him.
24 'God is a Spirit, and they that worship him, must worship him in Spirit and Truth.
25 The woman said unto him, I know well that Messiah shall come, which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell us all things.
26 Jesus said unto her, I am he, that speak unto thee.
27 ¶ And upon that, came his disciples, and marveled that he talked with a woman: yet no man said unto him, What askest thou? or why talkest thou with her.
28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the city, and said to the men, 29 Come, see a man which hath told me all things that ever I did: is not he that Christ?
30 Then they went out of the city, and came unto him.
31 ¶ In the meanwhile, the disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eat.
32 'But he said unto them, I have meat to eat, that ye know not of.
33 Then said the disciples between themselves, Hath any man brought him meat?
34 Jesus said unto them, My meat is that I may do the will of him that sent me, and finish his work.
35 'Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? Behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the regions: for they are white already unto harvest.
36 ¶ And he that reapeth, receiveth reward, and gathered fruit unto life eternal, that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth might rejoice together.
37 For herein is the 'saying true, that one soweth and another reapeth.
38 I sent you to reap that, whereon ye bestowed no labor: other men labored, and ye are entered into their labors.
39 'Now many of the Samaritans of that city believed in him, for the saying of the woman which testified, He hath told me all things that ever I did.
40 Then when the Samaritans were come unto him, they besought him, that he would tarry with them: and he abode there two days.
41 And many more believed because of his own word.
42 And they said unto the woman, Now we believe, not because of thy saying: for we have heard him ourselves, and know that this is indeed that Christ the Savior of the world.
43 ¶ 'So two days after he departed thence, and went into Galilee.
44 For Jesus himself had testified, that a Prophet hath none honor in his own country.
45 Then when he was come into Galilee, the Galileans received him, which had seen all the things that he did at Jerusalem at the feast: for they went also to the feast.
46 'And Jesus came again into Cana a town of Galilee, where he had made of water wine. And 4:20 1 All the religion of superstitious people, standeth for the most part, upon two pillars, but very weak; that is to say upon the examples of the fathers perverted, and a foolish opinion of outward things: against which errors we have to set the word and nature of God.

2 The name of this mountain is Gerizim, whereupon Sanabaletta the Cushite built a Temple by Alexander of Macedonia's leave, after the victory of Issa, and made there Manassies his son-in-law high priest, Josephus, book 11.
4:23 1 This word (Spirit) is to be taken here, as it is set against that commandment, which is called carnal, Heb. 7:16, as the commandment is considered in itself: and so he speaketh of (Truth) not as we set it against a lie, but as we take it in respect of the outward ceremonies of the Law: which did only shadow that which Christ performed indeed.
4:24 1 By the word (Spirit) he meaneth the nature of the Godhead, and not the third person in the Trinity.
4:32 1 We may have care of our bodies, but yet so, that we prefer willingly and freely the occasion which is offered us to enlarge the kingdom of God, before all necessitie of this life whatsoever.
4:35 1 When the spiritual corn is ripe, we must not linger: for so the children of this world would condemn us.
4:36 1 The doctrine of the Prophets was as it were a sowing time: and the doctrine of the Gospel, as the harvest, and there is an excellent agreement between them both, and the ministers of them both.
4:37 1 That proverb.
4:39 1 The Samaritans do most joyfully embrace that which the Jews most stubbornly rejected.
4:43 1 The despisers of Christ deprive themselves of his benefit: yet Christ prepareth a place for himself.
4:44 1 Into the towns and villages of Galilee: for he would not make abode in his country of Nazareth, because they despised him, and where (as the other Evangelists write) the efficacy of his benefits was hindered through their marvelous stiffneckedness.
4:46 1 Although Christ be absent in body, yet he worketh mightily in the believers by his word.
there was a certain "ruler, whose son was sick at Capernaum.

47 When he heard that Jesus was come out of Judea into Galilee, he went unto him, and besought him that he would go down, and heal his son: for he was even ready to die.

48 Then said Jesus unto him, Except ye see signs and wonders, ye will not believe.

49 The ruler said unto him, Sir, go down before my son dies.

50 Jesus said unto him, Go thy way, thy son liveth: and the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken unto him, and went his way.

51 And as he was now going down, his servants met him, saying, Thy son liveth.

52 Then inquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said unto him, Yesterday the seventh hour the fever left him.

53 Then the father knew that it was the same hour in which Jesus had said unto him, Thy son liveth. And he believed, and all his household.

54 This second miracle did Jesus again, after he was come out of Judea into Galilee.

5 One lying at the pool, 5 is healed of Christ on the Sabbath. 10 The Jews that rashly find fault with that his deed, 17 he convinceth with the authority of his Father. 19, 20 He proveth his divine power by many reasons, 45 and with Moses' testimony.

1 After that, there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

2 And there is at Jerusalem by the place of the sheep, a pool called in Hebrew Bethesda, having five porches:

3 In the which lay a great multitude of sick folk, of blind, halt, and withered, waiting for the moving of the water.

4 For an Angel went down at a certain season into the pool, and troubled the water: whosoever then first, after the stirring of the water, stepped in, was made whole of whatsoever disease he had.

5 And a certain man was there, which had been diseased eight and thirty years.

6 When Jesus saw him lie, and knew that he now long time had been diseased, he said unto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The sick man answered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another steppeth down before me.

8 Jesus said unto him, Rise: take up thy bed, and walk.

9 And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and the same day was the Sabbath.

10 The Jews therefore said to him that was made whole, It is the Sabbath day: it is not lawful for thee to carry thy bed.

11 He answered them, He that made me whole he said unto me, Take up thy bed, and walk.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which said unto thee, Take up thy bed, and walk?

13 And he that was healed, knew not who it was: for Jesus had conveyed himself away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Jesus found him in the Temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee.

15 ¶ The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jesus that had made him whole.

16 And therefore the Jews did persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the Sabbath day.

17 ¶But Jesus answered them, My father worketh hitherto, and I work.

18 ¶Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him: not only because he had broken the Sabbath: but said also that God was his Father, and made himself equal with God.

19 Then answered Jesus, and said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, The Son can do nothing of himself, save that he 2seeth the Father do: for whatsoever things he doeth, the same things doeth the Son 3in like manner.

2 Some of Herod’s courtiers, for though Herod was not a king, but a Tetrarch, yet the lofty name only except, he was a king, or at least the people called him a king.

5:2 1 There is no disease so old, which Christ cannot heal.

2 Whereof cattle drank, and used to be plunged in; whereof there could not be but great store at Jerusalem.

3 That is to say, the house of pouring out, because great store of water was poured out into that place.

5:10 1 True religion is no more cruelly assaulted by any means, than by the pretence of religion itself.

5:17 1 The work of God was never the breach of the Sabbath: but the works of Christ are the works of the Father, both because they are one God, and also because the Father doth not work but in the Son.

5:18 1 That is, his only and no man’s else, which they gather by that, that he saith, (And I work) applying this word (work) to himself, which is proper to God, and therefore maketh himself equal to God.

5:19 1 Not only without his Father’s authority, but also without his mighty working and power.

2 This must be understood of Christ’s person, which consisteth of two natures, and not simply of his Godhead: so then he saith that his Father moveth and governeth him in all things, but yet notwithstanding, when he saith he worketh with his Father, he voucheth his Godhead.

3 In like sort, jointly and together. Not for that the Father doeth some things, and then the Son worketh after him, and doeth the like, but because the might and power of the Father and the Son do work equally and jointly together.
20 For the Father loveth the Son, and showeth him all things, whatsoever he himself doeth, and he will show him greater works than these, that ye should marvel.
21 For likewise as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them, so the Son quickeneth whom he will.
22 For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son, 23 Because that all men should honor the Son, as they honor the Father: he that honoreth not the Son, the same honoreth not the Father which hath sent him.
24 Verily, verily I say unto you, he that heareth my word, and believeth him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation, but hath passed from death to life.
25 Verily, verily I say unto you, the hour shall come, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear it shall live.
26 For as the Father hath life in himself, so likewise hath he given to the Son to have life in himself.
27 And hath given him power also to execute judgment, in that he is the Son of man.
28 Marvel not at this: for the hour shall come, in which all that are in the graves, shall hear his voice.
29 And they shall come forth, that have done good, unto the resurrection of life: but they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of condemnation.
30 I can do nothing of mine own self: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just, because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father who hath sent me.
31 If I should bear witness of myself, my witness were not true.
32 There is another that beareth witness of me, and I know that he beareth of me, is true.

5:20 1 The Father maketh no man partaker of everlasting life, but in Christ, in whom only also he is truly worshipped.
5:21 1 This word (judgeth) is taken by the figure Synecdoche, for all government.
5:22 1 These words are not so to be taken, as though they simply denied that God governeth the world, but as the Jews imagined it, which separate the Father from the Son, whereas indeed, the Father doth not govern the world but only in the person of his Son, being made manifest in the flesh: so saith he afterward, verse 30, that he came not to do his own will that his doctrine is not his own, John 7:16, that the blind man and his parents sinned not, etc., John 9:3.
5:24 1 The Father is not worshipped but by his Son's word apprehended by faith, which is the only way that leadeth to eternal life.
5:25 1 We are all dead in sin and cannot be quickened by any other means, than by the word of Christ apprehended by faith.
5:27 1 That is, high and sovereign power to rule and govern all things, insomuch that he hath power of life and death.
5:28 1 All shall appear before the judgment seat of Christ at length to be judged.
5:29 1 Faith and infidelity shall be judged by their fruits.
5:30 1 To that resurrection which had life everlasting following it: against which is set the resurrection of condemnation: that is, which condemnation followeth.
5:31 1 Faithful, that is, worthy to be credited, see John 8:14.
5:33 1 Christ is declared to be the only Savior by John's voice, and infinite miracles, and by the testimonies of all the Prophets. But the world notwithstanding being addicted to false prophets, and desirous to seem religious, seeth none of all these things.
5:35 1 A little while.
5:42 1 Love toward God.
5:45 1 This denial doth not put away that which is here said, but correcteth it, as if Christ said, the Jews shall have no sorer an accuser than Moses.
5 Five thousand are fed with five loaves and two fishes. 15 Christ goeth apart from the people. 17 As his disciples were rowing, 19 he cometh to them walking on the water. 26 He reasoneth of the true 27 and everlasting, 35 bread of life. 42, 52 The Jews murmur, 60 and many of the disciples, 66 depart from him. 69 The Apostles confess him to be the Son of God.

1 After these things, Jesus went his way over the sea of Galilee, which is Tiberias.

2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles, which he did on them that were diseased.

3 Then Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.

4 Now the Passover a feast of the Jews was near.

5 Then Jesus lift up his eyes, and seeing that a great multitude came unto him, he said unto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these might eat?

6 (And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.)

7 Philip answered him, Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that everyone of them may take a little.

8 Then said unto him one of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter’s brother, 9 There is a little boy here, which hath five barley loaves, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Jesus said, Make the people sit down.

(Now there was much grass in that place.) Then the men sat down, in number about five thousand.

11 And Jesus took the bread, and gave thanks, and gave to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

12 And when they were satisfied, he said unto his disciples, Gather up the broken meat which remaineth, that nothing be lost.

13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelve baskets with the broken meat of the five barley loaves, which remained unto them that had eaten.

14 Then the men, when they had seen the miracle that Jesus did, said, This is of a truth that Prophet that should come into the world.

15 1When Jesus therefore perceived that they would come, and take him to make him a king, he departed again into a mountain himself alone.

16 ¶ 1When even was now come, his disciples went down unto the sea,

17 ¶ And entered into a ship, and went over the sea, towards Capernaum: and now it was dark, and Jesus was not come to them.

18 And the Sea arose with a great wind that blew.

19 And when they had rowed about five and twenty, or thirty furlongs, they saw Jesus walking on the sea, and drawing near unto the ship: so they were afraid.

20 But he said unto them, It is I: be not afraid.

21 Then 1willingly they received him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went.

22 ¶ The day following, the people which stood on the other side of the sea, saw that there was none other ship there, save that one, where into his disciples were entered, and that Jesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone,

23 And that there came other ships from Tiberias near unto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had given thanks.

24 Now when the people saw that Jesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also took shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Jesus.

25 And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said unto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

26 ¶ Jesus answered them, and said, Verily, verily I say unto you, Ye seek me not, because ye saw the miracles, but because ye ate of the loaves, and were filled.

27 ¶ Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for the meat that endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath 4God the Father 5sealed.

28 Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the 4works of God?

6.1 Not that he cut over the lake of Tiberias, but by reason of the large creeks, his sailing made his journey the shorter: therefore he is said to have gone over the sea, when as he passed over from one side of the creek to the other.

6.5 They that follow Christ do sometimes hunger, but they are never destitute of help.

6.15 Christ is not only not delighted, but also greatly offended with a preposterous worship.

6.16 The godly are often in peril and danger, but Christ cometh to them in time, even in the midst of the tempests, and bringeth them to the heaven.

6.17 In Mark 6:45 they are willed to go before to Bethsaida, for Bethsaida was in the way to Capernaum.

6.21 They were afraid at the first, but when they knew his voice, they became new men, and took him willingly into the ship, whom they had shunned and fled from before.

6.26 They that seek the kingdom of heaven lack nothing: notwithstanding the Gospel is not the food of the belly, but of the mind.

6.27 1Bestow your labor and pain.

6.28 1Which please God: for they think that everlasting life hangeth upon the condition of fulfilling the Law: therefore Christ calleth them back to faith.
29 Jesus answered, and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe in him, whom he hath sent.

30 They said therefore unto him, What sign showest thou then, that we may see it, and believe thee? what dost thou work?

31 Our fathers did eat Manna in the desert, as it is written, He gave them bread from heaven to eat.

32 Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, Moses gave you not that bread from heaven, but my Father giveth you that true bread from heaven.

33 For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world.

34 Then they said unto him, Lord, evermore give us this bread.

35 And Jesus said unto them, I am that bread of life: he that cometh to me, shall not hunger; and he that believeth in me, shall never thirst.

36 But I said unto you, that ye also have seen me, and believe not.

37 All that the Father giveth me, shall come to me: and him that cometh to me, I cast not away.

38 For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but his will which hath sent me.

39 And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that every man which seeth the Son, and believeth in him, should have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day.

40 The Jews then murmured at him because he said, I am that bread, which is come down from heaven.

41 And they said, Is not this Jesus that son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? how then saith he, I came down from heaven?

42 Jesus then answered, and said unto them, Murmur not among yourselves.

44 No man can come to me, except the Father, which hath sent me, draw him: and I will raise him up at the last day.

45 It is written in the Prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me:

46 Not that any man hath seen the Father, save he which is of God, he hath seen the Father.

47 Verily, verily I say unto you, he that believeth in me, hath everlasting life.

48 I am that bread of life.

49 Your fathers did eat Manna in the wilderness, and are dead.

50 This is that bread, which cometh down from heaven, that he which eateth of it, should not die.

51 I am that living bread, which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live forever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.

52 Then the Jews strove among themselves, saying, How can this man give us his flesh to eat?
53 Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you.

54 Whosoever eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day.

55 For my flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed.

56 He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

57 As that living Father hath sent me, so live I by the Father, and he that eateth me, even he shall live by me.

58 This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers have eaten Manna, and are dead. He that eateth of this bread, shall live forever.

59 These things spake he in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

60 Many therefore of his disciples, when they heard this, said, This is an hard saying: who can hear it?

61 But Jesus knowing in himself, that his disciples murmured at this, said unto them, Dost this offend you?

62 What then if ye should see that Son of man ascend up where he was before?

63 It is the Spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, are spirit and life.

64 But there are some of you that believe not: for Jesus knew from the beginning, which they were that believed not, and who should betray him.

65 And he said, Therefore said I unto you, that no man can come unto me, except it be given unto him of my Father.

66 From that time, many of his disciples went back, and walked no more with him.

67 Then said Jesus to the twelve, Will ye also go away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Master, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life:

69 And we believe and know that thou art that Christ that Son of the living God.

70 Jesus answered them, Have not I chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil?

71 Now he spake it of Judas Iscariot the son of Simon: for he it was that should betray him, though he was one of the twelve.

2 Christ, after his cousins were gone up to the feast of Tabernacles, 10 goeth thinner privily. 12 The people's sundry opinions of him. 14 He teacheth in the Temple. 32 The Priests command to take him. 41 Sire of among the multitude about him, 47 and between the Pharisees and the officers that were sent to take him, 50 and Nicodemus.

1 After these things, Jesus walked in Galilee, and would not walk in Judea: for the Jews sought to kill him.

2 Now the Jews' feast of the Tabernacles was at hand.

3 His brethren therefore said unto him, Depart hence, and go into Judea, that thy disciples may see thy works that thou dost.

4 For there is no man that doeth anything secretly, and he himself seeketh to be famous. If thou dost these things, show thyself to the world.

5 For as yet his brethren believed not in him.

6 Then Jesus said unto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is always ready.

7 The world cannot hate you: but me it hateth, because I testify of it, that the works thereof are evil.

8 Go ye up unto this feast: I will not go up yet unto this feast: 4 for my time is not yet fulfilled.

9 These things he said unto them, and abode still in Galilee.
10  But as soon as his brethren were gone up, then went he also up unto the feast, not openly, but as it were privily.
11  Then the Jews sought him at the feast, and said, Where is he?
12  And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some said, He is a good man: others said, Nay: but he deceiveth the people.
13  Howbeit no man spake openly of him for fear of the Jews.
14  Now when half the feast was done, Jesus went up into the Temple, and taught.
15  And the Jews marveled, saying, How knoweth this man the Scriptures, seeing that he never learned!
16  Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.
17  If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself.
18  He that speaketh of himself, seeketh his own glory: but he that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no unrighteousness is in him.
19  Did not Moses give you a Law, and yet none of you keepeth the Law? Why go ye about to kill me?
20  The people answered, and said, Thou hast a devil: who goeth about to kill thee?
21  Jesus answered, and said unto them, I have done one work, and ye all marvel.
22  Moses therefore gave unto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the fathers) and ye on the Sabbath day circumcise a man.
23  If a man on the Sabbath receive circumcision, that the Law of Moses should not be broken, be ye angry with me, because I have made a man every whit whole on the Sabbath day?
24  Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment.
25  ¶ Then said some of them of Jerusalem, Is not this he whom they go about to kill?
26  And behold, he speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him: do the rulers know indeed that this is indeed that Christ?
27  Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when that Christ cometh, no man shall know whence he is.
28  ¶ Then cried Jesus in the Temple as he taught, saying, Ye both know me, and know whence I am: yet am I not come of myself, but he that sent me, is true, whom ye know not.
29  But I know him: for I am of him, and he hath sent me.
30  Then they sought to take him, but no man laid hands on him, because his hour was not yet come.
31  Now many of the people believed on him, and the Pharisees, and high Priests sent officers to take him.
32  The Pharisees heard that the people murmured these things of him, and the Pharisees, and high Priests sent officers to take him.
33  Then said Jesus unto them, Yet am I a little while among you, and then go I unto him that sent me.
34  Ye shall seek me, and shall not find me, and where I am, can ye not come.
35  Then said the Jews among themselves, Where is he that shall kill him? What manner of man desireth to kill him, and will not know whence he is?
and teach the Greeks?
36 What saying is this that he said, Ye shall seek me, and shall not find me? and where I am, can ye not come?
37 Now in the last and great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink.
38 He that believeth in me, as saith the Scripture, out of his belly shall flow rivers of water of life.
39 (This spake he of the Spirit, which they that believed in him should receive: for the holy Ghost was not yet given, because that Jesus was not yet glorified.)
40 So many of the people, when they heard this saying, said, Of a truth this is that Prophet: 41 Others said, This is that Christ: and some said, But shall that Christ come out of Galilee?
42 So faith not the Scripture that that Christ shall come of the seed of David, and out of the town of Bethlehem, where David was?
43 So was there dissension among the people for him.
44 And some of them would have taken him, but no man laid hands on him.
45 Then came the officers to the high Priests and Pharisees, and they said unto them, Why have ye not brought him?
46 The officers answered, Never man spake like this man.
47 Then answered them the Pharisees, Are ye also deceived?
48 Doth any of the rulers, or of the Pharisees believe in him?
49 But this people, which know not the Law, are cursed,
50 Nicodemus said unto them, (he that came to Jesus by night, and was one of them.)
51 Doth our Law judge a man before it hear him, and know what he hath done?
52 They answered, and said unto him, Art thou also of Galilee? Search and look: for out of Galilee ariseth no Prophet.
53 And every man went unto his own house.

8 3 The woman taken in adultery. 11 Hath her sins forgiven her. 12 Christ the light of the world. 19 The Pharisees ask where his Father is. 39 The sons of Abraham. 42 The sons of God. 44 The devil the father of lying. 56 Abraham saw Christ's day.

1 And Jesus went unto the mount of Olives,
2 And early in the morning came again into the Temple, and all the people came unto him, and he sat down and taught them.
3 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees brought unto him a woman taken in adultery, and set her in the midst.
4 And said unto him, Master, we found this woman committing adultery even in the very act.
5 Now Moses in our Law commanded, that such should be stoned: what sayest thou therefore?
6 And this they said to tempt him, that they might have, whereof to accuse him. But Jesus stooped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground,
7 And while they continued asking him, he lifted himself up, and said unto them, Let him that is among you without sin, cast the first stone at her.
8 And again he stooped down, and wrote on the ground.
9 And when they heard it, being accused by their own conscience, they went out, one by one, beginning at the eldest even to the last: so Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.
10 When Jesus had lifted up himself again, and saw no man, but the woman, he said unto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?
11 She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said, Neither do I condemn thee: go and sin no more.
12 Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am that light of the world: he that followeth me, shall not walk in darkness, but shall have that light point of religion: neither hath Christ any more cruel enemies than those that occupy the seat of truth: yet can they not do what they would.

737 1 There are two principles of our salvation: the one is to be thoroughly touched with a true feeling of our extreme poverty; the other to seek in Christ only (whom we catch hold on by faith) the abundance of all good things.
738 1 The last day of the feast of Tabernacles, that as, the eighth day, was as high a day, as the first.
739 1 What is meant by the holy Ghost, he expressed a little before, speaking of the Spirit which they that believed in him should receive. So that by the name of holy Ghost, are meant the virtues and mighty workings of the holy Ghost.
740 1 There is contention even in the Church itself about the chief and that I do nothing of myself, but as my Father taught me, so I spake these things.

28 Then said Jesus unto them, When ye have lifted up the Son of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I do nothing of myself, but as my Father hath taught me, so I spake these things.

29 For he that sent me, is with me: the Father hath taught me, and I know whence I came, and whither I go.

30 They understood not that he spake to them of the Father.

31 Then said Jesus to the Jews which believed on him, Ye have seen my works: these are the works of my Father; if ye believe on me, believe also on my Father.

32 That which I do, ye shall do: the Father shall perform greater works than these, because I go to him.

33 I can do nothing of myself; as my Father hath taught me, so I speak.

34 And he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone; for I do always those things that please him.

35 And I know that the Fatherloveth me, because I keep his works.

36 Jesus answered them, If anyone does his will, he shall see the Son of man coming in glory and his Father, and shining with him.

37 If any man serve me, let him follow me: and where I am, there shall my servant be. If a man serve me, him shall my Father honor.

38 This is the work of God, that you believe in him whom he has sent.
38 I speak that which I have seen with my Father: and ye do that which ye have seen with your Father.

39 'They answered, and said unto him, Abraham our father said unto us, If ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham.

40 But now ye go about to kill me, a man that have told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye do the works of your father. Then said they to him, We are not born of fornication: we have one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, then ye would love me: for I proceeded forth, and came from God, neither came I of myself, but he sent me.

43 Why do ye not understand my talk? because ye cannot hear my word.

44 Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do: he hath been a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, then speaketh he of his own: for he is a liar, and the father thereof.

45 And because I tell you the truth, ye believe me not.

46 Which of you can rebuke me of sin? and if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?

47 He that is of God heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God.

48 Then answered the Jews, and said unto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a devil?

49 Jesus answered, I have not a devil, but I honor my Father, and ye have dishonored me.

50 And I seek not mine own praise: but there is one that seeketh it, and judgeth.

51 Verily, verily I say unto you, If a man keep my word, he shall never see death.

52 Then said the Jews to him, Now know we that thou hast a devil. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, If a man keep my word, he shall never taste of death.

53 Art thou greater than our father Abraham, which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whom maketh thou thyself?

54 'Jesus answered, If I honor myself, mine honor is nothing worth: it is my Father that honoreth me, whom ye say, that he is your God.

55 Yet ye have not known him: but I know him, and if I should say I know him not, I should be a liar like unto you: but I know him, and keep his word.

56 'Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day, and he 'saw it, and was glad.

57 Then said the Jews to him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?

58 Jesus said unto them, Thou art not yet of the Synagogue, and was cast out of the Synagogue. 36 Christ endueth with the knowledge of the everlasting light.

1 And 'as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth.

2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind?
3 Jesus answered, 1Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the works of God should be shown on him.
4 1I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is 1day: the night cometh when no man can work.
5 As long as I am in the world, 1I am the light of the world.
6 1As soon as he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and anointed the eyes of the blind with the clay.
7 And said unto him, Go wash in the pool of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore and washed, and came again seeing.
8 1Now the neighbors and they that had seen him before, when he was blind, said, Is not this he that sat and begged?
9 Some said, This is he: and others said, He is like him: but he himself said, I am he.
10 Therefore they said unto him, How were thine eyes 1opened?
11 He answered, and said, The man that is called Jesus, made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and said unto me, Go to the pool of Siloam and wash. So I went and washed, and received sight.
12 Then they said unto him, Where is he? He said, I cannot tell.
13 ¶ They brought to the Pharisees him that was once blind.
14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Jesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.
15 Then again the Pharisees also asked him, how he had received sight. And he said unto them, He laid clay upon mine eyes, and I washed, and do see.
16 1Then said some of the Pharisees, This man is not of God, because he keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others said, How can a man that is a sinner, do such miracles? and there was a dissension among them.

9:3 1 Christ reasoneth here, as his disciples thought, which presuppose that there come no diseases but for sins only: whereupon he answereth that there was another cause of this man's blindness, and that was, that God's his work might be seen.
9:4 1The works of Christ are as it were a light, which lighten the darkness of the world.
9:6 1Christ healing the man born blind, by taking the sign of clay, and afterward the sign of the fountain of Siloam (which signifies Sent) sheweth that as he at the beginning made man, so doth he again restore both his body and soul: and yet so, that he himself cometh first of his own accord to heal us.
9:8 1A true image of all men, who as they are of nature blind, do neither themselves receive the light that is offered unto them, nor suffer it in others, and yet make a great ado amongst themselves.
9:10 1This is an Hebrew kind of speech, for they call a man's eyes shut, when they cannot receive any light: And therefore they are said to have their eyes opened, which of blind men are made to see.
9:16 1Religion is not assaulted by any means more than by pretense of Religion: but the more it is pressed down, the more it riseth up.
9:24 1A solemn order, whereby men were constrained in old time to acknowledge their fault before God, as if they should say, Consider thou art before God, who knoweth the whole matter, and therefore see thou reverence his majesty, and do him this honor, rather to confess the whole matter openly, than to lie before him, Josh. 7:19; 1 Sam. 6:5.
9:28 1Proud wickedness must needs at length break forth, which in vain lieth hid under a zeal of godliness.
10 1 Christ proveth that the Pharisees are the evil shepherds, 8 and by many reasons, that himself 11, 14 is the good shepherd: 19 And thereof dissension ariseth. 31 They take up stones, 39 and go about to take self 11, 14 is the good shepherd: 19 And thereof dissension ariseth. 31 They take up stones, 39 and go about to take him, heard these things, and said unto him, Are we blind also? 41 Jesus said unto them, If ye were blind, ye should not have sin: but now ye say, We see: therefore your sin remaineth.

10:16 1 Other sheep I have also, which are not of this of the shepherd.

10:3 1 In those days they used to have a servant always sitting at the door, and therefore he speaketh after the manner of those days.

10:6 1 This word (parable) which the Evangelist useth here, signifies a dark kind of speech, when words are taken from their natural meaning, to signify another thing to us.

10:8 1 It maketh no matter, how many, neither how old the false teachers there have been.

10:9 1 Only Christ is the true Pastor, and that only is the true Church, which acknowledgeth him to be properly their only Pastor: To him are opposite thieves which feed not the sheep, but kill them: and hirelings also, which forsake the flock in time of danger, because they feed it only for their own profit and gains.

10:10 1 Only Christ is the true Pastor, and that only is the true Church, which acknowledgeth him to be properly their only Pastor: To him are opposite thieves which feed not the sheep, but kill them: and hirelings also, which forsake the flock in time of danger, because they feed it only for their own profit and gains.

10:15 1 Loveth me, alloweth me.

10:16 1 The calling of the Gentiles.
fold: they also must I bring, and they shall hear my voice: and there shall be one sheepfold, and one shepherd.

17 Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again.

18 No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself; I have power to lay it down, and have power to take it again: this commandment have I received of my Father.

19 And there was a dissension among the Jews for these sayings.

20 And many of them said, He hath a devil, and is mad: why hear ye him?

21 Others said, These are not the words of him that hath a devil: can the devil open the eyes of the blind?

22 And it was at Jerusalem the feast of the Dedication, and it was winter.

23 And Jesus walked in the Temple, in Solomon's porch.

24 Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be that Christ, tell us plainly.

25 Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believe not: the works that I do in my Father's Name, they believe not: the works that I do in my Father's Name, they believe not.

26 But ye believe not: for ye are not of my sheep, as I said unto you.

27 My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me.

28 And I give unto them eternal life, and they shall never perish, neither shall any pluck them out of my hand.

29 My Father which gave them me, is greater than all, and none is able to take them out of my Father's hand.

30 I and my Father are one.

31 Then the Jews again took up stones, to stone him.

32 Jesus answered them, Many good works have I showed you from my Father: for which of these works do ye stone me?

33 The Jews answered him, saying, For the good work we stone thee not, but for blasphemy, and that thou being a man, makest thyself God.

34 Jesus answered them, Is it not written in your Law, I said, Ye are gods?

35 If he called them gods, unto whom the word of God was given, and the Scripture cannot be broken, 36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest, because I said, I am the Son of God?

37 If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not.

38 But if I do, then though ye believe not me, yet believe the works, that ye may know and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 Again they went about to take him: but he escaped out of their hands.

40 And went again beyond Jordan, into the place where John first baptized, and there abode.

41 And many resorted unto him, and said, John did no miracle: but all things that John spake of this man, were true.

42 And many believed in him there.
3 Therefore his sisters sent unto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou lovest, is sick.

4 When Jesus heard it, he said, This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby.

5 ¶ Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 And after he had heard that he was sick, yet abode he two days still in the same place where he was.

7 Then after that, said he to his disciples, Let us go into Judea again.

8 ¶ The disciples said unto him, Master, the Jews lately sought to stone thee, and dost thou go thither again?

9 Jesus answered, Are there not twelve hours in the day? If a man walk in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walk in the night, he stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

11 These things spake he, and after, he said unto them, Our friend Lazarus sleepeth: but I go to wake him up.

12 Then said his disciples, Lord, if he sleep, he shall be safe.

13 Howbeit, Jesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the natural sleep.

14 Then said Jesus unto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may believe: but let us go unto him.

16 Then said Thomas (which is called Didymus) unto his fellow disciples, Let us also go, that we may die with him.

17 ¶ Then came Jesus, and found that he had lain in the grave four days already.

18 (Now Bethany was near unto Jerusalem, about fifteen furlongs off.)

19 And many of the Jews were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

20 Then Martha, when she heard that Jesus was coming, went to meet him: but Mary sat still in the house.

21 Then said Martha unto Jesus, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not been dead.

22 But now I know also, that whatsoever thou askest of God, God will give it thee.

23 Jesus said unto her, Thy brother shall rise again.

24 Martha said unto him, I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day.

25 Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead yet shall he live.

26 And whosoever liveth, and believeth in me, shall never die: Believest thou this?

27 She said unto him, Yea, Lord, I believe that thou art that Christ that Son of God, which should come into the world.

28 ¶ And when she had so said, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when she heard it, she arose quickly, and came unto him.

30 For Jesus was not yet come into the town, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Jews then which were with her in the house, and many others, who came to the sepulchre, asked one another, Why do ye come to the sepulchre?

32 Then said Thomas (which is called Didymus) unto his fellow disciples, Let us also go, that we may die with him.

33 When Jesus there saw her weep, and the Jews also weep which came with her, he groaned in the spirit, and was troubled in himself.

34 And said, Where have ye laid him? They said unto him, Lord, come and see.

35 And Jesus wept.

36 Then said the Jews, behold, how he loved him.

37 And some of them said, Could not he which opened the eyes of the blind, have made also, that this man should not have died?

38 Jesus therefore again groaned in himself, and came to the grave. And it was a cave, and a stone was laid upon it.

39 Jesus said, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, said unto him, Lord, he stinketh already for he hath been dead four days.

40 Jesus said unto her, Said I not unto thee, that whatsoever thou askest of God, God will give it thee.

41 Then they took away the stone from the place. where the dead was laid. And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank thee, because thou hast heard me.

42 I know that thou hearest me always, but because of the people that stand by, I said it, that they may believe, that thou hast sent me.

43 As he had spoken these things, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth.

44 Then he that was dead, came forth, bound hand and foot with bands, and his face was bound with a napkin. Jesus said unto them, Loose him, and let him go.

45 ¶ Then many of the Jews, which came to Mary, and had seen the things, which Jesus did, believed in him.

46 ¶ But some of them went their way to the Pharisees, and told them what things Jesus had done.

47 Then gathered the high Priests, and the Pharisees a council, and said, What shall we do? For this man doeth many miracles.

48 If we let him thus alone, all men will believe in him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place, and the nation.

49 ¶ Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the high Priest that same year, said unto them, Ye perceive nothing at all,

50 ¶ Nor yet do you consider that it is expedient for us, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish.

51 ¶ This spake he not of himself: but being high Priest that same year, he prophesied that Jesus should die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation only, but that he should gather together in one the children of God, which were scattered.

53 Then from that day forth they consulted together, to put him to death.

54 Jesus therefore walked no more openly among the Jews, but went thence unto a country near to the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.

55 ¶ And the Jews' Passover was at hand, and many went out of the country up to Jerusalem before the Passover, to purify themselves.

56 Then sought they for Jesus, and spake among themselves, as they stood in the Temple, What think ye, that he cometh not to the feast?

57 Now both the high Priests and the Pharisees had given a commandment, that if any man knew where he were, he should show it, that they might take him.

12 2 As Christ is at supper with Lazarus, 3 Mary anointeth his feet. 5 Judas findeth fault with her. 7 Christ defendeth her. 10 The Priests would put Lazarus to death. 12 As Christ cometh to Jerusalem. 18 The people meet him. 22 The Greeks desire to see him. 42 The chief rulers that believe in him, but for fear do not confess him. 44 he exhorteth to faith.

1 Then Jesus, six days before the Passover, came to Bethany, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raised from the dead.

2 There they made him a supper, and Martha served: but Lazarus was one of them that sat at the table with him.

3 Then took Mary a pound of ointment of Spikenard very costly, and anointed Jesus' feet, and wiped his feet with her hair, and the house was filled with the savour of the ointment.

4 Then said one of his disciples, even Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, which should betray him:

5 ¶ Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and given to the poor?

6 Now he said thus, not that he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief, and had the bag, and bore that which was given.

7 ¶ Then said Jesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying she kept it.

8 For the poor always ye have with you, but me ye shall not have always.

11:46 1 The last point of hard and iron-like stubbornness is this, to proclaim open war against God, and yet cease not to make a presence both of godliness and of the profit of the commonwealth.

11:47 1 The Jews called the council Sanhedrin: and the word that John useth is Synedri.

11:48 1 That is, take away from us by force: for at that time, though the high Priest's authority was greatly lessened and decayed, yet there was some kind of government left among the Jews.

11:49 1 The raging and mad company of the false Church, persuade themselves that they cannot be in safety, unless he is taken away, who only upholdeth the Church: And so likewise judgeth the wisdom of the flesh in worldly affairs, which is governed by the spirit of godliness or madness.

11:51 1 Christ doth sometimes so turn the tongues, even of the wicked, that in cursing, they bless.

11:52 1 For they were not gathered together in one country, as the Jews were, but to be gathered from all quarters, from the East to the West.

11:54 1 We may give place to the rage of the wicked, when it is expedient so to do, but yet in such sort, that we swerve not from God's vocation.

12:5 1 An horrible example in Judas of a mind blinded with covetousness, and yet pretending godliness.

12:7 1 This extraordinary anointing, which was for a sign, is so allowed of God, that he witnesseth how he will not be worshipped with outward pomp, or costly service, but with alms.

12:9 1 When the light of the Gospel showeth itself, some are found to be curious, and others (which left ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honor him, whom they will straightway fall from: and very few do so reverently receive him as they ought: Notwithstanding Christ beginneth his spiritual kingdom in the midst of his enemies.
9 Then many of the Jews knew that he was there: and they came, not for Jesus' sake only, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 The high Priests therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also.

11 Because that for his sake many of the Jews went away, and believed in Jesus.

12 ¶ On the morrow a great multitude that were come to the feast, when they heard that Jesus should come to Jerusalem, 13 Took branches of palm trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna, Blessed is the King of Israel that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Jesus found a young ass, and sat thereon, as it is written, 15 Fear not, daughter of Zion: behold, thy King cometh sitting on an ass's colt.

16 But his disciples understood not these things at first: but when Jesus was glorified, then remembered they, that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things unto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witness that he called Lazarus out of the grave and raised him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people also, because they heard that he had done this miracle.

19 And the Pharisees said among themselves, Perceiv ye how ye prevail nothing? Behold, the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certain Greeks among them that came up to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see that Jesus.

22 Philip came and told Andrew: and again Andrew and Philip told Jesus.

23 And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Son of man must be glorified.

24 Verily, verily I say unto you, Except the wheat corn fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

25 He that loveth his life, shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keep it unto life eternal.

26 If any man serve me, let him follow me: for where I am, there shall my servant be: and if any man serve me, him will my Father honor.

27 ¶ Now is my soul troubled: and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour: but therefore came I unto this hour.

28 Father, glorify thy Name. Then came there a voice from heaven, saying, I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again.

29 Then said the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: others said, An Angel spake to him.

30 Jesus answered, and said, This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes.

31 Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

32 And I, if I were lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me.

33 Now this said he, signifying what death he should die.

34 The people answered him, We have heard out of the Law, that that Christ bideth forever: and how sayest thou, that that Son of man must be lifted up? Who is that Son of man?

35 ¶ Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is the light with you: walk while ye have that light, lest the darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in the dark, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 While he have that light, believe in that light, that ye may be the children of the light. These things spake Jesus, and departed, and hid himself from them.

37 ¶ And though he had done so many miracles before them, yet believed they not on him,

38 That the saying of Isaiah the Prophet might be 12:19 Even they which go about to oppress Christ, are made instruments of his glory.

12:20 ¶ After the solemn custom: the Greeks were first so called by the name of the country of Greece, where they dwelt: but afterward, all that were not of the Jew's religion, but worshipped false gods, and were also called Heathens, were called by this name.

12:22 The death of Christ is as it were a sowing, which seemeth to be a dying to the corn, but indeed is the cause of a far greater harvest: and such is as is the condition of the head, so shall it be of the members.

12:27 ¶ Whilst Christ went about to suffer all the punishment which is due to our sins, and whilst his divinity did not yet show his might and power so far as this satisfaction might thoroughly wrought, now when he is stricken with the great fear of the curse of God, he crieth out and prayeth, and desireth to be released: yet notwithstanding he prefereth the will and glory of his Father before all things, whose obedience the Father alloweth even from heaven.

12:28 To wit, of death that is now at hand.

12:30 Christ foretelleth to the deaf, the manner of his death, the overcoming of the devil and the world, and in conclusion his triumph.

12:32 Christ used a word, which hath a double meaning: for it signifieth either to lift up, or to rid out of the way, for his meaning was to put them in mind of his death, but the Jews seem to take it another way.

12:35 Unmeasurable is the mercy of God, but an horrible judgment followed, if it be contemned.

12:36 That is, partakers of light.

12:37 Faith is not of nature, but of grace.
fulfilled, that he said, Lord, who believed our report?
and to whom is the 'arm of the Lord revealed?
39 Therefore could they not believe, because that Isaiah saith again,
40 He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart, that they should not see with their eyes, nor understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.
41 These things said Isaiah when he saw his glory, and spake of him.
42 Nevertheless, even among the chief rulers, many believed in him: but because of the Pharisees they did not confess him, lest they should be cast out of the Synagogue.
43 For they loved the praise of men, more than the praise of God.
44 And Jesus cried, and said, He that believeth in me, believeth 'not in me, but in him that sent me.
45 And he that seeth me, seeth him that sent me.
46 I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth in me, should not abide in darkness.
47 And if any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world.
48 He that refuseth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I have spoken, it shall judge him in the last day.
49 For I have not spoken of myself: but the Father that sent me, he gave me a commandment what I should say, and what I should speak.
50 And I know that his commandment is life everlasting: the things therefore that I speak, I speak them so as the Father said unto me.

13 4 Christ rising from supper, 14 to command humility to his Apostles, washeth their feet. 21 He noteoth the traitor Judas, 26 with an evident token. 34 He commendeth charity. 37, 38 He foretelleth Peter of his denial.

1 Now before the feast of the Passover, when Jesus knew that his hour was come, that he should depart out of this world unto the Father, forasmuch as he loved his 'own which were in the world, unto the end he loved them.
2 And when supper was done, and that the devil had now put in the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him.)
3 Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his 'hands, and that he was come forth from God, and went to God, 4 He riseth from supper, and layeth aside his upper garments, and took a towel, and girded himself.
5 After that, he poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel, wherewith he was girded.
6 Then came he to Simon Peter, who said to him,
Lord, dost thou wash my feet?
7 Jesus answered and said unto him, What I do, thou knowest not now: but thou shalt know it hereafter.
8 Peter said unto him, Thou shalt never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou shalt have 'no part with me.
9 Simon Peter said unto him, Lord, not my feet only, but also the hands and the head.
10 Jesus said to him, He that is washed, needeth not, save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit:
and ye are 'clean, but not all.
11 For he knew who should betray him; therefore said he, Ye are not all clean.
12 ¶ So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you?
13 Ye call me Master, and Lord, and ye say well:
for so am I.
14 If I then your Lord, and Master, have washed your feet, ye also ought to wash one another's feet.
15 For I have given you an example, that ye should do, even as I have done to you.
16 Verily, verily I say unto you, The servant is not greater than his master, neither the 'ambassador

12:38 1 The arm of the Lord, is the Gospel, which is the power of God to salvation to all that believe: And therefore the arm of the Lord is not revealed to them, whose hearts the Lord hath not opened.
12:42 1 Such as believe, are not only few in number, if they be compared with the unbelievers, but also the most of those few (yea and that especially the chiefest) do fear men more than God.
12:44 1 The sum of the Gospel, and therefore of salvation, which Christ witnessed in the midst of Jerusalem, by his crying out, is this:
that thereunto Christ through faith, as the only Savior appointed and given us of the Father.
12:45 2 This word Not, doth not take any whit of this from Christ which is here spoken of, but is in way of correction rather, as if he said, He that believeth in me, doth not so much believe in me, as in him that sent me. So is it in Mark 9:37.
13:1 1 Christ no less certain of the victory, than of the combat which was at hand, using the sign of washing the feet, doth partly thereby give an example of singular modesty, and his great love toward his Apostles in this notable act, being like very shortly to depart from them: and partly witnesseth unto them, that it is he only which loved his 2own which were in the world, unto
the end he loved them.
13:3 1 Into his power.
13:4 1 In that he is said to rise, it argueth that there was a space between the ceremonies of the Passover, and this washing of feet, at what time it seemeth that the Supper was instituted.
13:8 1 Unless thou suffer me to wash thee, thou shalt have no part in the kingdom of heaven.
13:16 1 The word signifieth an Apostle which is anyone that is sent from another.
greater than he that sent him.
17 If ye know these things, blessed are ye if ye do them.
18 41 speak not of you all: I know whom I have chosen: but it is that the Scripture might be fulfilled, 4He that eateth bread with me, hath lift up his heel against me.
19 From henceforth tell I you before it come, that when it is come to pass, ye might believe that I am he.
20 1Verily, verily I say unto you, If I send any, he that receiveth him, receiveth me, and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that sent me.
21 When Jesus had said these things, he was troubled in the Spirit, and 22 Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.
23 Now there was one of his disciples, which leaned on Jesus' bosom, whom Jesus loved.
24 To him beckoned therefore Simon Peter, that he should ask who it was of whom he spake.
25 He then as he leaned on Jesus' breast, said unto him, Lord, who is it?
26 Jesus answered, He it is, to whom I shall give a sop, when I have dipped it: and he wet a sop, and gave it to Judas Iscariot, Simon's son.
27 And after the sop, Satan entered into him. Then said Jesus unto him, That thou doest, do quickly.
28 But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cause he spake it unto him.
29 For some of them thought because Judas had 30 As soon then as he had received the sop, he went immediately out, and it was night.
31 4When he was gone out, Jesus said, 2Now is the son of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.
32 If God be glorified in him, God shall also glorify him in himself, and shall straightway glorify him.
33 1Little children, yet a little while am I with you: ye shall seek me, but as I said unto the Jews, Whither I go, can ye not come: also to you say I now.
34 4A new commandment give I unto you, that ye love one another: as I have loved you, that ye also love one another.
35 By this shall all men know, that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.
36 1Simon Peter said unto him, Lord, whither goest thou? Jesus answered him, Whither I go, thou canst not follow me now: but thou shalt follow me afterward.
37 Peter said unto him, Lord, why can I not follow thee now? I will lay down my life for thy sake.
38 Jesus answered him, Wilt thou lay down thy life for my sake? Verily, verily I say unto thee, The cock shall not crow, till thou have denied me thrice.

14 He comforteth his disciples, 2, 7 declaring his divinity and the fruit of his death, 16 promising the comforter, 17 even the holy Spirit, 26 whose office he set eth out. 27 He promiseth his peace.

1 Let 'not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me.
2 In my Father's house are many dwelling places: if it were not so, 1I would have told you: I go to prepare a place for you.
3 1And if I go to prepare a place for you, I will 2come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am, there may ye be also.
4 1And whither I go, ye know, and the way ye know.
5 Thomas said unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest: how can we then know the way?
6 4Jesus said unto him, I am 1that Way, and that

13:18 1 The betraying of Christ was not casual, or a thing that hap­pened by chance, but the Father so ordained the cause of our salva­tion, to reconcile us unto himself in his Son, and the Son did willingly and voluntarily obey the Father.
13:21 1 He affirmed it openly, and sealed it.
13:23 1John's leaning was such, that sitting down in his bed, his head was toward Jesus' head: so that it was an easy matter for him to touch Jesus' bosom: for it is certain that in old time men used not to sit at the table, but to lie down on the one side.
13:31 1 We have to consider the glorifying of Christ in his ignominy.
14:3 1Christ went not away from us: to the end to forsake us, but that he might at length take us up with him into heaven.
14:4 1Christ only is the way to true and everlasting life, for he it is in whom the Father hath revealed himself.
14:6 1This saying sheweth unto us both the nature, the will and office of Christ.

1 And we know that the testimony of the divinity of Christ.
2 The eternal glory shall flow by little and little from the head to the members. But in the meantime, we must take good heed that we pass over the race of this life in brotherly love.
7 1If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him.

8 Philip said unto him, Lord, show us thy Father, and it sufficeth us.

9 Jesus said unto him, I have been so long time with you, and hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me, hath seen my Father: how then sayest thou, Show us thy Father?

10 ‘Believeth thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The words that I speak unto you, I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works.

11 Believe me, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me: at the least, believe me for the very works’ sake.

12 Verily, verily I say unto you, he that believeth on me, the works that I do, he shall do also, and greater than these shall he do: for I go unto my Father.

13 ‘And whatsoever ye ask in my Name, that will I do.

14 If ye shall ask anything in my Name, I will do it.

15 If ye love me, keep my commandments.

16 And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever, 17 Even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him: for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you.

18 I will not leave you fatherless: but I will come to you.

19 Yet a little while, and the world shall see me no more, but ye shall see me: because I live, ye shall live also.

20 At that day shall ye know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.

21 He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them: is he that loveth me: and he that loveth me, shall be loved of my Father: and I will love him, and will show mine own self to him.

22 Judas said unto him, (not Iscariot) Lord, what is the cause that thou wilt show thyself unto us, and not unto the world?

23 Jesus answered, and said unto him, If any man love me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and will dwell with him.

24 He that loveth me not, keepeth not my words, and the word which ye hear, is not mine, but the Father’s which sent me.

25 These things have I spoken unto you, being present with you.

26 But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my Name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, which I have told you.

27 Peace I leave with you: my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, nor fear.

28 Ye have heard how I said unto you, I go away, and will come unto you. If ye loved me, ye would verily rejoice, because I said, I go unto the Father: for the Father is greater than I.

29 And now have I spoken unto you, before it come, that when it is come to pass, ye might believe.

30 Hereafter will I not speak many things unto you: for the prince of this world cometh, and hath 11:31 But it is that the world may know that I love my Father: and as the Father hath commanded me, so I do. Arise, let us go hence.

15:1 By the parable of the vine, and the branches. 5. 6 he declareth how the disciples may bear fruit.

12, 17 He commendeth mutual love. 18 He exhorteth them to bear afflictions patiently.

1 I am that true vine, and my Father is that husbandman. 2 Every branch that beareth not fruit in me, he taketh away: and everyone that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.

3 Now are ye clean through the word, which I have spoken unto you.

4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me.

5 I am that vine: ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me can ye do nothing.

6 If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and throw them into the fire, and they burn.

7 If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask what ye will, and it shall be done to you.

8 Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit, and be made my disciples.

9 As the father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue in that my love. 10 If ye shall keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love, as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.

11 These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full.

12 This is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I have loved you.

13 Greater love than this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his friends.

14 Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.

15 Henceforth call I you not servants: for the servant knoweth not what his master doeth: but I have called you friends: for all things that I have heard of my Father, have I made known to you.

16 Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye go and bring forth fruits, and that your fruit remain, that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my Name, he may give it you.

17 These things command I you, that ye love one another.

18 If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before you.

19 If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.

20 Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his master. If they have persecuted me, they will persecute you also: if they have kept my word, they will also keep yours.

21 But all these things will they do unto you for my Name's sake, because they have not known him that sent me.

22 If I had not come and spoken unto them, they should not have had sin: but now have they no cloak for their sin.

23 He that hateth me, hateth my Father also.

24 If I had not done works among them which pertaineth to our salvation, and is committed unto the Apostles.

25 This place teacheth us plainly, that our salvation cometh from parts.

15:1 The doctrine of the Gospel (as it is uttered by Christ's own mouth) is a most perfect and absolute declaration of the counsel of God, which pertaineth to our salvation, and is committed unto the Apostles. 15:16 Christ is the author and preserver of the ministry of the Gospel, even to the world's end, but the ministers have above all things need of prayer and brotherly love.

This place teacheth us plainly, that our salvation cometh from the only favor and gracious goodness of the everlasting God towards us, and of nothing that we do or can deserve.

15:18 It ought not only not to fear, but rather confirm the faithful ministers of Christ, when they shall be hated of the world as their Master was.

15:21 The hatred of the world beareth against Christ, proceedeth of the blackness of the mind, which notwithstanding is voluntary blind, so that the world can pretend no excuse to cover their fault.

15:22 As who would say, If I had not come, these men would not have stuck to have said still before God's judgment seat, that they are religious, and void of sin: but seeing I came to them, and they clean refuse me, they can have no cloak for their wickedness.
my Father.

25 But it is that the word might be fulfilled, that is written in their ‘Law,’ They hated me without a cause.

26 ‘But when that Comforter shall come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth of the Father, he shall testify of me.

27 And ye shall witness also, because ye have been with me from the beginning.

16 1 He foretelleth the disciples of persecution. 7 He promiseth the Comforter, and declareth his office. 21 He compareth the affliction of his, to a woman that travaileth with child.

1 These things have I said unto you, that ye should not be offended.

2 They shall excommunicate you: yea the time shall come, that whosoever killeth you, will think that he doeth God service.

3 And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me.

4 ‘But these things have I told you, that when the hour shall come, ye might remember, that I told you them. And these things said I not unto you from the beginning, because I was with you.

5 But now I go my way to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou?

6 But because I have said these things unto you, your hearts are full of sorrow.

7 ‘Yet I tell you the truth, It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, that Comforter will not come unto you: but if I depart, I will send him unto you,

8 ‘And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment.

9 Of sin, because they believed not in me:

10 Of righteousness, because I go to my Father, and ye shall see me no more.

11 Of judgment, ‘because the prince of this world is judged.

12 ‘I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now.

13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the spirit of truth, he will lead you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself, but whatsoever he shall hear, shall he speak, and he will show you the things to come.

14 ‘He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall show it unto you.

15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and show it unto you.

16 ‘A little while, and ye shall not see me: and again a little while, and ye shall see me: for I go to the Father.

17 Then said some of his disciples among themselves, What is this that he saith unto us, A little while, and ye shall not see me, and again a little while, and ye shall see me, and, For I go to the Father.

18 ‘They said therefore, What is this that he saith, A little while? we know not what he saith.

19 Now Jesus knew that they would ask him, and said unto them, Do ye inquire among yourselves, of that I said, A little while, and ye shall not see me: and again, a little while, and ye shall see me?

20 Verily, verily I say unto you, that ye shall weep and lament, and the world shall rejoice, and ye shall...
16:25 1 The holy Ghost which was poured upon the Apostles after the Ascension of Christ, instructed both them in all chiefest mysteries and secrets of our salvation, and also by them the Church, and will also instruct it to the end of the world.

16:26 1 The sum of the worship of God, is the invocation of the Father in the Name of the Son the Mediator, who is already heard for us, for whom he hath absolved himself, and is now also glorified.

16:29 1 Faith and foolish security differ very much.

16:32 1 Behold, the hour cometh, and is already come, that ye shall be scattered every man into his own, and shall leave me alone: But I am not alone:

sorrow, but your sorrow shall be turned to joy.

21 A woman when she travaileth hath sorrow because her hour is come: but as soon as she is delivered of the child, she remembereth no more the anguish, for joy that a man is born into the world.

22 And ye now therefore are in sorrow: but I will see you again, and your hearts shall rejoice, and your joy shall no man take from you.

23 And in that day shall ye ask me nothing. Verily, verily I say unto you, whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my Name, he will give it you.

24 Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my Name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full.

25 1These things have I spoken unto you in parables: but the time will come, when I shall no more speak to you in parables: but I shall show you plainly of the Father.

26 1At that day shall ye ask in my Name, and I say not unto you, that I will pray unto the Father for you:

27 For the Father himself loveth you, because ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God.

28 I am come out from the Father, and came into the world: again I leave the world, and go to the Father.

29 1His disciples said unto him, Lo, now speakest thou plainly, and thou speakest no parable.

30 Now know we that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should ask thee. By this we believe, that thou art come out from God.

31 Jesus answered them, Do you believe now?

32 1Behold, the hour cometh, and is already come, that ye shall be scattered every man into his own, and shall leave me alone: But I am not alone:

17 These things have I spoken unto you, that ye might have peace: in the world ye shall have affliction, but be of good comfort: I have overcome the world.

1 Christ prayeth that his glory together with his Father's may be made manifest. 9 He Prayeth for his Apostles, 20 and for all believers.

1 These things spake Jesus, and lift up his eyes to heaven, and said, 2 Father, that hour is come: glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee,

2 1As thou hast given him power over all flesh, that he should give eternal life to all them that thou hast given him.

3 And this is life eternal, that they know thee to be the 'only very God, and whom thou hast sent, Jesus Christ.

4 I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do.

5 And now glorify me, thou Father, with thine own self, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.

6 1I have declared thy Name unto the men which thou gavest me out of the world: 2thine they were, and thou gavest them me, and they have kept thy word.

7 6Now they know that all things whatsoever thou hast given me, are of thee.

8 For I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me, and they have received them, and have known surely that I came out from thee, and have believed that thou hast sent me.

9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me: for they are thine.
10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.
11 And now am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep them in thy Name, even them whom thou hast given me, that they may be 'one as we are.
12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gavest me, have I kept, and none of them is lost, but the child of perdition, that the 'Scripture might be fulfilled.
13 And now come I to thee, and these things speak I in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled in themselves.
14 I have given them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.
15 'I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keep them from evil.
16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.
17 'Sanctify them with thy truth: thy word is truth.
18 'As thou didst send me into the world, so have I sent them into the world.
19 And for their sakes sanctify myself, that they also may be sanctified through the 'truth.
20 'I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall believe in me, through their word, 21 That they all may be one, as thou, O Father, art in me, and I in thee: even that they may be also one in us, that the world may believe that thou hast sent me.
22 And the glory that thou gavest me, I have given them, that they may be one, as we are one,
23 In them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them as thou hast loved me.
24 'Father, I will that they which thou hast given me, be with me even where I am, that they may behold that my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world.
25 O righteous Father, the world also hath not known thee, but I have known thee, and these have known, that thou hast sent me.
26 'And I have declared unto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the love wherewith thou hast loved me, may be in them, and I in them.

18 By Christ's power, whom Judas betrayeth, the soldiers are cast down to the ground. Christ is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas. His answer to the officer that smote him with a rod. Being delivered to Pilate, he declareth his kingdom.

1 When Jesus had spoken these things, he went forth with his disciples over the brook 'Kidron, where was a garden, into the which he entered, and his disciples.
2 And Judas which betrayed him knew also the place: for Jesus oftentimes resorted thither with his disciples.
3 Then Jesus, knowing all things that should come unto him, went forth and said unto them, Whom seek ye?
4 They answered him, Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus said unto them, I am he. Now Judas also which betrayed him, stood with them.
5 As soon then as he had said unto them, I am he, they went away backwards, and fell to the ground.
6 Then he asked them again, Whom seek ye? And they said, Jesus of Nazareth.
7 Jesus answered, I said unto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seek me, let these go their way.
8 This was that the word might be fulfilled which he spake, ‘Of them which thou gavest me, have I lost none.'
10  Then Simon Peter having a sword, drew it, and smote the high Priest’s servant, and cut off his right ear. Now the servants name was Malchus.

11  Then said Jesus unto Peter, Put up thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drink of the cup which my Father hath given me?

12  Then the band and the captain, and the officers of the Jews took Jesus, and bound him.

13  And led him away to Annas first (for he was father-in-law to Caiaphas, which was the high Priest that same year.)

14  And Caiaphas was he, that gave counsel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

15  ¶ Now Simon Peter followed Jesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was known of the high Priest: therefore he went in with Jesus into the hall of the high Priest.

16  But Peter stood at the door without. Then went out the other disciple which was known unto the high Priest, and spake to her that kept the door, and brought in Peter.

17  Then said the maid that kept the door, unto Peter, Art not thou also one of this man’s disciples? He said, I am not.

18  And the servants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coals: for it was cold, and they warmed themselves. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himself.

19  ¶ (The high Priest then asked Jesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

20  Jesus answered him, I speak openly to the world: I ever taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Jews resort continually, and in secret have I said nothing.

21  Why askest thou me? ask them which heard me what I said unto them: behold, they know what I said.

22  When he had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Jesus with his rod, saying, Answrest thou the high Priest so?

23  Jesus answered him, If I have evil spoken, bear witness of the evil: but if I have well spoken, why smittest thou me?

24  ¶ (Now Annas had sent him bound unto Caiaphas the high Priest.)

25  And Simon Peter stood and warmed himself, and they said unto him, Art not thou also of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not.

26  One of the servants of the high Priest, his cousin whose ear Peter smote off, said, Did I not see thee in the garden with him?

27  Peter then denied again, and immediately the cock crew.

28  Then led they Jesus from Caiaphas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselves went not into the common hall, lest they should be defiled, but that they might eat the Passover.

29  Pilate then went out unto them, and said, What accusation bring ye against this man?

30  They answered, and said unto him, If he were not an evil doer, we would not have delivered him unto thee.

31  Then said Pilate unto them, Take ye him, and judge him after your own Law. Then the Jews said unto him, It is not lawful for us to put any man to death.

32  It was that the word of Jesus might be fulfilled, which he spake, signifying what death he should die.

33  So Pilate entered into the common hall again, and called Jesus, and said unto him, Art thou the king of the Jews?

34  Jesus answered him, Sayest thou that of thyself, or did others tell it thee of me?

35  Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Thine own nation, and the high Priest have delivered thee unto me. What hast thou done?

36  Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, my servants should have fought, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence.

37  Pilate then said unto him, Art thou a King then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause am I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth: everyone that is of the truth, heareth my voice.

18:10  We ought to contain the zeal we bear to God, within the bounds of our vocation.

18:13  Christ is brought before an earthly high Priest to be condemned for our blasphemies, that we might be acquitted of the everlasting high Priest himself.

18:15  A lively example of the fragility of man even in the best, when they be once left to themselves.

18:19  Christ defendeth his cause but slenderly, not that he would withdraw himself from death, but to show that he was condemned as an innocent.

18:25  After that men have once fallen, they cannot only not lift themselves by their own strength, but also they fall more and more into worse, until they be raised up again, by a new virtue of God.

18:28  The Son of God is brought before the judgment seat of an earthly and profane man, in whom there is found much less wickedness, than in the princes of the people of God. A lively image of the wrath of God against sin, and therewithal of his great mercy, and least of all, of his most severe judgment against the stubborn contempters of his grace when it is offered unto them.

From Caiaphas’s house.

18:31  For judgments of life and death were taken from them forty years before the destruction of the temple.

18:32  For Christ had foretold that he should be crucified.

18:36  Christ avoucheth his spiritual kingdom, but rejecteth a worldly.
19 Pilate, when Christ was scourged, 2 and crowned with thorns, 4 was desirous to let him loose: 8 but being overcome with the outrage of the Jews, 16 he delivered him to be crucified. 26 Jesus committeth his mother to the disciple. 30 Having tasted vinegar, he dieth: 34 and being dead, his side is pierced with a spear. 40 He is buried.

1 Then Pilate took Jesus and scourged him. 2 And the soldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment, 3 And said, Hail King of the Jews. And they smote him with their rods. 4 Then Pilate went forth again, and said unto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may see, that ye may know, that I find no fault in him at all. 5 Then came Jesus forth wearing a crown of thorns, and a purple garment. And Pilate said unto them, Behold the man. 6 Then when the high Priests and officers saw him, they cried, saying, ‘Crucify, crucify him.’ Pilate said unto them, Take ye him, and crucify him: for I find no fault in him. 7 The Jews answered him, We have a law, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himself the Son of God. 8 ¶ When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid, 9 And went again into the common hall, and said unto Jesus, Whence art thou? But Jesus gave him none answer. 10 Then said Pilate unto him, Speakest thou not unto me? Knowest thou not that I have power to crucify thee, and have power to loose thee?

11 Jesus answered, ‘Thou couldest have no power at all against me, except it were given thee from above: therefore he that delivered me unto thee, hath the greater sin. 12 From thenceforth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Jews cried, saying, If thou deliver him, thou art not Caesar’s friend: for whosoever maketh himself a King, speaketh against Caesar. 13 ¶ When Pilate heard this word, he brought Jesus forth, and sat down in the judgment seat in a place called the pavement, and in Hebrew, 4Gabbatha. 14 And it was the Preparation of the Passover, and about the sixth hour: and he said unto the Jews, Behold your King. 15 But they cried, Away with him, away with him, crucify him. Pilate said unto them, Shall I crucify your King? The high Priests answered, We have no King but Caesar. 16 ¶ Then delivered he him unto them, to be crucified. 4And they took Jesus, and led him away. 17 And he bare his own cross, and came into a place named of dead men’s skulls, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst. 19 ¶ And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the cross, and it was written, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS. 20 This title then read many of the Jews: for the place where Jesus was crucified, was near to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin. 21 Then said the high Priests of the Jews to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Jews, but that he said, I am the King of the Jews. 22 Pilate answered, What I have written, I have written. 23 ¶ Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments (and made four parts, to every soldier a part) and his coat: and the coat was without seam woven from the top throughout.

18:38 ¹ It was requisite that Christ should be pronounced innocent, but notwithstanding (in that that he took upon him our person) was to be condemned as a most wicked man.
 ² He speaketh this disdainfully and scoffingly, and not by way of asking a question.
18:40 ¹ Word for word, made a great and foul voice.
19:1 ¹ The wisdom of the flesh, chooseth of two evils the least, but God curseth that same wisdom.
19:4 ¹ Christ is again acquitted by the same mouth wherewith he is afterward condemned.
19:6 ¹ They will have him crucified, whom by an old custom of theirs, they should have stoned and hanged up as convict of blasphemy: but they desire to have him crucified after the manner of the Romans.

1088 ¹ Pilate’s conscience fighteth for Christ, but straightway it yieldeth, because it is not upholden with the singular virtue of God.
19:13 ¹ Pilate condemneth himself first, with the same mouth wherewith he afterward condemneth Christ.
2 Gabbatha signifieth an high place, as judgment seats are.
19:16 ¹ Christ fasteneth Satan, sin and death to the cross.
19:19 ¹ Christ sitting upon the throne of the cross, is openly written everlasting king of all people, with his own hand, whose mouth condemned him for usurping a kingdom.
19:23 ¹ Christ signifieth by the division of his garments amongst the bloody butchers (his coat except, that hath no seam) that it shall come to pass, that he will shortly divide his benefits, and enrich his very enemies throughout the world: but so notwithstanding that the treasure of his Church shall remain whole.
This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which saith, "They parted my garments among them, and on my coat did cast lots. So the soldiers did these things indeed.

25 ¶ Then stood by the cross of Jesus his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene.

26 And when Jesus saw his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loved, he said unto his mother, Woman, behold thy son.

27 Then said he to the disciple, Behold thy mother: and from that hour, the disciple took her home unto him.

28 ¶ After, when Jesus knew that all things were performed, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, he said, I thirst.

29 And there was set a vessel full of vinegar: and they filled a sponge with vinegar: and put it about his mouth.

30 Now when Jesus had received of the vinegar, he said, It is finished, and bowed his head, and gave up the ghost.

31 The Jews then (because it was the Preparation, that the bodies should not remain upon the cross on the Sabbath day: for that Sabbath was an high day) besought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken down.

32 Then came the soldiers and brake the legs of the first, and of the other, which was crucified with Jesus.

33 But when they came to Jesus, and saw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs.

34 But one of the soldiers with a spear pierced his side, and forthwith came there out blood and water.

35 And he that saw it, bare record, and his record is true: and he knoweth that he saith true, that ye might believe it.

36 For these things were done, that the Scripture should be fulfilled, / Not a bone of him shall be broken.

37 And again another Scripture saith, / They shall see him whom they have thrust through.

38 ¶ And after these things, Joseph of Arimathea (who was a disciple of Jesus, but secretly for fear of the Jews) besought Pilate that he might take down the body of Jesus. And Pilate gave him license. He came then and took Jesus' body.

39 And there came also Nicodemus (which first came to Jesus by night) and brought of myrrh and aloes mingled together about an hundred pounds.

40 Then took they the body of Jesus, and wrapped it in linen clothes with the odors, as the manner of the Jews is to bury.

41 And in that place where Jesus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a new sepulcher, wherein was 'never man yet laid.

42 There then laid they Jesus, because of the Jews' Preparation day, for the sepulcher was near.

1 Mary bringeth word that Christ is risen: 3 Peter and John 4 ran to see it. 15 Jesus appeareth to Mary. 19 and to the disciples that were together in the house. 25 Thomas, before faithless. 29 now believeth.

1 Now the first day of the week came Mary Magdalene, early when it was yet dark, unto the sepulcher, and saw the stone taken away from the tomb.

2 Then she ran, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple, whom Jesus loved, and said unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulcher, and we know not where they have laid him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, and the other disciple, and they came unto the sepulcher.

4 So they ran both together, but the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulcher.

5 And he stooped down, and saw the linen clothes lying: yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulcher, and saw the linen clothes lying,

7 And the kerchief that was upon his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself.
8 And when he had said so, he showed unto them his hands, and his side. Then were the disciples glad when they had seen the Lord.

9 Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulcher, and he saw it, and believed. For as yet they knew not the Scripture, That he must rise again from the dead.

10 And the disciples went away again unto their own home.

11 ¶ But Mary stood without at the sepulcher weeping: and as she wept, she bowed herself into the sepulcher, 12 And saw two Angels in white, sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.

13 And they said unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She said unto them, They have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

14 When she had thus said, she turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus.

15 Jesus saith unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She supposing that he had been the gardener, said unto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

16 Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turned herself, and said unto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.

17 Jesus saith unto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and your God.

18 Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken these things unto her.

19 ¶ The same day then at night, which was the first day of the week, and when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the midst, and said to them, Peace be unto you. And when he had so said, he showed unto them his hands, and his side. Then were the disciples glad when they had seen the Lord.

20:11 ¶ That is, without the cave, which the sepulchre was cut out of.
20:12 ¶ Two Angels are made witnesses of the Lord's resurrection.
20:13 ¶ Many speak as the common people use to speak: for they speak of a dead carcass, as they do of a whole man.
20:14 ¶ Jesus witnesseth by his presence, that he is truly risen.
20:17 ¶ Christ which is risen, is not to be sought in this world according to the flesh, but in heaven by faith, whither he is gone before us.
20:18 ¶ By his brethren he meaneth his disciples: for in the next verse following, it is said, that Mary told his disciples.
20:19 ¶ Christ in that he presented himself before his disciples suddenly through his divine power, when the gates were shut, doth fully assure them both of his resurrection, and also of their Apostleship, inspiring them with the holy Ghost, who is the director of the ministry of the Gospel.
20:21 ¶ Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father sent me, so send I you.
20:22 ¶ And when he had said that, he breathed on them, and said unto them, Receive the holy Ghost.
20:23 ¶ Whosoever's sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them: and whosoever's sins ye retain, they are retained.
20:24 ¶ But Thomas one of the twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came.
20:25 ¶ The other disciples therefore said unto him, We have seen the Lord: but he said unto them, Except I see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and put mine hand into his side, I will not believe it.
20:26 ¶ And eight days after, again his disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Jesus, when the doors were shut, and stood in the midst, and said, Peace be unto you.
20:27 ¶ After said he to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and see mine hands, and put forth thine hand, and put it into my side, and be not faithless, but faithful.
20:28 ¶ Then Thomas answered, and said unto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.
20:29 ¶ Jesus said unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou believest: blessed are they that have not seen, and have believed.
20:30 ¶ And many other signs also did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this book.

21 1 Jesus appeareth to his disciples as they were fishing. 6. 7 whom they know by a miraculous draught of fishes. 15 He comforteth the charge of the sheep to Peter. 18 and foretelleth him of the manner of his death.

1 After these things, Jesus showed himself again to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias: and thus 21:2 1 It was a linen garment, which could not let his swimming.
21:15 1 Peter by his triple confession is restored into his former degree from whence he fell by his triple denial: and there was advertised, that he is indeed a pastor, which showeth his love to his disciples.
21:17 1 The violent death of Peter is foretold.
2 2 They that took far journeys, especially in the East country, and in those places [where] the people used long garments, had need to be girded and trussed up.
3 3 He meant that kind of girding which is used toward captives, when they are bound fast with cords and chains, as who would say, Now thou girdest thyself as thou thinkest best, to go whither thou listest, but the time will be, when thou shalt not gird thee with a girdle, but another shall bind thee with chains, and carry thee whither thou wouldest not.
4 4 Not that Peter suffered ought for the truth of God against his will: for we read that he came with joy and gladness when he returned from the Council where he was whipped: but because this will of Peter was contrary to his former profession, and to the testimony of his life, and to the promises of our Lord Jesus Christ, so he was grieved.
5 5 It was meet that he that had denied him thrice, should confess himself: but another shall bind thee with chains, and carry thee whither thou wouldest not.
6 6 Therefore said the disciple whom Jesus loved, unto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his coat to him (for he was naked) and cast himself into the sea.
7 7 As soon then as they were come to land, they saw hot coals, and fish laid thereon, and bread.
8 8 Simon Peter stepped forth and drew the net to land full of great fishes, an hundred, fifty and three: and they drew the net with fishes.
9 9 As soon as they were come to land, they saw hot coals, and fish laid thereon, and bread.
10 10 Jesus said unto them, Bring of the fishes, which ye have now caught.
11 11 Simon Peter stepped forth and drew the net to land full of great fishes, an hundred, fifty and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken.
12 12 Jesus said unto them, Come, and dine. And none of the disciples durst ask him, Who art thou? seeing they knew that he was the Lord.
13 13 Jesus then came and took bread and gave them, and fish likewise.
14 14 This is the third time that Jesus showed himself to his disciples, after that he was risen again from the dead.
15 15 ¶ So when they had dined, Jesus said to Simon Peter, Simon the son of Jonah, lovest thou me more than these? He said unto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He said unto him, Feed my lambs.
16 16 He said to him again the second time, Simon the son of Jonah, lovest thou me? He said unto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He said unto him, Feed my sheep.
17 17 He said unto him the third time, Simon the son of Jonah, lovest thou me? Peter was sorry because he said to him the third time, Lovest thou me? and said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus said unto him, Feed my sheep.
18 18 Verily, verily I say unto thee, When thou wast young, thou girdedst thyself, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thine hands, and another shall gird thee, and lead thee without thou wouldest not.
19 19 And this spake he signifying by what death he should glorify God. And when he had said this, he said to him, Follow me.
20 20 Then Peter turned about, and saw the disciple whom JESUS loved, following, which also 'leaned on his breast at supper, and had said, Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee?’
21 21 When Peter therefore saw him, he said to Jesus, Lord, what shall this man do?
22 22 Jesus said unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou me.
23 23 Then went this word abroad among the brethren, that this disciple should not die. Yet Jesus said not to him, He shall not die: but if I will that he tarry till I come, what is it to thee?
24 24 This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimony is true.
25 25 Now there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which if they should be written every one, I suppose the world could not contain the books that should be written, Amen.
THE ACTS OF THE HOLY APOSTLES, WRITTEN BY LUKE THE EVANGELIST

1 Luke telleth this history to his Gospel. 9 Christ being taken into heaven. 10 The Apostles, 11 being warned by the Angels, 12 to return, 14 and give themselves to prayer. 15 By Peter's motion, 18 into Judas the traitor's place. 26 Matthias is chosen.

1 I have made the former treatise, O Theophilus, of all that Jesus began to do and teach,

2 Until the day that he was taken up, after that he through the holy Ghost, had given commandments unto the Apostles, whom he had chosen:

3 To whom also he presented himself alive after that he had suffered, by many infallible tokens, being seen of them by the space of forty days, and speaking of those things which appertained to the kingdom of God.

4 And when he had gathered them together, he commanded them that they should not depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father, which said he, ye have heard of me.

5 For John indeed baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the holy Ghost within these few days.

6 When they therefore were come together they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?

7 And he said unto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power.

8 But ye shall receive power of the holy Ghost, when he shall come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.

9 And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up: for a cloud took him up out of their sight.

10 And while they looked steadfastly toward heaven, as he went, behold, two men stood by them in white apparel.

11 Which also said, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing into heaven? This Jesus which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come, as ye have seen him go into heaven.

12 Then returned they unto Jerusalem from the mount that is called the mount of Olives, which is near to Jerusalem, being from it a Sabbath day's journey.

13 And when they were come in, they went up into an upper chamber, where abode both Peter and James, and John, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartholomew, and Matthew, James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon Zealot, and Judas James's brother.

14 These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication with the women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brethren.
mother of Jesus, and with his brethren.
15 And in those days Peter stood up in the midst of the disciples, and said (now the number of names that were in one place were about an hundred and twenty.)
16 Ye men and brethren, this scripture must needs have been fulfilled, Which the holy Ghost by the mouth of David spake before of Judas, which was called to guide them to that took Jesus.
17 For he was numbered with us, and had obtained fellowship in this ministration.
18 He therefore hath purchased a field with the reward of iniquity: and when he had shed himself headlong, he brist asunder in the midst, and all his bowels gushed out.
19 And it is known unto all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, insomuch, that that field is called in their own language, Akel Dama, that is, The field of blood.
20 For it is written in the book of Psalms, Let his habitation be void, and let no man dwell therein: also, Let another take his charge.
21 Wherefore of these men which have companied with us, all the time that the Lord Jesus was conversant among us, 22 Beginning from the baptism of John unto the day that he was taken up from us, must one of them be made a witness with us of his resurrection.
23 And they presented two, Joseph called Bar-sabas, whose surname was Justus, and Matthias.
24 And they prayed, saying, Thou Lord, which knowest the hearts of all men, show whether of these two thou hast chosen, 25 That he may take the room of this ministration and Apostleship, from which Judas hath gone astray, to go to his own place.
26 Then they gave forth their lots: and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was by a common consent counted with the eleven Apostles.

1:21 From our company.
1:22 1 The Apostles 4 filled with the holy Ghost 8 speak with divers tongues: 12 They are thought to be drunk, 15 but Peter disprove that. 34 He teacheth that Christ is the Mes-siah: 37 And seeing the hearers astonished, 38 he exhorteth them to repentance.
2:1 The Apostles being gathered together on a most solemn feast day in one place, that it might evidently appear to all the world, that they had all one office, one Spirit, one faith, are by a double sign from heaven authorized, and anointed with all the most excellent gifts of the holy Ghost and especially with an extraordinary and necessary gift of tongues.
2:2 Word for word, was fulfilled: that is, was begun, as Luke 2:21. For the Hebrews say that a day, or a year is fulfilled or ended, when the former days or years are ended, and the other begun, Jer. 25:12. And the Hebrews say that a day, or a year is fulfilled or ended, when the former days or years are ended, and the other begun, Jer. 25:12. And it shall come to pass, that when seventy years are fulfilled, I will visit, etc. For the Lord did not bring home his people after the seventy year was ended, but in the seventh year. Now the day of Pentecost was the fiftieth day after the feast of the Passover.
2:3 The twelve Apostles, which were to be the Patriarchs as it were of the Church.
2:4 He calleth them other tongues, which were not the same which the Apostles used commonly, and Mark calleth them new tongues.
2:5 With his kinsfolks.
1:15 1 Peter is made the mouth and interpreter of the whole company of the Apostles, either by secret revelation of the holy Ghost, or by express judgment of the Congregation.
2 Because men are commonly billed and enrolled by their names.
1:16 1 Peter prevented the offense that might be taken of the falling away of Judas the betrayer, showing that all things which came unto him, were foretold by God.
1:18 1 Luke considered not Judas's purpose, but that that followed of it, and so we used to say, that a man hath procured himself harm, not that his will and purpose was so, but in respect of that which followed.
2 The Greek words signify thus much, that Judas fell down flat and was rent in sunder in the middle, with a marvelous huge noise.
1:20 1 His office and ministry David wrote these words against Doeg the King's herdsmen: And these words, Shepherd, Sheep, and Flock, are put over to the Church office and ministry, so that the Church and the offices thereof are called by these names.
1:21 1 The Apostles deliberate upon nothing, but first they consult and take advisement by God's word: and again they do nothing that concerneth and is behoovable for the whole body of the Congregation, without making the Congregation privy unto it.
2 Word for word, went in and out, which kind of speech betokeneth as much in the Hebrew tongue, as the exercising of a public and painful office, when they speak of such as are in any public office, Deut. 31:2; 1 Chron. 27:1.
1:22 1 From our company.
1:23 1 Apostles must be chosen immediately from God, and therefore after prayers, Matthias is chosen by lot, which is as it were GOD'S own voice.
2 Openly, and by the voices of all the whole company.
1:25 1 That he may be fellow and partaker of this ministry.
2 Departed from, or fallen from: And it is a Metaphor taken from the way: For callings are signified by the name of ways, with the Hebrews.
2:1 1 The Apostles being gathered together on a most solemn feast day in one place, that it might evidently appear to all the world, that they had all one office, one Spirit, one faith, are by a double sign from heaven authorized, and anointed with all the most excellent gifts of the holy Ghost and especially with an extraordinary and necessary gift of tongues.
2:2 Word for word, was fulfilled: that is, was begun, as Luke 2:21. For the Hebrews say that a day, or a year is fulfilled or ended, when the former days or years are ended, and the other begun, Jer. 25:12. And it shall come to pass, that when seventy years are fulfilled, I will visit, etc. For the Lord did not bring home his people after the seventieth year was ended, but in the seventh year. Now the day of Pentecost was the fiftieth day after the feast of the Passover.
2:3 The twelve Apostles, which were to be the Patriarchs as it were of the Church.
2:4 He calleth them other tongues, which were not the same which the Apostles used commonly, and Mark calleth them new tongues.
2 Hereby were understood that the Apostles used not now one tongue, and then another by haphazard and at all adventure, or as fantastical men used to do, but with good consideration of their hearers: and to be short, that they spake nothing but as the holy Ghost governed their tongues.
2:7  And they wondered all, and marveled, saying among themselves, Behold, are not all these which speak, of Galilee?
7  How then hear we every man our own language, wherein we were born?
8  Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Judea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia,
9  And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, and Jews, and Proselytes, 10  Cretes, and Arabians: we heard them speak in our own tongues the wonderful works of God.
11  They were all then amazed, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this be?
12  And others mocked, and said, They are full of new wine.
13  But Peter standing with the eleven, lifted up his voice, and said unto them, Ye men of Judea, and ye all that inhabit Jerusalem, be this known unto you, and hearken unto my words.
14  For these are not drunken, as ye suppose, since it is but the third hour of the day.
15  But this is that, which was spoken by the Prophet Joel,
16  And it shall be in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit in those days, and they shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams.
17  And on my servants, and on mine handmaids I will pour out of my Spirit in those days, and they shall prophesy.
18  And I will show wonders in heaven above, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapors of smoke.
19  The Sun shall be turned into darkness, and the Moon into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.
20  Ye men of Israel, hear these words, JESUS of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you with great works, and wonders, and signs, which God did by him in the midst of you, as ye yourselves also know;
21  Him, I say, being delivered by the determinate counsel, and foreknowledge of God, after you had taken, with wicked hands you have crucified and slain.
22  Whom God hath raised up, and loosed the sorrows of death, because it was impossible that he should be holden of it.
23  For David saith concerning him, I beheld the Lord always before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.
24  Therefore did mine heart rejoice, and my tongue was glad, and moreover also my flesh shall rest in hope, 25  Because thou wilt not leave my soul in grave, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.
26  Thou hast showed me the ways of life, and all the paths of peace I have not known.

2:8  Not that they spake with one voice, and many languages were heard, but that the Apostles spake with strange tongues: for else the miracle had rather been in the hearers, whereas now it is in the speakers, Nazianzen in his oration of Whitsunday.
2:10  By Jews, he meaneth them that were both Jews by birth, and Jews by profession of religion though they were born in other places: and they were Proselytes, which were Gentiles born and embraced the Jews' religion.
2:12  God's word pierceth some so, that it driveth them to seek out the truth, and it doth so choke others, that it forceth them to be witnesses of their own impudence.
2:13  The word which he useth here, signifieth such a kind of mocking which is reproachful and contumelious: And by this reproachful mocking we see, that there is no miracle so great and excellent, which the wickedness of man dareth not speak evil of.
2:14  Peter's boldness is to be marked, wherein the grace of the holy Ghost is to be seen, even straight after the beginning.
2:15  After the sun rising, which may be about seven or eight of the clock with us.
2:16  There is nothing that can dissolve questions and doubts, but testimonies taken out of the Prophets: for men's reasons may be overturned, but God's voice cannot be overturned.
2:17  Peter setting the truth of God against the false accusations of men, sheweth in himself and in his fellows, that that is fulfilled which Joel spake concerning the full giving of the holy Ghost in the latter days: which grace also is offered to the whole Church, to their certain and undisputed destruction, which do contend it.
2:18  All without exception, both upon the Jews and Gentiles.
2:19  That is, men.
2:21  The chiefest use of all the gifts of the holy Ghost, is to bring men to salvation by faith.
2:22  This word, Call on, signifieth in holy Scriptures, an earnest praying and craving for help at God's hand.
2:23  Christ being innocent, was by God's providence crucified of wicked men.
2:24  Who is by those works which God wrought by him, so manifestly approved and allowed of, that no man can gainsay him.
2:25  God's everlasting knowledge going before, which can neither be separated from his determinate counsel, as the Epicureans say, neither yet be the cause of evil: for God in his everlasting and unchangeable counsel, appointed the wicked act of Judas to an approved and allowed of, that no man can gainsay him.
2:26  The fault is said to be theirs, by whose counsel and egging forward it is done.
2:27  Christ (as David foretold) did not only rise again, but also was in the grave void of all corruption.
2:28  The dead that was full of sorrow both of body and mind: therefore when death appeared conqueror and victor over those sorrows, Christ is rightly said to have overcome those sorrows of death, when as being dead, he overcame death, to live forever with his Father.
shalt make me full of joy with thy countenance.

29 Men and brethren, I may boldly speak unto you of the Patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulcher remaineth with us unto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing he was a Prophet, and knew that God had sworn with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his loins he would raise up Christ concerning the flesh, to set him upon his throne.

31 He knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that his soul should not be left in grave, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses.

33 Since then that he by the right hand of God hath been exalted, and hath received of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this which ye now see and hear.

34 For David is not ascended into heaven, but he saith, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 35 Until I make thine enemies thy footstool.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a surety, that God hath made him both Lord, and Christ, this Jesus, I say, whom ye have crucified.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and said unto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we do?

38 Then Peter said unto them, Amend your lives, and be baptized every one of you in the Name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins: and ye shall receive the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the promise is made unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 And with many other words he besought and exhorted them, saying, Save yourselves from this

2:30 Had sworn solemnly.

2:32 Peter wittneseth that Jesus Christ is the appointed everlasting King, which he proveth manifestly by the gifts of the holy Ghost, and the testimony of David.

2:33 Might and power of God.

2:36 Christ is said to be made, because he was advanced to that dignity: and therefore it is not spoken of his nature, but of his state and dignity.

2:38 Repentance and remission of sins in Christ, are two principles of the Gospel, and therefore of our salvation: and they are obtained by the promises apprehended by faith, and are ratified in us by Baptism, wherewith is joined the virtue of the holy Ghost.

2:39 The word that is used here, giveth us to understand that it was a free gift.

2:40 He is truly joined to the Church which separateth himself from the wicked.

2:41 A notable example of the virtue of the holy Ghost: but such as are of age, are not baptized before they make confession of their faith.

2:42 The marks of the true Church of the doctrine of the Apostles, the duties of charity, the pure and simple administration of the Sacraments, and true invocation used of all the faithful.

2:43 Communicating of goods, and all other duties of charity, as is showed afterward.

2:44 The Jews used thin loaves, and therefore they did rather brake some thing of them.

2:45 Communicating of goods, and all other duties of charity, as is showed afterward.

2:46 The faithful came together at the beginning with great fruit, not only to the hearing of the word, but also to meat.

3:1 Christ in healing a man that was born lame, and well known to all men, both in place and time very famous, by the hands of his Apostles, doth partly confirm them which believed, and partly also call it others to believe.

3:5 Both with heart and eyes.

3:10 1 Then they that gladly received his word, were baptized, and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand souls.

3:12 1 And they continued in the Apostles' doctrine, and fellowship, and the breaking of bread, and prayers.

3:14 1 And fear came upon every soul: and many wonders and signs were done by the Apostles.

3:19 1 And all that believed, were in one place, and had all things common.

3:20 And they sold their possessions, and goods, and parted them to all men, as everyone had need.

3:23 And they continued daily with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eat their meat together with gladness and singleness of heart,

3:26 Praising God, and had favor with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, such as should be saved.
6 Then said Peter, Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have, that give I thee: In the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk.
7 And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up, and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength.
8 And he leaped up, stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking and leaping, and praising God.
9 And all the people saw him walk, and praising God.
10 And they knew him, that it was he which sat for the alms at the Beautiful gate of the Temple: and they were amazed, and sore astonied at that which was come unto him.
11 ¶ And as the cripple which was healed, 1 held Peter and John, all the people ran amazed unto them in the porch which is called Solomon's.
12 ¶So when Peter saw it, he answered unto the people, Ye men of Israel, why marvel ye at this? or why look ye so steadfastly on us, as though by our own power or godliness, we had made this man go:
13 The God of Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his Son Jesus, whom ye betrayed, and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had judged him to be delivered.
14 But ye denied the Holy one and the just, and desired a murderer to be given you, 15 And killed the Lord 2 of life, whom God hath raised from the dead, whereof we are witnesses.
16 And his Name hath made this man sound, whom ye see and know, through faith in his Name: 1 and the faith which is by him, hath given to him this perfect health of his whole body in the presence of you all.
17 1 And now brethren, I know that through ignorance ye did it, as did also your governors.
18 But those things, which God before had showed by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath thus fulfilled.
19 Amend your lives therefore, and turn, that your sins may be put away, when the time of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord.
20 And he shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached unto you.
21 Whom the heaven must contain until the time that all things be restored, which God had spoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophets since the world began.
22 ¶For Moses said unto the Fathers, The Lord your God shall raise up unto you 1 a Prophet, even of your brethren, like unto me; ye shall hear him in all things whatsoever he shall say unto you.
23 For it shall be that every person which shall not hear that Prophet, shall be destroyed out of the people.
24 Also all the Prophets from Samuel, and thenceforth as many as have spoken, have likewise foretold of these days.
25 Ye are the children of the Prophets, and of the covenant, which God hath made unto our fathers, saying to Abraham, 'Even in thy seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed.
26 First unto you hath God raised up his Son Jesus, and him he hath sent to bless you, in turning everyone of you from your iniquities.

1 And 1 as they spake unto the people, the Priests and the 2 Captain of the Temple, and the Sadducees came upon them.

3:11 1 Either because he loved them, who had healed him: or because he feared that if he once let them go out of his sight, he should be lame again.
3:12 1 Miracles are appointed to convince the unbelievers, and therefore they do wickedly abuse them, who standeth amazed either at the miracles themselves, or at the instruments and means which it pleaseth God to use, take an occasion to establish idolatry and superstition by that, which God hath provided for the knowledge of his true worship, that is, Christianity.
3:15 1 Who hath life in himself, and giveth life to others.
3:16 1 Because he believed on him being raised from the dead, whose Name he heard of by us.
3:17 1 It is best of all to receive Christ so soon as he is offered unto us: but such as have neglected so great a benefit through man's weakness, have yet repentance for a means. As for the ignominy of the cross, we have to set against that, the decree and purpose of God, foretold by the Prophets, of Christ, how that first of all he should be crucified here upon earth, and then he should appear from heaven the judge and restorer of all things, that all believers might be saved, and all unbelievers utterly perish.
3:18 1 Though there were many Prophets, yet he speaketh but of one mouth, to show unto us the consent and agreement of the Prophets.
3:21 1 Or, be taken up into heaven.
3:22 1 This promise was of an excellent and singular Prophet.
3:24 1 At what time the kingdom of Israel was established.
3:25 1 The Jews that believe are the first begotten in the kingdom of God.
3:26 1 For whom the Prophets were specially appointed.
4:1 1 None are commonly more diligent or bolder enemies of the Church, than such as profess themselves to be head builders: but the more they rage, the more constantly the faithful servants of God do continue.
4:1 2 The Jews had certain garrisons for the guard and safety of the Temple and holy things, Matt. 26:65. These garrisons had a Captain, such as Eleazarus Ananias, the high Priest's son was, in the time of the war that was in Judea, being a very impudent and proud young man, Josephus, lib. 2, of the taking of Judea.
2 Taking it grievously that they taught the people, and preached in Jesus’ Name the resurrection from the dead.
3 And they laid hands on them, and put them in hold, until the next day, for it was now eventide.
4 Howbeit many of them which heard the word, believed, and the number of the men was about five thousand.
5 ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, that their rulers, and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Jerusalem,
6 And Annas the chief Priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the high Priest.
7 And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what Name have ye done this?
8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghost, said unto them, Ye rulers of the people, and Elders of Israel, 9 For as much as we this day are examined, of the good deed done to the impotent man, to wit, by what means he is made whole.
10 Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye have crucified, whom God raised again from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you, whole.
11 This is the stone cast aside of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.
12 Neither is there salvation in any other: for among men there is given none other Name under heaven, whereby we must be saved.
13 Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and understood that they were unlearned men and without knowledge, they marvelled, and knew them, that they had been with Jesus:
14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.
15 Then they commanded them to go aside out of the Council, and conferred among themselves, 16 Saying, What shall we do to these men? for surely a manifest sign is done by them, and it is openly known to all them that dwell in Jerusalem: and we cannot deny it.
17 But that it be noised no farther among the people, let us threaten and charge them, that they speak henceforth to no man in this Name.
18 So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speak or teach in the Name of Jesus.
19 ¶ But Peter and John answered unto them, and said, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to obey you rather than God, judge ye.
20 For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.
21 So they threatened them, and let them go, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praised God for that which was done.
22 For the man was above forty years old, on whom this miracle of healing was showed.
23 Then as soon as they were let go, they came to their fellows, and showed all that the high Priests and Elders had said unto them.
24 And when they heard it, they lifted up their voices to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art the God which had made the heaven, and yet thus much good that such as lay hid under a wizard of zeal, do at length bewray themselves to be indeed wicked men.
1 The word used here, is Idiot, which being spoken in comparison to a Magistrate, betokeneth a private man, but when we speak of sciences and studies, it signifieth one that is unlearned: and in all things wherein men speake to one another, it signifieth one that is ignorant.
2 Wolves which succeed true pastors plead their own cause, and not God’s neither the Churches.’
3 There is no other man, or no other power and authority whatsoever: which kind of speech being usual among the Jews, rose upon this, that when we are in danger, we call upon them at whose hands we look for help.
4 Anywhere: and this setteth forth unto us the largeness of Christ’s kingdom.
5 The good liberty and boldness of the servants of God doeth the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them.

25 Which by the mouth of thy servant David hast said, 'Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vain things?'

26 The kings of the earth assembled, and the rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

27 For doubtless, against thine holy Son Jesus, whom thou hast anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the people of Israel gathered themselves together.

28 To do whatsoever thine hand, and thy counsel had determined before to be done.

29 And now, O Lord, behold their threatenings, and grant unto thy servants with all boldness to speak thy word, 30 So that thou stretch forth thine hand that healing, and signs, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Son Jesus.

31 And when as they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God boldly.

32 And the multitude of them that believed, were of one heart, and of one soul: neither any of them said, that anything of that which he possessed, was his own, but they had all things common.

33 And with great power gave the Apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus: and great grace was upon them all.

34 Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessors of lands or houses, sold them, and brought the price of the things that were sold,

35 And laid it down at the Apostles' feet, and it was distributed unto every man, according as he had need.

36 Also Joses which was called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation, the son of consolation) being a Levite, and of the country of Cyprus, 37 Where as he had land, sold it, and brought the money, and laid it down at the Apostles' feet.

1 Ananias, for his deceit in keeping back part of price, fell down dead, and likewise Sapphira his wife.

2 Through divers the Apostles' miracles, the faith is increased. The Apostles that were imprisoned, are delivered by an Angel, and being before the Synod of the Priests, they are kept alive, and beaten: They glorify God.

1 But a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession,

2 And kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsel, and brought a certain part, and laid it down at the Apostles' feet.

3 Then said Peter, Ananias, why hast Satan filled thine heart, that thou shouldst lie unto the holy Ghost, and keep away part of the price of this possession?

4 While it remained, appertaineth it not unto thee? and after it was sold, was it not in thine own power? how is it that thou hast conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied unto men, but unto God.

5 Now when Ananias heard these words, he fell down, and gave up the ghost. Then great fear came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the young men rose up, and took him up, and carried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to pass about the space of three hours after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter said unto her, Tell me, sold ye the land for so much? And she said, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter said unto her, Why have ye agreed together, to tempt the Spirit of the Lord? behold, the feet of them which have buried thine husband, are at the door, and shall carry thee out.

10 Then she fell down straightway at his feet, and 4:27 1 Although the people of Israel was but one people, yet the plural number is here used, not so much for the twelve tribes, every one of which made a people, as for the great multitude of them, as though many nations had assembled themselves together, as Judg. 5:14.

4:28 1 The wicked execute God's counsel, though they think nothing of it, but they are not therefore without fault.

4:31 1 God witnesseth to his Church by a visible sign, that it is he that will establish it by shaking the powers both of heaven and earth.

4:32 1 An example of the true Church, wherein there is consent as well in doctrine as in charity one towards another. And the Pastors deliver true doctrine both sincerely, and constantly.

4:33 1 True charity helpeth the necessity of the poor with its own loss: but so, that all things be done well and orderly.

5:1 1 Luke sheweth by contrary examples, how great a sin hypocrisy is, especially in them which under a false pretence and cloak of zeal would seem to shine and be chief in the Church.

5:2 1 Craftily took away.

5:3 1 Fully possessed.

5:4 1 Hereby is declared an advised and purposed deceit, and the fault of the man in admitting the devil's suggestions.

5:5 1 Look how oft men do things with an evil conscience; so oft they pronounce sentence against themselves, and as much as in them lieth, provoke God to anger, as of set purpose, minding to try whether he be just and almighty or no.

5:2 1 Are at hand.
yielded up the ghost: and the young men came in, and found her dead, and carried her out, and buried her by her husband.
11 1And great fear came on all the Church, and on as many as heard these things.
12 2Thus by the hands of the Apostles were many signs and wonders showed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Solomon's porch.
13 And of the other durst no man join himself to them: nevertheless the people 1magnified them.
14 Also the number of them that believed in the Lord, both of men and women, grew more and more)
15 Insomuch that they brought the sick into the streets, and laid them on beds and couches, that at the leastway the shadow of Peter, when he came by, might shadow some of them.
16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about unto Jerusalem, bringing sick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean spirits, who were all healed.
17 ¶ 1Then the chief Priest rose up, and all they that were with him (which was the sect of the Sadducees) and were full of indignation, 18 And laid hands on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.
19 1But the Angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doors, and brought them forth, and said, 20 1Go your way, and stand in the Temple, and speak to the people, all the words of this life.
21 1So when they heard it, they entered into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chief Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Council together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought.
22 But when the officers came, and found them not in the prison, they returned and told it, 23 Saying, Certainly we found the prison shut as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doors: but when we had opened, we found no man within.
24 Then when the chief Priest and the captain of the Temple, and the high Priests heard these things, they doubted of them, whereunto this would grow.
25 1Then came one and showed them, saying, Behold, the men that ye put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.
26 1Then went the captain with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, lest they should have been stoned.)
27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Council, and the chief Priest asked them, 28 1Saying, Did we not straightly command you, that ye should not teach in this name? and behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and ye would bring this man's blood upon us.
29 1Then Peter and the Apostles answered, and said, We ought rather to obey God than men.
30 1The God of our fathers hath raised up Jesus whom ye slew, and hanged on a tree.
31 Him hath God lifted up with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Savior, to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins.
32 1And we are his witnesses concerning these things which we say: yea, and the holy Ghost, whom God hath given to them that obey him.
33 Now when they heard it, they brast for anger, and consulted to slay them.
34 1Then stood there up in the Council a certain Pharisee named Gamaliel, a doctor of the Law, honored of all the people, and commanded to put the Apostles forth a little space, 35 And said unto them, Men of Israel, take heed to yourselves, what ye intend to do touching these men.
36 Then the twelve called the multitude of the disciples together, and said, It is not good that we should leave the word of God to serve the tables.

37 Wherefore brethren, look ye out among you seven men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisdom, which we may appoint to this business.

38 And we will give ourselves continually to prayer, and to the ministry of the word.

39 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Stephen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a proselyte of Antioch.

40 And the word of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Jerusalem greatly, and a great company of the priests were obedient to the faith.

41 Now Stephen full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

42 Then there arose certain of the Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Stephen.

43 But they were not able to resist the wisdom, and the Spirit by the which he spake.

44 Then they suborned men, which said, We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses, and God.

5:36 1 In matters of religion we must take good heed that we attempt nothing under a color of zeal, beside our vocation.

2 To be of some fame.

3:8 He dissuaded his fellows from murdering the Apostles, neither doth he think it good to refer the matter to the Roman Magistrate, for the Jews could abide nothing worse, than to have the tyranny of the Romans confirmed.

2 If it be counterfeit and devised.

5:41 1 The Apostles, accustomed to suffer and bear words, are at length inured to bear stripes, yet so, that by that means they become stronger.

5:42 1 Both publicly and privately.

6:1 When Satan has assailed the Church without, and that to small purpose and in vain, he assaileth it within, with civil dissension and strife betwixt themselves: but the Apostles take occasion thereby to set order in the Church.

2 Of their parts which of Grecians became religious Jews.

3 In the bestowing of alms according to their necessity.

6:2 The office of preaching the word and dispensing the goods of the Church, are different one from another, and not rashly to be joined together, as the Apostles do here institute: And the Apostles do not choose so much as the Deacons without the consent of the Church.

2 It is such a matter, as we may in no wise accept of it.

3 Banquets though by the name of tables, other offices are also meant, which are annexed to it, such as pertain to the care of the poor.

6:3 In choosing of Deacons (and much more of Ministers) there must be examination both of their learning and manners of life.

6:6 The ancient Church did with laying on of hands, as it were consecrate to the Lord, such as were lawfully elected.

2 This ceremony of laying on of hands came from the Jews, who used this order both in public affairs, and offering of sacrifices, and also in private prayers and blessings, as appeareth Gen. 28, and the Church observed this ceremony, 1 Tim. 5:22; Acts 8:17, but here is no mention made either of cream, or shaving, or raising, or crossing, etc.

6:7 An happy end of temptation.

6:8 This is the figure Metonymy, meaning by faith, the doctrine of the Gospel which engendereth faith.

6:9 God exerciseth his Church first with evil words and slanders, then with imprisonments, afterward with scourgings, and by these means prepareth it in such sort, that at length he causeth it to encounter with Satan and the world, even to bloodshed and death, and that with good success.

2 Excellent and singular gifts.

6:10 1 Schools and Universities were of old time addicted to false pastors, and were the instruments of Satan to blow abroad and defend false doctrines.

2 Of the company and College as it were.
7:1 Stephen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the Fathers. 20 before Mosis was born. 42 and before the Temple was built: 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordained according to the heavenly Pattern. 54 The Jews gnashing their teeth, 59 stone him.

1 Then said the chief Priest, Are these things so?

2 And he said, Ye men, brethren, and Fathers, hearken, That God of glory appeared unto our father Abraham, while he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Haran,

3 And said unto him, Come out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall show thee.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Haran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein ye now dwell,

5 And he gave him none inheritance in it, no not the breadth of a foot: yet he promised that he would give it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no child.

6 But God spake thus, that his seed should be a sojourner in a strange land: and that they should keep it in bondage, and entreat it evil four hundred years.

7 But the nation to whom they shall be in bondage, will I judge, saith God: and after that, they shall come forth and serve me in this place.

8 He gave him also the covenant of circumcision: and to Abraham begat Isaac, and circumcised him the eighth day: and Isaac begat Jacob, and Jacob the twelve Patriarchs.

9 And the Patriarchs moved with envy, sold Joseph into Egypt: but God was with him,

10 And delivered him out of all his afflictions, and gave him favor and wisdom in the sight of Pharaoh king of Egypt, who made him governor over Egypt, and over his whole house.

11 Then came there a famine over all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance.

12 But when Jacob heard that there was corn in Egypt, he sent our fathers first:

13 And at the second time Joseph was known of his brethren, and Joseph's kindred was made known unto Pharaoh.

14 Then sent Joseph and caused his father to be brought, and all his kindred, even threescore and fifteen souls.

15 So Jacob went down into Egypt, and he died, and our fathers, 16 And were removed into Shechem, and were put in the sepulcher, that Abraham had bought "for money of the sons of Hamor, son of Shechem.

17 But when the time of the promise drew near, which God had sworn to Abraham, the people "grew and multiplied in Egypt, 18 Till another King arose, which knew not Joseph.

19 The same dealt subtly with our kindred, and evil entreated our fathers, and made them to cast out their young children, that they should not remain alive.

20 The same time was Moses born and was acceptable unto God: which was nourished up in his father's house three months.

21 And when he was cast out, Pharaoh's daughter took him up, and nourished him for her own son.

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

23 Now when he was full forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren, the children of Israel.

24 And when he saw one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, and avenged his quarrel that had the harm done to him, and smote the Egyptian.

25 For he supposed his brethren would have understood, that God by his hand should give them deliverance: but they understood it not.

26 And the next day, he showed himself unto them as they strove, and would have set them at one another, saying, Sirs, ye are brethren: why do ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbor wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a prince, and a judge over us?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didst the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then fled Moses at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Midian, where he begat two sons.

30 And when forty years were expired, there appeared to him in the wilderness of mount Sinai, an Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire, in a bush.

31 And when Moses saw it, he wondered at the sight: and as he drew near to consider it, the voice of the Lord came unto him, saying, 32 I am the God of thy father's house, and of the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. Then Moses trembled, and durst not behold it.

33 Then the Lord said to him, Put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place where thou standest, is holy ground.

34 I have seen, I have seen the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, and I have heard their groaning, and am come down to deliver them: and now come, and I will send thee into Egypt.

35 This Moses whom they forsook, saying, Who made thee a prince and a judge? the same God sent for a prince, and a deliverer by the hand of the Angel which appeared to him in the bush.

36 He brought them out, doing wonders, and miracles in the land of Egypt, and in the Red Sea, and in the wilderness forty years.

37 This is that Moses, which said unto the children of Israel, A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you, even of your brethren, like unto me: him shall ye hear.

38 This is he that was in the Congregation, in the wilderness with the Angel, which spake to him in mount Sinai, and with our fathers, who received the lively oracles to give unto us.

39 To whom our fathers would not obey, but refused, and in their hearts turned back again into Egypt.

40 Saying unto Aaron, Make us gods that may go before us: for we know not what is become of this Moses that brought us out of the land of Egypt.

41 And they made a calf in those days, and offered sacrifice unto the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands.

42 Then God turned himself away, and gave them up to serve the host of heaven, as it is written in the book of the Prophets, O house of Israel, have ye offered to me slain beasts and sacrifices by the space of forty years in the wilderness?

43 And ye took up the Tabernacle of Moloch, and the star of your god Remphan, figures, which ye made to worship them: therefore I will carry you away beyond Babylon.

44 Our fathers had the Tabernacle of witness in the wilderness, as he had appointed, speaking unto Moses, that he should make it according to the fashion that he had seen.

45 Which tabernacle also our fathers received, and brought in with Jesus into the possession of the Gentiles, which God gave us  before our fathers,
8:7 2 The godly make lamentation for Stephen. 3 Saul makes havoc of the Church. 5 Philip preacheth Christ at Samaria. 9 Simon Magus, 13 his covetousness reproved. 26 Philip 27 cometh to the Ethiopian Eunuch. 38 and baptizeth him.

1 And 1Saul consented to his death. And at that time, there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Jerusalem, and they were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judea and of Samaria, except the Apostles.

2 1Then certain men fearing God, 2carried Stephen among them, to be buried, and made great lamentation for him.

3 1But Saul made havoc of the Church, and entered into every house, and drew out both men and women, and put them into prison.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.

5 ¶ 1Then came Philip into the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them.

6 And the people gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

7 For unclean spirits crying with a loud voice, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsy, and that halted, were healed.

8:1 2 The nearer that the Martyrs approach to death, the nearer they beholding Christ, do rise up even into heaven.

3 Ready to confirm him in the confession of the truth, and to receive him to him.

4 The nearer that the Martyrs approach to death, the nearer they beholding Christ, do rise up even into heaven.

5 This was done in a rage and fury: for at that time the Jews could put no man to death by law, as they confess before Pilate, saying that it was not lawful for them to put any man to death, and therefore it is reported by Josephus, lib. 20, that Ananus a Sadducee slew James the brother of the Lord, and for so doing, was accused before Albinus the President of the country.

6:1 1Saul consented to his death. And at that time, there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Jerusalem, and they were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judea and of Samaria, except the Apostles.

7:58 1It was appointed by the Law, that the witnesses should cast the first stones, Deut. 17:7.

7:60 1Faith and charity never forsake the true servants of God, even to the last breath.

5 1Then came Philip into the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them.

6 And the people gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

7 For unclean spirits crying with a loud voice, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsy, and that halted, were healed.

8:1 1Saul, who called on God, and said, Lord Jesus receive my spirit.

60 1And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, 2lay not this sin to their charge. And when he had thus spoken, he 3slept.

59 And they stoned Stephen, who called on God, and said, Lord Jesus receive my spirit.

58 1And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, 2lay not this sin to their charge. And when he had thus spoken, he 3slept.

57 And cast him out of the city, and stoned him: and the 1witnesses laid down their clothes at a young man's feet, named Saul.

56 And said, Behold, I see the heavens open, and the Son of man standing at the right hand of God, and Jesus 2standing at the right hand of God, and earth 2is my footstool: for otherwise all the Jews were possessed.

55 1But when they heard these things, their hearts brast for anger, and they gnashed at him with their teeth.

54 1But when they heard these things, their hearts brast for anger, and they gnashed at him with their teeth.

53 1Then they gave a shout with a loud voice, and stopped their ears, and 2ran upon him violently all at once,

52 Which of the Prophets have not your fathers persecuted? and they have slain them, which showed before of the coming of that Just, of whom ye are now the betrayers and murderers, 51 Ye stiff-necked and of uncircumcised hearts, which lie drowned still in the possession of those countries to our fathers, when they entered into the land.

50 What place is it that I should rest in? or what house will ye build for me, saith the Lord? or 1do your fathers 1do what you.

49 What place is it that I should rest in? or what house will ye build for me, saith the Lord? or 1do your fathers 1do what you.

48 Howbeit the most High dwelleth not in temples made with hands, as saith the Prophet, 47 He might find a tabernacle for the God of Jacob.

46 Who found favor before God, and desired that he might find a tabernacle for the God of Jacob.

45 And said, Behold, I see the heavens open, and the Son of man standing at the right hand of God, and Jesus 2standing at the right hand of God, and earth 2is my footstool: for otherwise all the Jews were possessed.

44 1But Solomon built him an house.

43 1To the generation of his years he had not gone out of the land.

42 What place is it that I should rest in? or what house will ye build for me, saith the Lord? or 1do your fathers 1do what you.

41 But he being full of the holy Ghost, looked steadfastly into heaven, and saw the glory of God, and Jesus 2standing at the right hand of God,

40 1Then came Philip into the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them.

Genesis Bible.indb 1103 6/23/08 7:18:01 PM
8 And there was great joy in that city.

9 And there was before in the city, a certain man called Simon, which used witchcraft, and bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he himself was some great man,

10 To whom they gave heed from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.

11 And they gave heed unto him, because that of long time he had bewitched them with sorceries.

12 But as soon as they believed Philip, which preached the things that concerned the kingdom of God, and the Name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.

13 Then Simon himself believed also, and was baptized, and continued with Philip, and wondered, when he saw the signs and great miracles which were done.

14 ¶ Now when the Apostles, which were at Jerusalem, heard say, that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent unto them Peter and John.

15 Which when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the Holy Ghost.

16 (For as yet he was fallen down on none of them, but they were baptized only in the Name of the Lord Jesus.)

17 Then laid they their hands on them, and they received the Holy Ghost.

18 And when Simon saw that through laying on of the Apostles' hands the Holy Ghost was given, he offered them money.

19 Saying, Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I lay the hands, he may receive the Holy Ghost.

20 Then said Peter unto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou thinkest that the gift of God may be obtained with money.

21 Thou hast neither part nor fellowship in this business: for thine heart is not right in the sight of God.

22 Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, that it be possible, the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee.

23 For I see that thou art in the gall of bitterness, and in the bond of iniquity.

24 Then answered Simon, and said, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye have spoken, come upon me.

25 ¶ So they, when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, returned to Jerusalem, and preached the Gospel in many towns of the Samaritans.

26 Then the Angel of the Lord spake unto Philip, saying, Arise and go toward the South unto the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza, which is waste.

27 And he arose and went on: and behold, a certain Eunuch of Ethiopia, Candace the Queen of the Ethiopians' chief Governor, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Jerusalem to worship.

28 And as he returned sitting in his chariot, he read Isaiah the Prophet.

29 Then the Spirit said unto Philip, Go near and join thyself to yonder chariot.

30 And Philip ran thither, and heard him read the Prophet Isaiah, and said, But understandest thou what thou readest?

31 And he said, How can I, except I had a guide? And he desired Philip, that he would come up and sit with him.

32 ¶ Now the place of the Scripture which he read, was this, He was lead as a sheep to the slaughter: and like a lamb dumb before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth.
33 In his humility his judgment hath been exalted, but who shall declare his generation? for his life is taken from the earth.
34 Then the Eunuch answered Philip, and said, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the Prophet this? of himself, or of some other man?
35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached unto him Jesus.
36 And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water, and the Eunuch said, See, here is water: what doth let me to be baptized?
37 And Philip said unto him, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered, and said, I believe that that Jesus Christ is that Son of God.
38 Then he commanded the chariot to stand still: and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuch, and he baptized him.
39 And as soon as they were come out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch saw him no more: so he went on his way rejoicing.
40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and he walked to and fro preaching in all the cities, till he came to Caesarea.

2 Saul going towards Damascus, 4 is stricken down to the ground of the Lord. 10 Ananias is sent to baptize him. 23 The laying away of the Jews, 25 he escapeth, being let down through the wall. 33 And by him Tabitha being dead, 40 is restored to life.

1 And Saul yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high Priest,
2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that sort, to wit, that they heard a sound of a voice, but no perfect voice.

8:33 1 The Hebrew text readeth it thus, Out of a narrow strait, and out of judgment was he taken: whereby the narrow strait, he meaneth the grave and the very bands of death, and by judgment, the punishment which was laid upon him, and the miserable state which Christ took upon him for our sakes, in bearing his Father's wrath.
2 How long his age shall last: for Christ having once risen from the dead, dieth no more, Rom. 6:9.
8:37 1 Profession of faith is requisite in baptizing of them which are of years, and therefore it is evident that we are not then first ingrafted into Christ, when we are baptized, but being already ingrafted are then confirmed.
2 The sum of the confession which is necessary for baptism.
9:1 1 Saul (who is also Paul) persecuting Christ most cruelly, who did as it were flee before him, falleth into his hands, and is overcome: and with a singular example of the goodness of God, instead of punishment which he justly deserved for his cruelty, is not only received to favor, but is also even by the mouth of God appointed an Apostle, and is confirmed by the ministry and witness of Ananias.
2 This is a token that Saul's stomach boiled and cast out great threatenings to murder the disciples.
9:2 1 Any trade of life which a man taketh himself unto, the Jews call a way.
9:5 1 This is a proverb which is spoken of them that through their own stubbornness hurt themselves.
9:7 The men also which journeyed with him, stood amazed, hearing his voice, but seeing no man.
8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but saw no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus, 9 Where he was three days without sight, and neither ate nor drank.
10 And there was a certain disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord.
11 Then the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou shalt do.
12 (And he saw in a vision a man named Ananias coming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receive his sight.)
13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man, how much evil he hath done to thy saints at Jerusalem.
14 Moreover here he hath authority of the high Priests, to bind all that call on thy Name.
15 Then the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessel unto me, to bear my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Israel.
16 For I will show him, how many things he must suffer for my Name's sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entered into that house, and put his hands on him, and saith, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent me (even Jesus that appeared unto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receive thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had been scales, and suddenly he received sight, and arose, and was baptized, 19 And received meat, and was strengthened. So was Saul certain days with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 And straightway he preached Christ in the Synagogues, that he was that Son of God.

21 So that all that heard him were amazed, and said, Is not this he, that made havoc of them which called on this Name in Jerusalem, and came hither for that intent, that he should bring them bound unto the high Priests?

22 But Saul increased the more in strength, and confounded the Jews which dwelt at Damascus, confirming that this was that Christ.

23 And after that many days were fulfilled, the Jews took counsel to kill him, 24 But their laying await was known of Saul: now they watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 Then the disciples took him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him down by a rope in a basket.

26 And when Saul was come to Jerusalem, he assayed to join himself with the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and believed not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas took him, and brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, how he had seen the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken unto him, and how he had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Jesus.

28 And he was conversant with them at Jerusalem,

29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Jesus, and spake and disputed against the Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 But when the brethren knew it, they brought him to Caesarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

31 Then had the Churches rest through all Judea, and Galilee, and Samaria, and were edified, and walked in the fear of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 And it came to pass, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certain man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight years, and was sick of the palsy.

34 Then said Peter unto him, Aeneas, Jesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and truss thy couch together. And he arose immediately.

35 And all that dwelt at Lydda and Sharon, saw him, and turned to the Lord.

36 There was also at Joppa a certain woman, a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) she was full of good works and alms which she did.

37 And it came to pass in those days, that she was sick and died: and when they had washed her, they laid her in an upper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was near to Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent unto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come unto them.

39 Then Peter arose and came with them: and when he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber, where all the widows stood by him weeping, and showing the coats and garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them.
40 But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled down, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter, sat up.

41 Then he gave her the hand and lifted her up, and called the Saints and widows, and restored her alive.

42 And it was known throughout all Joppa, and many believed in the Lord.

43 And it came to pass, that he tarried many days in Joppa with one Simon a Tanner.

10 1 Cornelius 4 at the Angels commandment. 5 sendeth for Peter. 11 Who also by a vision, 15, 20 is taught not to despise the Gentiles. 34 He preacheth the Gospel to Cornelius and his household. 45 Who having received the holy Ghost, 47 are baptized.

1 Furthermore there was a certain man in Caesarea called Cornelius, a captain of the band called the Italian band,

2 A devout man, and one that feared God with all his household, which gave much alms to the people, and prayed God continually.

3 He saw in a vision evidently (about the ninth hour of the day) an Angel of God coming in to him, and saying unto him, Cornelius.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, What is it, Lord? for he setteth himself to hear.

5 And the voice spake unto him, Arise, Peter: Thy prayers and thine alms are come up into remembrance before God.

6 Now therefore send men to Joppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

7 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: he shall tell thee what thou oughtest to do.

8 And when the Angel which spake unto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his servants, and a soldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him, 9 And told them all things, and sent them to Joppa.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: and the next day, Peter went forth with them, and certain brethren from Joppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entered into Caesarea. Now Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsmen, and special friends.

25 And it came to pass as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell down at his feet, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter took him up, saying, Stand up: for I myself am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he said unto them, Ye know that it is an unlawful thing for a man that is a Jew, to company, or come unto one of another nation: but God hath showed me, that I should not call any man polluted, or unclean.

29 Therefore came I unto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I ask therefore, for what intent have ye sent for me?

30 Then Cornelius said, Four days ago, about this hour, I fasted, and at the ninth hour I prayed in mine house, and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing, 31 And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine alms are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 Then sent I for thee immediately, and thou comest, shall speak unto thee.

33 Then sent I for thee immediately, and thou hast well done to come. Now therefore are we all here present before God to hear all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive, that God is no [respecter] of persons.

35 But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him.

36 Ye know the word which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ, which is Lord of all:

37 Even the word which came through all Judea, beginning in Galilee, after the Baptism which John preached:

38 To wit, how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil: for God was with him.

39 And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Jews, and in Jerusalem, whom they slew, hanging him on a tree.

40 Him God raised up the third day, and caused that he was showed openly:

41 Not to all the people, but unto the witnesses chosen before of God, even to us which did eat and drink with him, after he arose from the dead.

42 And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to testify, that it is he that is ordained of God a judge of quick and dead.

43 To him also give all the Prophets witness, that through his Name all that believe in him, shall receive remission of sins.

44 While Peter yet spake these words, the holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word.

45 So they of the circumcision, which believed, were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was poured out the gift of the holy Ghost.

46 For they heard them speak with tongues, and magnify God. Then answered Peter, 47 Can any man forbid water, that these should...

2 Peter being accused for going to the Gentiles, 5 defendeth himself. 22 Barnabas is sent to Antioch, 26 where the disciples are called Christians: 28 and there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

1 Now the Apostles and the brethren that were in Judea, heard, that the Gentiles had also received the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come up to Jerusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him,

3 Saying, Thou wentest into men uncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying,

5 I was in the city of Joppa, praying, and in a trance I saw this vision. A certain vessel coming down as it had been a great sheet, let down from heaven by the four corners, and it came to me,

6 Toward the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, and saw four footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and fowls of the heaven.

7 Also I heard a voice, saying unto me, Arise, Peter: slay and eat.

8 And I said, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or unclean hath at anytime entered into my mouth.

9 But the voice answered me the second time, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three times, and all were taken up again into heaven.

11 Then behold, immediately there were three men already come unto the house where I was, sent from Caesarea unto me.

12 And the Spirit said unto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreover these six brethren came with me, and we entered into the man’s house.

13 And he showed us, how he had seen an Angel in his house, which stood and said to him, Send men to Joppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

14 He shall speak words unto thee, whereby both thou and all thine house shall be saved.

15 And as I began to speak, the holy Ghost fell on them, even as upon us at the beginning.

16 Then I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, John baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 For as much then as God gave them a like gift, as he did unto us, when we believed in the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I, that I could left God?

18 ¶ When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life.

19 ¶ And they which were scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Stephen, went throughout till they came unto Phoenicia and Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to no man, but unto the Jews only.

20 ¶ Now some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antioch, spake unto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Jesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number believed and turned unto the Lord.

22 ¶ Then tidings of those things came unto the ears of the Church, which was in Jerusalem, and they sent forth Barnabas, that he should go unto Antioch.

23 Who when he was come and had seen the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith and much people joined themselves unto the Lord.

25 ¶ Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seek Paul:

26 And when he had found him, he brought him unto Antioch: and it came to pass that a whole year they were conversant with the Church, and taught much people, insomuch that the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch.

27 ¶ In those days also came Prophets from Jerusalem unto Antioch.

28 And there stood up one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to pass under Claudius Caesar.

29 ¶ Then the disciples every man according to his ability, purposed to send 2 succor unto the brethren which dwelt in Judea.

30 Which thing they also did, and sent it to the Elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

12 Herod killeth James with the sword, 4 And imprisons Peter, 8 whom the Angel delivereth. 20 Herod being offended with them of Tyre, 21 is pacified: 22 And taking the honor due to God, to himself, 23 he is eaten with worms, and so dieth.

1 Now about that time, 3 Herod the king stretched forth his hand to vex certain of the Church.

2 And he killed James the brother of John with the sword.

3 1And when he saw that it pleased the Jews, he proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the days of unleavened bread.)

4 1And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four quaternions of soldiers to be kept, intending after the Passover to bring him forth to the people.

5 1So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of the Church unto God for him.

6 And when Herod would have brought him out unto the people, the same night slept Peter between two soldiers, bound with two chains, and the keepers before the door, kept the prison.

7 1And behold the Angel of the Lord came upon them, and a light shined in the house, and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands.

8 1And the Angel said unto him, Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals. And so he did. Then he said unto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and follow me.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knew not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seen a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came unto the iron gate that leadeth unto the city, which opened to them by its own accord, and they went out, and passed through one street, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to himself, he said, Now I know for a truth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Jews.

12 1And as he considered the thing, he came to the house of Mary, the mother of John, whose surname was Mark, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

13 1And when Peter knocked at the entry door, a maid 2 came forth to hearken, named Rhoda, 14 But when she knew Peter's voice, she opened not the entry door for gladness, but ran in, and told how Peter stood before the entry.

15 But they said unto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and saw him, they were astonished.

17 1And he beckoned unto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, Go show these things unto James and to the brethren: and he departed and went into another place.

18 ¶ Now as soon as it was day, there was no small trouble among the soldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded them to be led to be punished. And he went down from Judea to Caesarea, and there abode.

20 3Then Herod was angry with them of Tyre and Sidon, but they came all with one accord unto him, and persuaded Blastus the King's Chamberlain, and they desired peace, because their country was nourished by the King's land.

21 And upon a day appointed, Herod arrayed...
12:22 1 The flattery of the people, maketh fools fair.
12:23 1 God resisteth the proud.
2 Josephus recordeth, that this king did not repress those flatterers' tongues, and therefore at his death he complained and cried out of their vanity.
12:24 1 Tyrants build up the Church by plucking it down.
2 They that heard the word of God.
13:1 1 Paul with Barnabas is again the second time appointed Apostle of the Gentiles, not of man, neither by man, but by an extraordinary commandment of the holy Ghost.
2 The same was Antipas, which put John Baptist to death.
13:2 1 While they were busy doing their office, that is, as Chrysostom expoundeth it, while they were preaching.
2 The Lord is said to call (whereof this word (calling) cometh, which is usual in the Church) when he causeth that to be, which was not, whether you refer it to the matter itself or to any quality or thing about the matter: and it growtheth of this, because when things begin to be, then they have some name: as God's mighty power is also declared hereby, who spake the word, and things were made.
13:3 1 Fast, and solemn prayers were used before the laying on of hands.
13:4 1 Paul and his companions do at the first bring Cyprus to the subjection and obedience of Christ.
2 Seleucia was a city of Cilicia, so called of Seleucus one of Alexander's successors.

13 2 The holy Ghost commandeth that Paul and Barnabas be separated unto him.
6 At Paphos, 8 Elymas the sorcerer 11 is stricken blind: 14 From whence being come to Antioch, 17 They preach the Gospel, 45 the Jews vehemently withstanding them.
1 There were also in the Church that was at Antioch, certain Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen (which had been brought up with Herod the Tetrarch) and Saul.
2 Now as they ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the work whereunto I have called them.
3 Then fasted they and prayed, and laid their hands on them, and let them go.
4 And they after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came down unto Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.
5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Jews: and there sat down Paul and his companions do at the first bring Cyprus to the subjection and obedience of Christ.
6 So when they had gone throughout the isle unto Paphos, they found a certain sorcerer, a false prophet, being a Jew, named Bar-Jesus, 7 Which was with the Deputy Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called unto him Barnabas and Saul, and desired to hear the word of God.
8 But Elymas the sorcerer, (for so is his name by interpretation) withstood them, and sought to turn away the Deputy from the faith.
9 Then Saul (which also is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghost, set his eyes on him, 10 And said, O full of all subtlety and all mischief, the child of the devil, and enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the straight ways of the Lord?
11 Now therefore behold, the hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, and not see the sun for a season. And immediately there fell on him a mist and a darkness, and he went about, seeking some to lead him by the hand.
12 Then the Deputy when he saw what was done, believed, and was astonished at the doctrine of the Lord.
13 Now when Paul and they that were with him were departed by ship from Paphos, they came to Perga a city of Pamphilia: then John departed from them, and returned to Jerusalem.
14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch a city of Pisidia, and went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and sat down.
15 And after the lecture of the Law and Prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue sent unto them, saying, Ye men and brethren, if ye have any word of the devil maketh the conquest of Christ more glorious, in that that he setteth himself against him.
13:10 1 The sorcerer which was stricken of Paul with a corporal punishment (although extraordinarily) sheweth an example to lawful magistrates, how they ought to punish them which wickedly and obstinately hinder the course of the Gospel.
2 He noteth out such a fault, as whoso hath it, runneth headlong and with great desire to all kinds of wickedness with the least motion in the world.
13:11 1 His power which he sheweth in striking and beating down his enemies.
13:13 1 An example in one and the selfsame company both of singular constancy, and also of great weakness.
13:14 1 This putteth a difference betwixt it, and Antioch which was in Syria.
13:15 1 In the Synagogue of the Jews (according to the pattern whereof Christian Congregations were instituted) first the Scriptures were read, then such as were learned were licensed by the rulers of the Synagogue to speak and expound.
2 Word for word. If there be any word in you: and this is a kind of speech taken from the Hebrews, whereby is meant, that the gifts of God's grace are in us, as it were in treasure houses, and that they are not ours, but God's: In like sort saith David, Thou hast put a new song in my mouth, Ps. 40:1.
Exhortation for the people, say on.

16 Then Paul stood up and beckoned with the hand, and said, Men of Israel, and ye that fear God, hearken.

17 The God of this people of Israel chose our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of Egypt, and with a high arm brought them out thereof.

18 And about the time of forty years, suffered he their manners in the wilderness.

19 And he destroyed seven nations in the land of Canaan, and divided their land to them by lot.

20 Then afterward he gave unto them judges about four hundred and fifty years, unto the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 So after that, they desired a King, and God gave unto them Saul, the son of Cis, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, by the space of forty years.

22 And after he had taken him away, he raised up David to be their King, of whom he witnessed, saying, I have found David the son of Jesse, a man after mine own heart, which will do all things that I will.

23 Of this man's seed hath God according to his promise raised up to Israel, the Savior Jesus:

24 When John had first preached before his coming the baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel.

25 And when John had fulfilled his course, he said, Whom ye think that I am, I am not he: but behold, there cometh one after me, whose shoe of his feet I am not worthy to loose.

26 Ye men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, and whosoever among you feareth God, to you is the word of this salvation sent.

27 For the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the words of the Prophets, which are read every Sabbath day, they have fulfilled them in condemning him.

28 And though they found no cause of death in him, yet desired they Pilate to kill him.

29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they took him down from the tree, and put him in a sepulcher.

30 But God raised him up from the dead.

31 And he was seen many days of them, which came up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, which are his witnesses unto the people.

32 And we declare unto you, that touching the promise made unto the fathers, 33 God hath fulfilled it unto us their children, in that he raised up Jesus, even as it is written in the second Psalm, Thou art my Son: this day have I begotten thee.

34 Now as concerning that he raised him up from the dead, no more to return to corruption, he hath said thus, I will give you the holy things of David, which are faithful.

35 Wherefore he saith also in another place, Thou wilt not suffer thine holy one to see corruption.

36 Howbeit, David after he had served his time by the counsel of God, he slept, and was laid with his fathers, and saw corruption.

37 But he whom God raised up, saw no corruption.

38 Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins.

39 And from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the Law of Moses, by him everyone that believeth, is justified.

40 1Beware therefore lest that come upon you, which is spoken of in the Prophets, 41 1Behold, ye despisers, and wonder, and vanish away: for I work a work in your days, a work which ye shall not believe, if a man would declare it you.

42 1And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Jews, the Gentiles besought, that they would preach these words to them the next Sabbath day.

43 Now when the congregation was dissolved, many of the Jews and 1Proselytes that feared God, followed Paul and Barnabas, which spake unto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

44 And the next Sabbath day came almost the whole city together, to hear the word of God.

45 1But when the Jews saw the people, they were full of envy, and spake against those things, which were spoken of Paul, contrarying them, and railing on them.

46 1Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and said, It was necessary that the word of God should first have been spoken unto you: but seeing ye put it from you, and judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life, lo, we turn to the Gentiles.

47 For so hath the Lord commanded us, saying, 'I have made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the salvation unto the end of the world.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were ordained unto eternal life, believed.

49 Thus the word of the Lord was published throughout the whole country.

50 1But the Jews stirred certain devout and honorable women, and the chief men of the city, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coasts.

51 1But they shook off the dust of their feet against them, and came unto Iconium.

52 And the disciples were filled with joy, and with the holy Ghost.

14 1Paul and Barnabas 5 are persecuted at Iconium: 6 At Lystra Paul 10 healed a cripple: 13 They are about to do sacrifice unto them, 18 but they forbad it. 19 Paul by the persuasion of certain Jews, is stoned: 23 From thence passing through divers Churches, 26 they return to Antioch.

1 And 1it came to pass in 2Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Jews, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Jews and of the Grecians believed.

2 And the 1unbelieving Jews stirred up, and corrupted the minds of the Gentiles against the brethren.

3 1So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lord, which gave testimony unto the word of his grace, and caused signs and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the city was divided: and some were with the Jews, and some with the Apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Jews with their rulers, to do them violence, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, and fled unto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and unto the region round about,

7 And there preached the Gospel.

8 ¶ 'Now sat a certain man at Lystra, impotent in his feet, which was a cripple from his mother's womb, who had never walked.

9 He heard Paul speak: who beholding him and perceiving that he had faith to be healed, 10 Said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy legs.

13:40 1 The benefits of God turn to the utter undoing of them that contend them.

13:42 1 The Gentiles go before the Jews into the kingdom of heaven.

13:43 1 Which had forsaken their heathenish religion, and embraced the religion set forth by Moses.

13:45 1 The favor of one selfsame Gospel is unto the reprobate and unbelievers, death, and to the elect and such as believe, life.

13:46 1 The Gospel is published to the Gentiles by the express commandment of God.

2 By this your doing you do as it were, pronounce sentence against yourselves, and judge yourselves.

13:48 1 Therefore either all were not appointed to everlasting life, or else all should have believed: but because that is not so, it followeth, that some certain were ordained, and therefore God did not only foreknow, but also foreordain, that neither faith nor the effects of faith should be the cause of his ordaining or appointment, but his ordaining the cause of faith.

13:50 1 Such is the craft and subtlety of the enemies of the Gospel, that they abuse the simplicity of some which are not altogether evil men, to execute their cruelty.

2 Such as embraced Moses' Law.

13:51 1 The wickedness of the world cannot let God to gather his Church together, and to foster and cherish it, when it is gathered together.

14:1 1 We ought to be no less constant in preaching of the Gospel, than the perverseness of the wicked is obstinate in persecuting of it.

1: Iconium was a city of Lycaonia.

14:2 1 Which obeyed not the doctrine.

14:3 1 We ought not to leave our places and give place to threatening, neither to open rage, but when there is no other remedy, and that not for our own quietness' sake, but that the Gospel of Christ may be spread further abroad.

14:6 1 It is lawful sometimes to flee dangers, in time convenient.

14:8 1 It is an old subtlety of the devil, either to cause the faithful servants of God to be banished at once, or to be worshipped for idols: and that chiefly taking occasion by miracles wrought by them.
feet. And he leaped up, and walked.

11 Then when the people saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices, saying in the speech of Lycaonia, Gods are come down to us in the likeness of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Jupiter: and Paul Mercurius, because he was the chief speaker.

13 Then Jupiter’s Priest, which was before their city, brought bulls with garlands unto the gates, and would have sacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying,

15 1And saying, O men, why do ye these things? We are even men subject to the like passions that ye be, and preach unto you, that ye should turn from these vain things unto the living God, which made heaven and earth, and the sea, and all things that in them are:

16 1Who in times past suffered all the Gentiles to walk in their own ways.

17 Nevertheless, he left not himself without witness, in that he did good and gave us rain from heaven, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food, and gladness.

18 And speaking these things, scarce appeased they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed unto them.

19 1Then there came certain Jews from Antioch and Iconium, which when they had persuaded the people, stoned Paul, and drew him out of the city, supposing he had been dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stood round about him, he arose up, and came into the city, and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 1And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospel to that city, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antioch.

22 1Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that we must through many afflictions enter into the kingdom of God.

23 1And when they had ordained them Elders by election in every Church, and prayed, and fasted, they commended them to the Lord in whom they believed.

24 1Thus they went throughout Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they came down to Aatalia, 26 And thence sailed to Antioch, from whence they had been commended unto the grace of God, to the work, which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done by them, and how he had opened the door of faith unto the Gentiles.

28 So there they abode a long time with the disciples.

15 1 Certain go about to bring in circumcision at Antioch: About which matter the Apostles consult:

19 and what must be done they declare by letters. 23 Paul and Barnabas are at great variance.

1 Then came down 2certain from Judea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved.

2 1And when there was great dissension, and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordained that Paul and Barnabas, and certain others of them, should go up to Jerusalem unto the Apostles and Elders about this question.

3 Thus 1being brought forth by the Church, they passed through Phoenicia and Samaria, declaring the grace of God, and were strengthened in the heart of them that heard it.
conversion of the Gentiles, and they brought great joy unto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were received of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But said they, certain of the sect of the Pharisees, which did believe, rose up, saying that it was needful to circumcise them, and to command them to keep the Law of Moses.

6 Then the Apostles and Elders came together to look to this matter.

7 And when there had been great disputation, Peter rose up, and said unto them. Ye men and brethren, ye know that a good while ago, among us God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should hear the word of the Gospel, and believe.

8 And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witness, in giving unto them the holy Ghost even as he did unto us.

9 And he put no difference between us and them, after that by faith he had purified their hearts.

10 Now therefore, why tempt ye God, to lay a yoke on the disciples’ necks, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to bear?

11 But we believe, through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ to be saved, even as they do.

12 Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what signs and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they held their peace, James answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken unto me.

14 Simeon hath declared, how God first did visit the Gentiles, to take of them a people unto his Name.

15 And to this agree the words of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 After this I will return, and will build again the Tabernacle of David, which is fallen down, and the ruins thereof will I build again, and I will set it up.

17 That the residue of men might seek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles upon whom my Name is called, saith the Lord which doeth all these things.

18 From the beginning of the world, God knoweth all his works.

19 Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God, 20 But that we send unto them, that they may abstain themselves from filthiness of idols, and fornication, and that is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moses of old time hath in every city them that preach him, seeing he is read in the Synagogues every Sabbath day.

22 Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church to send chosen men of their own company to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Judas whose surname was Barsabas, and Silas, which were chief men among the brethren, 23 And wrote letters by them after this manner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, Unto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antioch, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.

24 Forasmuch as we have heard, that certain which went out from us, have troubled you with words, and cumbered your minds, saying, Ye must be circumcised and keep the Law: to whom we gave no such commandment,

25 It seemed therefore good to us, when we were come together with one accord, to send chosen men of God, therein agreeing to Peter.

15:18 And therefore nothing cometh to pass by fortune, but by God’s appointment.

15:19 In matters indifferent we may so far bear with the weakness of our brethren, as they may have time to be instructed.

15:20 From sacrifices or from feasts which were kept in idols’ Temples.

15:22 In a lawful Synod, neither they which are appointed and chosen Judges, appoint and determine any thing tyrannously or upon a boldness, neither doth the common multitude set themselves tumultuously against them, which sat as Judges by the word of God: as the like order also is held in publishing and ratifying those things which have been so determined and agreed upon.

15:24 The Council of Jerusalem concludeth, that they trouble men’s consciences, which teach us to seek salvation in any other means than in Christ only, apprehended by faith, from whencesoever they come, and whosoever they pretend to be author of their vocation.

15:26 From our congregation.

15:27 A borrowed kind of speech taken of them which pull down that that was built up: and it is a very usual metaphor in the Scriptures: to say the Church is built, for, the Church is planted and stablished.
unto you, with our beloved Barnabas and Paul.
26 Men that have 'given up their lives for the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ.
27 We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, which shall also tell you the same things by mouth.
28 'For it seemed good to the 'holy Ghost, and to us, to lay no more burden upon you, than these 'necessary things.
29 'That is, that ye abstain from things offered to idols, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keep yourselves, ye shall do well. Fare ye well.
30 'Now when they were departed, they came to Antioch, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they delivered the Epistle, 31 And when they had read it, they rejoiced for the consolation.
32 And Judas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many words, and strengthened them.
33 And after they had tarried there a space, they were let go in peace of the brethren unto the Churches.
34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.
35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antioch, teaching and preaching with many others the word of the Lord.
36 ¶ But after certain days, Paul said unto Barnabas, Let us return and visit our brethren in every city, where we have preached the word of the Lord, and see how they do.
37 'And Barnabas counseled to take with them John, called Mark.
38 But Paul thought it not meet to take him unto their company, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the work.
39 'Then were they so 'stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas took Mark, and sailed unto Cyprus.
40 And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended of the brethren unto the grace of God.
41 And he went through Syria and Cilicia, establishing the Churches.

CHAPTER 16
1 Paul having circumcised Timothy, ¶ 12 being at Philippi, 14 instructed Lydia in the faith. 16 The spirit of divination, 18 is by him cast out: 20 and for that cause 22 they are whipped, 24 and imprisoned. 26 Through an earthquake, 27 the prison doors are opened. 31, 32 The Gaoler receiveth the faith.
1 Then 'came he to Derbe and to Lystra: and behold, a certain disciple was there, named Timothy, a woman's son, which was a Jewess and believed, but his father was a Grecian,
2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, 'reported well.
3 'Therefore Paul would that he should go forth with him, and took and circumcised him, because of the Jews, which were in those quarters: for they knew all that his father was a Grecian.
4 'And as they went through the cities, they delivered them 'the decrees to keep, ordained of the Apostles and Elders which were at Jerusalem.
5 And so were the Churches established in the faith, 'and' increased in number daily.
6 ¶ Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were 'forbidden of the holy Ghost, to preach the word in Asia.
7 Then came they to Mysia, and sought to go into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.
8 Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came down to Troas.
9 Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and help us.
10 And after he had seen the vision, immediately we prepared to go into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called us to preach the Gospel unto them.
11 Then went we forth from Troas, and with a straight course came to Samothrace, and the next day to Neapolis.
12 ¶ And from thence to Philippi, which is the chief city in the parts of Macedonia, and whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there: and we were in that city abiding certain days.
13 ¶ And on the Sabbath day we went out of the city, besides a river, where they were wont to "pray: and we sat down, and spake unto the women, which were come together.
14 ¶ And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard us: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended unto the things, which Paul spake.
15 ¶ And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought us, saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into mine house, and abide there: and she constrained us.
16 ¶ And it came to pass that as we went to prayer, a certain maid having a spirit of divination, met us, which gat her masters much vantage withdrawing.
17 She followed Paul and us, and cried, saying, These men are the servants of the most high God, of purple, of the city of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard us: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended unto the things, which Paul spake.
18 And this did she many days: but Paul being grieved, turned about, and said to the spirit, I command thee in the Name of Jesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same hour.
19 ¶Now when her masters saw that the hope of their gain was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the marketplace unto the Magistrates.
20 ¶And brought them to the governors, saying, These men which are Jews trouble our city.
21 ¶And preach ordinances, which are not lawful for us to receive, neither to observe, seeing we are Romans.
22 ¶The people also rose up together against them, and the governors rent their clothes, and commanded them to be beaten with rods.
23 And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, commanding the Gaoler to keep them surely.
24 ¶Who having received such commandment, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stocks.
25 ¶Now at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sung Psalms unto God: and the prisoners heard them.
26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doors opened, and every man's bands were loosed.
27 ¶Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleep, and when he saw the prison doors open, he drew out his sword and would have killed himself, supposing the prisoners had been fled.
28 ¶But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do thyself no harm: for we all are here.
29 ¶Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell down before Paul and Silas.
30 And brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved?
31 And they said, Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thine household.
32 And they preached unto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in the house.

16:9 ¶They are the ministers of the Gospel, by whom he helpeth such as were like to perish.
16:10 ¶The Saints did not easily believe every vision.
16:13 ¶God beginneth his kingdom in Macedonia by the conversion of a woman, and so showeth that there is no [exception] of persons in the Gospel.
16:14 ¶The Lord only openeth the heart to hear the word which is preached.
16:15 ¶An example of a godly housewife.
16:16 ¶Satan transformeth himself into an Angel of light, and coveteth to enter by undermining, but Paul openly letth him, and casteth him out.
16:18 ¶Paul made no haste to this miracle, for he did all things as he was led by the Spirit.
16:19 ¶Covetousness of lucre and gain is an occasion of persecuting the truth. In the mean season, God sparing Timothy, calleth Paul and Silas as the stronger, to battle.
16:20 ¶Covetousness pretendeth a desire of common peace and godliness.
16:21 ¶It is an argument of the devil, to urge the authority of ancestors without any distinction.
16:22 ¶An Example of evil Magistrates to obey the fury and rage of the people.
16:24 ¶Because he would be more sure of them, he set them fast in the stocks.
16:25 ¶The prayers of the godly do shake both heaven and earth.
16:27 ¶The merciful Lord, so oft as he listeth, draweth men to life, even through the midst of death, and whereas justly they deserved great punishment, he showeth them great mercy.
16:28 ¶In means which are especially extraordinary, we ought not to move our foot forward, unless that God goes before us.
ACTS 16:33

33 And afterward he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged unto him straightway.
34 And when he had brought them into his house, he set meat before them, and rejoiced that he with all his household believed in God.
35 And when it was day, the governors sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men go.
36 Then the keeper of the prison told these words unto Paul, saying, The governors have sent to loose you: now therefore get you hence, and go in peace.
37 Then said Paul unto them, After that they have beaten us openly uncondemned, which are Romans, they have cast us into prison, and now would they put us out privily? Nay verily: but let them come and bring us out.
38 And the sergeants told these words unto the governors, who feared when they heard that they were Romans.
39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the city.
40 And they went out of the prison, and entered into the house of Lydia: and when they had seen the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

17 Paul at Thessalonica

1 Paul preaching Christ, 6, 7 is entertained of Jason: 10 He is sent to Berea: 15 from thence coming to Athens, 19 in Mars’ street, 23 he preacheth the living God to them unknown, 34 and so many are converted unto Christ.

1 Now as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Jews.
2 And Paul, as his manner was, went in unto them, and three Sabbath days disputeth with them by the Scriptures,
3 Opening, and alleging that Christ must have suffered, and risen again from the dead, and this is Jesus Christ, whom said he, I preach to you.
4 And some of them believed, and joined in company with Paul and Silas: also of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chief women not a few.
5 But the Jews which believed not, moved with envy, took unto them certain vagabonds and wicked fellows, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the city, and made assault against the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people.
6 But when they found them not, they drew Jason and certain brethren unto the heads of the city, crying, These are they which have subverted the state of the world, and here they are.
7 Whom Jason hath received, and these all do according to the decrees of Caesar, saying, that there is another King one Jesus.
8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the city, when they heard these things.
9 Notwithstanding when they had received sufficient assurance of Jason and of the others, they let them go.
10 And the brethren immediately sent away Paul and Silas by night unto Berea, which when they were come thither, entered into the Synagogue of the Jews.
11 These were also more noble men than they which were at Thessalonica, which received the word with all readiness, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so.
12 Therefore many of them believed, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a few.
13 ¶ But when the Jews of Thessalonica knew, that the word of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and moved the people.
14 But by and by the brethren sent away Paul to 16:33 1 God with one selfsame hand woundeth and healeth, when it pleaseth him.

16:35 1 Shame and confusion is in process of time, the reward of wicked and unjust Magistrates.
16:37 1 We must not render injury for injury, and yet notwithstanding it is lawful for us to use such helps as God giveth us, to bridle the outrageousness of the wicked, that they hurt not others in like sort.
16:38 1 The wicked are not moved with the fear of God, but with envy, taking unto them certain vagabonds and wicked fellows, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the city, and made assault against the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people.
16:40 1 We may eschew dangers, so that we never neglect our duty.
17:1 1 The casting out of Silas and Paul, was the saving of many others.
17:3 1 Christ is therefore the Mediator, because he was crucified and rose again: much less is he to be rejected, because the cross is ignominious.
17:5 1 Although the zeal of the unfaithful seems never so goodly, yet at length it is found to have neither truth nor equity: But yet the wicked cannot do what they list, for even among themselves God stirreth up some, whose help he useth to the deliverance of his 17:15 1 The sheep of Christ do also watch for their pastor’s health and safety, but yet in the Lord.
2 It is not for nought that the Jews of Berea were so commended, for they brought Paul safe from Macedonia to Athens, and there is in distance betwixt those two, all Thessalia, and Boeotia, and Attica.
17:16 1 In comparing the wisdom of God with man’s wisdom, men scoff and mock at that which they understand not: and God useth the curiosity of fools to gather together his elect.
2 He could not forbear.
3 Slavishly given to idolatry: Pausanias writeth that there were more idols in Athens, than in all Greece, yea they had altars dedicated to Shame, and Fame, and Lust, whom they made goddesses.
17:17 1 Whomsoever Paul met with, that would suffer him to talk with him, he reasoned with him, so thoroughly did he burn with the zeal of God’s glory.
17:18 1 Two sects especially of the Philosophers do set themselves against Christ: the Epicureans, which make a mock and scoff at all religions, and the Stoics, which determine upon matters of religion according to their own brains.
2 Word for word, seed gatherer: a borrowed kind of speech taken of birds which spoil corn, and is applied to them which without all art bluster out such knowledge as they have gotten by hearing this man and that man.
17:19 1 This was a place called as you would say, Mars hill, where the judges sat which were called Areopagus, upon weighty affairs, which in old time arraigned Socrates, and afterward condemned him of impiety.
17:20 1 For all the Athenians and strangers which dwelt there, gave themselves to nothing else, but either to tell, or to hear some news.

17:21 1 The wisdom of man is vanity.
2 The idolaters themselves minister most strong and forcible arguments against their own superstition.
2 To stand in too peevish and servile a fear of your gods.
17:22 1 Whatsoever men worship for religion’s sake, that we call devotion.
2 Pausanias in his Atticis, maketh mention of the altar which the Athenians had dedicated to unknown gods: and Laertius in his Epicemides maketh mention of an altar that had no name entitled.
17:23 1 It is a most foolish and vain thing to compare the Creator with the creature, to limit him within a place, which can be comprehended in no place, and to think to allure him with gifts, of whom all men have received all things whatsoever they have: And these are the fountains of all idolatry.
17:24 1 It is a most foolish and vain thing to compare the Creator with the creature, to limit him within a place, which can be comprehended in no place, and to think to allure him with gifts, of whom all men have received all things whatsoever they have: And these are the fountains of all idolatry.
17:25 1 God is wonderful in all his works, but especially in the work of man: not that we should stand amazed at his works, but that we should lift up our eyes to the workman.
2 Of one stock and one beginning.
17:26 1 God is wonderful in all his works, but especially in the work of man: not that we should stand amazed at his works, but that we should lift up our eyes to the workman.
2 Of one stock and one beginning.
17:27 1 For as blind men we could not seek out God, but only by groping wise, before the true light came and lightened the world.
17:28 1 Which stuff, as gold, silver, stones, are customably graven as a man’s wit can devise, for men will not worship that gross stuff as it is, unless by some art it have gotten some shape upon it.
17:29 1 The oldness of the error doth not excuse them that err, but it commendeth and setteth forth the patience of God: who notwithstanding will be a just judge to such as contemn him.
17:30 1 Assurance to all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead.
32 Now when they had heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked, and others said, We will hear thee again of this thing.
33 And so Paul departed from among them.
34 Howbeit certain men clave unto Paul, and believed: among whom was also Dionysius Areopagite, and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

18 As Paul at Corinth 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 the Lord comforted him. 12 He is accused before Gallio. 16 but in vain: 18 From thence he sailed to Syria, 19 and so to Ephesus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia he strengtheneth the disciples. 24 Apollos being more perfectly instructed by Aquila. 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacy.

1 After these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinth,
2 And found a certain Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, and his wife Priscilla (because that Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome) and he came unto them.
3 And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tents.)
4 And he disputed in the Synagogue every Sabbath day, and exhorted the Jews, and the Grecians.
5 Now when Silas and Timothy were come from Macedonia, Paul, forced in spirit, testified to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ.
6 And when they resisted and blasphemed, he shook his raiment, and said unto them, Your blood will I go unto the Gentiles.
7 So he departed thence, and entered into a certain man's house, named Justus, a worshipper of God, whose house joined hard to the Synagogue.

17:32 1 Men, to show forth their vanity, are diversely affected and moved with one selfsame Gospel, which notwithstanding ceaseth not to be effectual in the elect.
18:1 1 The true ministers are so far from seeking their own profit, that they do willingly depart from their right, rather than the course of the Gospel should be hindered in the least wise that might be.
18:2 1 Suetonius recordeth that Rome banished the Jews, because they were always at disquiet, and that by Christ's means.
18:4 1 The truth ought always to be freely uttered, yet notwithstanding the doctrine may be so moderated, as occasion of the profit that the people take thereby, shall require.
18:5 1 Was very much grieved in mind: whereby is signified the great earnestness of his mind, which was greatly moved: for Paul was so zealous, that he clean forgot himself, and with a wonderful courage gave himself to preach Christ.
18:6 1 Although we have assayed all means possible, and yet in vain, we must not leave off from our work, but forsake the rebellious, and go to them that be more obedient.

2 This is a kind of speech taken from the Hebrews, whereby he meaneth, that the Jews are cause of their own destruction: and as for him, that he is without fault in forsaking them and going to other nations.
18:9 1 God doth avouch and maintain the constancy of his servants.
18:11 1 Word for word, sat, whereupon they in former time, took the name of their Bishop's seat: but Paul sat, that is, continued teaching the word of God: and this kind of seat belongeth nothing to them which never saw their seats with a mind to teach in them.
18:12 1 The wicked are never weary of evil doing, but the Lord mocketh their endeavors marvellously.
18:14 1 As much as in right I could.
18:15 1 As if a man have not spoken well, as the case of your religion standeth.
18:18 1 Paul is made all to all, to win all to Christ.
2 That is, Paul.
3 Cenchrea was an haven of the Corinthians.
20 1Who desired him to tarry a longer time with them: but he would not consent,
21 But bade them farewell, saying, I must needs keep this feast that cometh, in Jerusalem: but I will return again unto you, 2if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.
22 ¶ And when he came down to Caesarea, he went up to Jerusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went down unto Antioch.
23 Now when he had tarried there a while, he departed, and went through the country of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.
24 1And a certain Jew named Apollos, born at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and mighty in the Scriptures.
25 1The same was instructed in the way of the Lord, and he spake fervently in the Spirit, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, and knew but the baptism of John only.
26 And he began to speak boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they took him unto them, and expounded unto him the way of God more perfectly.
27 And when he was minded to go into Achaia, the brethren exhorted him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped the brethren exhorting him, wrote to 19 Certain disciples at Ephesus, having only received John's baptism, 2and know not the visible gifts of the holy Ghost, wherewith God had beautified his Son's kingdom. 3are baptized in the Name of Jesus. 13 The Jewish exorcists 16 are beaten of the devil. 19 Conjuring books are burnt. 24 Demetrius 29 raiseth sedition against Paul.

1 And it came to pass, while Apollos was at Corinth, that Paul when he passed through the upper coasts, came to Ephesus, and found certain disciples,
2 And said unto them, Have ye received the holy Ghost since ye believed? And they said unto him, We have not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost.
3 1And he said unto them, Unto what were ye then baptized? And they said, Unto John's baptism.
4 Then said Paul, 1John verily baptized with the baptism of repentance, saying unto the people, that they should believe in him, which should come after him, that is, in Christ Jesus.
5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Jesus.
6 So Paul laid his hands upon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues, and prophesied.
7 And all the men were about twelve.
8 1Moreover he went into the Synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three months, disputing and exhorting to the things that appertain to the kingdom of God.
9 1But when certain were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking evil of the way of God before the multitude, he departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed daily in the school of one Tyranus.
10 And this was done by the space of two years, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Grecians.
11 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul,
12 So that from his body were brought unto the sick, kerchiefs, or handkerchiefs, and the diseases departed from them, and the evil spirits went out of them.
13 1Then certain of the vagabond Jews, exorcists took in hand to name over them which had evil spirits, the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, We adjure you by Jesus, whom Paul preacheth.
14 (And there were certain sons of Sceva a Jew,
And the evil spirit answered, and said, Jesus I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are ye?
And the man in whom the evil spirit was, ran on them, and overcame them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house, naked and wounded.
And this was known to all the Jews and Greeks also which dwelt at Ephesus, and fear came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Jesus was magnified,
And many that believed, came and confessed, and showed their works.
Many also of them which used curious arts, brought their books, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver.
So the word of God grew mightily, and prevailed.
Now when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the Spirit to pass through Macedonia and Achaia, and to go to Jerusalem, saying, After I have been there, I must also see Rome.
For a certain man named Demetrius a silversmith, which made silver temples of Diana, brought great gains unto the craftsmen,
Whom he called together, with the workmen of like things, and said, Sirs, ye know that by this craft we have our goods:
Moreover ye see and hear, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath persuaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not Gods which are made with hands.
And this was known to all the Jews and Greeks also which dwelt at Ephesus, and fear came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Jesus was magnified,
That they be not Gods which are made with hands.
Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul ministered unto him, Timothy, and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season.
And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way.
For a certain man named Demetrius a silversmith, which made silver temples of Diana, brought great gains unto the craftsmen,
Whom he called together, with the workmen of like things, and said, Sirs, ye know that by this craft we have our goods:
Moreover ye see and hear, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath persuaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not Gods which are made with hands.
So that not only this thing is dangerous unto us, that this our portion shall be reproved, but also that the temple of the great goddess Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to pass that her magnificence, which all Asia and the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.
Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
And the whole city was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught Gaius, and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Paul’s companions of his journey.
And when Paul would have entered in unto the people, the disciples suffered him not.
Certain also of the chief of Asia, which were his friends, sent unto him, desiring him that he would not present himself in the Common place.
Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was out of order, and the more part know not wherefore they were come together.
And some of the company drew forth Alexander, the Jews thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckoned with the hand, and would have excused the matter to the people.
But when they knew that he was a Jew, there arose a shout almost for the space of two hours, of all men, crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
Then the town clerk when he had stayed the people, said, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the city of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddess Diana, and of the image, which came down from Jupiter?
Seeing then that no man can speak against these things, ye ought to be appeased, and to do nothing rashly.
For ye have brought hither these men, which have neither committed sacrilege, neither do blaspheme your goddess.
Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftsmen which are with him, have a matter against any man, the law is open, and there are Deputies: let them come to nought.
And the evil spirit answered, and said, Jesus I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are ye?
And the man in whom the evil spirit was, ran on them, and overcame them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house, naked and wounded.
And this was known to all the Jews and Greeks also which dwelt at Ephesus, and fear came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Jesus was magnified,
That they be not Gods which are made with hands.
Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul ministered unto him, Timothy, and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season.
And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way.
For a certain man named Demetrius a silversmith, which made silver temples of Diana, brought great gains unto the craftsmen,
Whom he called together, with the workmen of like things, and said, Sirs, ye know that by this craft we have our goods:
Moreover ye see and hear, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath persuaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not Gods which are made with hands.
So that not only this thing is dangerous unto us, that this our portion shall be reproved, but also that the temple of the great goddess Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to pass that her magnificence, which all Asia and the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.
Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
And the whole city was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught Gaius, and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Paul’s companions of his journey.
And when Paul would have entered in unto the people, the disciples suffered him not.
Certain also of the chief of Asia, which were his friends, sent unto him, desiring him that he would not present himself in the Common place.
Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was out of order, and the more part know not wherefore they were come together.
And some of the company drew forth Alexander, the Jews thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckoned with the hand, and would have excused the matter to the people.
But when they knew that he was a Jew, there arose a shout almost for the space of two hours, of all men, crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
Then the town clerk when he had stayed the people, said, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the city of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddess Diana, and of the image, which came down from Jupiter?
Seeing then that no man can speak against these things, ye ought to be appeased, and to do nothing rashly.
For ye have brought hither these men, which have neither committed sacrilege, neither do blaspheme your goddess.
Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftsmen which are with him, have a matter against any man, the law is open, and there are Deputies: let them come to nought.
19:16 ¹ He prevailed against them, though they strove never so much.
19:18 ² Conjuring and sorcery is condemned by open testimony, and by the authority of the Apostle.
19:19 ¹ They that make the least value of it, reckon it to be about eight hundred pounds English.
19:21 ² By the motion of God’s Spirit: therefore we may not say that Paul ran hand over head to death, but as the Spirit of God led him.
19:23 ¹ Gain cloaked with a show of religion is the very cause wherefore idolatry is stously and stubbornly defended.
19:24 ¹ These were certain counterfeit temples with Diana’s picture in them which they bought that worshipped her.
19:27 ¹ As if he said, If Paul go on thus as he hath begun to confute the opinion which men have of Diana’s image, all this our gain will come to nought.
19:31 ¹ There ought to be in all Christians and especially in the Ministers, an invincible constancy, which may not by any storms or assaults be overcome, which notwithstanding must suffer itself modestly to be governed by wisdom.
19:34 ² Instead of reason, the idolaters are sufficiently contented with their own madness and outcries, and those are the greatest defenses that they have.
19:35 ¹ An example of a political man who redeemeth peace and quietness with lies, which Paul would never have done.
19:38 ¹ Have ought to accuse any man of.
2 And there are certain days appointed for civil causes and matters of judgment, and the Deputies sit.
2 By the Deputies are meant also the Deputies’ Substitutes, that is, such as did sit for them.
accuse one another.

39 But if ye inquire anything concerning other matters, it may be determined in a lawful assembly.

40 For we are even in jeopardy to be accused of this day's sedition, forasmuch as there is no cause, whereby we may give a reason of this concourse of people.

41 And when he had thus spoken, he let the assembly depart.

20 1 Paul appointed to go to Macedonia: 7 In Troas preaching until midnight, 9 Eutychus fell down dead out of a window, 10 he raised him to life: 15 At Miletus. 17 Having called the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 he declared what things shall come upon himself. 28 and others,

1 Now after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples unto him, and embraced them, and departed to go into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone through those parts, and had exhorted them with many words, he came into Greece.

3 And having tarried there three months, because the Jews laid wait for him, as he was about to sail into Syria, he purposed to return through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Beroia, and of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timothy, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.

5 These went before, and tarried us at Troas.

6 And we sailed forth from Philippi, after the days of unleavened bread, and came unto them to Troas in five days, where we abode seven days.

7 And the first day of the week, the disciples being come together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow, and continued the preaching unto midnight.

8 And there were many lights in an upper chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there sat in a window a certain young man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleep; and as Paul was long preaching, he overcame with sleep, fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead.

10 But Paul went down, and laid himself upon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not yourselves: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come up again, and had broken bread, and eaten, having spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, he so departed.

12 And they brought the boy alive, and they were not a little comforted.

13 ¶ Then we went before to ship, and sailed unto the city Assos, that we might receive Paul there: for so had he appointed, and would himself go afoot.

14 Now when he was come unto us to Assos, and we had received him, we came to Mitylene.

15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day over against Chios, and the next day we arrived at Samos, and tarried at Trogluylum: the next day we came to Miletus.

16 ¶ For Paul had determined to sail by Ephesus, because he would not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted to be, if he could possible, at Jerusalem, at the day of Pentecost.

17 ¶ Wherefore from Miletus, he sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 Who when they were come to him, he said unto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I have been with you at all seasons,

19 Serving the Lord with all modesty, and with many tears, and temptations, which came unto me by the layings await of the Jews,

20 And how I kept back nothing that was profitable, but have showed you, and taught you openly and throughout every house.

21 Witnessing both to the Jews, and to the Grecians the repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.

22 ¶ And now behold, I go bound in the Spirit giveth Paul a singular occasion to confirm the Gospel.

19:39 1 He speaketh of a lawful assembly, not only to except against the disordered hurly-burly of the people, but also against all meeting and coming together which was not by order: for there were certain days appointed to call the people together.

20:1 1 Paul departed from Ephesus by the consent of the Church, not to be idle or at rest, but to take pains in another place.

20:2 1 For after so great trouble there was need of a long exhortation.

20:3 1 A froward zeal is the guider and instructor to murders: and we defendeth the doctrine which he taught, and exhorteth the Pastors of the Church to persevere and go forward with continuance in their office.

20:17 1 According as the situation of these places is set forth, that distance between Ephesus and Miletus was about 400 furlongs, which maketh almost fifty Dutch miles.

20:18 1 A lively image of a true pastor.

20:20 1 I refrained not to speak, neither assembled in any respect whatsoever, either for fear or lucere's sake.

20:22 1 He testifieth that he goeth to his bonds by the commandment of God.

2 He calleth that motion of the holy Ghost, which forced him to take his journey to Jerusalem, the bond of the Spirit, whom he followed with all his heart.
unto Jerusalem, and know not what things shall come unto me there.
23 That the holy Ghost witnesseth in every city, saying, that bonds and afflictions abide me.
24 But I pass not at all, neither is my life dear unto myself, so that I may fulfill my course with joy, and the ministration which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the Gospel of the grace of God.
25 And now behold, I know that henceforth ye all, through whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more.
26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men.
27 For I have kept nothing back, but have showed you all the counsel of God.
28 Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, whereof the holy Ghost hath made you Overseers to feed the Church of God which he hath purchased with his own blood.
29 For I know this, that after my departing shall greater to have wolves enter in.
30 Moreover of your own selves shall men arise grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock.
31 Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn everyone, both night and day with tears.
32 And now brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance, among all them, which are sanctified.
33 I have coveted no man's silver, nor gold, nor apparel.
34 Yea, ye know, that these hands have ministered unto me, which are sanctified.
35 I have showed you all things, how that so laboring, ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how that he said, It is a blessed thing to give, rather than to receive.
36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled down, and prayed with them all.
37 Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Paul's neck, and kissed him.
38 Being chiefly sorry for the words which he spake, That they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him unto the ship.

21 Paul goeth toward Jerusalem: 8 at Caesarea he taketh with Philip the Evangelist: 10 Agabus foretelleth him of his bonds. 17 After he came to Jerusalem, 26 and into the Temple. 27 The Jews laid hands on him: 32 Lysias the captain taketh him from them.
1 And as we launched forth, and were departed from them, we came with a straight course unto Cos, and the day following unto the Rhodes, and from thence unto Patara.
2 And we found a ship that went over unto Phoenicia, and went aboard, and set forth.
3 And when we had discovered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, and sailed toward Syria, and arrived at Tyre: for there the ship unladed the burden.
4 And when we had found disciples, we tarried there seven days. And they told Paul through the Spirit, that he should not go up to Jerusalem.
5 But when the days were ended, we departed and went our way, and they all accompanied us with their wives and children, even out of the city: and we kneeled down on the shore, prayed.
6 Then when we had embraced one another, we took ship, and they returned home.
7 And when we had ended the course from Tyre, we arrived at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.
8 And the next day, Paul and we that were with him, departed, and came unto Caesarea: and we entered into the house of Philip the Evangelist, which was one of the seven Deacons, and abode with him.
9 Now he had four daughters, virgins, which did "prophesy.
10 And as we tarried there many days, there came a certain Prophet from Judea, named Agabus.
11 And when he was come unto us, he took Paul's girdle, and bound his own hands and feet, and said, Thus saith the holy Ghost, So shall the Jews at Jerusalem bind the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.
12 And when we had heard these things, both we and others of the same place besought him that he would not go up to Jerusalem.
13 Then Paul answered, and said, What do ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the Name of the Lord Jesus.
14 So when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.
15 And after those days we trusting up our fardels, and went up to Jerusalem.
16 There went with us also certain of the disciples of Caesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an old disciple, with whom we should lodge.
17 And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brethren received us gladly.
18 And the next day Paul went in with us unto James: and all the Elders were there assembled.
19 And when he had embraced them, he told by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration.
20 So when they heard it, they glorified God, and said unto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Jews there are which believe, and they are all zealous of the Law:
21 Now they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Jews, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sons, neither to live after the customs.
22 What is then to be done? The multitude must needs come together: for they shall hear that thou art come.
23 Do therefore this that we say to thee. We have four men, which have made a vow, 24 Them take, and 'purify thyself with them, and 'contribute with them, that they may 'shave their heads: and all shall know, that those things, whereof they have been informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thyself also walkest and keepest the Law.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which believe, we have written, and determined that they observe no such thing, but that they keep themselves from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from that which is strangled, and from fornication.
26 Then Paul took the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entered into the Temple, declaring the accomplishment of the days of the purification, until that an offering should be offered for everyone of them.
27 And when the seven days were almost ended, the Jews which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) moved all the people, and laid hands on him.
28 Crying, Men of Israel, help: this is the man that teacheth all men everywhere against the people, and the Law, and this place: moreover, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.
29 For they had seen before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the city, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.
30 Then all the city was moved, and the people ran together: and they took Paul, and drew him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doors were shut.
31 But as they went about to kill him, tidings came unto the chief captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was on an uproar.
32 Who immediately took soldiers and Centurions, and ran down unto them: and when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, they left beating of Paul.
33 Then the chief Captain came near and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.
34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castle.
35 And when he came unto the griece, it was so that he was borne of the soldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul should have been led into the castle, he said unto the chief captain, May I speak unto thee? Who said, Canst thou speak Greek?

38 Art not thou the Egyptian who before these days raised a sedition, and led out into the wilderness four thousand men that were murderers?

39 Then Paul said, Doubtless, I am a man which am a Jew, and citizen of Tarsus, a famous city of Cilicia, and I beseech thee, suffer me to speak unto the people.

40 And when he had given him license, Paul stood on the grieves, and beckoned with the hand unto the people, and when there was made great silence, he spake unto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

22 1 Paul yieldeth a reason of his faith, 22 and the Jews heard him awhile: 23 But so soon as they cried out, 24 He is commanded to be scourged and examined, 27 and so declareth that he is citizen of Rome.

1 Ye men, brethren and fathers, hear my defense now towards you.
2 (And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he said,)

3 'I am verily a man, which am a Jew, born in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought up in this city at the feet of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect manner of the Law of the fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

4 And I persecuted this way unto the death, binding and delivering into prison both men and women.

5 As also the chief Priest doth bear me witness, and all the company of the Elders: of whom also I received letters unto the brethren, and went to Damascus to bring them which were there, bound unto Jerusalem, that they might be punished.

6 ¶ And so it was, as I journeyed, and was come near unto Damascus about noon, that suddenly there shone from heaven a great light round about me.

7 So I fell unto the earth, and heard a voice, saying unto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

8 Then I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said to me, I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

9 Moreover they that were with me, saw indeed a light and were afraid: but they heard not the voice of him that spake unto me.

10 Then I said, What shall I do, Lord? And the Lord said unto me, Arise, and go into Damascus: and there it shall be told thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to do.

11 So when I could not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus.

12 And one Ananias a godly man, as pertaining to the Law, having good report of all the Jews which dwelt there, 13 Came unto me, and stood, and said unto me, Brother Saul, receive thy sight: and that same hour I looked upon him.

14 And he said, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou shouldest know his will, and shouldest see that Just one, and shouldest hear the voice of his mouth.

15 For thou shalt be his witness unto all men, of the things which thou hast seen and heard.

16 Now therefore why tarriest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, in calling on the Name of the Lord.

17 ¶ And it came to pass, that when I was come again to Jerusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a trance, 18 And saw him, saying unto me, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Jerusalem: for they will not receive thy witness concerning me.

19 Then I said, Lord, they know that I prisoned, and beat in every Synagogue them that believed in thee.

20 And when the blood of thy martyr Stephen was shed, I also stood by, and consented unto his death, and kept the clothes of them that slew him.

21 Then he said unto me, Depart: for I will send thee far hence unto the Gentiles.

22 ¶ 'And they heard him unto this word, but then they lifted up their voices, and said, Away with such a fellow from the earth: for it is not meet that he should live.

23 And as they cried and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the air,

24 'The chief captain commanded him to be led into the castle, and bade that he should be scourged, and examined, that he might know wherefore they cried so on him.

25 And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said unto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawful for you to scourge one that is a Roman, and not condemned?

26 Now when the Centurion heard it, he went, and told the chief captain, saying, Take heed what thou doest: for this man is a Roman.

27 Then the chief captain came, and said to him, Tell me, art thou a Roman? And he said, Yea.

28 And the chief captain answered, With a great sum obtained I this freedom. Then Paul said, But I was so born.

29 Then straightway they departed from him, which should have examined him: and the chief captain also was afraid, after he knew that he was a Roman, and that he had bound him.

30 On the next day, because he would have known the certainty wherefore he was accused of the Jews, he loosed him from his bonds, and commanded the high Priests and all their Council to come together: and he brought Paul, and set him before them.

23 1 And as Paul pleaded his cause, 2 Ananias commanded them to smite him. 7 Dissension among his accusers. 11 God encourageth him. 14 The Jews laying wait for Paul, 17 is declared unto the chief captain. 24 He sendeth him to Felix the Governor.

1 And Paul beheld earnestly the Council, and said, Men and brethren, I have in all good conscience served God until this day.

2 Then the high Priest Ananias commanded them that stood by, to smite him on the mouth.

3 Then said Paul to him, God will smite thee, thou whited wall: for thou sittest to judge me according to the Law; and transgressing the Law,

4 commandest thou me to be smitten?

5 And they that stood by, said, Revilest thou God's high Priest?

6 Then said Paul, I knew not brethren, that he was the high Priest: for it is written, Thou shalt not speak evil of the ruler of thy people.

7 But when Paul perceived that the one part were of the Sadducees, and the other of the Pharisees, he cried in the Council, Men and brethren, I am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.

8 For the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, neither Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharisees confess both.

9 Then there was a great cry: and the Scribes of the Pharisees' part rose up, and strove, saying, We find none evil in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let us not fight against God.

10 And when there was a great dissension, the chief captain, fearing lest Paul should have been pulled in pieces of them, commanded the soldiers to go down, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the castle.

11 Now the night following, the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good courage, Paul, for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou bear witness also at Rome.

12 And when the day was come, certain of the Jews made an assembly, and bound themselves with a curse, saying, that they would neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were more than forty, which had made this conspiracy.

14 And they came to the chief Priests and Elders, and said, We have bound ourselves with a solemn curse, that we will eat nothing, until we have slain Paul.

1127 ACTS 23:14
Paul.
15 Now therefore, ye and the Council, signify to the chief captain, that he bring him forth unto you tomorrow, as though you would know something more perfectly of him, and we, or ever he come near will be ready to kill him.

16 But when Paul's sister's son heard of their laying await, he went, and entered into the castle, and told Paul.

17 And Paul called one of the Centurions unto him, and said, Take this young man hence unto the chief captain: for he hath a certain thing to show him.

18 So he took him, and brought him to the chief captain, and said, Paul the prisoner called me unto him, and prayed me to bring this young man unto thee, which hath something to say unto thee.

19 Then the chief captain took him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to show me?

20 And he said, The Jews have conspired to desire thee, that thou woudest bring forth Paul tomorrow into the Council, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not persuade thee: for there lie in wait for him of them, more than forty men, which have bound themselves with a curse, that they will neither eat nor drink, till they have killed him: and now are they ready, and wait for thy promise.

22 The chief captain then let the young man depart, after he had charged him to utter it to no man, that he had showed him these things.

23 And he called unto him two certain Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred soldiers, that they may go to Caesarea, and horsemen threescore and ten, and two hundred with darts, at the third hour of the night:

24 And let them make ready an horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe unto Felix the governor.

25 And he wrote an Epistle in this manner:

26 Claudius Lysias unto the most noble governor Felix sendeth greeting.

27 As this man was taken of the Jews, and should have been killed of them, I came upon them with a garrison, and rescued him, perceiving that he was a Roman.

28 And when I would have known the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Council.

29 There I perceived that he was accused of questions of their Law, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was showed me, how that the Jews laid wait for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commanded his accusers to speak before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the soldiers as it was commanded them, took Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris, 32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to go with him, and returned into the Castle.

33 Now when they came to Caesarea, they delivered the Epistle to the governor, and presented Paul also unto him.

34 So when the Governor had read it, he asked of what province he was: and when he understood that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will hear thee, said he, when thine accusers also are come, and commanded him to be kept in Herod's judgment hall.

6 And hath gone about to pollute the Temple: therefore we took him, and would have judged him according to our Law:
7 But the chief captain Lysias came upon us, and with great violence he took him out of our hands,
8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee: of whom thou mayest (if thou wilt inquire) know all these things whereof we accuse him.
9 And the Jews likewise affirmed, saying that it was so.
10 Then Paul, after that the governor had beckoned unto him that he should speak, answered, I do the more gladly answer for myself, forasmuch as I know that thou hast been oft many years a judge unto this nation,
11 Seeing that thou mayest know, that there are but twelve days since I came up to worship in Jerusalem.
12 And they neither found me in the Temple, disputing with any man, neither making uproar among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the city.
13 Neither can they prove the things whereof they now accuse me.
14 But this I confess unto thee, that after the way (which they call heresy) so worship I the God of my fathers, believing all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets,
15 And have hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselves look for also, shall be both of just and unjust.
16 And herein I endeavor myself to have always a clear conscience toward God and toward men.
17 Now after many years, I came and brought alms to my nation and offerings.
18 At what time, certain Jews of Asia found me purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.
19 Who ought to have been present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.
20 Or let these themselves say, if they have found any unjust thing in me, while I stood in the Council, 21 Except it be for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.
22 Then when Felix heard these things, he deferred them, and said, When I shall more perfectly know the things which concern this way, by the coming of Lysias the chief Captain, I will decide your matter.
23 Then he commanded a Centurion to keep Paul, and that he should have ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister unto him, or to come unto him.
24 And after certain days, came Felix with his wife Drusilla, which was a Jewess, and he called forth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.
25 And as he disputed of righteousness and temperance, and of the judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I have convenient time, I will call for thee.
26 He hoped also that money should have been given him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him.
27 When two years were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felix’s room, and Felix willing to get favor of the Jews, left Paul bound.

24:22 1 The Judge suspendeth his sentence, because the matter is doubtful.
24:20 1 Whither the Tribune brought me.

24:18 1 And while I was busy about those things.
24:17 1 Paul in conclusion telleth the thing which was done, truly, which Tertullus had before divers ways corrupted.
24:15 1 They cannot lay forth before thee and prove by good reasons.
24:14 1 Paul goeth in the cause of Religion from a state conjectural to a state of quality not only not denying that objected against him, but also proving it to be true, to be heavenly and from God, and to be the oldest of all religions.
24:13 1 They cannot lay forth before thee and prove by good reasons.
24:12 1 Confirmed Tertullus’s saying.
24:10 1 Tertullus by the devil’s rhetoric beginneth with flattery, maketh an end with lies: but Paul using heavenly eloquence, and but a simple beginning casteth off from himself the crime of sedition, wherewith he was burdened, with a simple denial.
24:9 1 Hereby it appeareth that these of Asia were Saul’s enemies, and those that stirred up the people against him.
24:8 1 Greatly doing violence to our matters.
24:7 1 The Judge suspendeth his sentence, because the matter is doubtful.
24:6 1 Felix could not judge whether he had done wickedly in the matters of his religion or no, until he had better understanding of that way which Paul professed: and as for other matters touching the sedition, he thinketh good to defer it till he hears Lysias, and therefore he gave Paul somewhat more liberty.
24:5 1 God is a most faithful keeper of his servants, and the force of the truth is wonderful, even amongst men which are otherwise profane.
24:4 1 This Drusilla was Agrippa’s sister, of whom Luke speaketh afterw ard, a very harlot and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azizus king of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to Felix, the brother of one Pallus, who was sometime Nero’s bondman.
24:2 1 This word, Heresy, or sect, is taken in good part.
24:1 1 In a naughty mind that is guilty to itself, although, sometimes there be some show of equity, yet by and by, it will be extinguished: but in the mean season we have need to patience, and that continual.
Acts 25:1

1When Festus was then come into the province, after three days he went up from Caesarea unto Jerusalem.

2Then the high Priest, and the chief of the Jews appeared before him against Paul: and they besought him, 3And desired favor against him, that he would send for him to Jerusalem: and they laid wait to kill him by the way.

4But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Caesarea, and that he himself would shortly depart thither.

5Let them therefore, said he, which among you are able, come down with us: and if there be any wickedness in the man, let them accuse him.

6Now when he had tarried among them no more than ten days, he went down to Caesarea, and the next day sat in the judgment seat, and commanded Paul to be brought.

7And when he was come, the Jews which were come from Jerusalem, stood about him and laid many and grievous complaints against Paul, whereof they could make no plain proof.

8Forasmuch as he answered, that he had neither offended anything against the law of the Jews, neither against the temple, nor against Caesar.

9Yet Festus willing to get favor of the Jews, answered Paul and said, Wilt thou go up to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things before me?

10Then said Paul, I stand at Caesar's judgment seat, where I ought to be judged: to the Jews I have done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.

11For if I have done wrong, or committed anything worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things, whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliver me to them: I appeal unto Caesar.

12Then when Festus had spoken with the Council, he answered, Hast thou appealed unto Caesar? unto Caesar shalt thou go.

13And after certain days, King Agrippa and Bernice came down to Caesarea to salute Festus.

14And when they had remained there many days, Festus declared Paul's cause unto the king, saying, There is a certain man left in prison by Felix.

15Of whom when I came to Jerusalem, the high Priests and Elders of the Jews informed me, and desired to have judgment against him.

16To whom I answered, that it is not the manner of the Romans for favor to deliver any man to the death, before that he which is accused, have the accusers before him, and have place to defend himself, concerning the crime.

17Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sat on the judgment seat, and commanded the man to be brought forth.

18Against whom when the accusers stood up, they brought no crime of such things as I supposed:

19But had certain questions against him of their own superstitions, and of one Jesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive.

20And because I doubted of such manner of question, I asked him whether he would go to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things.

21But because he appealed to be reserved to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Caesar.

22Then Agrippa said unto Festus, I would also hear the man myself. Tomorrow, said he, thou shalt hear him.

23And on the morrow when Agrippa was come, and Bernice with great pomp, and were entered into the Common hall with the chief captains and chief men of the city, at Festus's commandment Paul was brought forth.

24And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with us, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Jews have called upon me, both at Jerusalem, and here, crying, that he ought not to live any longer.

25Yet have I found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: nevertheless, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I have determined to send him.

25:1 1Satan's Ministers are subtle and diligent in seeking all occasions: but God who watcheth for his, hindereth all their counsels easily.

25:6 1We may repel an injury justly, but not with injury.

25:7 1They could not prove them certainly and with undoubted reasons.

25:9 1But he that offendeth against the law of the Jews, neither against the temple, nor against Caesar.

25:11 1For if I have done wrong, or committed anything worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things, whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliver me to them: I appeal unto Caesar.

25:13 1This Agrippa was Agrippa's son, whose death Luke spake of before, and Bernice was his sister.

25:16 1The Romans used not to deliver any man to be punished before, etc.

25:19 1The profane and wicked take an occasion to condemn the true doctrine by reason of private controversies and contentions of men betwixt themselves: but the truth nevertheless abideth in the mean season safe and sure.

25:22 1That is fulfilled in Paul, which the Lord before had told to Ananias of him, Acts 9:15.

25:23 1Gorgeously like a Prince.
26 Of whom I have no certain thing to write unto my 1 lord: wherefore I have brought him forth unto you, and especially unto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might have somewhat to write.

27 For me thinketh it unreasonable to send a prisoner, and not to show the causes which are laid against him.

26 Paul in the presence of Agrippa, 4 declareth his life from his childhood, 16 and his calling, 21 with such efficacy of words 28 that almost he persuaded him to Christianity. 30 But he and his company depart doing nothing in Paul's matter.

1 Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thyself. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himself.

2 1 I think myself happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answer this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Jews:

3 Chiefly, because thou hast knowledge of all customs, and questions which are among the Jews:
wherefore I beseech thee to hear me patiently.

4 As touching my life from my childhood, and what it was from the beginning among mine own nation at Jerusalem, know all the Jews,

5 Which 1 knew me heretofore, even from my 2 Elders (if they would testify) that after the 3 most straight sect of our religion, I lived a Pharisee.

6 And now I stand and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God unto our fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelve tribes instantly serving God day and night, hope to come: for the which hope's sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Jews.

8 Why should it be thought a thing incredible unto you, that God should raise again the dead?

9 Also verily thought in myself, that I ought to do many contrary things against the Name of Jesus of Nazareth.

10 Which thing I also did in Jerusalem: for many of the Saints I shut up in prison, having received authority of the High Priests, and when they were put to death, I gave my 1 sentence.

11 And I punished them throughout all the Synagogues, and 1 compelled them to blaspheme and being more mad against them, I persecuted them, even unto strange cities.

12 At which time, even as I went to 1 Damascus with authority, and commission from the high Priests, 13 At midday, O king, I saw in the way a light from heaven passing the brightness of the sun, shine round about me, and them which went with me.

14 So when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice speaking unto me, and saying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kick against pricks.

15 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said,
I am Jesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand up on thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose to appoint thee a minister and a witness, both of the things which thou hast seen, and of the things in the which I will appear unto thee,

17 Delivering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles, unto whom now I send thee,

18 To open their eyes, that they may turn from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

19 Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision,

20 But showed first unto them of Damascus, and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Judea, and 1 then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, and do works worthy amendment of life.

21 For this cause the Jews caught me in the 2 Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 Nevertheless, I obtained help of God, and continue unto this day, witnessing both to 3 small and to great, saying none other things, than those which the Prophets and Moses did say should come,

23 To wit, that Christ should 1 suffer, and that he 25:26 1 To Augustus. Good Princes refused this name at the first, to wit, to be called Lords, but afterwards they admitted it, as we read of Trajanus.

26:1 1 To have a skilful judge, is a great and singular gift of God.

26:4 Paul divideth the history of his life into two times: for the first he calleth his adversaries witnesses: for the latter, the fathers and prophets.

26:5 1 What I was, and where, and how I lived.

3 That my parents were Pharisees.

3 The sect of the Pharisees was the most exquisite amongst all the sects of the Jews, for it was better than all the rest.

26:6 1 There are three chief and principal witnesses of true doctrine, God, the true Fathers, and the consent of the Church.

26:8 1 He proveth the resurrection of the dead, first by the power of God, then by the resurrection of Christ: whereof he is a sufficient witness.

26:10 1 I consented, and allowed of their doing: for he was not a judge.

26:11 1 By extreme punishment.

26:18 1 The end of the Gospel is to save them which are brought to the knowledge of Christ, and are justified and sanctified in him being laid hold on by faith.

26:19 1 Paul allegeth God to be author of the office of his Apostleship, and his grace as a witness.

26:22 1 Christ is the end of the Law and the Prophets.

2 To everyone.

26:23 1 That Christ should not be such a king as the Jews dreamed of, but one appointed to bear our miseries, and the punishment of our sins.
should be the "first that should rise from the dead, and should show light unto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 And as he thus answered for himself, Festus said with a loud voice, Paul, thou art beside thyself, much learning doth make thee mad.

25 But he said, I am not mad, O noble Festus, but I speak the words of truth, and soberness.

26 For the king knoweth of these things, before whom also I speak boldly: for I am persuaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was [not] done in a corner.

27 O King Agrippa, believest thou the Prophets? I know that thou believest.

28 Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Almost thou persuadest me to become a Christian.

29 Then Paul said, I would to God that not only almost, but thoroughly and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

30 And when he had thus spoken, the king rose up, and the governor, and Bernice, and they that sat with them.

31 And when they were gone away, they talked between themselves, saying, This man doeth nothing worthy of death, nor of bonds.

32 Then said Agrippa unto Festus, This man might have been loosed, if he had not appealed unto Caesar.

27 Now when it was concluded, that we should sail into Italy, they delivered both Paul, and certain other prisoners unto a Centurion, named Julius, of the band of Augustus.

And we entered into a ship of Adramyttium, purposing to sail by the coasts of Asia, and launched forth, and had Aristarchus of Macedonia, a Thessalonian, with us.

And the next day we arrived at Sidon: and Julius courteously entreated Paul, and gave him liberty to go unto his friends, that they might refresh him.

And from thence we launched, and sailed hard by Cyprus, because the winds were contrary.

Then sailed we over the sea by Cilicia, and Pamphilia, and came to Myra, a city in Lycia.

And there the Centurion found a ship of Alexandria, sailing into Italy, and put us therein.

And when we had sailed slowly many days, and scarce were come against Cnidus, because the wind suffered us not, we sailed hard by Candia, near to Salmone,

And with much ado sailed beyond it, and came unto a certain place called the Fair Havens, near unto the which was the city Lasca.

So when much time was spent, and sailing was now jeopardous, because also the Fast was now passed, Paul exhorted them,

And said unto them, Sirs, I see that this voyage will be with hurt, and much damage, not of the lading and ship only, but also of our lives.

Nevertheless the Centurion believed rather the governor and the master of the ship, than those things which were spoken of Paul.

And because the haven was not commodious to winter in, many took counsel to depart thence, if by any means they might attain to Phoenix, there to winter, which is an haven of Crete, and lieth toward the Southwest and by West, and Northwest and by West.

And when the Southern wind blew softly, they supposing to attain their purpose, loosed nearer, and sailed by Crete.

But anon after, there arose by it a stormy wind called Euroclydon.

And when the ship was caught, and could not resist the wind, we let her go, and were carried away.

And we ran under a little Isle named Clauda, and had much ado to get the boat.
17 Which they took up and used all help, undergirding the ship, fearing lest they should have fallen into Syriss, and they strake sail, and so were carried.
18 1 The next day when we were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightened the ship.
19 And the third day we cast out with our own hands the tackling of the ship.
20 And when neither sun nor stars in many days appeared, and no small tempest lay upon us, all hope that we should be saved, was then taken away.
21 1 But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the midst of them, and said, Sirs, ye should have hearkened to me, and not have loosed from Candia: so should ye have gained this hurt and loss.
22 But now I exhort you to be of good courage: for there shall be no loss of any man’s life among you, save of the ship only.
23 For there stood by me this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serve.
24 Saying, Fear not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Caesar: and lo, God hath given unto thee all that sail with thee.
25 1 Wherefore, Sirs, be of good courage: for I believe God, that it shall be so as it hath been told me.
26 Howbeit, we must be cast into a certain Island.
27 1 And when the fourteenth night was come, as we were carried to and fro in the 2Adriatic sea about midnight, the shipmen deemed that some country approached unto them.
28 And sounded, and found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a little further, they sounded again, and found fifteen fathoms.
29 Then fearing lest they should have fallen into some rough places, they cast four anchors out of the stern, and wished that the day were come.
30 1 Now as the mariners were about to flee out of the ship, and had let down the boat into the sea under a color as though they would have cast anchors out of the foreship.
31 1 Paul said unto the Centurion and the soldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be safe.
32 Then the soldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let it fall away.
33 1 And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meat, saying, This is the fourteenth day that ye have tarried, and continued fasting, receiving nothing:
34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meat: for this is for your safeguard: for there shall not an hair fall from the head of any of you.
35 And when he had thus spoken, he took bread, and gave thanks to God in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eat.
36 Then were they all of good courage, and they also took meat.
37 Now we were in the ship in all two hundred threescore and sixteen souls.
38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea.
39 1 And when it was day, they knew not the country, but they spied a certain 2creek with a bank, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the ship.
40 So when they had taken up the anchors, they committed the ship unto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoisted up the main sail to the wind, and drew to the shore.
41 And when they fell into a place, where two seas met, they thrust in the ship: and the forepart stuck fast, and could not be moved, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waves.
42 1 Then the soldiers’ counsel was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them, when he had swam out, should flee away.
43 1 But the Centurion willing to save Paul, stayed them from this counsel, and commanded that they that could swim, should cast themselves first into the sea, and go out to land:
And the others, some on boards, and some on certain pieces of the ship: and so it came to pass, that they came all safe to land.

2 The Barbarians' courtesy towards Paul and his company. 3 A viper on Paul's hand: 6 He shaketh it off without harm: 8 Publius 9 and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Malta. 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Jews, 20 the cause of his coming: 22 He preacheth Jesus 30 two years.

1 And when they were come safe, then they knew that the Isle was called 'Malta.

2 And the Barbarians showed us no little kindness, for they kindled a fire, and received us everyone, because of the present shower, and because of the cold.

3 And when Paul had gathered a number of sticks, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heat, and leaped on his hand.

4 Now when the Barbarians saw the worm hang on his hand, they said among themselves, This man surely is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet vengeance hath not suffered to live.

5 But he shook off the worm into the fire, and felt no harm.

6 Howbeit they waited when he should have swollen, or fallen down dead suddenly: but after they had looked a great while, and saw no inconvenience come to him, they changed their minds, and said, That he was a God.

7 In the same quarters, the chief man of the Isle (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same received us, and lodged us three days courteously.

8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sick of the fever, and of a bloody flux: to whom Paul said, That he was a God.

9 When this then was done, others also in the Isle, which had diseases, came to him, and were healed.

10 Which also did us great honor: and when we departed, they laded us with things necessary.

11 ¶ Now after three months we departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the Isle, whose badge was Castor and Pollux.

12 And when we arrived at Syracuse, we tarried there three days.

13 And from thence we set a compass, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South wind blew, and we came the second day to Puteoli:

14 Where we found brethren, and were desired to tarry with them seven days, and so we went toward Rome.

15 ¶ And from thence when the brethren heard of us, they came to meet us at the Market of Appius, and at the three taverns, whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and waxed bold.

16 So when we came to Rome, the Centurion delivered the prisoners to the general Captain: but Paul was suffered to dwell by himself with a soldier that kept him.

17 And the third day after, Paul calleth the chief of the Jews together, and when they were come, he said unto them, Men and brethren, though I have committed nothing against the people, or Laws of the fathers, yet was I delivered prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans.

18 Who when they had examined me, would have let me go, because there was no cause of death in me.

19 ¶ But when the Jews spake contrary, I was constrained to appeal unto Caesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore have I called for you to see you, and to speak with you: for that hope of Israel's sake, I am bound with this chain.

21 Then they said unto him, We neither received letters out of Judea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that showed or spake any evil of thee.
   22 But we will hear of thee what thou thinkst: for as concerning this sect, we know that everywhere it is spoken against.
   23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many unto him into his lodging, to whom he expounded, testifying the kingdom of God, and persuading them those things that concern Jesus, both out of the Law of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.
   24 And some were persuaded with the things which were spoken, and some believed not.
   25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselves, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Isaiah the Prophet unto our fathers, 26 Saying, Go unto this people, and say, By hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand, and seeing ye shall see, and not perceive.
   27 For the heart of this people is waxed fat, and their ears are dull of hearing, and with their eyes have they winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their hearts, and should return that I might heal them.
   28 Be it known therefore unto you, that this salvation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall hear it.
   29 And when he had said these things, the Jews departed, and had great reasoning among themselves.
   30 And Paul remained two years full in an house hired for himself, and received all that came in unto him, 31 Preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all boldness of speech, without let.
THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE
PAUL TO THE ROMANS

1:1 1 He first showeth on what authority his Apostleship standeth. 15 Then be commendeth the Gospel, 16 by which God setteth out his power to those that are saved. 17 by faith. 21 but were guilty of wicked unthankfulness to God: 26 For which his wrath was worthily powered on them, 29 so that they ran headlong to all kinds of sin.

1 PAUL, a 2 servant of JESUS Christ called to be an Apostle, a5 put apart to preach the Gospel of God,
2 (Which he had promised afore by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures)
3 Concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord (which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh,
4 And declared mighty to be the Son of God, touching the Spirit of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead)
5 By whom we have received grace and Apostleship (that obedience might be given unto the faith) for his name among all the Gentiles,
6 Among whom ye be also the called of Jesus Christ:
7 To all you that be at Rome beloved of God, called to be Saints: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.
8 First I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, because your faith is published throughout the whole world.
9 For God is my witness (whom I serve in my spirit in the Gospel of his Son) that without ceasing I make mention of you.
10 Always in my prayers, beseeching that by some means, one time or other I might have a prosperous journey by the will of God, to come unto you.
11 For I long to see you, that I might bestow among you some spiritual gift, that you might be strengthened:
12 That is, that I might be comforted together with you, through our mutual faith, both yours and mine.
13 Now my brethren, I would that ye should not be ignorant, how that I have oftentimes purposed to come unto you (but have been let hither) that I might have some fruit also among you, as I have among the other Gentiles.
14 I am debtor both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and to the unwise.

1:1 1 The first part of the Epistle containing a most profitable preface unto verse 16.
2 He moving the Romans to give diligent ear unto him in that he showeth that he cometh not in his own name, but as God's messenger unto the Gentiles, entreateth with them of the weightiest matter, that is promised long since by God, by many fit witnesses, and now at length performed indeed.
3 A Minister, for this word servant, is not taken in this place, as set against this word, Freeman, but declareth his ministry and office.
4 Whereas he said before in a general term, that he was a minister, now he cometh to a more special name, and saith that he is an Apostle, and that he took not upon him this office of his own will, but being called of God, and therefore in this his writing to the Romans, doeth nothing but his duty.
5 Appointed of God to preach the Gospel.
1:3 1 By declaring the sum of the doctrine of the Gospel, he stirreth up the Romans to good consideration of the matter whereof he entreateth: So then he showeth that Christ (who is the very substance and sum of the Gospel) is the only son of God the Father, who as touching his humanity, is made of the seed of David, but touching his divine and spiritual nature, whereby he sanctified himself, is begotten of the Father from everlasting, as by his mighty resurrection manifestly appeared.
2 This is a plain testimony of the person of Christ, that he is but one, and of his two natures, and their properties.
3 Which took flesh of the virgin, David's daughter.
4 As he is man: for this word Flesh, by the figure Synecdoche, is taken for man.
1:4 1 Showed and made manifest.
2 The divine and mighty power is set against the weakness of the flesh, for that overcame death.
1:5 1 Of whom.
2 This marvelous liberal and gracious gift, which is given me, the least of all the Saints, to preach, etc., Eph. 3:8.
3 That men through faith might obey God.
4 For his Name's sake.
1:6 1 Which through God's goodness, are Christ's.
2 Those men through faith might obey God.
3 For his Name's sake.
1:7 1 God's free good will: by peace, the Hebrews mean a prosperous success in all things.
2 He procurseth their favorable patience, in that he reckoneth up their true commendation, and his true Apostolic good will toward them, confirmed by taking God himself to witness.
3 Because your faith is such, that it is commended in all Churches.
4 In all Churches.
1:9 1 Very willingly and with all my heart.
2 In preaching his Son.
1:12 1 Though Paul were never so excellent, yet by teaching the Church, he might be instructed by it.
15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you also that are at Rome.
16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth, to the Jew first, and also to the Grecian.
17 For by it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, The just shall live by faith.
18 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness, and unrighteousness of men, which withhold the truth in unrighteousness.
19 Forasmuch as that, which may be known of God, is manifest in them, for God hath showed it unto them.
20 For the invisible things of him, that is, his eternal power and Godhead, are seen by the creation of the world, being considered in his works, to the intent that they should be without excuse:
21 Because that when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful, but became vain in their thoughts, and their foolish heart was full of darkness.
22 When they professed themselves to be wise, they became fools.
23 For they turned the glory of the incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birds, and four footed beasts, and of creeping things.
24 Wherefore also God gave them up to their hearts lusts, unto uncleanness, to defile their own bodies between themselves:
25 Which turned the truth of God unto a lie, and worshipped and served the creature, forsaking the Creator which is blessed forever, Amen.
26 For this cause God gave them up to vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature.
27 And likewise also the men left the natural use of the woman, and burned in their lust one toward another, and man with man wrought filthiness, and received in themselves such recompense of their error, as was meet.
28 For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, even so God delivered them up unto a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient,
29 Being full of all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness, full of envy, of murder, of debate, of deceit, taking all things in the evil part, whisperers,
30 Backbiters, haters of God, doers of wrong, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenant breakers, without natural affection, such as can never be appeased, merciless.
31 Which men, though they knew the Law of God, how that they which commit such things are worthy of death, yet not only do the same, but also favor them that do them.
2:1 He convinceth them which would seem to be exempt out of the number of other men, because they reprehend other men's faults, and saith that they are least of all to be excused, for if they were well and narrowly searched (as God surely doth) they themselves would be found guilty in those things which they reprehend, and punish in others: so that in condemning others they pronounce sentence against themselves.

2:2 Paul allegeth no places of Scripture, for he reasoneth generally against all men: but he bringeth such reasons as every man is persuaded of in his mind, so that the devil himself is not able to pluck them clean out.

2:3 Considering and judging things aright, and not by any outward show.

2:4 A vehement and grievous crying out against them that please themselves, because they see more than others do, and yet are no whit better than others are.

2:5 Whilst thou givest thyself to pleasures, thinking to increase thy goods, thou shalt find God's wrath.

2:6 The ground of the former disputation, That both the Jews and Gentiles have together need of righteousness.

2:7 Glory which followeth good works, which he layeth not out before us, as though there were any that could attain to salvation by his own strength; but, by laying this condition of salvation before us, which no man can perform, to bring men to Christ, who alone justified the believers, as he himself concludes, Rom. 2:11-22, following.

2:8 By truth, he meaneth that knowledge which we have of nature.

2:9 God's indignation against sinners, which shall quickly be kindled.

2:10 But to every man that doeth good, shall be glory, and honor, and peace: to the Jew first, and also to the Grecian.

CHAPTER 2

2:11 God doth not measure men either by their blood, or by their country, either to receive them, or to cast them away.

2:12 He applieth that general accusation of mankind particularly both to the Gentiles, and to the Jews.

2:13 He preventeth an objection which might be made by the Jews, whom the Law doth not excuse, but condemns, because that not the hearing of the Law, but the keeping of the Law doth justify.

2:14 He preventeth an objection which might be made by the Gentiles, who although they have not the Law of Moses, yet they have no reason whereby they may excuse their wickedness in that they have somewhat written in their hearts instead of a Law, as men that forbid, and punish some things as wicked, and command and commend other some as good.

2:15 This knowledge is a natural knowledge.

2:16 God deferreth many judgments, which notwithstanding he will execute at their convenient time by Jesus Christ, with a most vehement and grievous crying out against them that please others as good.

2:17 As this my doctrine witnesseth, which I am appointed to preach.

2:18 Canst try and discern what things swerve from God's will.

2:19 Or allowest the things that are excellent.

2:20 This knowledge is a natural knowledge.

2:21 But unto them that are contentious, and disobey the 'truth, and obey unrighteousness, shall be indignation and wrath.

2:22 Tribulation and anguish shall be upon the soul of every man that doeth evil: of the Jew first, and also of the Grecian.

2:23 In which they boasted. 27 And so maketh both Jew and Gentile alike.

2:24 Or despisest thou the riches of his bountifulness, and patience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the bountifulness of God leadeth thee to repentance?

2:25 But thou, after thine hardness, and heart that cannot repent, heapest up as a treasure unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath, and of the declaration of the just judgment of God.

2:26 Who will reward every man according to his works:

2:27 That is, to them which through patience in well doing, seek glory, and honor, and immortality, everlasting life.
the Law:
19 And persuadest thyself that thou art a guide of the blind, a light of them which are in darkness,
20 An instructor of them which lack discretion, a teacher of the unlearned, which hast the 'form' of knowledge, and of the truth in the 2law.
21 Thou therefore, which teakest another, teakest thou not thyself? thou that preachest, A man should not steal, dost thou steal?
22 Thou that sayest, A man should not commit adultery, dost thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idols, committest thou sacrilege?
23 Thou that gloriest in the Law, through breaking the Law, dishonestest thou God?
24 For the Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, 'as it is written.
25 'For circumcision verily is profitable, if thou do the Law: but if thou be a transgressor of the Law, thy circumcision is made uncircumcision.
26 'Therefore 'if the uncircumcision keep the ordinances of the Law, shall not his uncircumcision be counted for circumcision?
27 'And shall not uncircumcision which is by nature (if it keep the Law) condemn thee which by the letter and circumcision art a transgressor of the Law?
28 For he is not a Jew, which is one outward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:
29 But he is a Jew which is one within, and the circumcision is of the heart, in the spirit, not in the letter, whose praise is not of men, but of God.

1 1 He giveth the Jews some preferment, for the covenant's sake, 4 but yet such, as wholly dependeth on God's mercy.
9 That both Jews and Gentiles are sinners. 11 he proveth by Scriptures: 19 and showing the use of the Law. 28 he concludeth that we are justified by faith.

1 What is then the preferment of the Jew? or what is the profit of circumcision?
2 Much every manner of way: for 'chiefly, because unto them were of credit committed the oracles of God.
3 For what, though some did not believe? shall their unbelief make the faith of God without effect?
4 God forbid: yea, let God be true, and every man a liar, as it is written, That thou mightest be justified in thy words, and overcome, when thou art judged.
5 'Now if our unrighteousness commend the righteousness of God, who is true, and who also useth their unworthiness to commend and set forth his goodness.
6 God forbid: (else how shall God judge the world?)
7 'For if the verity of God hath more abounded through my lie unto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a sinner?
8 And (as we are blamed, and as some affirm, that we say) why do we not evil, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is just.

220 'The way to teach and frame others in the knowledge of the truth.
2 'As though he said, that the Jews under a color of an outward serving of God, challenged all to themselves, when as indeed, they did nothing less than observe the Law.
225 'He precisely preventeth their objection, which set an holiness in circumcision, and the outward observance of the Law: So that he showeth that the outward circumcision, if it be separated from the inward, doth not only not justify, but also condemns them that are indeed circumcised, of whom requireth that, which is signifieth, that is to say, cleanness of the heart and the whole life, according to the commandment of the Law, so that if there be a man uncircumcised according to the flesh, who is circumcised in heart, he is far better and more to be more accounted of, than any Jew that is circumcised according to the flesh only.
226 'This is the figure Metonymy, for, if the uncircumcised.
227 'The state and condition of the uncircumcised.
228 'He which is uncircumcised by nature and blood.
2 Paul useth oftentimes to set the letter against the Spirit: but in this place, the circumcision which is according to the letter, is the cutting off of the foreskin, but the circumcision of the Spirit, is the circumcision of the heart, that is to say, the spiritual end of the ceremony, is true holiness and righteousness whereby the people of God is known from profane and heathenish men.
228 By the outward ceremony only.
229 'Whose force is inward, and in the heart.
31 'The first meeting with, or preventing an objection of the Jews: what then, have the Jews no more preferment than the Gentiles? yes, that have they, saith the Apostle, on God's behalf: for he committed the tables of the covenant to them, so that the unbelief of a few, cannot cause the whole nation without exception to be cast away of God, who is true, and who also useth their unworthiness to commend and set forth his goodness.
32 'The Jews' state and condition was chiefest.
3 Words.
33 'Break the covenant.
3 The faith that God gave.
34 'That thy justice might be plainly seen.
35 'Forasmuch as thou showest forth an evident token of thy righteousness, constancy and faith, by preserving him who had broken his covenant.
36 'Another prevention, issuing out of the former answer: that the justice of God is in such sort commended and set forth by our unrighteousness, that therefore God forgetteth not that he is the judge of the world, and therefore a most severe revenger of unrighteousness.
37 'Treachery, and all the fruits thereof.
3 Therefore I speak not these words in mine own person, as though I thought so, but this is the talk of man's wisdom, which is not subject to the will of God.
37 'A third objection which addeth somewhat to the former, if sins do turn to the glory of God, they are not only not to be punished, but we ought rather to give ourselves to them: which blasphemy Paul contending himself to curse and detest, pronounceth just punishment against such blasphemers.
3 The truth and constancy.
9 1What then? are we more excellent? No, in nowise: for we have already proved, that all, both Jews and Gentiles are under sin.
10 As it is written, There is none righteous no not one.
11 There is none that understandeth: there is none that seeketh God.
12 They have all gone out of the way: they have been made altogether unprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no not one.
13 Their throat is an open sepulchre: they have used their tongues to deceit: the poison of asps under their lips.
14 Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness.
15 Their feet are swift to shed blood.
16 Destruction and calamity are in their ways:
17 And the way of peace they have not known.
18 The fear of God is not before their eyes.
19 Now we know that whatsoever the law saith, it saith it to them which are under the law, that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world be subject to the judgment of God.

20 Therefore by the works of the Law shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the Law cometh the knowledge of sin.
21 But now is the righteousness of God manifest without the Law, having witness of the Law, and of the Prophets, 22 To wit, the righteousness of God by the faith of Jesus Christ, unto all, and upon all that believe.
23 For there is no difference: for all have sinned, and are deprived of the glory of God,
24 And are justified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus,
25 Whom God hath set forth to be a reconciliation through faith in his blood to declare his righteousness, by the forgiveness of the sins that are passed,
26 Through the patience of God, to show at this time his righteousness, that he might be just, and a justifier of him which is of the faith of Jesus.
27 Where is then the rejoicing? It is excluded. By what Law of works? Nay: but by the Law of faith.
28 Therefore we conclude, that a man is justified by faith, without the works of the Law.

3:9 1 Another answer to the first objection: that the Jews, if they be considered in themselves, are no better than other men are: as it has been long since pronounced by the mouth of the Prophets.
2 Are guilty of sin.
3:17 1 An innocent and peaceable life.
3:19 1 He proveth that this grievous accusation which is uttered by David and Isaiah, doth properly concern the Jews.
2 The law of Moses.
3 A conclusion of all the former disputation, from verse 8 of the first Chapter. Therefore saith the Apostle, No man can hope to be justified by any Law, whether it be that general Law, or the particular Law of Moses, and therefore to be saved: seeing it appeareth (as we have already proved) by comparing the Law and man’s life together, that all men are sinners, and therefore worthy of condemnation in the sight of God.
4 Be found guilty before God.
3:20 1 By that the Law can by us be performed.
2 Flesh is here taken for man, as in many other places, and furthermore hath here a greater force: for it is put to show the contrariety betwixt God and man: as if you would say, Man who is nothing else but a piece of flesh defiled with sin, and God who is most pure and most perfect in himself.
3 Absolved before the judgment seat of God.
4 A secret setting of the righteousness which is before men, be they never so just, against the justice which can stand before God: now there is no righteousness can stand before God, but the righteousness of Christ only.
3:21 1 Therefore saith the Apostle, Lest that men should perish, God doth now exhibit that, which he promised of old, that is to say, a way whereby we may be justified and saved before him without the Law.
3:22 1 The matter, as it were of this righteousness, is Christ Jesus apprehended by faith, and for this end offered to all people, as without him all people are shut out from the kingdom of God.
2 Which we give to Jesus Christ, or which resteth upon him.
3:23 1 By the glory of God, is meant that mark which we all shoot at, that is, everlasting life, which standeth in that we are made partakers of the glory of God.
3:24 1 Therefore this righteousness touching us, is altogether freely given, for it standeth upon those things which we have not done ourselves, but such as Christ hath suffered for our sakes, to deliver us from sin.
2 Of his free gift, and mere liberality.
3:25 1 God then is the author of that free justification, because it pleaseth him: and Christ is he, which suffered punishment for our sins, and in whom we have remission of them: and the means whereby we apprehend Christ, is faith. To be short, the end is the setting forth of the goodness of God, that by this means it may appear, that he is merciful indeed, and constant in his promises, as he that freely, and of mere grace justifieth the believers.
3 This name of Blood, calleth us back to the figure of the old sacrifices, the truth and substance of which sacrifices is in Christ.
4 Of those sins which we committed when we were his enemies.
3:26 1 Through his patience, and suffering nature.
2 To wit, when Paul wrote this.
3 That he might be found exceeding true and faithful.
4 Making him just, and without blame by imputing Christ’s righteousness unto him.
5 Of the number of them which by faith lay hold upon Christ: contrary to whom, are they which look to be saved by circumcision, that is, by the Law.
3:27 1 An argument to prove this conclusion, that we are justified by faith without works, taken from the end of Justification. The end of Justification is the glory of God alone: therefore we are justified by faith without works: for if we were justified either by our own works only, or partly by faith, and partly by works, the glory of this justification should not be wholly given to God.
6 By what doctrine? now the doctrine of works hath [this] condition joined with it. If thou dost: and the doctrine of faith hath this condition, if thou believest.
...without works, saying,
7 Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered.
8 Blessed is the man to whom the Lord imputeth not sin.
9 Came this blessedness then upon the circumcision only, or upon the uncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed unto Abraham for righteousness.
10 How was it then imputed? when he was circumcised, or uncircumcised? not when he was circumcised, but when he was uncircumcised.
11 After, he received the sign of circumcision, as the seal of the righteousness of faith which he had, when he was uncircumcised, that he should be the father of all them that believe, not being circumcised, that righteousness might be imputed to them also.
12 And the father of circumcision, not unto them only which are of the circumcision, but unto them also that walk in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham which he had when he was uncircumcised.
13 For the promise that he should be the heir of the world, was not given to Abraham, or to his seed, through the Law, but through the righteousness of faith.
14 1For if they which are of the 2Law, be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise is made of none effect.
15 1For the Law causeth wrath: for where no Law is, there is no transgression.
16 1Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the 3seed, not to that only which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham who is the father of us all.
17 (As it is written, I have made thee a 4father of many nations) even before 5God whom he believed, who 6quicketh the dead, and 7 calleth those things which be not, as though they were.
18 8Which Abraham above hope, believed under hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seed be.
19 And he 8not weak in the faith, considered not his own body, which was now 9dead, being almost an hundred years old, neither the deadness of Sarah's womb.
20 Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through unbelief, but was strengthened in the faith, and gave 10glory to God,
21 Being 11fully assured that he which had promised,
For unto the time of the Law was sin in the giving and transgressing of Moses' Law, it appeareth manifestly that death (which is the punishment of the guiltiness) came upon all.

But God settheth out his love towards us, seeing that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.

For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life.

And not only so, but we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement.

Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin, and so death went over all men: in whom all men have sinned.

For unto the time of the Law was sin in the world, but sin is not imputed, while there is no law.

But death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over them also that sinned not after the like manner of the transgression of Adam, which was the figure of him that was to come.

But yet the gift is not so as is the offense: for if through the offense of one many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many.

Neither is the gift so, as that which entered in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offense unto condemnation: but the gift is of many offenses to justification.

For if by the offense of one, death reigned through one, much more shall they which receive that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousness, reign in life through one, that is, Jesus Christ.

Likewise then, as by the offense of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the grace of God, and by the righteousness of that one man, Jesus Christ, was the righteousness imputed or put upon us by faith, which by God's mercy is imputed to all believers, justifieth them, that they may become partakers of true and everlasting life.

Whereewith he loveth us.

A sure comfort in adversity, that our peace and quietness of conscience be not troubled: for he that so loved them that were of sin, and did not yet love them, that he might casts them, he that died for them, how can he neglect them being now sanctified and living in him?

In time fit and convenient, which the father hath appointed.

An amplifying of the love of God towards us, so that we cannot doubt of it, who delivereth Christ to death for the unjust, and for them of whom he could receive no commodity, and (that more is) for his very enemies. How can it be then that Christ being now alive, should not save them from destruction, whom by his death he justifieth and reconcileth?

In the stead of some just man.

He setteth out his love unto us, that in the midst of our afflictions we may know assuredly, he will be present with us.

While sin reigned in us.

From affliction and destruction.

He now passeth over to the other part of justification, which consisteth in the free imputation of the obedience of Christ: so that to the remission of sins there is added moreover and besides, the gift of Christ's righteousness imputed or put upon us by faith, which swalloweth up that unrighteousness which flowed from Adam into us, and all the fruits thereof: so that in Christ we do not only cease to be unjust, but we begin also to be just.

From Adam, in whom all have sinned, both guiltiness and death (which is the punishment of the guiltiness) came upon all.

By Adam, who is compared with Christ, like to him in this, that both of them make those who are theirs, partakers of that they have into: but they are unlike in this, that Adam deriveth sin into them that are his, even of nature, and that to death: but Christ maketh them that are his, partakers of his righteousness by grace, and that unto life.

By sin is meant that disease which is ours by inheritance, and men commonly call it original sin: for so he useth to call that sin in the singular number, whereas, if he speaks of the fruits of it, he useth the plural number, calling them sins.

That is, in Adam.

That this is so, that both guiltiness and death began not after the giving and transgressing of Moses' Law, it appeareth manifestly by that, that men died before that Law was given: for in that they died, sin, which is the cause of death, was then: and in such sort, that it was also imputeth: whereupon it followeth that there was then some Law, the breach whereof was the cause of death.

Even from Adam to Moses.

Where there is no Law made, no man is punished as faulty and guilty.

But that this Law was not that universal Law, and that death did not proceed from any actual sin of everyone particularly, it appeareth hereby, that the very infants which neither could ever know nor transgress that natural Law, are notwithstanding dead as well as Adam.

Our infants.

Not after that sort as they sin that are of more years, following their lusts: but yet the whole posterity was corrupt in Adam, when as he wittingly and willingly sinned.

Now the first Adam answereth the latter, who is Christ, as it is afterward declared.

Adam and Christ are compared together in this respect, that both of them do give and yield to theirs, that which is their own: but herein first they differ, that Adam by nature hath spread his fault to the destruction of many, but Christ's obedience hath by grace overflowed many.

That is, Adam.

Another inequality consisteth in this, that by Adam's one offense men are made guilty, but the righteousness of Christ imputed unto us freely, doth not only absolv us from that one fault, but from all others.

To the sentence of absolution, whereby we are quit, and pronounced righteous.

The third difference is, that the righteousness of Christ being imputed unto us by grace, is of greater power to bring life, than the offense of Adam is to addict his posterity to death.

Be partakers of true and everlasting life.

Therefore to be short, as by one man's offense, the guiltiness came on all men, to make them subject to death: so on the contrary side, the righteousness of Christ, which by God's mercy is imputed to all believers, justifieth them, that they may become partakers of everlasting life.
justifying of one, the benefit abounded toward all men to the justification of life.

19 For as by one man's disobedience many were dead, so by that obedience of that one, shall many also be made righteous.

20 Moreover, the Law entered thereupon, that the offense should abound: nevertheless, where sin abounded, there grace abounded much more:

21 That as sin had reigned unto death, so might grace also reign by righteousness unto eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

5:18 2 Not only because our sins are forgiven us, but also because the righteousness of Christ is imputed unto us.

5:19 1 The ground of this whole comparison is this, that these two men are set as two stocks or roots, so that out of the one, sin by nature, out of the other, righteousness by grace doth spring forth upon others.

2 So then, sin entered not into us only by following the steps of our forefather, but we take corruption of him by inheritance.

3 This word, Many, is set against this word, A few.

5:20 1 A preventing of an objection: why then did the Law of Moses enter thereupon? that men might be so much the more guilty, and the benefit of God in Christ Jesus be so much the more glorious.

2 Beside that disease which all men were infected withal by being defiled with one man's sin, the Law entered.

3 Grace was poured so plentifully from heaven, that it did not only counteract but pass over sin, that it did not only prevail, but above measure passed it.

6:1 1 He passeth now to another benefit of Christ, which is called sanctification or regeneration.

2 In that corruption for though the guiltiness of sin be not imputed to us, yet the corruption remaineth still in us: the which Sanctification which followeth Justification killeth by little and little.

6:2 1 The benefits of Justification and Sanctification, are always joined together inseparably, and both of them proceed from Christ, by the grace of God: Now sanctification is the abolishing of sin, that is, of our natural corruption, into whose place succeeds the purity and purity of nature reformed.

2 They are said of Paul to be dead to sin, which are in such sort made partakers of the virtue of Christ, that that natural corruption dead in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and it bringeth forth his having: for on the other side, they are said to live to sin, which are in the flesh, that is, whom the spirit of God hath not delivered from the slavery of the corruption of nature.

6:3 1 There are three parts of this Sanctification, to wit, the death of the old man or sin, his burial, and the resurrection of the new man, descending into us from the virtue of the death, burial, and resurrection of Christ, of which benefit our baptism is the sign and pledge.

5:19 2 To the end that growing up in one with him, we should receive his death? his strength to quench sin in us, and to make us new men.

6:4 1 That Christ himself being discharged of his infirmity and weakness, might live in glory with God forever.

2 And we which are his members rise for this end, that being made partakers of the selfsame virtue, we should begin to lead a new life, as though we were already in heaven.

6:5 1 The death of sin and the life of righteousness, or our ingrafting into Christ, and growing up into one with him, cannot be separated by any means, neither in death nor life, whereby it followeth, that no man is sanctified, which lived still to sin, and therefore is no man made partaker of Christ by faith, which repenteth not, and turneth not from his wickedness: for as he said before, the Law is not subverted, but established by faith.

3 Insomuch as by the means of the strength which cometh from him to us, we so die to sin as he is dead.

4 For we become every day more perfect than others: for we shall never be perfectly sanctified, as long as we live here.

6:6 1 All our whole nature, as we are conceived and born into this world with sin, which is called old, partly by comparing that old Adam with Christ, and partly also in respect of the deformation of our corrupt nature, which we change with a new.

2 Our corrupt nature is attributed to Christ, not in deed, but by imputation.

3 That naughtiness which sticketh fast in us.

4 The end of sanctification which we shoot at, and shall at length come to, to wit when God shall be all in all.

6:7 1 He proveth it by the effects of death, using a comparison of the similitude of his death, even so shall we be to the similitude of his resurrection,

6:8 Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin,

6:9 For he that is dead, is freed from sin.

6:10 Wherefore, if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall live also with him,

6:11 Likewise think ye also, that ye are dead to sin, but are alive to God in Jesus Christ our Lord.

6:12 Let not sin reign therefore in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof:
6:13 Neither give ye your members, as weapons of unrighteousness unto sin: but give yourselves unto God, as they that are alive from the dead, and give your members as weapons of righteousness unto God.

6:14 For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the Law, but under grace.

6:15 What? shall we sin, because we are not under the Law, but under grace? God forbid.

6:16 Know ye not, that to whomsoever ye give yourselves as servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it be of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?

6:17 But God be thanked, that ye have been the servants of sin, but ye have obeyed from the heart unto the form of the doctrine, whereunto ye were delivered.

6:18 Being then made free from sin, ye are made the servants of righteousness.

6:19 I speak after the manner of man, because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have given your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity, to commit iniquity, so now give your members servants unto righteousness in holiness.

6:20 For when ye were the servants of sin, ye were freed from righteousness.

6:21 What fruit had ye then in those things, whereof ye are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death.

6:22 But now being freed from sin, and made servants unto God, ye have your fruit in holiness, and the end, everlasting life.

6:23 For the wages of sin is death: but the gift of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord.
1 What shall we say then? Is the Law sin? God forbid. Nay, I knew not sin, but by the Law: for I had not known sin, except the Law had said, ‘Thou shalt not lust.’

2 But sin took occasion by the commandment, and wrought in me all manner of concupiscence: for without the Law sin is dead.

3 For I once was alive, without the law: but when the commandment came, sin revived, and I died.

4 But I died: and the same commandment which was ordained unto life, was found to be unto me unto death.

5 For sin took occasion by the commandment, and deceived me, and thereby slew me.

6 As if he said, The bond which bound us, is dead, and vanished away, insomuch, that sin which held us, hath not now wherewith to hold us.

7 For this husband is within us.

8 Satan is an unjust possessor; for he brought us in bondage of sin and himself deceitfully: and yet notwithstanding so long as we are sinners, we sin willingly.

9 As becometh them, which after the death of their old husband are joined to the spirit, as whom the spirit of God hath made new men.

10 By the letter he meaneth the law, in respect of that old condition: for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh in such sort as if the corruption which sin did from the seventh verse unto this fifteenth: he proceed not from the Law, but from sin, that is, from our corrupt nature: for sin took occasion by the commandment, and wrought death in me by that which is good, that sin might be out of measure sinful by the commandment.

11 Wherefore the Law is holy, and that commandment is holy, and just, and good.

12 For we know that the Law is spiritual, but I am carnal, sold under sin.

13 For I know, that in me, that is, in my flesh, dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but to perform that which is good is not in me, the unregenerate man.

14 I granteth that this evil is in his flesh, or in his members.

15 For I consent unto the Law, that it is good.

16 If I do then that which I would not, that do I not: but what I hate, that do I.

17 Now then, it is no more I, that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me.

18 For I know, that in me, that is, in my flesh, dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but I find no means to perform that which is good.
8 1 He concludes that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Christ through his Spirit. 2 However they be as yet burdened with sins: 9 For they live through that Spirit. 14 Whose testimony, 15 driveth away all fear, 28 and relieveth our present miseries.

1 1 Now ‘then there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus, which ‘walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

2 4 For the ‘Law of the Spirit of ‘life which is in ‘Christ Jesus, hath ‘freed me from the Law of sin and of death.

3 1 For (that was ‘impossible to the Law, inasmuch as it was weak, because of the ‘flesh) God sending his own Son, in the similitude of ‘sins, and also of sanctification which is begun in us: but now he speaketh of the perfect imputation of Christ’s manhood, which part was necessarily required to the full appeasing of our consciences: for our sins are defaced by the blood of Christ, and the guiltiness of our corruption is covered with the imputation of Christ’s obedience: and the corruption itself (which the Apostle calleth sinful sin) is healed in us by little and little, by the gift of sanctification, but yet it lacketh besides that another remedy, to wit, the perfect sanctification of Christ’s own flesh, which also is to us imputed.

2 The power and authority of the spirit, against which is set the tyranny of sin.

3 Which mortifieth the old man, and quickeneth the new man.

4 To wit, absolutely and perfectly.

5 For Christ’s sanctification being imputed unto us, perfected our sanctification which is begun in us.

8:3 1 He useth no argument here, but expoundeth the mystery of sanctification, which is imputed unto us: for because, that the virtue of the law was not such (and that by reason of the corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure and perfect: and for that it rather kindled the disease of sin, than did put it out and extinguish it, therefore God clothed his Son with flesh like unto our sinful flesh, wherein he utterly abolished our corruption, that being accounted thoroughly pure and without fault in him apprehended and laid hold on by faith; we might be found to have fully that singular perfection which the Law requireth, and therefore that there might be no condemnation in us.

4 Which is not proper to the Law, but cometh by our fault.

5 In man not born anew, whose disease the law could not heal it.

6 Of man’s nature which was corrupt through sin, until he sanctified it.

7 To abolish sin in our flesh.

8 Shoved that sin hath no right in us.

8:4 1 The very substance of the law of God might be fulfilled, or that same which the law requireth, that we may be found just before God for if with our justification there be joined that sanctification which is imputed to us, we are just, according to the perfect form which the Lord requireth.

2 He returneth to that which he said, that the sanctification which is begun in us, is a sure testimony of our ingrafting into Christ, which is a most plentiful fruit of a godly and honest life.
after the Spirit.

5 1 For they that are after the flesh, savor the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6 1 For the wisdom of the flesh is death: but the wisdom of the Spirit is life and peace,

7 1 Because the wisdom of the flesh is enmity against God: 2 for it is not subject to the Law of God, neither indeed can be.

8 1 So then they that are in the flesh, cannot please God.

9 1 Now ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, because the spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

10 1 And if Christ be in you, the body is dead, because of sin: but the Spirit is life for righteousness sake.

11 1 But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortal bodies, by his Spirit that dwelleth in you.

8:12 1 Therefore brethren, we are debtors not to the flesh, to live after the flesh:

13 1 For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye mortify the deeds of the body by the Spirit, ye shall live.

14 1 For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.

15 1 For ye have not received the Spirit of bondage, to fear again: but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

16 1 The same Spirit beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God.

17 1 If we be children, we are also heirs, even the heirs of God, and heirs annexed with Christ: 2 if so be that we suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him.

18 1 For I count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glory, which shall be showed unto us.

19 1 For the fervent desire of the creature waiteth 1 For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.

2 1 A reason why to walk after the flesh, agreeth not to them which are grafted in Christ, but to walk after the spirit agreeeth and is meet for them: because, saith he, they which are after the flesh, savor the things of the flesh, but they that are after the spirit, the things of the spirit.

2 1 They that live as the flesh leadeth them.

8:6 1 He proveth the consequent: because that whatsoever the flesh savoreth, that engendereth death: and whatsoever the spirit savoreth, that tendeth to joy and life everlasting.

8:7 1 A reason and proof, why the wisdom of the flesh is death: because, saith he, it is the enemy of God.

2 1 A reason why the wisdom of the flesh is enemy to God: because it neither will neither can be subject to him. And by flesh he meaneth a man not regenerate.

8:8 1 The conclusion: therefore they that walk after the flesh, cannot please God: whereby it followeth, that they are not ingrafted into Christ.

8:9 1 He commeth to the others, to wit, to them which walk after the spirit, of whom we have to understand contrary things to the former: and first of all he defineth what it is to be in the spirit, or to be sanctified to wit, to have the spirit of God dwelling in us; then he declareth, that sanctification is so joined and knit to our grafting in Christ, that it can by no means be separated.

8:10 1 He confirmeth the faithful against the relics of flesh and sin, granting that they are yet (as appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which he calleth the body, that is to say, a lump) which is not yet purged from the earthly filthiness in death: but therewithal willing them to doubt nothing of the happy success of their combat, because that even the little spark of the Spirit, (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruits of righteousness, is the seed of life.

2 1 The flesh, or all that which as yet sticketh fast in the clefts of sin, and death.

8:11 1 A confirmation of the former sentence. You have the selfsame Spirit, which Christ hath: Therefore at length it shall die the same in you, that it did in Christ, to wit, when all infirmities being utterly laid aside, and death overcome, it shall clothe you with heavenly glory.

2 1 By the virtue and power of it, which showed the same might first in our head, and daily worketh in his members.
when the sons of God shall be revealed,

20 Because the creature is subject to vanity, not of its own will, but by reason of him, which hath subdued it under hope.

21 Because the creature also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the sons of God.

22 For we know that every creature groaneth with it cannot be expressed.

23 And not only the creature, but we also which have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even the redemption of our body.

24 For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he seeth?

25 But if we hope for that we see not, we do with patience abide for it.

26 Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what to pray as we ought: but the Spirit itself maketh request for us with sighs, which cannot be expressed.

27 But he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for the Saints, according to the will of God.

28 Also we know that all things work together for the best unto them that love God, even to them that are called of his purpose.

29 For those which he knew before, he also predestinated to be made like to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren.

30 Moreover, whom he predestinated, them also he called, and whom he called, them also he justified, and whom he justified, them also glorified.

31 What shall we then say to these things? If God be on our side, who can be against us?

32 Who spared not his own Son, but gave him for us all to death, how shall he not with him give us all things also?

33 Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's chosen? it is God that justifieth.

34 Who shall condemn? it is Christ which is dead: yea, or rather, which is risen again, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for us.

35 Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?

36 As it is written, For thy sake are we killed all day long: we are counted as sheep for the slaughter:

37 Nevertheless, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.
38 For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,
39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

CHAPTER 9
1 He answereth an objection, that might be brought on the Jews' behalf. 7 and telleth of two sorts of Abraham's children, 15 and that God worketh all things in this matter according to his will, 20 even as the potter doth. 24, 30 He proveth as well the calling of the Gentiles, 31 as also the rejecting of the Jews, 25, 27 by the testimony of the Prophets.
1 I say the truth in Christ, I lie not, my conscience bearing me witness in the holy Ghost,
2 That I have great heaviness, and continual sorrow in mine heart.
3 For I would wish myself to be separate from Christ, for my brethren that are my kinsmen according to the flesh,
4 Which are the Israelites, to whom pertaineth the adoption, and the glory, and the Covenants, and the giving of the Law, and the service of God, and the promises.

5 Of whom are the fathers, and of whom concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is God over all, blessed forever, Amen.
6 k. Notwithstanding it cannot be that the word of God should take none effect: for all they are not Israel, which are of Israel:
7 Neither are they all children, because they are the seed of Abraham; but in Isaac shall thy seed be called:
8 That is, they which are the children of the flesh, are not the children of God: but the children of the promise, are counted for the seed.
9 For this is a word of promise, in this same time will I come, and Sarah shall have a son.
10 Neither he only felt this, but also Rebecca, when she had conceived by one, even by our father Isaac.
11 For ere the children were born, and when they had neither done good nor evil (that the purpose of God might remain according to election, not by works, but by him that calleth.)
12 It was said unto her, The Elder shall serve the younger.
13 As it is written, I have loved Jacob, and have hated Esau.
14 1What shall we say then? Is there 'unrighteousness with God? God forbid.
15 1For he saith to Moses, I will 'have mercy on him, to whom I will show mercy: and will have 'compassion on him, on who I will have compassion.
16 1So then it is not in him that 'willeth, nor in him that runneth, but in God that showeth mercy. 17 1For the Scripture saith unto Pharaoh, /For this same purpose have I stirred thee up, that I might 'show my power in thee, and that my Name might be declared throughout all the earth.
18 1Therefore he hath mercy on whom he 'will, and whom he will he hardeneth.
19 1Thou wilt say then unto me, Why doth he yet complain? for who hath resisted his will?
20 1But, O man, who art thou which pleadeth against God? 'shall the 'thing formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?
21 1Hath not the potter power of the clay to make of the same lump one 'vessel to 2honor, and another unto 4dishonor?

9:14 1The first objection: If God doth love or hate upon no consideration of worthiness or unworthiness, then [is] he unjust, because he may love them which are unworthy, and hate them that are worthy. The Apostle detesteth this blasphemy, and answereth it severally, point by point.
2 Man's will knoweth no other causes of love or hatred, but those that are in the persons, and thereupon this objection riseth.
9:15 1He answereth first touching them which are chosen to salvation in choosing of whom, he denieth that God may seem unjust, although he choose and predestinate to salvation, them that are not yet born, without any respect of worthiness: because he bringeth not the chosen to the appointed end, but by the means of his mercy, which is a cause next under predestination. Now mercy presupposeth misery, and again misery presupposeth sin or voluntary corruption of mankind, and corruption presupposeth a pure and perfect creation. Moreover mercy is showed by degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by justification and sanctification, so that at length we come to glorification, as the Apostle will show afterward. Now all these things, orderly following the purpose of God, do clearly prove that he can by no means seem unjust in loving and saving his.
2 1I will be merciful and favorable to whom I list to be favorable. 2 I will have compassion on whomsoever I list to have compassion.
9:16 1The conclusion of the answer: Therefore God is not unjust in choosing and saving of his free goodness, such as it pleaseth him: as he also answered Moses, when he prayed for all the people.
2 By will, he meaneth the thought and endeavor of heart, and by running, good works: to neither of which he giveth the praise, but only to the mercy of God.
9:17 1Now he answereth concerning the reprobate or them whom God hateth being not yet born, and hath appointed to destruction, without any respect of unworthiness. And first of all he proveth this to be true, by alleging the testimony of God himself touching Pharaoh, whom he stirred up to this purpose, that he might be glorified in his hardening and just punishing.
2 God so speaketh unto Pharaoh in the Scripture, or, the Scripture bringeth in God, so speaking to Pharaoh; Exodus 9:16.
3 Brought thee into this world.
4 Secondly, he bringeth the end of God's counsel, to show that there is no unrighteousness in him. Now this chiefest end, is not properly and simply the destruction of the wicked, but God's glory which appeareth in their rightful punishment.
9:18 1A conclusion of the full answer to the first objection: therefore seeing that God doth not save them whom he freely chose according to his good will and pleasure, but by justifying and sanctifying them by his grace, his counsel in saving them cannot seem unjust. And again, there is not injustice in the everlasting counsel of God touching the destruction of them whom he listeth to destroy, for that he hardeneth before he destroyeth. Therefore the third answer for the maintenance of God's justice is the everlasting counsel of reprobation, consisteth in this word Hardening: which notwithstanding he concealed in the former verse, because the history of Pharaoh was well known. But the force of the word is great: for Hardening, which is set against Mercy, presupposeth the same things that mercy did, to wit, a voluntary corruption, wherein the reprobate are hardened: and again corruption presupposeth a perfect state of creation. Moreover, this hardening also is voluntary, for God so hardeneth being offended with corruption, that he useth their own will whom he hardeneth, to the executing of that judgment. Then follow the fruits of Hardening, to wit, unbelief and sin, which are the true and proper causes of the condemnation of the reprobate. Why doth he then appoint to destruction: because he will: why doth he harden? because they are corrupt: why doth he condemn? because they are sinners. Where is then unrighteousness? Nay, if he should destroy all after this same sort, to whom should he do injury?
2 Whom it pleased him to appoint, to show his favor upon.
9:19 1Another objection but only for the reprobate, rising upon the former answer. If God do appoint to everlasting destruction, such as he listeth, and if that cannot be hindered notwithstanding that he hath once decreed, how doth he justly condemn them, which perish by his will?
9:20 1The Apostle doth not answer that it is not God's will, or that God doth not either reject or elect according to his pleasure, which thing the wicked call blasphemy, but he rather granteth, his adversary both the antecedents, to wit, that it is God's will, and that it must of necessity so fall out, yet he denieth that God is therefore to be thought an unjust reveger of the wicked: for seeing it appeareth by manifest proof that this is the will of God and his doing, what impudency is it for man, which is but dust and ashes to dispute with God, and as it were to call him into judgment? Now if any man say that the doubt is not so dissolved and answered, I answer, that there is no surer demonstration in any matter, because it is grounded upon this principle, That the will of God is the rule of righteousness.
4 An amplification of the former answer, taken from a comparison, whereby also it appeareth that God's determined counsel is set of Paul the highest of all causes, so that it dependeth not upon any respect of second causes, but doth rather frame and direct them.
2 This similitude agreeth very fitly in the first creation of mankind.
9:21 1Alluding to the creation of Adam, he compareth mankind not yet made (but in the Creator's mind) to a lump of clay: wherein afterward God made and doth daily make, according as he purposed from everlasting both such as should be elect, and such as should be reprobate, as also this word, making, declareth.
4 Whereas in the objection propounded, mention was only made of vessels to dishonor: yet he speaketh of the other also in this answer, for that he proveth the Creator to be just in either of them, as the rule of contraries doth require.
3 To honest uses.
4 Seeing then, that in the name of dishonor, the ignomy of everlasting death is signified, they speak with Paul, which say, that some are made of God to most just destruction: and they [that] are offended with this kind of speech bewray their own folly.
22 'What and if God would, to show his wrath, and to make his power known, suffer with long patience the 'vessels of wrath, prepared to 'destruction?

23 And that he might declare the 'riches of his glory upon the vessels of mercy, which he hath prepared unto glory?

24 'Even us whom he hath called, not of the 'Jews only, but also of the Gentiles.

25 As he saith also in Hosea, 'I will call them, My people, which were not my people: and her, Beloved, which was not beloved.

26 And it shall be in the place where it was said unto them, 'Ye are not my people, that there they shall be called, The children of the living God.

27 Also Isaiah crieth concerning Israel, 'Though the number of the children of Israel were as the sand of the sea, yet shall but a remnant be saved.

28 For he will make his account, and gather it into a 1short sum with righteousness: for the Lord will make a short count in the earth.

29 And as Isaiah said before, Except the Lord of 'hosts had left us a 2seed, we had been made as Sodom, and had been like to Gomorrah.

30 What shall we say then? That the Gentiles which followed 2not righteousness, have attained unto righteousness, even the righteousness which is of faith.

31 'But Israel which followed the Law of righteousness, could not attain unto the Law of righteousness.

32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the 'works of the Law: for they have stumbled at the stumbling stone.

33 As it is written, 'Behold, I lay in Zion a stumbling stone, and a rock to make men fall: and everyone that believeth in him, shall not be ashamed.

10 1 He handleth the effects of election, 3 that some refuse, and some embrace. 4 Christ, who is the end of the Law.

1 Brethren, 1mine hearts desire and prayer to God for Israel, is, that they might be saved.

2 For I bear them record that they have the zeal of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 For they, 3being ignorant of the righteousness of God, and going about to 2establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves to the righteousness of God.

4 4-2For Christ is the 2end of the Law for righteousness unto 2everyone that believeth.
5 1For Moses thus describeth the righteousness which is of the Law, 2That the man which doeth these things, shall live thereby.

6 But the righteousness which is of faith, speaketh on this wise, 1Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heaven? (that is to bring Christ from above.)

7 Or, Who shall descend into the deep? (that is to bring Christ again from the dead.)

8 1But what saith it? 2The word is near thee, even in thy mouth, and in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.

9 1For if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart, that God raised him up from the dead, thou shalt be saved:

10 For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness, and with the mouth man confesseth to salvation.

11 1For the Scripture saith, Whosoever believeth in him, shall not be ashamed.

12 For there is no difference between the Jew and the Grecian: for he that is Lord over all, is rich unto all that call on him.

13 1For whosoever shall call upon the Name of the Lord, shall be saved.

14 But how shall they call on him, in whom they have not believed? 2and how shall they believe in him, of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher?

15 And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, 1How beautiful are the feet of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!

16 1But they have not all obeyed the Gospel: for Isaiah saith, 2Lord, who hath believed our report?

17 1Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.

18 1But I demand, Have they not heard? 2No doubt their sound went out through all the earth, and their words into the ends of the world.

19 1But I demand, Did not Israel know God? First Moses saith, I will provoke you to envy by a nation that is not my nation, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.

20 1And Isaiah is bold, and saith, I was found of them that sought me not, and have been made manifest to them that asked not after me.

21 And unto Israel he saith, All the day long have I stretched forth mine hand unto a disobedient, and gainsaying people.
11:1 Now the Apostle sheweth how this doctrine is to be applied to others, abiding still in his propounded cause. Therefore he teacheth us that all the Jews in particular are not cast away, and therefore we ought not to pronounce rashly of private persons, whether they be of the number of the elect or not.

2 The first proof, I am a Jew, and yet elected, therefore we may and ought fully to resolve upon our election, as hath been before said: but of another man's we cannot so certainly resolved, and yet ours must cause us to hope well of others.

11:2 The second proof: Because that God is faithful in his league or Covenant, although men be unfaithful: So then seeing that God hath said, that he will be the God of his unto a thousand generations, we must take heed, that we think not that the whole race and offspring is cast off, by reason of the unbelief of a few, but rather, that we hope may cause us to hope well of others.

11:3 And if it be of grace, it is "no more of works: or else were grace no more grace: but if it be of works, it is no more grace: or else were work no more work."

11:4 But what saith the answer of God to him? I have reserved unto myself seven thousand men, which have not bowed the knee to Baal.

5 Even so then, at this present time is there a remnant according to the election of grace.

6 And if it be of grace, it is "no more of works: or else were grace no more grace: but if it be of works, it is no more grace: or else were work no more work."

7 What then? Israel hath not obtained that he sought: but the election hath obtained it, and the rest have been hardened.

8 According as it is written, 'God hath given them the spirit of slumber: eyes that they should not see, and ears that they should not hear unto this day.'

9 And David saith, 'Let their table be made a snare, and a net, and a stumbling block, even for a recompense unto them.'

10 Let their eyes be darkened that they see not, and bow down their back always.

11 I demand then, Have they stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid: but through their fall, salvation cometh unto the Gentiles, to provoke them to follow them.

12 Wherefore if the fall of them be the riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more shall their abundance be?

13 For in that I speak to you Gentiles, inasmuch as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, I magnify mine
11:15 1 It shall come to pass that when the Jews come to the Gospel, the world shall as it were come quacken again, and rise up from death to life.
11:16 1 The nation of the Jews being considered in their stock and root, that is, in Abraham, is holy, although that many of the branches be cut off. Therefore in judging of our brethren, we must not stick in their unworthiness, to think that they are at once all cast off, but we ought to consider the root of the Covenant, and rather go back to their ancestors which were faithful, that we may know that the blessing of the Covenant resteth in some of their posterity, as we also find proof hereof in ourselves.
11:17 1 There is no cause why the Gentiles which have obtained mercy, should triumph over the Jews which condemn the grace of God, seeing they are grafted into the Jews’ ancestors. But let them rather take heed that also be not found in them which is worthyly condemned in the Jews. And hereof also this general doctrine may be gathered and seen, that God respecteth not what they deserve, but what he hath announced to them in mercy. And therefore this is the cause why they are not cut off, viz., that he that is holy, and not polluted with sin, is holy, and so is then holy.
2 He all ethed to the firstfruits of the loaves by the offering whereof all the whole crop of corn was sanctified, and they might vie the rest of the year following with good conscience.
3 Abraham.
11:18 1 There is no cause why the Gentiles which have obtained mercy, should triumph over the Jews which condemn the grace of God, seeing they are grafted into the Jews’ ancestors. But let them rather take heed that also be not found in them which is worthyly condemned in the Jews. And hereof also this general doctrine may be gathered and seen, that God respecteth not what they deserve, but what he hath announced to them in mercy. And therefore this is the cause why they are not cut off, viz., that he that is holy, and not polluted with sin, is holy, and so is then holy.
2 He all ethed to the firstfruits of the loaves by the offering whereof all the whole crop of corn was sanctified, and they might vie the rest of the year following with good conscience.
3 Abraham.
11:19 1 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be grafted in.
11:20 1 Well: through unbelief they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: be not high-minded, but fear.
11:21 1 For if God spared not the natural branches, take heed, lest he also spare not thee.
22 1 Behold therefore the bountifulness, and severity of God: toward them which have fallen, severity: but toward thee, bountifulness, if thou continue in his bountifulness: or else thou shalt also be cut off.
23 1 And they also, if they abide not still in unbelief, shall be grafted in: for God is able to graft them in again.
24 1 For if thou wast cut out of the Olive tree, which was wild by nature, and was grafted contrary to nature in a right Olive tree, how much more shall they that are by nature, be grafted in their own Olive tree?
25 1 For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this secret (lest ye should be arrogant in yourselves) that partly obstinacy is come to Israel, until the fullness of the Gentiles be come in.
26 1 And so all Israel shall be saved, as it is written, The deliverer shall come out of Zion, and shall turn away the ungodliness from Jacob.
27 1 And this is my covenant to them, 2 When I shall take away their sins.
28 1 As concerning the 2 Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the 7election, they... are beloved for the fathers' sakes.

29 For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

30 For even as ye in times past have not believed God, yet have now obtained mercy through their unbelief:

31 Even so now have they not believed by the mercy showed unto you, that they also may obtain mercy.

32 For God hath shut up all in unbelief, that he might have mercy on all.

33 O the deepness of the riches, both of the wisdom, and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!

34 For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who was his counselor?

35 Or who hath given unto him first, and he shall be recompensed?

36 For of him, and through him, and for him are all things: to him be glory forever. Amen.

11:29 1 The reason or proof: because the covenant made with that nation of life everlasting, cannot be frustrate and vain.

11:30 1 Another reason, because that although that they which are hardened, are worthy punished, yet hath not this stubbornness of the Jews so come to pass properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entry might as it were be opened to bring in the Gentiles, and afterward the Jews being inflamed with emulation of this mercy which is showed to the Gentiles, might themselves also be partakers of the same benefit, and so it might appear that both Jews and Gentiles are saved, only by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not have been so manifest, if at the beginning, God had shut all together into the Church, or if he had saved the nation of the Jews without this interruption.

11:32 1 Both Jews and Gentiles.

11:33 1 The Apostle crieth not as astonished with this wonderful wisdom of God, which he teacheth us, ought to be religiously reverenced, and not curiously and profanely to be searched beyond the compass of that that God hath revealed unto us.

2 The course that he holdeth in governing all things both generally and particularly.

3 The order of his counsels and doings.

11:34 1 He bridleth three manner of ways, the wicked boldness of man: First, because that God is above all, most wise, and therefore it is very absurd, and plainly godless to measure him by our folly.

Moreover, because he is debtor to no man, and therefore no man can complain of injury done unto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore we must refer all things to his glory, and therefore we must refer all things to his glory, and therefore we must refer all things to his glory.

11:35 1 This saying overthroweth the doctrine of foreseen works and merits.

11:36 1 To wit, for God, to whose glory all things are referred, not only things that were made, but especially his new works which he wrought in his elect.

12:1 1 The fourth part of this Epistle, which after the finishing of the chief points of Christian doctrine, consisteth in declaring of precepts of Christian life. And first of all he giveth general precepts and grounds: the chiefest whereof is this that every man consecrate himself wholly to the spiritual service of God, and do as it were sacrifice himself, trusting to the grace of God.

2 By this preface he sheweth that God's glory is the utmost end of all our doings.

3 In times past the sacrifices were presented before the altar, but now the altar is everywhere.

4 Yourselves: in times past, other bodies than our own, now our own must be offered.

5 In times past, dead sacrifices were offered, but now we must offer such as have the spirit of life in them.

6 Spiritual.

12:2 1 The second precept is this, That we take not other men's opinions or manners for a rule of life, but that we wholly renouncing this world, set before us as our mark, the will of God, as it is manifested and opened unto us in his word.

2 Why then there is no place left for reason, which the heathen Philosophers place as a Queen in a Castle, nor for man's free will, which the Popish Schoolmen dream on, if the mind must be renewed. See Eph. 1:18 and 2:5 and 4:17 and Col. 1:21.

12:3 1 Thirdly he admonisheth us very earnestly, that every man keep himself within the bounds of his vocation, and that every man be wise according to the measure of grace that God hath given him.

2 I charge.

3 That he please not himself too much, as they do, which persuade themselves they know more than indeed they do.

4 We will be sober if we take not that upon us, which we have not, and if we brag not of that which we have.

5 By faith he meaneth the knowledge of God in Christ, and the gifts which the holy Ghost poureth upon the faithful.

12:4 1 There is a double reason of the precept going afore: the one is because God hath not committed everything to be done of every man: and therefore, he doeth backwardly, and not only unprofitably, but also to the great disprofit of others, wearieh himself and others, which passeth the bounds of his vocation: the other is, for that this diversity and inequality of vocations and gifts, redoundeth to our commodity seeing that the same is therefore instituted and appointed, that we should be bound one to another. Whereupon it followeth that no man ought to be grieved thereof, seeing that the use of every private gift is common.

ROMANS 13:3

1 He willeth that we submit ourselves to Magistrates: 8 To love our neighbor: 13 To love uprightly. 14 and to put on Christ.

1 Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers: for there is no power but of God: and the powers that be, are ordained of God.

2 Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist, shall receive to themselves condemnation.

3 For Magistrates are not to be feared for good works, but for evil. Wilt thou then be without fear

12:9 Cheerfulness, lest they add sorrow to sorrow.

12:20 After this sort doth Solomon point out the wrath of God which hangeth over a man.

13:1 Now he showeth severally, what subjects owe to their Magistrates, to wit, obedience: From which he showeth that no man is free: and in such sort that it is not only due to the highest Magistrate himself, but also even to the basest, which hath any office under him.

14 Yea, though an Apostle, though an Evangelist, though a Prophet: Yea.

3 For Magistrates are not to be feared for good works, but for evil. Wilt thou then be without fear

12:13 A true rule of charity, when we are no less touched with other men's wants, than with our own, and having that feeling, help them as much as we can.

2 Not upon pleasure, and needless duties, but upon necessary uses.

12:16 There is nothing that doth so much break concord as ambition, when as every man loatheth a base estate, and seeketh ambitiously to be aloft.

2 Be not puffed up, with opinion of your own wisdom.

of the power? do well: so shalt thou have praise of the same.

4 For he is the minister of God for thy wealth: but if thou do evil, fear: for he beareth not the sword for nought: for he is the minister of God to take vengeance on him that doeth evil.

5 Wherefore ye must be subject, not because of wrath only, but also for conscience sake.

6 For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are God’s ministers, applying themselves for the same thing.

7 Give to all men therefore their duty: tribute, to whom ye owe tribute: custom, to whom custom: fear, to whom 1fear: honor, to whom ye owe 2honor.

8 Owe nothing to any man, but to love one another: for he that loveth another, hath fulfilled the 2Law.

9 For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet: and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, even in this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

10 Love doeth not evil to his neighbor: therefore is love the fulfilling of the Law.

11 And that, considering the season, that it is now time that we should arise from sleep: for now is our salvation nearer, than when we believed it.

12 The night is past, and the day is at hand, let us therefore cast away the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light.

13 So that we walk honestly, as in the day: not in gluttony, and drunkenness, neither in chambering and wantonness, nor in strife and envying.

14 But put ye on the Lord JESUS CHRIST, and take no thought for the flesh, to fulfill the lust of it.

14:1 He willeth that we so deal with the weak in faith, 2 that through our fault they be not offended. 10 And on the other side he commandeth them not rashly to judge the stronger: 19 That within the bounds of edification 20 and charity. 22 Christian liberty may conflict.

1 Him 1that is weak in the faith, 2receive unto you, but not for 3controversies of disputations.

2 One 1believeth that he may eat of all things: and another, which is weak, eateth herbs.

3 Let not him that eateth despise him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, condemn him that eateth: for 4God hath received him.

4 1Who art thou that condemnest another man’s servant? he standeth or falleth to his own master:

134 1 God hath armed the Magistrate even with a revenging sword.

2 By whom God revengeth the wicked.

135 1 The conclusion: We must obey the magistrate, not only for fear of punishment, but much more because that (although the Magistrate have no power over the conscience of man, yet seeing he is God’s minister) he cannot be resisted by any good conscience.

2 So far as lawfully we may: for if unlawful things be commanded us, we must answer as Peter teacheth us, it is better to obey God than men.

136 He reckoneth up the chiefest things wherein consisteth the obedience of subjects.

137 Obedience, and that from the heart.

2 Reverence, (which as reason is) we must give to the Magistrate.

138 He sheweth how very few judgments need to be executed, to wit, if we so order our life, as no man may justly require anything of us, besides that only that we owe one to another, by the perpetual law of charity.

2 He commendeth charity, as an abridgement of the whole Law.

3 He hath not only done one commandment; but performed generally that which the Law commandeth.

139 For the whole Law commandeth nothing else, but that we love God and our neighbor. But seeing Paul speaketh here of the duties we owe one to another, we must restrain this word, Law to the second Table.

13:11 An application taken of the circumstance of the time: which also itself puttest us in mind of our duty, seeing that this remaineth after that the darkness of ignorance and wicked affections by the knowledge of God’s truth be driven out of us, that we order our life according to that certain and sure rule of all righteousness and honesty, being fully grounded upon the virtue of the Spirit of Christ.

13:12 In other places we are said to be in the light, but yet so, that it appeareth not as yet what we are, for as yet we see but as it were in the twilight.

2 That kind of life, which they lead, that flee the light.

13:4 1 To put on Christ, is to possess Christ, to have him in us, and us in him.

14:1 Now he sheweth how we ought to behave ourselves toward our brethren in matters and things indifferent, offending in the use of them, not of malices or damnable superstition, but for lack of knowledge of the benefit of Christ. And thus he teacheth that they are to be instructed gently and patiently, and so that we apply ourselves to their ignorance in such matters according to the rule of charity.

2 Do not for a matter or thing that is indifferent, and such as you may do or not do, shun his company, but take him to you.

3 To make him by your doubtful and uncertain disputations go away more in doubt than he came, or start back with a troubled conscience.

14:2 He propoundeth for an example, the difference of meats, which some thought was necessarily to be observed as a thing prescribed by the Law (not knowing that it was taken away) whereas on the contrary side, such as had profited in the knowledge of the Gospel, knew well that this schoolmastership of the Law was abolished.

2 Knows by faith.

14:3 In such a matter, saith the Apostle, Let neither them which know their liberty, proudly despise their weaker brother, neither let the unlearned crabbedly or fraudly condemn that, that they understand not.

2 The first reason: Because that seeing both he that eateth and he that eateth not, is notwithstanding the member of Christ, neither he which eateth not, can justly be condemned, neither he which eateth be justly condemned: Now the first proposition is declared in the sixth verse following.

14:4 Another reason which haggeth upon the former: why the ruder and more unlearned ought not to be contemned of the more skilful, as men without hope of salvation: Because, saith the Apostle, he that is ignorant today, may be endued tomorrow with further knowledge, so that he also may stand sure: Therefore it belongeth to God, and not unto man, to pronounce the sentence of condemnation.
5 This man esteemeth one day above another, and another man counteth every day alike: let every man be fully persuaded in his mind.
6 He that observeth the day, observeth it to the Lord: and he that observeth not the day, observeth it not to the Lord. He that eateth, eateth to the Lord: for he giveth God thanks: and he that eateth not, eateth not to the Lord, and giveth God thanks.
7 For none of us liveth to himself, neither dieth any to himself.
8 For whether we live, we live unto the Lord: or whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's.
9 For Christ therefore died and rose again, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and the quick.
10 But why dost thou condemn thy brother? or why dost thou despise thy brother? for we shall all appear before the judgment seat of Christ.
11 For it is written, 'I live, saith the Lord, and every knee shall bow to me, and all tongues shall confess unto God.'
12 So then every one of us shall give accounts of himself to God.
13 'Let us not therefore judge one another anymore: but use your judgment rather in this that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling block before his brother.'
14 'I know, and am persuaded through the Lord Jesus, that there is nothing unclean of itself: but unto him that judgeth anything to be unclean, to him it is unclean.
15 But if thy brother be grieved by the meat, now walkest thou not charitably: destroy not him with thy meat, for whom Christ died.

14:5 1 Another example of the difference of days according to the law.
2 He setteth against this contempt, and hasty or rash judgments, a continual desire to profit, that the strong may be certainly persuaded of their liberty, of what manner and sort it is, and how they ought to use it: and again the weak may daily profit, lest either they abuse the gift of God, or these please themselves in their infirmity.
3 That he may say in his conscience, that he knoweth and is persuaded by Jesus Christ, that nothing is unclean of itself, and this persuasion must be grounded upon the word of God.

14:6 1 A reason taken from the nature of indifferent things, which a man may with good conscience do and omit: for seeing that the difference of days and meats was appointed by God, how could they, which as yet understood not the abrogating of the Law, and yet otherwise acknowledged Christ as their Savior, with good conscience neglect that which they knew was commanded of God? And on the contrary side, they that knew the benefit of Christ in this, did with good conscience neither observe days nor meats. Therefore saith the Apostle, verse 10, Let not the strong condemn the weak for these things, seeing that the weak brethren are brethren.
2 This man esteemeth one day above another, and another man counteth every day alike: let every man be fully persuaded in his mind.
3 God shall judge whether he do well or no: And therefore you should rather strive about this, how every one of you will be allowed of God, than to think upon other men's doings.
4 He that maketh no difference of meats.
5 So the Apostle showeth that he speaketh of the faithful, both strong and weak. But what if we have to do with infidels? Then must we here take heed of two things, as also is declared in the Epistle to the Corinthians. The one is, that we count not their superstitions among things indifferent, as they did which sat down to meat in Idols' Temples: the other is, that then also when the matter is indifferent (as to buy a thing offered to idols, in the butcher's shambles, and to eat it at home in a private banquet) we would not the conscience of our weak brother.
6 He that toucheth not meats which he taketh to be unclean by the Law.

14:7 1 We must not stick, saith he, in the meat itself, but in the use of the meat, so that he is justly to be reprehended that liveth so, that he casteth not his eyes upon God. For both our life and our death is dedicated to him, and for this cause Christ hath properly died, and not simply, that we might eat this meat or that.
2 Hath respect to himself only, which the Hebrews utter after this sort, Doeth well to his own soul.
14:10 1 The conclusion: we must leave to God his right: and therefore in matters, which according as the conscience if affected, are either good or evil, the strong must not despise their weak brethren, much less condemn them. But this consequent cannot be taken of equal force in the contrary, to wit, that the weak should not judge the strong, because the weak do not know, that they which do not observe a day, and eat, observe it not to the Lord, and eat to the Lord, as the strong men know, that the weak which observe a day and eat not, observe the day to the Lord, and eat not to the Lord.
14:11 This is a form of an oath, proper to God only, for he and none but he liveth, and hath his being of himself.
2 Shall acknowledge me from God.
16 1. Cause not your commodity to be evil spoken of, 2. For the kingdom of God, is not meat nor drink, but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the holy Ghost. 3. For whatsoever things serveth Christ, is acceptable unto God, and is approved of men. 4. Let us then follow those things which concern peace, and wherewith one may edify another. 5. Destroy not the work of God for meat’s sake: 6. all things indeed are pure: but it is evil for the man which eateth with offense. 7. It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor anything whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or made weak. 8. Hast thou faith? have it with thyself before God: blessed is he that condemneth not himself in that thing which he alloweth. 9. For he that doubteth, is condemned if he eat, because he eateth not of faith: and whatsoever is not of faith, is sin.

15:1. The stronger must employ their strength to strengthen the weak. 2. By Christ’s example, 7. who received not only the Jews, 10. but also the Gentiles. 15. The cause why he wrote this Epistle.

1. We which are strong, ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. 2. Therefore let every man please his neighbor in that that is good to edification.

14:16 1. Another argument: for that by this means the liberty of the Gospel is evil spoken of, as though it openeth the way to attempt any thing whatsoever, and boldeneth us to all things. 14:17 1. A general reason, and the ground of all the other arguments: The kingdom of heaven consisteth not in these outward things, but in the study of righteousness, and peace, and comfort of the holy Ghost. 14:18 1. He that liveth peaceably, and doeth righteously, through the holy Ghost. 14:19 1. A general conclusion: The use of this liberty, yea and our whole life, ought to be referred to the edifying of one another, insomuch that we esteem that thing unlawful by reason of the offense of the weak and the strong serving God with a mutual consent, may bring us to be partakers of God’s glory. 14:22 1. He giveth a double warning in these matters, one, which pertaineth to the strong, that he which hath obtained a sure knowledge of this liberty, keep that treasure to the end he may use it wisely and profitably as hath been said: the other which respecteth the weak, that they do nothing rashly by other men’s example with a wavering conscience, for that cannot be done without sin, whereof we are not persuaded by the word of God, that he liketh, and approveth it. 2. He showed before verse 14 what he meaneth by faith, to wit, for a man to be certain and out of doubt in matters and things indifferent. 3. Embrace it.

14:23 1. Reasoneth with himself. 15:1 1. Now the Apostle reasoneth generally of tolerating or bearing with the weak by all means, so far forth as may be for their profit. 2. And despise others. 15:2 1. For his profit and edification. 15:3 1. A confirmation taken of the example of Christ, who suffered all things to bring not only the weak, but also his most cruel enemies, overcoming them with patience, to his Father.

14:16 1. The preventing of an objection: Such things as are cited out of the examples of the ancients, are propounded unto us to this end and purpose, that according to the example of our fathers, we should in patience and hope bear one with another. 2. By Moses and the Prophets. 3. The Scriptures are said to teach and comfort, because God useth them to teach and comfort his people. 14:17 1. We must take an example of patience, of God that both the weak and the strong serving God with a mutual consent, may bring one another to God, as Christ also received us unto himself, although we were never so unworthy. 15:7 1. He did not disdain us, but received us of his own accord, to make us partakers of God’s glory. 15:8 1. An applying of the example of Christ to the Jews, whom he vouchsafiled this honor for the promises which he made unto their fathers, although they were never so unworthy, that he executed the office of a minister amongst them with marvelous patience. Therefore much less ought the Gentiles despise them for certain faults, whom the Son of God so much esteemed. 2. Of the circumcised Jews, for as long as he lived, he never went out of their quarters. 3. That God might be seen to be true. 15:9 1. An applying of the same to the Gentiles, whom also the Lord of his incomprehensible goodness had regard of, so that they are not to be condemned of the Jews as strangers. 2. I will openly profess, and set forth thy Name. 15:13 1. He sealeth up as it were all the former treatise with prayers, wishing all that to be given them of the Lord, that he had commanded them. 2. In whom we hope. 3. Abundantly and plentifully.
and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost.

14 And I myself also am persuaded of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodness, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admonish one another.

15 Nevertheless, brethren, I have somewhat boldly after a sort written unto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is given me of God,

16 That I should be the minister of Jesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministering the Gospel of God, that the offering up of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost.

17 I have therefore whereinof I may rejoice in Christ Jesus in those things which pertain to God.

18 For I dare not speak of anything, which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentiles obedient in word and deed, 19 With the power of signs and wonders, by the power of the spirit of God: so that from Jerusalem, and round about unto Illyricum, I have caused to abound the Gospel of Christ.

20 Yea, so I enforced myself to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should have built on another man’s foundation.

21 But as it is written, To whom he was not spoken, they shall see him, and they that heard not, shall understand him.

22 Therefore also I have been oft let to come unto you:

23 But now seeing I have no more place in these quarters, and also have been desirous many years agoe to come unto you,

24 When I shall take my journey into Spain, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my journey, and to be brought on my way thitherward by you, after that I have been somewhat filled with your company.

25 But now go I to Jerusalem, to minister unto the Saints.

26 For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certain distribution unto the poor Saints which are at Jerusalem.

27 For it hath pleased them, and their debtors are they: for if the Gentiles be made partakers of their spiritual things, their duty is also to minister unto them in carnal things.

28 When I have therefore performed this, and have sealed them this fruit, I will pass by you into Spain.

29 And I know when I come, that I shall come to you with abundance of the blessing of the Gospel of Christ.

30 Also brethren, I beseech you for our Lord Jesus Christ’s sake, and for the love of the spirit, that ye would strive with me by prayers to God for me,

31 That I may be delivered from them which are disobedient in Judea, and that my service which I have to do at Jerusalem, may be accepted of the Saints, 32 That I may come unto you with joy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed.

33 Thus the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

16 He commendeth Phoebe. 3 He sendeth greeting to many. 17 And warneth to beware of them which are the causes of division.

1 I commend unto you Phoebe our sister, which is a servant of the Church of Cenchrea:

2 That ye receive her in the Lord, as it becometh...
Saints, and that ye assist her in whatsoever business she needeth of your aid: for she hath given hospitality unto many, and to me also.

3 Greet Priscilla, and Aquila, my fellow helpers in Christ Jesus.

4 (Which have for my life laid down their own neck. Unto whom not I only give thanks, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles.)

5 Likewise greet the Church that is in their house. Salute my beloved Epaphroditus, which is the firstfruits of Achaia in Christ.

6 Greet Mary which bestowed much labor on us.

7 Salute Andronicus and Junia my kinswomen and fellow prisoners, which are notable among the Apostles, and were in Christ before me.

8 Greet Amplias my beloved in the Lord.

9 Salute Urbanus our fellow helper in Christ, and Stachys my beloved.

10 Salute Apelles approved in Christ. Salute them which are of Aristobulus' friends.

11 Salute Herodion my kinsman. Greet them which are of the friends of Narcissus which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, which women labor in the Lord. Salute the beloved Persis, which woman hath labored much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greet Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Mercurius, and the brethren which are with them.

15 Salute Philologus and Julia, Nereus, and his sister, and Olympos and all the Saints which are with them.

16 Salute one another with an holy kiss. The Churches of Christ salute you.

16:3 Romans 16:3

17 ¶ Now I beseech you brethren, mark them diligently which cause division and offenses, contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned, and avoid them.

18 For they that are such, serve not the Lord Jesus Christ but their own bellies, and with fair speech and flattering deceive the hearts of the simple.

19 For your obedience is come abroad among all: I am glad therefore of you: but yet I would have you wise unto that which is good, and simple concerning evil.

20 The God of peace shall tread Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

21 Timothy my helper, and Lucius and Jason, and Sosipater my kinsmen, salute you.

22 I Tertius, which wrote out this Epistle, salute you in the Lord.

23 Gaius mine host, and of the whole Church salute you. Erastus the steward of the city salute you, and Quartus a brother.

24 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

25 To him now that is of power to establish you according to my Gospel, and preaching of Jesus Christ, by the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began:

26 (But now is opened, and published among all nations by the Scriptures of the Prophets, at the commandment of the everlasting God for the obedience of faith.)

27 To God, I say, only wise, be praise through Jesus Christ for ever. Amen.

Written to the Romans from Corinth, and sent by Phoebe, servant of the Church which is at Cenchrea.

165 1 The company of the faithful, for in so great a city as that was, there were divers companies.

2 For he was the first of Achaia that believed in Christ: and this kind of speech is an allusion to the ceremonies of the Law.

167 1 Ingrafted by faith.

16:16 ¶ He calleth an holy kiss, which proceedeth from an heart which is full of that holy love: now this is to be referred to the manner used in those days.

16:17 ¶ As by namely describing them, which were worthy of commendation, he sufficiently declared when they ought to hear and follow; so doth he now point out unto them whom they ought to mendation, he sufficiently declared when they ought to hear and follow.

2 Warily and diligently, as though you should scout out for your enemies in a watch tower.

16:18 ¶ The word which he useth, signifieth a promising which performeth nothing, and if thou hearest any such, thou mayest assure thyself that he that promiseth thee is more careful of thy matters, than of his own.

16:19 ¶ Simplicity must be joined with wisdom.

2 Furnished with the knowledge of the truth, and wisdom, that you may embrace good things, and eschew evil, beware of the deceits and snares of false prophets, and resist them openly: and this place doth plainly destroy the Papists' faith of credit, whereas they maintain it to be sufficient for one man to believe as another man believeth, without further knowledge, or examination what the matter is, or what ground it hath: using these daily speeches, We believe as our fathers believed, and we believe as the Church believeth.

3 As men that know no way to deceive, much less to deceive in deed.

16:20 ¶ We must fight, with a certain hope of victory.

16:21 ¶ He annexeth salutations, partly to renew mutual friendship, and partly to the end that this Epistle might be of some weight with the Romans, having the confirmation of so many that subscribed unto it.

16:22 ¶ Wrote it as Paul uttered it.

16:24 ¶ Now taking his leave of them this third time, he wisheth that unto them, whereupon dependeth all the force of the former doctrine.

16:25 ¶ He setteth forth the power and wisdom of God with great thanksgiving, which especially appears in the Gospel, and maketh mention also of the calling of the Gentiles to confirm the Romans in the hope of this salvation.

2 That secret and hidden thing, that is to say, the calling of the Gentiles.

16:26 ¶ Offered and exhibited to all nations to be known.
THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS

1 After the salutation, 10 which in effect is an exhortation. 12 He reprehended the Corinthians' sects and divisions, 17 and calleth them from pride to humility: 20 For overthrowing all worldly wisdom. 23, 25 he advanceth only the preaching of the cross.

1 Paul called to be an Apostle of Jesus Christ, through the will of God, and our brother Sosthenes,
2 Unto the Church of God, which is at Corinth, to them that are sanctified in Christ Jesus, Saints by calling, with all that call on the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ in every place, both their Lord, and ours:
3 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.
4 I thank my God always on your behalf for the forbearance of you all, how excellently ye are made rich in him in all things, and how in him ye are made rich in every way.
5 That in all things ye are made rich in him, by the grace of God, which is given you in Jesus Christ.

2 all kind of speech, and in all knowledge:
6 As the testimony of Jesus Christ hath been confirmed in you:
7 So that ye are not destitute of any gift: waiting for the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ.
8 C Who shall also confirm you unto the end, that ye may be blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.
9 God is faithful, by whom ye are called unto the fellowship of his son Jesus Christ our Lord.
10 I beseech you, brethren, by the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak one thing, and that there be no dissensions among you; but be ye knit together in one mind, and in one judgment.
11 For it hath been declared unto me, my brethren, of you by them that are of the house of Chloe, that going about to condemn many vices, he beginneth with a true commendation of their virtues, lest he might seem after to descend to chiding being moved with malice or envy: yet so, that he referreth all to God as the author of them, and that in Christ. That the Corinthians might be more ashamed to profane and abuse the holy gifts of God.
1:4 He toucheth that by name, which they most abused.
1:5 Seeing that while we live here, we know but in part and prophesy in part, this word (All) must be refrained to the present state of the faithful: and by speech he meanceth not a vain kind of babbling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abused.
1:6 He showeth that the true use of these gifts consisteth herein that the mighty power of Christ might thereby be set forth in them, that hereafter it might evidently appear how wickedly they abused them to glory and ambition.
1:7 He saith by the way, that there is no cause why they should please themselves so much in those gifts which they had received, seeing that those were nothing in comparison of them which are to be looked for.
1:8 He speaketh of the last coming of Christ.
1:9 1 True and constant, who doth not only call us, but giveth us the gift of perseverance also.
1:10 Having made an end of the preface, he cometh to the matter itself, beginning with the most grave obstestation, as though they should hear Christ himself speaking and not Paul.
1:11 He beginneth his reprehension and chiding by taking away of the doctrine, do yet separate themselves one from another.

T TH E FIRST EPISTLE O F PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS

1:1 1 The inscription of the Epistle, wherein he chiefly goeth about to procure the good will of the Corinthians towards him, yet notwithstanding so, that always he letteth them to wit, that he is the servant of God, and not of men.
2 If he be an Apostle, then he must be heard, although he sometimes reprehend them sharply, seeing he hath not his own cause in hand, but is a messenger that bringeth the commandments of Christ.
3 He joineth Sosthenes with himself, that this doctrine might be confirmed by two witnesses.
1:2 2 It is a Church of God, although it hath great faults in it, so that it obey them which admonish it.
2 A true definition of the Catholic Church, which is one.
3 The father sanctifieth us, that is to say, separateth us from the wicked, in giving us to his Son, that he may be in us, and we in him.
4 Whom God of his gracious goodness and mere love hath separated for himself: or whom God hath called to holiness: the first of these two expositions sheweth from whence our sanctification cometh, and the second sheweth to what end it tendeth.
5 He is said properly to call on God, who crieth unto the Lord when he is in danger, and craveth help at his hands: and by the figure Synecdoche it is taken for all the service of God: and therefore to call upon Christ's Name, is to acknowledge and take him for very God.
1:3 The foundation and the life of the Church, is Christ Jesus given of the Father.
1:4 Going about to condemn many vices, he beginneth with a true commendation of their virtues, lest he might seem after to descend to chiding being moved with malice or envy: yet so, that he referreth all to God as the author of them, and that in Christ. That the Corinthians might be more ashamed to profane and abuse the holy gifts of God.
1:5 1 He toucheth that by name, which they most abused.
2 Seeing that while we live here, we know but in part and prophesy in part, this word (All) must be refrained to the present state of the faithful: and by speech he meanceth not a vain kind of babbling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abused.
1:6 He showeth that the true use of these gifts consisteth herein that the mighty power of Christ might thereby be set forth in them, that hereafter it might evidently appear how wickedly they abused them to glory and ambition.
2 By those excellent gifts of the holy Ghost.
1:7 He saith by the way, that there is no cause why they should please themselves so much in those gifts which they had received, seeing that those were nothing in comparison of them which are to be looked for.
3 He speaketh of the last coming of Christ.
1:8 He testifieth that he hopeth well of them hereafter, that they may more patiently abide his reprehension afterward. And yet together therewithall sheweth, that as well the beginning as the accomplishing of our salvation is only the work of God.
2 He calleth them blameless, not whom man never found fault with, but with whom no man can justly find fault, that is to say, them which are in Christ Jesus, in whom there is no condemnation. See Luke 1:6.
19 True and constant, who doth not only call us, but giveth us the gift of perseverance also.
1:10 Having made an end of the preface, he cometh to the matter itself, beginning with the most grave obstestation, as though they should hear Christ himself speaking and not Paul.
1:11 He beginneth his reprehension and chiding by taking away of the doctrine, do yet separate themselves one from another.

Knit together, as a body that consisteth of all his parts fitly knit together.
12 Now this I say, that every one of you saith, I am Paul’s, and I am Apollo’s, and I am Cephas’s and I am Christ’s.

13 Is Christ divided? was Paul crucified for you? or were ye baptized into the name of Paul?

14 I thank God, that I baptized none of you, but Crispus, and Gaius, 15 Lest any should say, that I had baptized into mine own name.

16 I baptized also the household of Stephanas; furthermore know I not, whether I baptized any other.

17 For CHRIST sent me not to baptize, but to preach the Gospel, not with the wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect.

18 For that preaching of the cross is to them that perish, foolishness; but unto us, which are saved, it is the power of God.

19 For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will cast away the understanding of the prudent.

20 Where is the wise? where is the Scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made the foolishness of the world to appear foolishness?

21 For seeing the world by wisdom knew not God in the wisdom of GOD, it pleased God by the an objection: for that be understood by good witnesses, that there were many factions among them. And therewithal he openeth the cause of dissensions, because that some did hang on one doctor, some on another, and some were so addicted to themselves, that they neglected all doctors and teachers, calling themselves the disciples of Christ only, shutting forth their teachers.

1:12 1 The matter I would say to you, is this.

1:13 1 The first reason why schisms ought to be eschewed: because Christ forsook by that means, to be divided and torn in pieces, who cannot be the head of two divers and disagreeing bodies, being himself one.

2 Another reason: Because they cannot without great injury to God so hang of men as of Christ: which thing no doubt they do, which allow whatsoever some man speaketh, even for his person’s sake: as these men allowed one selfsame Gospel being uttered of one man, and did loathe it being uttered of another man. So that these factions were called by the names of their teachers. Now Paul setteth down his own name not only to grieve no man, but also to sheweth it he pleaded not his own cause.

3 The third reason taken of the form and end of Baptism, wherein we make a promise to Christ, calling on also the Name of the Father and the holy Ghost. Therefore although a man does not fall from the doctrine of Christ, yet if he hang upon some certain teachers, and despise others, he forsaketh Christ: for if he hold Christ his only master, he would desire him, teaching by whomsoever.

1:14 1 He protesteth that he speaketh so much the more boldly of these things, because that through God’s providence he is void of all suspicion of challenging disciples unto himself, and taking them from others. Whereby we may understand that not the scholars only, but the teachers also are here reprehended, which gathered themselves flocks apart.

1:17 1 The taking away of an objection: that he gave not himself to baptize many amongst them: not for the contempt of Baptism, but because he was chiefly occupied in delivering the doctrine, and committed them that received his doctrine to others to be baptized, whereof he had store. And so he declared sufficiently how far he was from all ambition: whereas on the other side they whom he reprehended, as though they gathered disciples unto themselves and not to Christ, bragged most ambitiously of numbers, which they had baptized.

2 Now he turneth himself to the doctors themselves, which pleased themselves in brave and ambitious eloquence, to the end that they might draw more disciples after them. He confesseth plainly that he was unlike unto them, opposing gravely as it became an Apostle, his example against their perverse judgments: So that this is another place of this Epistle, touching the observing of a godly simplicity, both in words and sentences in teaching of the Gospel.

3 With eloquence: which Paul casteth off from him not only, as not necessary, but also as flat contrary to the office of his Apostleship, and yet had Paul his kind of eloquence, but it was heavenly, not of man, and void of painted words.

4 The reason why he used not the pomp of words and painted speech: because it was God’s will to bring the world to his obedience by that way, whereby the most idiots amongst men might understand, that this work was done of God himself without the art of man. Therefore as salvation is set forth unto us in the Gospel by the cross of Christ, then which nothing is more contemptible, and more far from life, so God would have the manner of the preaching of the cross most different from those means, with which men do use to draw and entice others, either to hear or believe: therefore it pleased him by a certain kind of most wise folly, to triumph over the most foolish wisdom of the world, as he had said before by Isaiah: that he would. And hereby this we may gather, that both those doctors which were puffed up with ambitious eloquence, and also their hearers stayed far away from the end and mark of their vocation.

1:18 1 The preaching of Christ crucified, or the kinds of speech which we use.

2 It is that wherein he declareth his marvelous power in saving his elect, which would not so evidently appear, if it hanged upon any help of man: for so man might attribute that to himself, which is proper only to the cross of Christ.

1:19 1 The Apostle proveth that this ought not only not to seem strange, seeing that it was foretold so long before, but declareth further, that God is wont to punish the pride of the world in such sort, which so pleaseth itself in its own wisdom: and therefore that that is vain, yea a thing of nothing, and such as God rejecteth as unprofitable, which they so carefully labored for, and made so great account of.

1:20 1 Where art thou, O thou learned fellow, and thou that spendest thy days in turning thy books?

2 Thou that spendest all thy time in seeking out the secret things of this world, and in expounding all hard questions: and thus triumphest he against all the men of this world, for there was not one of them that could so much as dream upon this secret and hidden mystery.

1:21 1 He sheweth that the pride of men was worthily punished of GOD, because they would not behold God, as meet was they should; in the most clear glass of the wisdom of the world, which is the workmanship of the world.

2 By the world he meaneth all men which are not born anew, but remain as they were, when they were first born.

3 In the workmanship of this world, which hath the marvelous wisdom of God engraved in it, so that every man may behold it.

4 The goodness of God is wonderful, for while he goeth about to punish the pride of the world, he is very provident and careful, for the salvation of it, and teacheth men to become fools, that they may be wise to God.
2:6

1 For we do not preach ourselves, but Jesus Christ as the wisdom of God.
2 And the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.
3 And the base things of the world, and the things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
4 And things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
5 So as to save them that believe.

2:5

1 But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption.
2 That, according as it is written, m He that rejoiceth, let him rejoice in the Lord.

3 For we do not preach ourselves, but Jesus Christ as the wisdom of God.
4 And the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.
5 And the base things of the world, and the things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
6 And things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
7 So as to save them that believe.

2:3

1 For we do not preach ourselves, but Jesus Christ as the wisdom of God.
2 And the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.
3 And the base things of the world, and the things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
4 And things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
5 So as to save them that believe.

2:4

1 For we do not preach ourselves, but Jesus Christ as the wisdom of God.
2 And the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.
3 And the base things of the world, and the things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
4 And things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
5 So as to save them that believe.

2:2

1 For we do not preach ourselves, but Jesus Christ as the wisdom of God.
2 And the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.
3 And the base things of the world, and the things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
4 And things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
5 So as to save them that believe.

2:1

1 For we do not preach ourselves, but Jesus Christ as the wisdom of God.
2 And the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.
3 And the base things of the world, and the things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
4 And things which are nothing, hath God taken to be things of chiefest importance.
5 So as to save them that believe.
7 But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hid wisdom, which God had determined before the world, unto our glory.

8 Which none of the princes of this world hath known: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

9 But as it is written, The things which eye hath not seen, neither ear hath heard, neither came into man’s heart, are, which God hath prepared for them that love him.

10 But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searches all things, yea, the deep things of God.

11 For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God.

12 Now we have received not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit, which is of God, that we might know the things that are given to us of God.

13 Which things also we speak, not in the words which man’s wisdom teacheth, but which the holy Ghost teacheth, comparing spiritual things with spiritual things.

14 But the natural man perceiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him, neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.

15 But he that is spiritual, discerneth all things: yet he himself is judged of no man.

16 For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may direct him? but we have the mind of Christ.
that he might instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ.

3 1 He yieldeth a reason why he preached small matters unto them: 4 He showeth how they ought to esteem of Ministers: 6 The minister's office. 10 A true form of edifying. 16 He warneth the Corinthians, that they be not drawn away to profane things, 18 through the proud wisdom of the flesh.

1 And I could not speak unto you, brethren, as unto spiritual men, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ.

2 I gave you milk to drink, and not meat: for ye were not yet able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able.

3 For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men?

4 For when one saith, I am Paul's, and another, I am Apollos's, are ye not carnal?

5 Who is Paul then? and who is Apollos, but the ministers by whom ye believed, and as the Lord gave to every man?

6 I have planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the increase.

7 So then, neither is he that planteth anything, neither he that watereth, but God that giveth the increase.

8 And he that planteth, and he that watereth, are one, and every man shall receive his wages, according to his labor.

9 For we together are God's laborers: ye are God's husbandry, and God's building.

10 According to the grace of God given to me, as a skilful master builder, I have laid the foundation, and another buildeth thereon: 1 but let every man take heed how he buildeth upon it.

11 For other foundation can no man lay, than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

12 And if any man build on this foundation, gold, silver, precious stones, timber, hay, or stubble,
13. Every man's work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by the fire: and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is.

14. If any man's work shall abide the fire, he shall receive his wages.

15. If any man's work be burned, he shall lose it, but he shall be saved, yet so as he himself shall be saved; nevertheless so as he himself shall be saved; yet so as he himself shall be saved.

16. Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the temple of God is holy, which ye are. And God will destroy him who defileth it, and maketh it unclean, being holy; and surely they are as he teacheth, so many pollutions of the holy doctrine of God, which wickedness shall not be suffered unpunished.

17. Let no man deceive himself: if any man among you seem to be wise in this world, let him be a fool, that he may be wise.

18. For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God: for it is written, 'He catcheth the wise in their own craftiness.'

19. And again, The Lord knoweth that the thoughts of the wise be vain.

21. Therefore let no man rejoice in men: for all things are 'yours.'

22. Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, whether they be things present, or things to come, even all are yours.

23. And ye Christ's, and Christ God's.

4. 1 Bringing in the definition of a true Apostle, he showeth that humility ought rather to be an honor than a shame unto him. 2 He bringeth in proof, whereby it may evidently appear, 3 that he neither had care of glory. 11 nor of his belly. 17 He commendeth Timothy.

1. Let 'a' man so think of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and disposers of the secrets of God:

2. And as for the rest, it is required of the disposers, that every man be found faithful.

3. As touching me, I pass very little to be judged of you, 2or of man's judgment: no, 4I judge not mine own self.

4. For I know nothing by myself, yet am I not God hath appointed to be ministers, and not lords of their salvation, which thing they do, that depend upon men, and not upon God, that speaketh by them.

2. Please himself.

3. Helps, appointeth for your benefit.

22. Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, whether they be things present, or things to come, even all are yours.

And ye Christ's, and Christ God's.
This passage from the Geneva Bible discusses the importance of humility and modesty, contrasting them with pride and boasting. It starts by stating that God judges nothing before the time, and then goes on to say that anyone who is proud is not fit to be judged. It then provides examples of humility and modesty, such as the Apostle Paul, who chose to take on the faults of others rather than boasting of his own virtues. The text also mentions the importance of working with our own hands and not living off others. It concludes by emphasizing the need for unity and cooperation among believers, and the importance of not being puffed up with false pride.
2 1And ye are puffed up, and have not rather sorrowed, that he which hath done this deed, might be put from among you.
3 1For I verily as absent in body, but present in spirit, have determined already as though I were present, that he that hath thus done this thing.
4 When ye are gathered together, and my spirit, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that such one, I say, by the power of our Lord Jesus Christ, 5Be delivered unto Satan, for the destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.
6 Your rejoicing is not good: know ye not that a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump?
7 Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened: for Christ our Passover is sacrificed for us.
8 Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither in the leaven of malice and wickedness: but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.
9 I wrote unto you in an Epistle, that ye should not company together with fornicators, not with evil of itself.

5:2 1 There are none more proud, than they that least know themselves.
5:3 1 Excommunication ought not to be committed to one man's power, but must be done by the authority of the whole Congregation, after that the matter is diligently examined.
2 In mind, thought, and will.
5:4 1 Calling upon Christ his Name.
5:5 1 The excommunicate is delivered to the power of Satan, in that, that he is cast out of the house of God.
2 What it is to be delivered to Satan, the Lord himself declareth when he saith, Let him be unto thee as an Heathen and Publican, Matt 18:17; that is to say, to be disfranchised, and put out of the right and liberty of the city of Christ, which is the Church, without which Satan is lord and master.
3 The end of excommunication is not to cast away the communicate, that he should utterly perish, but that he may be saved, to wit, that by this means his flesh may be tamed, that he may learn to live to the Spirit.
5:6 1 Another end of excommunication is, that others be not infected, and therefore it must of necessity be retained in the Church, that the one be not infected by the other.
2 Is naught, and not grounded upon good reason, as though you were excellent, and yet there is such wickedness found amongst you.
5:7 1 By alluding to the ceremony of the Passover, he exhorteth them to cast out that unclean person from amongst them. In times past, saith he, it was not lawful for them which did celebrate the Passover, to eat leavened bread: insomuch that he was helden as unclean and unworthy to eat the Passover, whosoever had but tasted of leaven. Now our whole life must be as it were the feast of unleavened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lamb which is slain, must cast out both of themselves, and also out of their houses and Congregations all impurity.
2 By lump he meaneth the whole body of the Church, every member whereof must be unleavened bread, that is, be renewed in spirit, by plucking away the old corruption.
3 The Lamb of our Passover.

5:8 1 Let us lead our whole life, as it were a continual feast, honestly and uprightly.
5:9 1 Now he speaketh more generally; and that which he spake before of the incestuous person, he sheweth that it pertaineth to others, which are known to be wicked, and such as through their naughty life are a slander to the Church, which ought also by lawful order be cast out of the community of the Church. And making mention of eating meat, either he meaneth those feasts of love whereat the Supper of the Lord was received, or else their common usage and manner of life which is rightly to be taken, lest any man should think that either marriage were broken by excommunication, or such duties hindered and cut off thereby, as we owe one to another: children to their parents, subjects to their rulers, servants to their masters, and neighbor to neighbor, to win one another to God.
5:10 1 If you should utterly abstain from such men's company, you should go out of the world: therefore I speak of them which are in the bosom of the Church, which must be called home by discipline, and not of them which are without, with whom we must labor by all means possible, to bring them to Christ.
5:12 1 Such as are false brethren, ought to be cast out of the Congregation: as for them which are without, they must be left to the judgment of God.

6:1 1 The third question is of civil judgments: Whether it be lawful for one faithful to draw another faithful before the judgment seat of infidels? He answereth that it is not lawful, for offense sake, for it is not evil of itself.
2 As if he said, Are ye become so impudent, that you are not ashamed to make the Gospel a laughingstock to profane men?
3 Before the unjust...
4 He addeth that he doth not forbid that one neighbor may go to law with another, if need so require, but yet under holy judges.
6:2 1 He gathereth by a comparison that the faithful cannot seek to infidels to be judged, without great injury done to the Saints, seeing that God himself will make the Saints judges of the world, and of the devils, with his Son Christ: much more ought they to judge these light and small causes: which may be by equity, and good conscience, determineth.
world? If the world then shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters?

3 Know ye not that we shall judge the angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?

4 If then ye have judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them up which are least esteemed in the Church.

5 I speak it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one, that can judge between his brethren?

6 But a brother goeth to law with a brother, and that under the infidels.

7 Now therefore there is altogether infirmity in you, that ye go to law one with another: why rather suffer ye not wrong? why rather sustaine ye not harm?

8 Nay, ye yourselves do wrong, and do harm, and that to your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wretches, nor revolters, 10 Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shall inherit the kingdom of God.

11 And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified, in the Name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God.

12 ¶ All things are lawful unto me, but all things are not profitable. I may do all things, but I will not be brought under the power of any thing.

13 Meats are ordained for the belly, and the belly for the meats: but God shall destroy both it, and them. Now the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath also raised up the Lord, and shall raise us up by his power.

15 Know ye not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 Do ye not know, that he which coupleth himself with a harlot committeth sin? but he which coupleth himself with the Lord is one spirit.
6:17 with an harlot, is one body? for two, saith he, shall be one flesh.
17 But he that is joined unto the Lord, is one spirit.
18 *Flee fornication: every sin that a man doeth, is without the body: but he that committeth fornication, sinneth against his own body.
19 *Know ye not, that your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye have of God? and ye are not your own.
20 *For ye are bought for a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit: for they are God's.

Entreatings here of marriage. 4 which is a remedy against fornication, and may not be broken.

18, 20 He willleth every man to live contented with his lot. 25 He showeth what the end of virginity should be, and who ought to marry.

1 Now concerning the things whereof ye wrote unto me, it were good for a man not to touch a woman.
2 Nevertheless, to avoid fornication, let every man have his wife, and let every woman have her own husband.
3 *As for the husband give unto the wife due benevolence, and likewise also the wife unto the husband.
4 The wife hath not the power of her own body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not the power of his own body, but the wife.

5 *Defraud not one another, except it be with consent for a time, that ye may give yourselves to fasting and prayer, and again come together, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinency.
6 *But I speak this by permission, not by commandment.
7 For I would that all men were as I myself am: but every man hath his proper gift of God, one after this manner, and another after that.
8 *Therefore I say unto the unmarried, and unto the widows, It is good for them if they abide even as I do.
9 But if they cannot abstain, let them marry: for it is better to marry than to burn.
10 And unto the married I command, not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband.
11 But and if she depart, let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled unto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.
12 *But to the remnant I speak, and not the Lord. If any brother have a wife that believeth not, if she be content to dwell with him, let him not forsake her.
13 And the woman which hath an husband that believeth not, if he be content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him.

6:16 2 Moses doth not speak these words of fornication, but of marriage: but seeing that fornication is the corrupting of marriage, and both of them is a carnal and fleshly copulation, we cannot say that the Apostle abuseth his testimony. Again, Moses hath not this word (Two) but it is very well expresseth both here and in Matt. 29, because he speaketh only but of man and wife whereupon the opinion of them that vouch it to be lawful to have many wives, is beaten down: for he that cometh with many, is undered as it were into many parts.

6:18 1 Another argument why fornication is to be eschewed, because it defleth the body with a peculiar kind of filthiness.

6:19 1 The third argument: Because a fornicator is sacrilegious, for that our bodies are consecrate to God.

2 The fourth argument: Because we are not our own men, to give ourselves to any other, much less to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himself hath bought us, and that with a great price, to the end that both in body and soul, we should serve to his glory.

7:1 1 He teacheth concerning marriage, that although a single life hath his commodities, which he will declare afterwards, yet that marriage is necessary for the avoiding of fornication: but so that neither one man may have many wives, or any wife many husbands.

2 Touching those matters whereof ye wrote unto me.

3 Commodious, and (as we say) expedient. For marriage bringeth many griefs with it, and that by reason of the corruption of our first estate.

7:3 1 Secondly, he showeth that the parties married, must with singular affection entirely love one the other.

2 This word (due) containeth all kind of benevolence, though he speak more of one sort than of the other, in that that followeth.

7:4 1 Thirdly, he warneth them that they are each in other's power, as touching the body, so that they may not defraud one another.

7:5 1 He addeth an exception: unless the one abstain from the other by mutual consent, that they may the better give themselves to prayer, wherein notwithstanding, he warneth them to consider what is expedient, lest by this long breaking off as it were from marriage, they destired up to incontinency.

2 Do nothing else.

7:6 1 Filthyly, he teacheth that marriage is not simply necessary for all men, but for them which have not the gift of continency, and this gift is by a peculiar grace of God.

7:7 1 I wish.

7:8 1 Sixthly, he giveth the selfsame admonition touching the second marriage, to wit, that a single life is to be allowed, but for such as have the gift of continency: otherwise they ought to marry again, that their conscience may be at peace.

2 This whole place is flat against them which condemn second marriages.

7:9 1 So to burn with lust, that either the will yieldeth to the temptation, or else we cannot call upon God with a quiet conscience.

7:10 1 Seventhly, he forbiddeth contentions and the publishing of divorces (for he speaketh not here of the fault of whoredom, which was then death even by the law of the Romans also) whereby he affirmeth that the hand of marriage is not dissolved, and that from Christ's mouth.

7:12 1 Eighthly, he affirmeth that those marriages which are already contracted between a faithful and an unfaithful or infidel, are firm, so that the faithful may not forsake the unfaithful.
14 1 For the unbelieving husband is sanctified to the wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified to the husband, else were your children unclean: but now are they holy.

15 1 But if the unbelieving depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in subjection in such things: but God hath called us in peace.

16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt save thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt save thy wife?

17 1 But as God hath distributed to every man, as the Lord hath called every one, so let him walk: and so ordain I in all Churches.

18 1 Is any man called being circumcised? let him not gather his uncircumcision: is any called uncircumcised? let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandments of God.

20 1 Let every man abide in the same vocation wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a servant? care not for it: but if yet thou mayest be free, use it rather.

22 For he that is called in the Lord, being a servant, is the Lord's freeman: likewise also he that is called being free, is Christ's servant.

23 1 Ye are bought with a price: be not the servants of men.

24 1 Brethren, let every man, wherein he was called, therein abide with that whereof he is called.

25 Now concerning virgins, I have no commandment of the Lord: but I give mine advice, as one that hath obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithful.

26 I suppose then this to be good for the present necessity: I mean that it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound unto a wife? seek not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seek not a wife.

28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgin marry, she sinneth not: nevertheless, such shall have trouble in the flesh: but I spare you.

29 And this I say, brethren, because the time is not in them, and therefore these are no hindrance to obey God.

2 He is said to gather his uncircumcision, who by the help of a Chirurgeon recovereth an upper skin: which is done by the drawing the skin with an instrument, to make it to cover the nut. Celsus in book 7, chapter 25.

21 1 As though this calling were too unworthy a calling for Christ.

22 1 He that is in state of a servant, and is called to be a Christian.

23 1 He sheweth the reason of the unlikeness, because that he that desireth to be circumcised, maketh himself subject to man's tradition, and not to God. And this may be much more understood of superstitions, which some do foolishly appoint for things indifferent.

24 1 A repetition of the general doctrine.

2 So purely and from the heart, that your doings may be approved before God.

25 1 He enjoineth virginity to no man, yet he persuadeth and praiseth it for another respect, to wit, both for the necessity of the present time, because the faithful could scarce abide in any place, and use the commodities of this present life, and therefore such as were not troubled with families, might be the reader: and also for the cares of this life, which marriage draweth with it necessity, so that they cannot but have their minds distracted: and this hath place in women especially.

2 The circumstances considered, this I counsel you.

2 It is I that speak this which I am minded to speak: and the truth is, I am a man, but yet worthy credit, for I have obtained of the Lord to be such an one.

26 1 To remain a virgin.

2 For the necessity which the Saints are daily subject unto, who are continually tossed up and down, so that their estate may seem most unfit for marriage, were it not that the weakness of the flesh enforced them to it.

28 1 By the (flesh) he understandeth what things forever belong to this present life, for marriage bringeth with it many commoditie: so that he bendeth more to a sole life, not because it is a service more agreeable to God than marriage is, but for those commoditie, which (if it were possible) he would wish all men to be void of, that they might give themselves to God only.

2 I would your weakness be provided for.
1 Corinthians 7:30

1 short, hereafter that both they which have wives, be as though they had none:

30 And they that weep, as though they wept not: and they that rejoice, as though they rejoiced not: and they that buy, as though they possessed not:

31 And they that use this world, as though they used it not: for the fashion of this world goeth away.

32 And I would have you without care. The unmarried careth for things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord.

33 But he that is married, careth for the things of the world, how he may please his wife.

34 There is difference also between a virgin and a wife: the unmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in spirit: but she that is married, careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

35 And this I speak for your own commodiy, not to tangle you in a snare, but that ye follow that which is honest, and that ye may cleave fast unto the Lord without separation.

36 But if any man think that it is uncomely for his virgin, if she pass the flower of her age, and need so require, let him do what he will, he sinneth not: let them be married.

37 Nevertheless, he that standeth firm in his heart, that he hath no need, but hath power over his own will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that he will keep his virgin, he doeth well.

38 So then he that giveth her to marriage, doeth well, but he that giveth her not to marriage, doeth better.

39 The wife is bound by the law, as long as her husband liveth: but if her husband be dead, she is at liberty to marry with whom she will, only in the Lord.

40 But she is more blessed, if she so abide in my judgment: and I think that I have also the Spirit of God.

8 1 From this place unto the end of the tenth Chapter, he willeth them not to be at the Gentiles’ profane banquets. 13 He restraineth the abuse of Christian liberty. 11 And sheweth that knowledge must be tempered with charity.

1 And as touching things sacrificed unto idols, we know that we all have knowledge: knowledge puffeth up, but love edifieth.

2 Now, if any man think that he knoweth anything, he knoweth nothing, yet as he ought to know.

3 But if any man love God, the same is known of him.

4 Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed unto idols, we know that an idol is nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one.

7:29 1 For we are now in the latter end of the world.

7:30 1 By weeping, the Hebrews understand all adversity, and be joy, all prosperity.

7:31 1 Those things which God giveth us here.

2 The guise, the shape, and fashion: whereby he showeth us, that there is nothing in this world that continueth.

7:33 1 They that are married, have their wits drawn hither and thither, and therefore if any man have the gift of continency, it is more commodious for him to live alone: but they that are married may care for the things of the Lord also, Clement, Strom. 3.

7:34 1 Mind.

7:35 1 He meaneth that he will enforce no man either to marry or not to marry, but to show them barely what kind of life is most commodious.

7:36 1 Now he turneth himself to the Parents, in whose power and authority their children are, warning them that according to the former doctrine they consider what is meet and convenient for their children, that they neither deprive them of the necessary remedy against incontinency, nor constrain them to marry, whereas neither their will doth lead them, nor any necessity urgeth them. And again he praiseth virginity, but of itself, and not in all.

2 He doeth well for so he expoundeth it verse 38.

7:37 1 Resolved with himself.

2 That the weakness of his daughter enforceth him not, or any other matter, that that he may safely keep her a virgin still.

7:38 1 Provideth more commodiously for his children, and that not simply, but by reason of such conditions as are before mentioned.

7:39 1 That which he spake of a widower, he speaketh now of a widow, to wit, that she may marry again, so that she do it in the fear of God: and yet he dissembleth not, but saith, that if she remain still a widow, she shall be void of many cares.

4 By the law of marriage.

2 Religiously, and in the fear of God.

8:1 1 He entereth to entreat of another kind of things indifferent, to wit, of things offered to idols, or the use or flesh so offered and sacrificed. And first of all he removeth all those things which the Corinthians pretended in using things offered to idols without any respect. First of all they affirmed that this difference of meats was for unskillful men, but as for them, they knew well enough the benefit of Christ, which causeth all these things to be clean to them that are clean. Be it so saith Paul: be it that we are all sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Christ. I say notwithstanding that we must not simply rest in this knowledge. The reason is that unless our knowledge be tempered with charity, it doth not only not avail, but also doeth much hurt, because it is the mystery of pride: nay, it doth not edge be tempered with charity, it doth not only not avail, but also doeth much hurt, because it is the mystery of pride: nay, it doth not so much as discern the name of godly knowledge, if it be separate from the love of God and therefore from the love of our neighbor.

2 This general word is to be abridged as appeareth verse 7, for there is a kind of taunt in it, as we may perceive by the next verse.

3 Ministereth occasion of vanity and pride, because it is void of charity.

4 Instructed our neighbor.

8:4 1 The application of that answer to things offered to idols: I grant, saith he that an idol is indeed a vain imagination, and that there is but one God and Lord, herefore that meat cannot be made holy or profane by the idol: but it followeth not therefore that a man may not to tend you in a snare, but that there is a kind of taunt in it, as we may perceive by the next verse.

2 This word (idol) in this place is taken for an image which is made to present some godhead, that worship might be given unto it: whereupon came the word (idolatrie) that is to say, Image service.

3 It is a vain dream.
5 For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven, or in earth (as there be many gods, and many lords.)

6 Yet unto us there is but one God, which is that Father, of whom are all things, and we in him, and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him.

7 But every man hath not that knowledge: for many having conscience of the idol, until this hour, eat as a thing sacrificed unto the idol, and so their conscience being weak, is defiled.

8 But meat maketh us not acceptable to God, for neither if we eat, have we the more: neither if we eat not, have we the less.

9 But take heed lest by any means this power of yours be an occasion of falling, to them that are weak.

10 For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idol's temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weak, be boldened, to eat those things which are sacrificed to idols?

11 And through thy knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ died.

12 Now when ye sin so against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ.

13 Wherefore if meat offend my brother, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, that I may not offend my brother.

11:1 An amplification of the argument taken both of comparison and contraries. Thou wretched man, saith he, pleasing thyself with thy knowledge which indeed is none (for if thou haddest true knowledge, thou wouldst not sit down to meat in idol's temple) wilt thou destroy thy brother, hardening his weak conscience by this example to do evil, for whose salvation Christ himself has died?

11:2 Another amplification: Such offending of our weak brethren redoundeth unto Christ, and therefore let not these men think that they have to do only with their brethren.

11:3 The conclusion, which Paul conceiveth in his own person, that he might not seem to exact that of others, which he will not be first subject unto himself. I had rather (saith he) abstain forever from all kind of flesh, than give occasion of sin to any of my brethren, much less would I refuse in any certain place or time for my brother's sake not to eat flesh offered to idols.

12:1 He declareth, that from the liberty which the Lord gave him, he willingly abstained, lest in things indifferent he should offend any. He showeth that our life is like unto a race.

1 A password whereby it appeareth sufficiently that God is the author of my Apostleship.

2 In the Lord.
4 1Have we not power to 'eat and to drink? 5 Or have we not power to lead about a wife being a sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas? 6 Or I only and Barnabas, have not we power ‘not to work? 7 1Who goeth a warfare any time at his own cost? who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flock, and eateth not of the milk of the flock? 8 1Say I these things according to man? saith not the Law the same also? 9 For it is written in the Law of Moses, 'Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn: doth God take care for oxen? 10 Either saith he it not altogether for our sakes? 11 Nevertheless, there is no man among men, that worketh not for wages. 12 For the apostles of Christ suffer the same things: yet for this cause, are we comforted. 13 Who setteth the apostles, and prophesiers, and pastors? Do they live of the church? 14 Even so hath the Lord ordained, that they which preach the Gospel, should live of the Gospel. 15 But I have used none of these things: neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done unto me: for it were better for me to die, than that any man should make my rejoicing vain.

9:12 1Another argument of great force: others are nourished amongst you, therefore it was lawful for me, yea rather for me than any other: and yet I refused it, and had rather still suffer any commodity, than the Gospel of Christ should be hindered. 2 The word signifieth a right and interest, whereby he giveth us to understand that the ministers of the word must of right and duty be found of the Church.

1176 1 CORINTHIANS 9:4

9:4 1Now touching the matter itself, he saith, Seeing that I am free, and truly an Apostle, why may not I (I say not, eat of all things offered to idols) but be maintained by my labors, yea and keep my wife also, as the residue of the apostles lawfully do, as by name, John and James, the Lord's cousins, and Peter himself? 2 Upon the expense of the Church? 9:5 1One that is a Christian and a true believer? 9:6 1Not to live by the work of our hands? 9:7 1That he may not seem to burden the Apostles, he showeth that it is just that they do, by an argument of comparison, seeing that soldiers live by their wages, and husbandmen by the fruits of their labors, and shepherds by that that cometh of their flocks. 2 Useth to go a warfare? 9:8 1Secondly he bringeth forth the authority of God's institution by an argument of comparison. 2 Have I no better ground than the common custom of men? 9:9 1Was it God's proper drift to provide for oxen, when he made this Law? for otherwise there is not the smallest thing in the world, but God hath a care of it. 9:11 1An assumption of the arguments with an amplification, for in neither in so doing do we require a reward meet for our deserts. 9:12 1Another argument of great force: others are nourished amongst you, therefore it was lawful for me, yea rather for me than any other: and yet I refused it, and had rather still suffer any commodity, than the Gospel of Christ should be hindered. 2 This is spoken by the figure Metonymy; for, of those things that are offered in the temple. 3 Are partakers with the altar in dividing the sacrifice.

9:14 1Because they preach the Gospel. It followed by this place, that Paul gat no living, neither would have any other man get, by any commodity of masses, or any other such superstitious trumperies.

9:15 1He taketh away occasion of suspicion by the way, that it might not be thought that he wrote this as though he challenged his wages that was not paid him. Nay saith him, I had rather die, than not continue in this purpose to preach the Gospel freely. For I am bound to preach the Gospel, seeing that the Lord hath enjoined me this office: but unless I do it willingly and for the love of God, nothing is to be allowed that I do. If I had rather that the Gospel should be evil spoken of, than that I should not require my wages, then would it appear that I took these pains not so much for the Gospel's sake, as for my gains and advantages. But I say, this were not to use, but abuse my right and liberty. Therefore not only in this thing, but also in all others (as much as I could) I am made all things to all men, that I might win them to Christ, and might together with them be won to Christ.

9:18 1By taking nothing of them to whom I preach it.

9:20 1The word (Law) in this place, must be restrained to the ceremonial Law.

9:22 1In matters that are indifferent, which may be done or not done with a good conscience: as if he said, I changed myself into all fashions, that by all means, I might save some.
23 And this I do for the Gospel’s sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you.

24 Know ye not, that they which run in a race, run all, yet one receiveth the prize? so run that ye may obtain.

25 And every man that proveth masteries, abstaineth from all things: and they do it to obtain a corruptible crown: but we for an incorruptible.

26 Therefore so run, not as uncertainly: so fight I, not as one that beareth the air.

27 But I beat down my body, and bring it into subjection, lest by any means after that I have preached to others, I myself should be reproved.

CHAPTER 10

1 If God spared not the Jews, neither will he spare those who are of like condition, 3, 4 touching the outward signs of his grace. 14 That it is absurd, that such should be partakers of the table of the devils, who are partakers of the Lord’s Supper. 24 To have consideration of our neighbor in things indifferent.

1 Moreover, brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, that all our fathers were under that cloud, and all passed through that sea,

2 And were all baptized unto Moses, in that cloud, and in that sea, as appertaineth to one man: and God is faithful, which will not suffer you to be tempted above that you be able, but will even give the issue with the temptation, that ye may be able to bear it.

14 Wherefore my beloved, flee from idolatry.

15 I speak as unto them which have understanding: judge ye what I say.

16 The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

17 For we that are many, are one bread and one body, because we all are partakers of one bread.

18 Behold Israel, which is after the flesh: are not they which eat of the sacrifices partakers of the Altar?

19 What say I then? that the idol is anything? or that that which is sacrificed to idols, is anything?

20 Nay, but that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils, and not unto God: and I would not that ye should have fellowship with the devils.

21 Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of the devils. Ye cannot be partakers of the Lord's table, and of the table of the devils.

22 Do we provoke the Lord to anger? are we stronger than he?
ing mine own profit, but the profit of many, that they might be saved.

11 1 He blameth the Corinthians for that in their holy assemblies, 4 men do pray having their heads covered, 6 and women bareheaded: and because their meetings tended to evil, 21 who mingled profane banquets with the holy Supper of the Lord, 23 which he required to be celebrated according to Christ's institution.

1 1Be ye followers of me, even as I am of Christ:
2 1Now brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my things, and keep the ordinances, as I delivered them to you.
3 1But I will that ye know, that Christ is the 4head of every man: and the man is the woman's head: and God is 6Christ's head.
4 1Every 2man praying or prophesying having anything on his head, dishonoreth his head.
5 1But every woman that prayeth or prophesieth bareheaded, dishonoreth her head: 4 for it is even one very thing, as though she were shaven.
6 1Therefore if the woman be not covered, let her also be shorn: and if it be shame for a woman to be shorn or shaven, let her be covered.
7 1For a man ought not to cover his head: forasmuch as he is the 4image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.
8 1For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.
9 4 1For the man was not created for the woman's sake: but the woman for the man's sake.
10 1Therefore ought the woman to have 4power on her head, because of the 4Angels.
11 1Nevertheless, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man 2in the Lord.
12 1For as the woman is of the man, so is the man also by the woman: but all things are of God.
13 1Judge in yourselves, Is it comely that a woman pray unto God uncovered?
14 1Doth not nature itself teach you, that if a man have long hair, it is a shame unto him?
15 1But if a woman have long hair, it is a praise unto her: for her hair is given her for a 4covering.
16 1But if any man list to be contentious, we have no such custom, neither the Churches of God.
17 4 1Now in this that I declare, I praise you not, that ye come together, not with profit, but with hurt.
   18 1 For first of all, when ye come together in the Church, I hear that there are dissensions among you: and I believe it to be true in some part.
   19 1 For there must be heresies even among you, that they which are approved among you, might be known.
   20 When ye come together therefore into one place, this is not to eat the Lord’s Supper.
   21 For every man when they should eat, taketh his own supper afore, and one is hungry, and another is drunken.
   22 1 Have ye not houses to eat and to drink in?
despise ye the Church of God, and shame them that have not? what shall I say to you? shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.
   23 1 For I have received of the Lord that which I also have delivered unto you, to wit, That the Lord Jesus in the night when he was betrayed, took bread.
   24 And when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is broken for you: this do ye in remembrance of me.
   25 After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the New Testament in my blood: this do as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me.
   26 For as often as ye shall eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye show the Lord’s death till he come.

1 Corinthians 11:18

To celebrate the Lord’s Supper aright, it is required that there be not only consent of doctrine, but also of affections, that it be not profaned.

11:19 1 Although that schisms and heresies proceed from the devil, are evil, and yet they come not by chance, nor without cause, and they turn to the profit of the elect.

2 Whom experience hath taught to be of sound Religion and godliness.

11:20 1 This is an usual kind of speech, whereby the Apostle denieth that flattery, which many did not well.

11:21 1 Eateth his meat and tarrieth not till other come.

11:22 1 The Apostle thinketh it good to take away the love feasts, for their abuse, although they had been a long time, and with commendation used in Churches, and were appointed and instituted by the Apostles.

11:23 1 We must take a true form of keeping the Lord's Supper, out of the institution of it, the parts whereof are these, touching the Pastors, to show forth the Lord's death, by preaching his word: to bless the bread and the wine by calling upon the name of God, and together with prayers to declare the institution thereof, and finally to deliver the bread broken to be eaten, and the cup received to be drunk with thanksgiving. And touching the flock, that every man examine himself, that is to say, to prove both his knowledge, and also faith and repentance: to show forth the Lord's death, that is, in true faith to yield unto his word and institution: and last of all, to take the bread at the Minister's hand, and to eat it and to drink the wine, and give God thanks: This was Paul's and the Apostles' manner of ministering.

11:24 1 This word (Broken) noteth out unto us Christ his manner of death, for although his legs were not broken, as the thieves legs were, yet was his body very sore tormented, and torn, and bruised.

11:27 1 Whoever contemn the holy Sacrament: that is, use them not aright, are guilty not of the bread and wine, but of the thing itself, that is of Christ, and shall be grievously punished for it.

2 Otherwise then meet is such mysteries should be handled.

11:28 1 The examination of a man's self, is of necessity required in the Supper and therefore they ought not to be admitted unto it, which cannot examine themselves: as children, furious and mad men, also such as either have no knowledge of Christ, or not sufficient, although they profess Christian Religion: and others such like.

2 This place beareth down the faith of credit, or unwrapped faith, which the Papists maintain.

11:29 1 He is said to discern the Lord’s body, that hath consideration of the worthiness of it, and therefore cometh to eat of this meat with great reverence.

11:30 1 The profaning of the body and blood of the Lord in his mysteries is sharply punished of him; and therefore such a mischief ought diligently to be prevented by judging and correcting of a man's self.

11:31 1 Try and examine yourselves, by faith and repentance, separating yourselves from the wicked.

11:33 1 The Supper of the Lord is a common action of the whole Church, and therefore there is no place, for private suppers.

11:34 1 The Supper of the Lord was instituted not to feed the belly but to feed the soul with the communion of Christ, and therefore it ought to be separate from common banquets.

2 Such things as pertain to order, as place, time, form of prayers, and other such like, the Apostle took order for in Congregations according to the consideration of times, places and persons.
1 Now concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I would not have you ignorant.

2 Ye know that ye were Gentiles, and were carried away unto the dumb idols, as ye were led.

3 Wherefore I declare unto you, that no man speaking by the spirit of God, calleth Jesus execrable: also no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost.

4 Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit.

5 And there are diversities of administrations, but the same Lord.

6 And there are diversities of operations, but God is the same which worketh all in all.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man, to profit withal.

8 For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom; and to another the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit:

9 And to another is given faith by the same Spirit: and to another the gifts of healing, by the mighty power, which pass and excel amongst his miracles, as the delivery of his people Israel by the hand of Moses: that which he did by Elijah against the Priests of Baal, in sending down fire from heaven to consume his sacrifice: and that which he did by Peter in the matter of Ananias and Sapphira.

10 And to another the operations of great works: and to another, prophecy: and to another, the discerning of spirits: and to another, diversities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.

11 And all these things worketh one and the selfsame Spirit, distributing to every man severally as he will.

12 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they be many, are but one body: even so is Christ.

13 For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Grecians, whether we be bond, or free, and have been all made to drink into one Spirit.

14 For the body also is not one member, but many.

15 If the foot would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?
16 And if the ear would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

17 If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?

18 But now hath God disposed the members every one of them in the body at his own pleasure.

19 For if they were all one member, where were the body?

20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 And the eye cannot say unto the hand, I have no need of thee: nor the head again to the feet, I have no need of you.

22 Yea, much rather those members of the body, which seem to be more feeble, are necessary.

23 And upon those members of the body, which we think most unhonest, but we more honesty on: and our uncomely parts have more comeliness on.

24 For our comely parts need it not: but God hath tempered the body together: and hath given the more honor to that part which lacked,

25 Lest there should be any division in the body: but that the members should have the same care one for another.

26 Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be dead in honor, all the members rejoice with it.

27 Now ye are the body of Christ, and members for your part.

28 And God hath ordained some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly teachers, then them that do miracles: after that, the gifts of healing, helpers, governors, diversity of tongues.

29 Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all teachers?

30 Are all doers of miracles? have all the gifts of healing? do all speak with tongues? do all interpret?

31 But desire ye the best gifts, and I will yet show you a more excellent way.

13 1 He showeth that there are gifts so excellent, which in God's sight are not corrupt, if Charity be away: and therefore be digresseth unto the commendation of it.

1 Though I speak with the tongues of men and of the angels, and have not love, I am as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.

2 And though I had the gift of prophecy, and knew all secrets and all knowledge, yea, if I had all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and had not love, I was nothing.

3 And though I feed the poor with all my goods, and though I give myself to the best gifts, and such as we are ashamed of, and that they should have more care to see unto them: and to cover them: that by this means the necessity which is on both parts, might keep the whole body in peace and concord; that although if each part be considered apart, they are of divers degrees and conditions: yet because they are joined together, they have a community both in commodities and commodi dities.

12:22 Of the smallest and vilest offices, and therefore finally accounted of, of the rest.

12:23 We more carefully cover them.

12:25 Should bestow their operations and offices to the profit and preservation of the whole body.

12:26 Now he applieth the same doctrine to the Corinthians without any allegory, warning them that there are divers functions and divers gifts, it is their duty, not to offend one against another, either by envy or ambition, but rather that they being joined together in love and charity one with another, every one of them bestow to the profit of all, that which he hath received, according as not: love doth not boast itself: it is not puffed up:
5 It doth 'no uncomely thing: it seeketh not her own thing: it is not provoked to anger: it thinketh no evil:
6 It rejoiceth not in iniquity, but 'rejoiceth in the truth:
7 It suffereth all things: it believeth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.
8 'Love doth never fall away, though that prophesying be abolished, or the tongues cease, or 'knowledge vanish away.
9 For we know in 'part, and we prophesy in part.
10 But when that which is perfect, is come, then that which is in part shall be abolished.
11 'When I was a child, I spake as a child: I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.
12 For 'now we see through a glass darkly: but then shall we see face to face. Now I know in part:

but then shall I know even as I am known.
13 'And now abideth faith, hope and love, even these three: but the chiefest of these is love.

14 He commendeth the gifts of prophesying:
7 and by a similitude taken of musical instruments, he teacheth the true use of interpreting the Scriptures: he taketh away the abuse: 17 he forbiddeth women to speak in the Congregation.

1 Follow 'after love, and covet spiritual gifts, and rather that ye may 'prophesy.
2 'For he that speaketh a strange 'tongue, speaketh not unto men, but unto God: for no man heareth him: howbeit in the 'spirit he speaketh secret things.
3 But he that prophesieth, speaketh unto men to edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.
4 He that speaketh 'strange language, edifieth himself: but he that prophesieth, edifieth the 'Church.
5 I would that ye all spake 'strange languages, but rather that ye prophesied: for greater is he that consist, to wit, faith, hope, and charity. And among these, charity is the chiefest, because it ceaseth not in the life to come as the rest do, but is perfected and accomplished. For seeing that faith and hope tend to things which are promised, and are to come, when we have presently gotten them, to what purpose should we have faith and hope? but yet there at length shall we truly and perfectly love both God, and one another.

14:1 He inferreth now that, that he spake before. Therefore seeing charity is the chiefest of all, before all things set it before you as chief and principal: and so esteem those things as most excellent: which profit the greater part of men: (as prophecy that is to say, the gifts of teaching and applying the doctrine, which was commended in respect of other gifts, although it be chiefest and most necessary for the Church) and not those which for a show seem to be marvelous as the gifts of tongues, when a man was suddenly endued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed, and yet of itself was not greatly to any use, unless there were an interpreter.

2 What prophecy is, he sheweth in the third verse.

14:2 1 He reprehendeth their perverse judgment touching the gift of tongues. For why was it given? to wit, to what purpose should we desire that stammering, those childish toys, and think and understand but childish things, and therefore have need of such things as may form and frame our tongue and mind: But when we become men, to what purpose should we desire that stammering, those childish toys, and such like things, whereby our childhood is framed by little and little? Love doth not boasting itself: it is not puffed up: it doth no uncomely thing: it seeketh not her own thing: it is not provoked to anger: it thinketh no evil: it rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth: it suffereth all things: it believeth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things. For 'now we see through a glass darkly: but then shall we see face to face. Now I know in part: but then shall I know even as I am known. And now abideth faith, hope and love, even these three: but the chiefest of these is love.

14:3 1 Which may further men in the study of godliness.
propheteth, than he that speaketh diverse tongues, except he expound it, that the Church may receive edification.

6 And now, brethren, if I come unto you speaking diverse tongues, what shall I profit you, except I speak to you, either by revelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?

7 Moreover things without life which give a sound, whether it be a pipe or an harp, except they make a distinction in the sounds, how shall it be known what is piped or harped?

8 And also if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to battle?

9 So likewise you, by the tongue, except ye utter words that have signification, how shall it be understood what is spoken? for ye shall speak in the air.

10 There are so many kinds of voices (as it cometh to pass) in the world, and none of them is dumb.

11 Except I know then the power of the voice, I shall be unto him that speaketh a Barbarian, and he that speaketh, shall be a Barbarian unto me.

12 Even so, forasmuch as ye covet spiritual gifts, seek that ye may excel unto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that speaketh a strange tongue pray that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray, when the church is assembled together, in a strange tongue, my spirit prayeth: but mine understanding is without fruit.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing with the spirit: but I will sing with the understanding also.

16 Else, when thou blessest with the spirit, how shall he that occupieth the room of the unlearned, say Amen, at thy giving of thanks, seeing he knowest not what thou sayest?

17 For thy verily givest thanks well, but the other is not edified.

18 I thank my God, I speak languages more than ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to speak five words with mine understanding, that I might also instruct others, than ten thousand words in a strange tongue.

20 Brethren, be not children in understanding, but as concerning maliciousness be children, but in understanding be of a ripe age.

21 In the Law it is written, By men of other tongues, and by other languages will I speak unto this people: yet so shall they not hear me, saith the Lord.

22 Wherefore strange tongues are for a sign, not to them that believe, but to them that believe not: but prophesying serveth not for them that believe not, but for them which believe.

23 If therefore, when the whole Church is come together in one, and all speak strange tongues, there come in they that are unlearned, or they which believe without understanding, not, will they not say, that ye are out of your wits?
24 But if all prophesy, and there come in one that believeth not, or one unlearned, he is rebuked of all men, and is judged of all.
25 And so are the secrets of his heart made manifest, and so he will fall down on his face and worship God, and say plainly that God is in you indeed.
26 What is to be done then, brethren? when ye come together, according as every one of you hath a Psalm, or hath doctrine, or hath a tongue, or hath revelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done unto edifying.
27 If any man speak a strange tongue, let it be by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interpret.
28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keep silence in the Church, which speaketh languages, and let him speak to himself, and to God.
29 Let the Prophets speak, two or three, and let the others judge.
30 And if anything be revealed to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.
31 For ye may all prophesy one by one, that all may learn, and all may have comfort.
32 And the spirits of the Prophets are subject to the Prophets.
33 For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as we see in all the Churches of the Saints.
34 Let your women keep silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted unto them to speak: but they ought to be subject, as also the Law saith.
35 And if they will learn anything, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak against the Law and against God.
36 Came the word of God out from you? either it came unto you only?
37 If any man think himself to be a Prophet, or spiritual, let him acknowledge, that the things that I write unto you, are the commandments of the Lord.
38 And if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.
39 Wherefore, brethren, covet to prophesy, and forbid not to speak languages.
40 Let all things be done honestly, and by order.

15 1 The Gospel that Paul preached. 3 The death and resurrection of Christ. 8 Paul saw Christ. 9 He had persecuted that Church, whereof afterward he was made a minister. 12 Christ first rose again, and we shall rise by him. 26 The last enemy, death. 29 To be baptized for dead. 32 At Ephesus Paul fought with beasts. 35 How the dead are raised. 45 The first Adam. The last Adam, 47 The first and second man. 51 We shall all be changed, we shall not all sleep. 55 Death's sting. 57 Victory. 58 Constancy and steadfastness.
1 Moreover a brethren, I declare unto you the Gospel which I preached unto you, which ye have also received, and wherein ye continue,
2 And whereby ye are saved, if ye keep in memory, after what manner I preached it unto you, except ye have believed in vain.
3 For of first all, I delivered unto you that which I received, how that Christ died for our sins, according to the Scriptures,
4 And that he was buried, and that he arose the third day, according to the Scriptures,
5 And that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve.
After that, he was seen of more than five hundred brethren at once: whereof many remain unto this present, and some also are asleep.

After that, he was seen of James: then of all the Apostles.

And last of all he was seen also of me, as of one born out of due time.

For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meet to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.

But by the grace of God I am that I am: and his grace which is in me, was not in vain: but I labored more abundantly than they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.

Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so have ye believed.

Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen from the dead, how say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?

For if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:

And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain.

And we are found also false witnesses of God: for we have testified of God, that he hath raised up Christ: whom he hath not raised up, if so be the dead be not raised.

For if the dead be not raised, then is Christ not raised.

And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain: ye are yet in your sins.

And so they which are asleep in Christ, are perished.

If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable.

But now is Christ risen from the dead, and made the firstfruits of them that slept.

For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.

But every man in his own order: the firstfruits is Christ, afterward, they that are of Christ, at his coming shall rise again.

Then shall be the end, when he hath delivered up the kingdom to God, even the Father, when he hath put down all rule, and all authority and power.

25 For he must reign till he hath put all his enemies under his feet.

26 The last enemy that shall be destroyed, is death.

27 For he hath put down all things under his feet. (And when he saith that all things are subdued to him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which did put down all things under him.)

28 And when all things shall be subdued unto him, then shall the Son also himself be subject unto him, that did subdue all things under him, that God may be all in all.

29 Else what shall they do which are baptized for dead? if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?

30 Why are we also in jeopardy every hour?

31 By your rejoicing which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die daily.

32 If I have fought with beasts at Ephesus after the manner of men, what advantageth it me, if the dead be not raised up?

33 Let us eat and drink: for to-morrow we shall die.

34 Be not deceived: evil speakings corrupt good manners.

35 Awake to live righteousness, and sin not: for some have not the knowledge of God, I speak this to your shame.

36 O fool, that which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body which shall be, but bare corn as it falleth, of wheath, or of some other.

38 But God giveth it a body at his pleasure, even to every seed his own body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, and another flesh of beasts, and another of fishes, and another of birds:

40 There are also heavenly bodies, and earthly bodies: but the glory of the heavenly is one, and the glory of the earthly is another.

41 There is another glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars:

3 All his enemies which shall be spoiled of all the power they have.

15:25 1 Christ is considered here, as he appeared in the form of a servant, in which respect he ruleth the Church as head, and that because this power was given him of his Father.

15:26 1 The shutting up of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the part: for if all his enemies shall be put under his feet, then must it needs be that death also shall be subdued under him.

15:28 1 Not because the Son was not subject to his Father before, but because his body, that is to say, the Church which is here in distress, and not yet wholly partaker of his glory, is not yet fully perfect, and also because the bodies of the saints which be in the graves shall not be glorified until the resurrection: but Christ as he is God, hath us subject to him as his Father hath, but as he is Priest, he is subject to his father together with us. Augustine, book 1, chap. 8, of the Trinity.

2 By this high kind of speech, is set forth an incomprehensible glory which floweth from God, and shall fill all of us, as we are joined together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall always reserve his preeminence.

15:29 1 The fifth argument taken of the end of Baptism, to wit, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead, that is to say, that they may have a remedy against death because that Baptism is a token of regeneration.

2 They that are baptized, to this end and purpose, that death may be put out in them, or to rise again from the dead, whereof baptism is a seal.

15:30 1 The sixth argument: Unless there be a resurrection of the dead, why should the Apostles so daily cast themselves into danger of so many deaths?

15:31 1 As though he said, I die daily, as all the miseries I suffer can well witness, which I may truly boast of, that I have suffered amongst you.

15:32 1 The taking away of an objection: but thou Paul, didst ambitiously, as commonly men are wont to do, when thou didst fight with beasts at Ephesus: That is very like, saith Paul, for what could that advantage me, were it not for the glory of eternal life which I hope for?

2 Not upon any godly motion, nor casting mine eyes upon God, but carried away with vain glory, or a certain headiness.

3 The seventh argument which dependeth upon the last: if there be no resurrection of the dead, why do we give ourselves to anything else, save to eating and drinking?

4 These are speeches that Epicureans use.

15:33 1 The conclusion with a sharp exhortation, that they take heed of the naughty company of certain: from whence he showeth that this mischief sprang: warning them to be wise with sobriety unto righteousness.

15:35 1 Now that he hath proved the resurrection, he discovereth their dotrlnishness, in that they scoffingly demanded, how it could be that the dead should rise again, and if they did rise again, they asked mockingly, what manner of bodies they should have. Therefore he sendeth these fellows which seemed to themselves to be marvelous wise and witty, to be instructed of poor rude husbandmen.

15:36 1 Thou mightest have learned either of these, saith Paul, by daily experience: for seeds are sown, and rot, and yet notwithstanding so far it is off, that they perish, that contrariwise they grow up far more beautiful: and whereas they are sown naked and dry, they spring up green from death by the virtue of God: and doth it seem incredible to thee that our bodies should rise from corruption, and that endued with a far more excellent quality?
for one star differeth from another star in glory.
42 So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is sown in corruption, and is raised in incorruption.
43 It is sown in dishonor, and is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness, and is raised in power.
44 It is sown a natural body, and is raised a spiritual body: there is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.
45 As it is also written, The first man Adam was made a living soul: and the last Adam was made a quickening spirit.
46 Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual: but that which is natural, and afterward that which is spiritual.
47 The first man is of the earth, earthly: the second man is the Lord from heaven.
48 As is the earthly, such are they that are earthly: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly.
49 And as we have born the image of the earthly, so shall we bear the image of the heavenly.
50 This say I, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.
51 Behold, I show you a secret thing, We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, 52 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye at the last trumpet: for the trumpet shall blow, and the dead shall be raised up incorruptible, and we shall be changed.
53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption: and this mortal must put on immortality.
54 So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortal hath put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying, that is written, Death is swallowed up into victory.
55 O death where is thy sting? O grave where is thy victory?
56 The sting of death is sin: and the strength of sin is the Law.
57 But thanks be unto God, which hath given us victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.
58 Therefore my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, abundant always in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord.

16 1 I exhort thee to help the poor brethren of Jerusalem: 10 Then he commendeth Timothy, 13 and so with a friendly exhortation, 19 and commendations, endeth the Epistle.
Concerning the gathering for the Saints, as I have ordained in the Churches of Galatia, so do ye also.

Every first day of the week, let every one of you put aside by himself, and lay up as God hath prospered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come.

And when I am come, whomsoever ye shall allow by letters, them will I send to bring your liberality unto Jerusalem.

And if it be meet that I go also, they shall go with me.

Now I will come unto you, after I have gone through Macedonia (for I will pass through Macedonia.)

And it may be that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that ye may bring me on my way, whithersoever I go.

For I will not see you now in my passage, but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lord permit.

And I will tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost.

For a great door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries.

¶ Now if Timothy come, see that he be without fear with you: for he worketh the work of the Lord, even as I do.

Let no man therefore despise him: but convey him forth in peace, that he may come unto me: for I looked for him with the brethren.

As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him to come unto you with the brethren: but his mind was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he shall have convenient time.

¶ Watch ye: stand fast in the faith: quit you like men, and be strong.

Let all your things be done in love.

Now brethren, I beseech you (ye know the house of Stephanas, that it is the firstfruits of Achaia, and that they have given themselves to minister unto the Saints.)

That ye be obedient even unto such, and to all that help with us and labor.

I am glad of the coming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for they have supplied the want of you.

For they have comforted my spirit and yours: acknowledge therefore such men.

The Churches of Asia salute you: Aquila and Priscilla with the Church that is in their house, salute you greatly in the Lord.

All the brethren greet you. Greet ye one another with an holy kiss.

The salutation of me Paul with mine own hand.

If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be had in execration maran-atha.

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

My love be with you all in Christ Jesus, Amen.

The first Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, and sent by Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus, and Timothy.

Collections in old time were made by the Apostles appointment the first day of the week, on which day the manner was then to assemble themselves.

Which in times past was called Sunday, but now is called the Lord's day.

That every man bestow, according to the ability that God hath blessed him with.

Which you shall give them to carry.

The residue of the Epistle is spent in writing of familiar matters, yet so that all things be referred to his purposed mark, that is to say, to the glory of God, and the edifying of the Corinthians.

Very fit and convenient to do great things by.

Without any just occasion of fear.
THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE

1 He beginneth with the praise of afflictions, declaring what he hath suffered in Asia, and how happily God assisted him. 17 He saith it was not upon any lightness, that he came not, according to his promise.

1 PAUL, an Apostle of JESUS Christ, by the will of God, and our brother Timothy, to the Church of God, which is at Corinth, with all the Saints, which are in all Achaia:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God, our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort, 4 Which comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God.

5 For as the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation aboundeth through Christ.

6 And whether we be afflicted, it is for your consolation and salvation, which is wrought in the enduring of the same sufferings, which we also

1:1 1 See the declaration of such salutations in the former Epistles.
1:3 1 He beginneth after his manner with thanksgiving, which notwithstanding (otherwise than he was wont) he applieth to himself: beginning his Epistle with the setting forth of the dignity of his Apostleship, constrained (as it should seem) by their importunity, which took an occasion to despise him by reason of his miseries. But he answereth that he is not so afflicted, but that his comforts do exceed his afflictions, showing the ground of them, even the mercy of God the Father in Jesus Christ.

2 To him be praise and glory given.

3 Most merciful.

1:4 1 The Lord doth comfort us to this end and purpose, that we may so much the more surely comfort others.

1:5 1 The miseries which we suffer for Christ, or which Christ suffereth in us.

1:6 1 He denieth that either his afflictions wherewith he was often afflicted, or the consolations which he received of God, may justly be despised, seeing that the Corinthians both might and ought to take great occasion to be confirmed by either of them.

2 Although salvation be given us freely, yet because there is a way appointed us wherewith we must come to it, which is the race of an innocent and upright life, which we must run, therefore we are said to work our salvation, Philippians 2:12. And because it is God only that of his free good will worketh all things in us, therefore is he said to work the salvation in us by those selfsame things by which we must pass to everlasting life, after that we have once overcome all encumbrances.

1:8 1 He witnesseth that he is not only not ashamed of his afflictions, but that he desireth also to have all men know the greatness of them, and also his delivery from them, although it be not yet perfect.

2 I know not at all what to do, neither did I see by man’s help which way to save my life.

1:9 1 I was resolved within myself to die.

1:10 2 From these great dangers.

1:11 1 That he may not seem to boast himself, he attributeth all to God, and therewith also confesseth that he attributeth much to the prayers of the faithful.

2 The end of the afflictions of the Saints, is the glory of God, and therefore they ought to be precious unto us.

1:12 1 Secondly he putteth away another slander, to wit, that he was a light man, and such a one as was not lightly to be credited, seeing that he promised to come unto them, and came not. And first he speaks of the simplicity of his mind, and sincerity, which they know both by his voice when he was present, and they ought to acknowledge it also in his letters, being absent: and moreover he protesteth that he will never be otherwise.

2 With clearness, and holy and true plainness of mind, as God himself can witness.

3 Trusting to that very wisdom, which God of his free goodness hath given me from heaven.
14 Even as ye have acknowledged us partly, that we are your rejoicing, even as ye are ours, in the day of our Lord Jesus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded first to come unto you, that ye might have had a double grace, 16 And to pass by you into Macedonia, and to come again out of Macedonia, unto you, and to be led forth toward Judea of you.

17 When I therefore was thus minded, did I use lightness or mind those things which I mind, according to the flesh, that with me should be, Yea, yea, and Nay, Nay?

18 Yea, God is faithful, that our word toward you, was not Yea, and Nay:

19 For the Son of God Jesus Christ, who was preached among you by us, that is, by me, and Silvanus, and Timothy, was not Yea, and Nay: but in him it was Yea.

20 For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and in him Amen, unto the glory of God through us.

21 And it is God which established us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us.

1:20 Last of all he declareth the sum of his doctrine, to wit, that all the promises of salvation are sure and ratified in Christ.

2:5 Who hath also sealed us, and hath given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.

1:13 He saith he writeth barely and simply: for he that writeth in colored sort, is rightly said to write otherwise than we read and this he saith the Corinthians shall know and like of very well.

1:14 Paul's rejoicing in the Lord was, that he had won the Corinthians: and they themselves rejoiced that such an Apostle was their instructor, and taught them so purely and sincerely.

2:1 He excuseth his not coming unto them, and privily reprehended them: 2 He showeth that such is his affection towards them, that he never rejoiced but when they were merry.

2:2 Perceiving the adulterer (whom he commanded to be delivered up to Satan) to repent, he requesteth that they forgive him.

2:11 He setteth the joy and peace of conscience, which God is author of, against tyrannous fear, and therewithall showeth the end of the Gospel.

2:12 An earnest, is, whatsoever is given to confirm a promise.

2:13 Now coming to the matter, he sweareth, that he did not only, not lightly alter his purpose of coming to them, but rather that he came not unto them for this cause, that he might not be constrained to deal more sharply, with them being present, than he would.

2:14 He removeth all suspicion of arrogance, declaring that he speaketh not as a Lord unto them, but as a servant, appointed of God to comfort them.

2:15 Another benefit.

1:21 He attributeth the praise of this constancy, only to the grace of God, through the holy Ghost, and therewithal concludeth that they cannot doubt of his faith, and his fellows, without doing injury to the Spirit of God, seeing that they themselves do know all this to be true.

2:16 Against myself and to the danger of mine own life.

1:22 But I determined thus in myself, that I would not come again to you in heaviness.

2:17 For in great affliction, and anguish of heart I caused grief amongst you, which he should have done if he would.

2:18 For I trusted that you would take that out of the way forewith, that my joy is your joy.

2:19 For the Son of God Jesus Christ, who was persuaded that my joy is your joy.

2:20 But I determined thus in myself, that I would take heaviness of them of whom I had come to them before they had repented them.

2:21 He passeth to another part of this Epistle which notwithstanding is put amongst the first, whereunto he returneth afterward, and he handleth the releasing and unloosing of the incestuous person, because he seemed to have given sufficient testimony of his repentance: showing the true use of excommunication, to wit, that it proceed not of hatred, but of love, and so ends lest if we keep no measure, we serve Satan the devil.
not made ‘me sorry, but ‘partly (lest I should more ‘charge him) you all.

6 It is sufficient unto the same man, that he was rebuked of many.

7 So that now contrariwise ye ought rather to ‘forgive him, and comfort him, lest the same should be swallowed up with overmuch heaviness.

8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would ‘confirm your love towards him.

9 For this cause also did I write: that I might know the proof of you, whether ye would be obedient in all things.

10 To whom ye forgive anything, I forgive also: for verily if I forgave anything, to whom I forgave it, for your sakes forgave I it in the ‘sight of Christ.

11 Lest Satan should circumvent us: for we are not ignorant of his ‘enterprises.

12 ‘Furnished, when I came to Troas to preach Christ’s Gospel, and a door was opened unto me of the Lord, 13 I had no rest in my spirit, because I found not Titus my brother, but took my leave of them, and went away into Macedonia.

14 Now thanks be unto God, which always maketh us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the ‘savor of his knowledge by us in every place.

15 ‘For we are unto God the sweet savor of Christ, in them that are saved, and in them which perish.

16 To the one we are the savor of death, unto death, and to the other the savor of life, unto life: ‘and who is sufficient for these things?

17 ‘For we are not as many, which make ‘merchandise of the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God in the sight of God speak we in Christ.

1 He desireth no other commendation, 3 than their continuing in the faith.

6 He is a minister not of the letter, but of the Spirit.

8 He sheweth the difference of the Law, and the Gospel.

13 that the brightness of the Law doth rather dim the sight than lighten it: 18 But the Gospel doth make manifest God’s countenance unto us.

1 Do we begin to praise ourselves again? or need we as some others, Epistles of recommendation unto you, or letters of recommendation from you?

2 Ye are our epistle, written in our hearts, which is understood and read of all men,

3 In that ye are ‘manifest, to be the Epistle of Christ, ‘ministered by us, and written, not with ink, but with the Spirit of the ‘living God, ‘not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart.

4 And such ‘trust have we through Christ to God:

5 Not that we are sufficient of ourselves, to think anything, as of ourselves: but our ‘sufficiency is of God,

6 ‘Who also hath made us able ministers of the New Testament, not of the ‘letter, but of the Spirit: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth life.
7 If then the ministration of death written with letters and engrav'd in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not behold the face of Moses, for the glory of his countenance (which glory is gone away.)

8 How shall not the ministration of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For if the ministry of condemnation was glorious, much more doth the ministration of righteousness exceed in glory.

10 For even that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glory.

11 For if they should be abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth be glorious.

12 Seeing then that we have such trust, we use great boldness of speech.

13 And we are not as Moses, which put a veil upon his face, that the children of Israel should not look unto the end of that which should be abolished.

14 Therefore their minds are hardened: for until this day remaineth the same covering untaken away in the reading of the old Testament, which veil in Christ is put away.

15 But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the veil is laid over their hearts.

16 Nevertheless when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the veil shall be taken away.

17 Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

18 But we all behold as in a mirror the glory of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.
5 1 For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord, and ourselves your servants for 'Jesus' sake.

6 1 For God 2 that commanded the light to shine out of darkness, is he which hath shined in our hearts, to give the 3 light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

7 1 But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, 2 that the excellency of that power might be of God, and not of us.

8 1 We are afflicted on every side, yet 2 are we not in distress: we are in doubt, but yet we despair not.

9 1 We are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast down, but we perish not.

10 1 Everywhere we bear about in our body the 2 dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life of Jesus might also be made manifest in our bodies.

11 1 For we which 2 live, are always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our 3 mortal flesh.

12 1 So then death worketh in us, and life in you.

13 1 And because we have the same 2 spirit of faith, according as it is written, 1 I believed, and therefore have I spoken, we also believe, and therefore speak.

14 Knowing that he which hath raised up the Lord Jesus, shall raise us up also by Jesus, and shall set us with you.

15 1 For all things are for your sakes, 2 that that most plenteous grace by the thanksgiving of many, may redound to the praise of God.

16 1 Therefore we faint not, 2 but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is 'renewed daily.'

17 1 For our 3 light affliction which is but for a moment, causeth unto us a far most excellent and an eternal weight of 2 glory:

18 1 While we look not on the things which are seen, but on the things which are not seen for the things which are seen, are temporal: but the things which are not seen, are eternal.

5 1 He continueth in the same argument. 5 touching the certain hope of salvation 7 through faith, 12 not to praise himself. 14 seeing he hath God and his Church before his eyes. 17 and esteemeth nothing, but newness of life in Christ.

1 1 For 2 we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle be destroyed, we have a building given of God, that is, an house not made with hands, but eternal in the heavens.

2 1 For therefore we sigh, desiring to be 2 clothed

4:5 1 He removeth according to his accustomed manner, all suspicion of ambition: avouching that he teacheth faithfully, but as a servant, and witnessing that all this light which he and his fellows give to others, proceedeth from the Lord.

2 To preach this selfsame Jesus to you.

4:6 1 Which made only with his word.

2 That being lightened of God, we should in like sort give that light to others.

4:7 1 He taketh away a stumbling block, by which was darkened, amongst some, the bright shining of the ministry of the Gospel, to wit, because the Apostles were the most miserable of all men, Paul answereth that he and his fellows are as it were earthen vessels, but yet there is in them a most precious treasure.

2 He bringeth marvelous reasons, why the Lord doth so afflict his chiefest servants, to the end saith he that all men may perceive that they stand not by any man's virtue, but by the singular virtue of God, in that they die a thousand times, but never perish.

4:10 1 An amplification of the former sentence, wherein he compar eth his afflictions to a daily death, and the virtue of the Spirit of God in Christ, to life, which oppresseth that death.

2 So Paul calleth that miserable estate and condition, that the faithful, but especially the ministers, are in.

4:11 1 Which live, that life, to wit, by the Spirit of Christ, amongst so many and so great miseries.

2 Subject to that miserable condition.

4:12 1 A very cunning conclusion: as if he would say, Therefore to be short, we die, that you may live by our death, for that they ventured into all those dangers for the building of the Church's sake, and they ceased not to confirm all the faithful with the examples of their patience.

4:13 1 He declareth the former sentence, showing that he and his fellows die in a sort to purchase life to others, but yet notwithstanding they are partakers of the same life with them: because they themselves do first believe that, which they propound to others to believe, to wit, that they also shall be saved together with them in Christ.

2 The same faith by the inspiration of the same Spirit.

4:15 1 He showeth how this constancy is preserved in them, to wit, because they respect God's glory, and the salvation of the Churches committed unto them.

2 When it shall please God to deliver me, and restore me to you, that exceeding benefit which shall be poured upon me, shall in like sort redound to the glory of God, by the thanksgiving of many.

4:16 1 He addeth as it were a triumphant song, how that he is outwardly afflicted, but inwardly he proffeth daily: and passeth not at all for all the miseries that may be sustained in this life, in comparison of that most constant and eternal glory.

2 Gathereth new strength, that the outward man be not overcome with the miseries which come freshly one upon the neck of another, being maintained and uphelden with the strength of the inward man.

4:17 1 Afflictions are not called light, as though they were light of themselves, but because they pass away quickly, when as indeed our whole life is of no long continuance.

2 Which remaineth forever firm and stable, and can never be shaken.

5:1 1 Taking occasion by the former comparison, he compar eth this miserable body, as it is in this life, to a frail and bricke tabernacle, against which he setteth the heavenly Tabernacle, so terming that sure and everlasting condition of this same body glorified in heaven, in somuch saith he, that we are not only not addicted to this tabernacle, but also do with sob and sighs desire rather that tabernacle. And so this place also concerning the glory to come, is put within the treatise of the dignity of the ministry, as the other was, whereof we spake in the beginning of the second Chapter.

5:2 1 He calleth the glory of immortality, which we shall be as it were clothed with, a garment.
with our house, which is from heaven.

3 1Because that if we be clothed, we shall not be found naked.

4 For indeed we that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened because we would not be unclothed, but would be clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life.

5 And he that hath 1created us for this thing, is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit.

6 1Therefore we are always bold, though we know that while we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord.

7 (For we walk by faith, and not by sight.)

8 Nevertheless, we are bold, and love rather to remove out of the body, and to dwell with the Lord.

9 Wherefore also we covet, that both dwelling at home, and removing from home, we may be acceptable to him.

10 1For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that every man may receive the things which are done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or evil.

11 1Knowing therefore that the terror of the Lord, we persuade men, and we are made manifest unto God, and I trust also that we are made manifest in your consciences.

12 1For we praise not ourselves again unto you, but give you an occasion to rejoice of us that ye may have to answer against them, which rejoice in the face, and not in the heart.

13 1For whether we be out of our wit, we are it to God: or whether we be in our right mind, we are it unto you.

14 1For that love of Christ constraineth us,

15 Because we thus judge, that if one be dead for all, then were all dead, and he died for all, that they which live, should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again.

16 Wherefore, henceforth know we no man after the flesh, yea though we had known Christ after the flesh, yet not henceforth know we him no more.

17 1Therefore if any man be in Christ, let him be a

2 Heavenly, not that the substance of it is heavenly, but for the glory of it.

5:3 1 An exposition of the former saying: We do not without cause, desire to be clad with the heavenly house, that is, with that everlasting and immortal glory, as with a garment: for when we depart hence, we shall not remain naked, having once cast off the covering of this body, but we shall take our bodies again, which shall put on as it were another garment besides: and therefore we sigh not for the weariness of this life, but for the desire of a better life. Neither is this desire in vain, for we are made to that life, the pledge whereof we have, even the Spirit of adoption.

5:5 1 He meaneth that first creation, to give us to understand, that our bodies were made to this end, that they should be clothed with heavenly immortality.

5:6 1 He inferreth upon that sentence which went next before, thus, Therefore, seeing that we know by the Spirit, that we are strangers so long as we are here, we patiently suffer this tarryance (for we are now so with God, that we behold him but by faith, and are therefore now absent from him) but so that we aspire and have a longing always to him; therefore also we behave ourselves so, that we may be acceptable to him, both while we live here, and when we go from hence to him.

2 He calleth them (bold) which are always resolved with a quiet and settled mind to suffer what dangers soever, nothing doubting, but their end shall be happy.

5:7 1 Faith of those things which we hope for, and not having God presently in our view.

5:8 1 And yet we are in such sort bold and do so pass on our pilgrimage with a valiant and quiet mind, that yet notwithstanding, we had rather depart hence to the Lord.

5:9 1 And seeing it is so, we strive to live so, that both in this our pilgrimage here we may please him, and that at length we may be received home to him.

5:10 1 That no man might think it to pertain to all, which he spoke of that heavenly glory, he addeth, that every one shall first render an account of his pilgrimage, after that he is departed from hence.

2 We must all appear personally, and inquiry shall be made of us, that all may see, how we have lived.

5:11 1 Now he passeth over, and taking occasion of the former sentence, returneth to 4:16, confirming his own sincerity and his fellows'.

2 That terrible judgment.

5:12 1 He removeth all suspicion of pride, by a new reason, because it is behoovable, not for his part, but for theirs, that his Apostleship be counted sincere against the vain ostentation of a few others.

2 In outward disguising, and that colored show of man's wisdom and eloquence, and not in true godliness, which is sealed in the heart.

5:13 1 The meaning is: Even when I am mad (as some men think of me) while I seem as a fool to boast myself, I do it for your profit, no less than when I preach the Gospel simply unto you.

5:14 1 He goeth forward in putting away all suspicion of desire of estimation and boasting: for the love of Christ, saith he, constraineth us, to answer against the rest of the world, and to put on that modesty and simplicity which is most acceptable to God, and our enemies.

2 Possessest us wholly.

5:15 1 He speaketh here of sanctification, whereby it cometh to pass that Christ liveth in us.

5:16 1 See Romans, chapters 6 and 7.

5:16 2 He showeth what it is, not to live to ourselves, but to Christ, to wit, to know no man according to the flesh, that is to say, to be so conversant amongst men, as not to care for those worldly and carnal things, as they do which respect a man's stock, his country, form, glory, riches, and such like, wherein men commonly dote, and weary themselves.

2 An amplification: This is, saith he, so true, that we do not now think carnally of Christ himself, who hath now left the world, and therefore must be considered of us spiritually.

5:17 1 An exhortation for every man which is renewed with the spirit of Christ, to meditate heavenly things, and not earthly.
2 CORINTHIANS 5:18

1 He exhorteth them to lead their lives as it becometh Christians, 5 neither to be dismayed in tribulations, 9 nor puffed up with glory: 14 to avoid all uncleanness, 16 considering that they are the temples of the living God.

1 So we therefore as workers together beseech you, that ye receive not the grace of God in vain.

2 For he saith, ‘I have heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succored thee: behold now the accepted time, behold now the day of salvation.

3 ‘We give no occasion of offence in anything, that our ministry should not be reprehended.

4 But in all things we approve ourselves as the ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses.

5 In stripes, in prisons, in tumults, in labors,

6 ‘By watchings, by fastings, by purity, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindness, by the holy Ghost, by love unpfeigned,

7 By the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armor of righteousness on the right hand, and on the left,

8 By honor, and dishonor, by evil report, and good report, as deceivers, and yet true:

9 As unknown, and yet known: as dying, and beholding, we live, as chastened, and yet not killed:

10 As sorrowing, and yet always rejoicing: as poor, and yet making many rich: as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.

11 O Corinthians, our mouth is open unto you, our heart is made large.

12 Ye are not kept strait in us, but ye are kept strait in your own bowels.

13 Now for the same recompense, I speak as to my children, Be ye also enlarged.

14 ‘Be not unequally yoked with the infidels: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what concord hath Christ with Belial? and what agreement hath light with darkness?

15 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? and what agreement hath light with darkness?

16 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? and what agreement hath light with darkness?

17 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? and what agreement hath light with darkness?

18 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? and what agreement hath light with darkness?
And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath the believer with the infidel?
And what agreement hath the Temple of God with idols? for ye are the Temple of the living God: as God hath said, ‘I will dwell among them, and walk there: and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.
Wherefore come out from among them, and separate yourselves, saith the Lord, and touch none unclean thing, and I will receive you.
And I will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.
Godly sorrow is when we are not terrified with the fear of death, but because we feel we have offended God our most High, and are deseased of ourselves, and are tormented with God’s holy indignation. And this is the end of Godly sorrow.
Godly sorrow causeth repentance unto salvation, not to be repented of: but the worldly sorrow causeth death.
For he doth not sorrow as the world doeth, because the sorrow of the world is for ruining, and of the flesh: but the sorrow of God is for salvation, not to be repented of: but the worldly sorrow causeth death.
Insomuch that that sorrow did ye much good toward the amend of your lewdness and sins.
Therefore we were comforted, because ye were amended of your lewdness and sins.
In the consolation wherewith he was comforted of you, when he told us your great desire, your mourning, your fervent mind to me-ward, so that I rejoiced much more.
Whose hearts are cast down, and are very far spent. For if that I have boasted anything to him of your mind, it were not so.
To condemn you of unkindness or treachery.
God dwellth with us, because Christ is become God with us.
As God hath said, ‘I will dwell among them, and walk there: and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.’
He setteth the living God against idols.
Let me have some place amongst you, that I may teach you.
And his inward affection is more abundant in you, than in all the world.
That ye are not terrified with the fear of death, but because we feel we have offended God our most High, and are deseased of ourselves, and are tormented with God’s holy indignation.
He returneth again from that admonition to his own person, saying, ‘I will dwell among them, and walk there: and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.’
'Who is he that comforteth the abject, comforteth us at the coming of Titus:
And not by his coming only, but also by the answereth that he used not this toughness without grief. And he
And his inward affection is more abundant in you, than in all the world.
Unto his coming he shewed them he should dismay their tender minds.
Let me have some place amongst you, that I may teach you.
Unto his coming he shewed them he should dismay their tender minds.
'Whose hearts are cast down, and are very far spent. For if that I have boasted anything to him of your mind, it were not so.'
11 Now therefore perform to do it also, that as they have conceived of them.
8:8 giving of alms, by sending again of Titus unto them.
8:5 And this verse is to be expounded by the sixth verse.
8:4 that he being rich, for your sakes became poor, that you through his poverty might be made rich.
8:3 For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, which is toward the Saints.
8:2 For those manifold afflictions wherewith the Lord tried them, did not only not quail their joyful readiness, but also made it much more excellent, and famous.
8:1 The sixth part of this epistle containing divers exhortations to stir up the Corinthians to liberality, wherewith the poverty of the Church of Jerusalem might be holpen in time convenient. And first of all he seteth out before them the example of the Churches of Macedonia, which otherwise were brought by great misery to extreme poverty, to the end that they should follow them.
6 That we should exhort Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also accomplish the same grace among you also.
7 Therefore, as ye abound in everything, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love towards us, even so see that ye abound in this grace also.
8 This say I not by commandment, but because of the diligence of others: therefore prove I the naturalness of your love.
9 For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that he being rich, for your sakes became poor, that ye through his poverty might be made rich.
10 And I show my mind herein: for this is expedient for you, which have begun not to do only, but also to will, a year ago.
11 Now therefore perform to do it also, that as there was a readiness to will, even so ye may perform it of that which ye have.

12 For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.
13 Neither is it that other men should be eased and you grieved: But upon like condition, at this time your abundance supplieth their lack:
14 That also their abundance may be for your lack, that there may be equality.
15 As it is written, He that gathered much, had nothing over, and he that gathered little, had not the less.
16 And thanks be unto God, which had put in the heart of Titus the same care for you.
17 Because he accepted the exhortation, yea, he was so careful that of his own accord he went unto you.
18 And we have sent also with him the brother, whose praise is in the Gospel throughout all the Churches.
19 (And not so only, but is also chosen of the Churches to be a fellow in our journey, concerning this grace that is ministered by us unto the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your prompt mind.)
20 Avoiding this, that no man should blame us in this abundance that is ministered by us, 21 Providing for honest things, not only before the Lord, but also before men.
22 And we have sent with them our brother, whom we have ofttimes proved to be diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, for the great confidence, which I have in you.
23 Whether any do inquire of Titus, he is my fellow and helper to you-ward: or of our brethren, they are messengers of the Churches, and the glory of Christ is set forth by whom.
Christ.

24 Wherefore show toward them, and before the Churches the proof of your love, and of the rejoicing that we have of you.

9 1 Why, albeit he think well of their ready wills, 3 yet earnestly exhorteth them, 4 he yieldeth a reason: 6 He compareth alms to seed sowing. 10 which God doth repay with great gain.

1 For as touching the ministering to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write unto you.

2 For I know your readiness of mind, whereof I boast myself of you unto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a year ago, and your zeal hath provoked many.

3 Now have I sent the brethren, lest our rejoicing over you should be in vain in this behalf, that ye (as I have said) be ready.

4 Lest if they of Macedonia come with me, and find you unprepared, we (that we may not say, you) should be ashamed in this my constant boasting.

5 Wherefore, I thought it necessary to exhort the brethren to come before unto you, and to finish your benevolence appointed afore, that it might be ready, and come as of benevolence, and not as of niggardliness.

6 1 This yet remember, that he which soweth sparingly, shall reap also sparingly, and he that soweth liberally, shall reap also liberally.

7 As every man wisheth in his heart, so let him give, not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver.

8 And God is able to make all grace to abound toward you, that ye always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound in every good work.

9 (As it is written, He hath spared abroad and hath given to the poor: his benevolence remaineth for ever.

10 Also he that findeth seed to the sower, will minister likewise bread for food, and multiply your seed, and increase the fruits of your beneficence.)

11 That on all parts ye may be made rich unto all liberality, which causeth through us thanksgiving unto God.

12 1 For the ministration of this service not only supplieth the necessities of the Saints, but also abundantly causeth many to give thanks to God,

13 (Which by the experiment of this ministration praise God for your voluntary submission to the Gospel of Christ, and for your liberal distribution to them, and to all men.)

14 And in their prayer for you, to long after you greatly, for the abundant grace of God in you.

15 1 Thanks therefore be unto God for his unspeakable gift.

10 2 He showeth with what confidence. 4 with what weapons. 6 and with what revenge he is armed against the cavillations of the wicked. 7 and that, when he is present, his deeds have no less power, 11 than his words have force when he is absent.

1 Now I Paul myself beseech you by the meekness.

8:24 1 All Churches shall be witnesses of this your godly dealing, in whose presence you are, for so much as you see the messengers whom they have chosen by all their consents, and sent them unto you.

9:1 1 He wisely meeteth with the suspicion which the Corinthians might conceive, as though the Apostle in urging them so carefully, should doubt of their good will. Therefore he witnesseth that he doeth it not to teach them that they ought to help the Saints, seeing that he had become surety for them to the Macedonians, but doeth it not to teach them that they ought to help the Saints, seeing that he had become surety for them to the Macedonians, but doeth it not to teach them that they ought to help the Saints, but also sufficiently causeth many to give thanks to God.

9:2 1 The word which he useth, significeth such a stayedness and settledness of mind, as cannot be moved with any terror or fear.

9:5 1 As from covetous men.

9:6 1 Alms must be given neither niggardly, nor with a loathful mind, or hardly: But as frank and free alms is compared to a sowing which God doth repay with great gain.

9:7 1 Determineth and appointeth freely with himself.

9:8 1 All God’s bountiful liberality.

9:9 1 Is everlasting: Now David speaketh of a man that feareth God, and loveth his neighbor, who shall never want (saith he) to give to others.
ness, and "gentleness of Christ, which when I am present among you am base, but am bold toward you being absent:

2 And this I require you, that I need not to be bold when I am present, with that same confidence, where-with I think to be bold against some, which esteem us as though we walked according to the flesh.

3 Nevertheless, though we walk in the flesh, yet we do not war after the flesh.

4 (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God, to cast down holds.)

5 Casting down the imaginations, and every high thing that is exalted against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ,

6 And having ready the vengeance against all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 Look ye on things after the appearance? If any man trust in himself that he is Christ's, let him consider this again of himself, that as he is Christ's, even so are we Christ's.

8 For though I should boast somewhat more of our authority, which the Lord hath given us for edification, and not for your destruction, I should have no shame.

9 This I say, that I may not seem as it were to fear you with letters.

10 For the letters, saith he, are sore and strong, and his bodily presence is weak, and his speech is of no value.

11 Let such one think this, that such as we are in word by letters, when we are absent, such will we be also in deed, when we are present.

12 For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or to compare ourselves to them, which praise themselves: but they understand not that they measure themselves with themselves, and compare themselves with themselves.

13 But we will not rejoice of things, which are not within our measure, but according to the measure of the line, whereof God hath distributed unto us a measure to attain even unto you.

14 For we stretch not ourselves beyond our measure, as though we had not attained unto you: for even to you also have we come in preaching the Gospel of Christ.

15 Not boasting of things which are without our measure: that is, of other men's labors: and we hope, when your faith shall increase, to be magnified by you according to your line abundantly.

16 And to preach the Gospel in those regions which are beyond you: not to rejoice in another man's line: that is, in the things that are prepared already.

17 But let him that rejoiceth, rejoice in the Lord.

18 For he that praiseth himself, is not allowed, but he whom the Lord praiseth.

11 2 He testifieth that for the great loves sake he beareth to the Corinthians, he is compelled 5 to utter his own praises: 9 and that he bestowed his labor on them without any reward, 13 that the false apostles should not surpass him in anything, 22 whom he far excelled in those things which are praiseworthy indeed.

1 Would to God, ye could suffer a little my self, although he brags of excellent things, yet he will not pass the bounds which God hath measured him out, according whereunto he came even unto them in preaching the Gospel of Christ, and trusteth that he shall go further, when they have so profited that he shall not need to tarry any longer amongst them to instruct them. And hereunto is added an amplification, in that he never succeeded in instructing the Corinthians to be husbanded.

2 This is spoken after a taunting sort.

3 Upon a vain persuasion that they have of themselves, they take upon them they care not what.

4 They condemn all others, and measure all their doings only by themselves.

10:12 1 Being constrained to rebel the foolish brags of certain ambitious men, he witnesseth, that they are able to bring nothing, but that they falsely persuade themselves of themselves: and as for himself, although he brags of excellent things, yet he will not pass the bounds which God hath measured him out, according whereunto he came even unto them in preaching the Gospel of Christ, and trusteth that he shall go further, when they have so profited that he shall not need to tarry any longer amongst them to instruct them. And hereunto is added an amplification, in that he never succeeded in instructing the Corinthians to be husbanded.

2 This is spoken after a taunting sort.

3 Upon a vain persuasion that they have of themselves, they take upon them they care not what.

4 They condemn all others, and measure all their doings only by themselves.

10:13 1 Of those things which God hath not measured to me.

10:15 1 As though God had divided the whole world among the Apostles, to be husbanded.

10:16 1 In countries which other men have prepared and husbanded with the preaching of the Gospel.

10:17 1 He somewhat mitigateth that which he spake of himself and therewith also prepareth the Corinthians to hear other things, witnessing that he seeketh nothing else but to approve himself to God, whose glory he only seeketh.

11:1 1 He granteth that after a sort he playeth the fool in this vaunting of things, but he addeth that he doeth it against his will, for their profit because he seeth them deceived by certain vain and crafty men, through the craft and subtlety of Satan.
foolishness, and indeed, ye suffer me.

2 For I am jealous over you, with 'godly jealousy: for I have prepared you for one husband, to 'present you as a pure virgin to Christ:

3 But I fear lest as the 'serpent beguiled Eve through his subtlety, so your minds should be 'corrupt from the simplicity that is in 'Christ:

4 'For if he that cometh, preacheth 'another Jesus whom we have not preached: or if ye receive another spirit whom ye have not received: either another Gospel which ye have not received, ye might well have suffered 'him.

5 Verily I suppose that I was not inferior to the very chief 'Apostles.

6 'And though I be 'rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you we have been made manifest to the uttermost, in all things.

7 'Have I committed an offence, because I abased myself, that ye might be exalted, and because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

8 'I robbed other Churches, and took wages of them to do your service.

9 And when I was present with you, and had need, 'I was not slothful to the hindrance of any man: for that which was lacking unto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia, supplied, and in all things I kept, 'and will keep myself, that I should not be grievous unto you.

10 'The 'truth of Christ is in me, that this rejoicing shall not be 'shut up against me in the regions of Achaia.

11 Wherefore? because I love you not? God knoweth.

12 But what I do, that will I do, that I may cut away occasion from them which desire occasion, that they might be found like unto us in that wherein they 'rejoice.

13 'For such false apostles are deceitful workers, and transform themselves into the Apostles of Christ.

14 And no marvel: for Satan himself is transformed into an Angel of 'light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transform themselves, as though they were the ministers of righteousness, whose end shall be according to their works.

16 'I say again, Let no man think that I am foolish, or else take me even as a fool, that I also may boast myself a little.

17 'That I speak, I speak it not after the Lord: but as it were foolishly, in this my great boasting.

18 Seeing that many rejoice after [the] 'flesh, I will rejoice also.

19 For ye suffer fools gladly, because that ye are wise.

20 'For ye suffer fools gladly, even if a man bring you into bondage, if a man devour you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himself, if a man smite you on the face.

11:2 1 He speaketh as a woor, but yet as one that seeketh them not for himself, but for God.

2 To marry you together.

11:3 1 This place is to be marked against them which loathe that plain and pure simplicity of the Scriptures, in comparison of the colors and paintings of man's eloquence.

2 Which is meet for them that are in Christ.

11:4 1 He sheweth that they deceive themselves, if they look to receive of any other man, either a more excellent Gospel, or more excellent gifts of the holy Ghost.

2 A more perfect doctrine of Jesus Christ.

11:5 1 He refuteth the slanders of those Thrasoes. I grant, saith he, that I am not so eloquent an Orator, but yet they cannot take away the knowledge of the Gospel from me, whereof you have had good proof, and that every manner of way.

2 Paul lacked not the kind of eloquence which is meet for a man, and fit for the Gospel, but he willingly wanted that painted kind of speech, which too many nowadays hunt after and follow.

11:7 1 Another slander, to wit, that he was a rascal, and lived by the labor of his own hands. But herein, saith the Apostle, what can you say against me, but that I was content to take any pains for your sakes, and when I lacked, to travail for my living with mine own hands in part, and partly also when poverty constrained me, I chose rather otherwise to seek my sustenance, than to be any burden to you, although I preached the Gospel unto you?

11:9 1 An amplification: so far is he from being ashamed of this act, that he hath also resolved with himself to do no otherwise hereafter amongst them, to the intent that it may always be truly said, that he taught in Achaia for nothing: not that he disclaimeth the Corinthians, but that these Thrasoes may never find the occasion which they have already sought for, and he in the mean season may set something before them to follow, that at length they may truly say, that they are like to Paul.

11:10 1 This is a form of an oath, as if he said, let me not be thought to have any truth in me.

2 Shall be always open to me.

11:12 1 Paul's adversaries sought all occasions they could, to be equal to him. And therefore seeing they had rather eat up the Corinthians, than preach to them for nothing, they sought another occasion, to wit, to make Paul to take something: which thing if he had done, then hoped they by that means to be equal to him: for they made such a show of zeal and knowledge, and set it forth with such a glossing kind of eloquence, that some of them even despised Paul: but he sheweth that all this is nothing but colors and painting.

11:13 1 Now at length he pointeth out these fellows in their colors, forewarning that it will come to pass, that they will at length betray themselves, what countenance soever they make of zeal that they have to God's glory.

11:14 1 By light is meant the heavenly glory, whereof the Angels are partakers.

11:16 1 He goeth forward boldly, and using a vehement irony of kind of taunting, desireth the Corinthians to pardon him, if for a time he contended as a fool before them being wise, with those jolly fellows touching those eternal things, to wit, touching his stock, his ancestors and valiant acts.

11:20 1 Before he cometh to the matter, he toucheth the Corinthians, who persuading themselves to very wise men, did not mark in the mean season that these false apostles abused their simplicity for advantage.
2 CORINTHIANS 11:21

21 I speak as concerning the reproach: as though that we had been weak: but wherein any man is bold (I speak foolishly) I am bold also.

22 They are Hebrews, so am I: they are Israelites, so am I: they are the seed of Abraham, so am I.

23 They are the ministers of Christ (I speak as a fool) I am more: in labors more abundant: in stripes above measure: in prison more plentifully: in deaths oft.

24 Of the Jews five times received I forty stripes save one.

25 I was thrice beaten with rods: I was once stoned: I suffered thrice shipwreck: night and day have I been in the deep sea.

26 In journeying I was often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine own nation, in perils among the Gentiles, in perils in the city, in perils in wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren.

27 In weariness and painfulness, in watching often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and in nakedness.

28 Beside the things which are outward, I am cumbered daily, and have the care of all the Churches.

29 Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is offended, and I burn not?

30 If I must needs rejoice, I will rejoice of mine infirmities.

31 The God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which is blessed for evermore, knoweth that I lie not.

32 In Damascus the governor of the people under King Aretas, laid watch in the city of the Damascenes, and would have caught me.

12 1 He doth even unwillingly make rehearsal, 3 of the heavenly visions, 4 that were revealed unto him, 6 for which though he might indeed glory, yet he will not, 10 being privy of his own infirmities: 11 but they drive him to this kind of folly, 20 in that they give ear to certain vainglorious persons, who draw them from Christ.

1 It is not expedient for me no doubt to rejoice: for I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord.

2 I know a man in Christ above fourteen years ago, (whether he were in the body, I cannot tell, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth) which was taken up into the third heaven.

3 And I know such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth.)

4 How that he was taken up into Paradise, and heard words which cannot be spoken, which are not possible for man to utter.

5 Of such a man will I rejoice: of myself will I not rejoice, except it be of mine infirmities.

6 For though I would rejoice, I should not be a fool, for I will say the truth: but I refrain, lest any man should think of me above that he seeth in me, or that he heareth of me.

7 And lest I should be exalted out of measure

11:21 1 As if he said, in respect of that reproach which they do unto you (I speak it) which surely is as evil as if they did beat you.

2 Paul is called weak, in that he seemeth to the Corinthians a vile and abject man, a beggarly artificer, a most wretched and miserable fool, whereas notwithstanding therein God’s mighty power was made manifest.

11:23 1 Paul being honorable indeed, defendeth his ministry openly, not for his own sake, but because he saw his doctrine come into hazard.

2 In danger of present death.

11:24 1 He alludeth to that that is written, Deut. 25:3, and moreover this place showeth us, that Paul suffered many things which Luke passed over.

11:25 1 Of the Roman Magistrates.

11:27 1 Painfulness is a troublesome sickness, as when a man who is weary and would rest, he is constrained to fall to new labor.

11:28 1 He addeth this in conclusion further, that the Corinthians might be ashamed to despise him, upon whose care almost all Churches depended, as it was plainly seen by experience.

11:30 1 He turneth that against the adversaries, which they objected against him: as if he should say, They allege my calamities, to take away my authority from me: but if I would boast myself, I would take no better argument: and God himself is my witness that I devise and forgo nothing.

12:1 1 He goeth forward in his purpose, and because those bragging maters boasted of revelations, he recknoeth up those things which lift him up above the common capacity of men: but he useth a preface, and excuseth himself advisedly.

12:2 1 I speak this in Christ, that is, be it spoken without vainglory, for I seek nothing but Christ Jesus only.

2 Into the highest heaven: for we need not to dispute subtly upon the word (Third) but yet this place is to be marked against them which would make heaven to [be] everywhere.

12:4 1 So the Grecians name that which we call a park, that is to say, a place where trees are planted, and wild beasts kept, by which name they that translated the old Testament out of the Hebrew into Greek, called the garden Eden, wherounto Adam was put straight after his creation, as a most delicate and pleasant place. And hereunto grew it, that that blessed seat of the glory of God is called by that name.

1 Which no man is able to utter.

2 Which the Saints themselves are not by any means able to express; because it is God himself. Thus doth Clement Alexandria expound this place, Strom. 5.

12:5 1 To remove all suspicion of ambition he witnesseth that he braggeth not of those things as his own, but as out of himself, and yet notwithstanding faireth nothing, lest by this occasion other men should attribute more unto him than indeed he is: and therefore he had rather glory in his miseries.

12:7 1 An excellent doctrine: why God will have even his best servants to be vexed of Satan and by all kinds of temptations, to wit, lest they should be too much puffed up, and also that they may be made perfect by that continual exercise.
through the abundance of revelations, there was given unto me a 'prick in the flesh, the messenger of' Satan to buffet me, because I should not be exalted out of measure.

8 For this thing I besought the Lord thrice, that it might depart from me.

9 And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect through weakness.
10 Very gladly therefore will I rejoice rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Christ may dwell in me.

10 Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguish for Christ's sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong.

11 I was a fool to boast myself: ye have compelled me: 'for I ought to have been commended of you:
for in nothing was I inferior unto the very chief Apostles, though I be nothing.

12 The signs of an Apostle were wrought among you with all patience, with signs, and wonders and great works.

13 For what is it, wherein ye were inferior unto other Churches, 'except that I have not been slothful to your hindrance? forgive me this wrong.

14 Behold, the third time I am ready to come unto you, and yet will I not be slothful to your hindrance:
for I seek not yours, but you: for the children ought to lay up for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.

15 And I will most gladly bestow, and will be tested for your souls: though the more I love you, the less I am loved.

16 But be it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was crafty, I took you with guile.

17 Did I pill you by any of them whom I sent unto you?

18 I have desired Titus, and with him I have sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any things? walked we not in the selfsame spirit? walked we not in the same steps?

19 'Again, think ye that we excuse ourselves unto you? we speak before God in Christ. But we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying.

20 'For I fear lest when I come, I shall not find you such as I would: and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: and lest there be strife, envying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, and discord.

21 I fear lest when I come again, my God abase me among you, and I shall bewail many of them which have sinned already, and have not repented of the uncleanliness, and fornication, and wantonness which they have committed.

13 1 Coming the third time, 2 he denounceth the sharper vengeance toward them, 4 who have a perfect trial of the power of Christ in his Apostleship: 7 At length be prayeth for their repentance, 11 And wisheth them prosperity.

1 Lo this is the third time that I come unto you.

2 'In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word stand.

3 I told you before, and tell you before: as though
I had been present the second time, so write I now being absent to them, which heretofore have sinned, and to all others, that if I come again, I will not spare,

4 'Seeing that ye seek experience of Christ, that speaketh in me, which toward you is not weak, but

2 He meaneth concupiscence, that sticketh fast in us, as it were a prick, insomuch that it constrained Paul himself being regenerate, to cry out, I do not that good that I would, etc. And he calleth it a prick, by a borrowed kind of speech taken from thorns, or stumps, which are very dangerous and hurtful for the feet, if a man walks through woods that are cut down.

128 1 Dlt.
129 He concludes, that he will only see his miseries against the vain brags of the false apostles, and therewith also excuseth himself, for that by their importunity, he was constrained to speak so much of these things, as he did: to wit, because that if his Apostleship were subverted his doctrine must needs fall.

2 That I might feel the virtue of Christ more and more: For the sake of my own, I desire to see Christ's virtues appear in me.

1201 1 Dlt.
1210 I do not only take them patiently and with a good heat, but also I take great pleasure in them.

1211 1 Again he maketh the Corinthians witnesses of those things whereby God had sealed his Apostleship amongst them, and again he desireth by certain arguments, how far he is from all covetousness, and also how he is afflicted towards them.

1212 1 The arguments whereby it may well appear, that I am indeed an Apostle of Jesus Christ.

1213 1 I was not slothful in getting my living with mine own hands, that I might not be burdensome to you.

1216 1 He putteth away another most grievous slander, to wit, that he did subtly and by others, make his gain and profit of them.

1219 He concludes, that he writeth not these things unto them, as though he needed to defend himself, for he is guilty of nothing:
but because it is behoovable for them to doubt nothing of his fidelity who instructed them.

2 As it becometh him to speak truly and sincerely, that professeth himself to be in Christ, that is to say, to be a Christian.

1220 Having confirmed his authority unto them, he rebuketh them sharply, and threateneth them also like an Apostle, showing that he will not spare them hereafter, unless they repent; seeing that this is the third time that he hath warned them.

133 1 A most sharp reprehension, for that, while they despise the Apostle's admonitions, they tempt Christ's own patience: and also while they condemn him as wretched and miserable, they lay nothing herein against him, which is not common to him with Christ.
is mighty in you.

4 For though he was crucified concerning his infirmity, yet liveth he through the power of God. And we no doubt are weak in him, but we shall live with him, through the power of God toward you.

5 Prove yourselves whether ye are in the faith: examine yourselves: know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

6 But I trust that ye shall know that we are not reprobates.

7 Now I pray unto God that ye do none evil, not that we should seem approved, but that ye should do that which is honest: though we be as reprobates.

8 For we cannot do anything against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For we are glad when we are weak, and that ye are strong: this also we wish for, even your perfection.

10 Therefore write I these things being absent, lest when I am present, I should use sharpness, according to the power which the Lord hath given me, to edification, and not to destruction.

11 Finally brethren, fare ye well: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one mind: live in peace, and the God of love and peace shall be with you.

12 Greet one another with an holy kiss. All the Saints salute you.

13 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with you all, Amen.

¶ The second Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, a city in Macedonia, and sent by Titus and Lucas.

13:3 2 And will be most mighty to be revenged of you, when need shall be.

13:4 1 As touching that base form of a servant which he took upon him when he abased himself.

13:5 1 He confirmeth that which he spake of the virtue of God appearing in his ministry, and he gathereth by the mutual relation between the people's faith and the minister's preaching, that they must either reverence his Apostleship, upon whose doctrine their faith is grounded, or they must condemn themselves of infidelity, and must confess themselves not to be of Christ's body.

13:6 1 He mitigateth that sharpness, trusting that they will show themselves towards their faithful Apostle, apt and willingly to be taught: adding this moreover, that he passeth not for his own fame and estimation, so that he may serve to their salvation, which is the only mark that he shooteth at.

13:7 1 In men's judgment.

13:9 1 That all things may be in good order amongst you, and the members of the Church restored into their place, which have been shaken and out of place.

13:11 1 A brief exhortation, but yet such an one as comprehendeth all the parts of a Christian man's life.

13:12 1 He saluteth them familiarly, and in conclusion wisheth well unto them.
1 Straight after the salutation. 6 He reprehendeneth the Galatians for revolting. 9 from his Gospel. 15 which he received from God. 17 before he had communed with any of the Apostles.

1 Paul 1 an Apostle (not 2 of men, neither by 3 man, but by 4 Jesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead.)

2 And all the brethren which are with me unto the Churches of Galatia:

3 Grace 1 be with you, and peace from God the Father, and 2 from our Lord Jesus Christ,

4 1 Which gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us 2 from this present evil 3 world according to the will of God even our Father,

5 To whom 1 be glory forever and ever, Amen.

6 1 I marvel that ye are so soon 2 removed away unto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ,

7 1 Which is not another Gospel, save that there be some which trouble you, and intend to 2 pervert the Gospel of Christ.

8 But though that we, or an Angel from heaven preach unto you otherwise than that which we have preached unto you, let him be 1 accursed.

9 As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach unto you otherwise than that ye have received, let him be accursed.

10 1 I For now preach 2 man's doctrine, or God's? or 3 go I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the servant of Christ.

11 1 I Now certify you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man.

12 For neither received I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the 1 revelation of Jesus Christ.

13 1 For ye have heard of my conversation in time past, in the Jewish religion, how that 1 I persecuted...
the Church of God extremely, and wasted it, 14 And profited in the Jewish religion above many of my companions of mine own nation, and was much more zealous of the traditions of my fathers.
15 But when it pleased God (which had ‘separated me from my mother’s womb, and called me by his grace.)
16 To reveal his Son ‘in me, that I should preach him among the Gentiles immediately, ‘I communicated not with ‘flesh and blood:
17 Neither came I again to Jerusalem to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned again unto Damascus.
18 Then after three years I came again to Jerusalem, to visit Peter, and abide with him fifteen days.
19 And none other of the Apostles saw I, save James the Lord’s brother.
20 Now the things which I write unto you, behold, I witness ‘before God, that I lie not.
21 After that, I went into the coasts of Syria and Cilicia: for I was unknown by face unto the Churches of Judea which were in Christ.
22 But they had heard only ‘some say, He which persecuted us in time past, now preacheth the faith which before he destroyed.
23 And they glorified God for me.

1:14 1 He calleth them the traditions of his fathers, because he was not only a Pharisee himself, but also had a Pharisee to his father.
1:15 1 He speaketh of God’s everlasting predestination, whereby he appointed him to be an Apostle, whereof he maketh three degrees, the everlasting counsel of God, his appointing from his mother’s womb, and his calling: here is no mention at all, we see, of works foreseen.
1:16 1 To me, and this is a kind of speech which the Hebrews use, whereby this is given us to understand, that this gift cometh from God.
2 Because it might be objected, that indeed he was called of Christ in the way, but afterwards was instructed of the Apostles and others, whose names (as I said before) the false apostles abused to destroy his Apostleship, as though he delivered another Gospel than the true Apostles did, and as though he were not of their number, which are to be credited without exception: therefore Paul answereth, that he began straightway after his calling to preach the Gospel at Damascus and in Arabia, and was not from that time in Jerusalem but only fifteen days, where he saw only Peter and James, and afterwards, he began to teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the consent and approbation of the Churches of the Jews, which knew him only by name, so far off was it, that he was there instructed of men.
3 With any man in the world.
1:20 1 This is a kind of an oath.
1:22 1 The doctrine of faith.
2:1 1 Now he sheweth how he agreeeth with the Apostles with whom he granteth that he conferred touching his Gospel which he taught among the Gentiles, fourteen years after his conversion, and they allowed it in such sort, that they constrained not his fellow Titus to be circumcised, although some tormented themselves therein, which traitorously laid wait against him, but in vain: neither did he add the least iota that might be to the doctrine which he had taught among the Gentiles, fourteen years after his conversion, and they gave to me and to Barnabas the right hands of fellowship, that we should preach unto the Gentiles, and they unto the circumcision.

1 Then fourteen years after, I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, and took with me Titus also.
2 And I went up by revelation, and declared unto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chief, lest by any means I should run, or had run in vain:
3 But neither yet Titus which was with me, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised,
4 To wit, for the false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in privily to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage,
5 To whom we gave not place by subjection for an hour, that the truth of the Gospel might continue with you.
6 But by them which seemed to be great, I was not taught (whatsoever they were in time passed, I am nothing the better: ‘God accepteth no man’s person) for they that are the chief, did add nothing to me above that I had.
7 But contrariwise, when they saw that the Gospel over the uncircumcision was committed unto me, as the Gospel over the circumcision was unto Peter:
8 (For he that was mighty by Peter in the Apostleship over the circumcision, was also mighty by me toward the Gentiles.)
9 And when James, and Cephas, and John, knew of the grace that was given unto me, which are ‘counted to be pillars, they gave to me and to Barnabas the right hands of fellowship, that we should preach unto the Gentiles, and they unto the circumcision, 10 Warning only that we should remember the poor; which thing also I was diligent to do.
11 ¶ And when Peter was come to Antioch, I withstood him to his 4 face: for he was to be condemned.
12 1 For before that certain came from James, he ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing them which were of the circumcision.
13 And the other Jews played the hypocrites likewise with him, insomuch that Barnabas was 4 led away with them by that their hypocrisy.
14 But when I saw, that they went not the 1 right way to the 4 truth of the Gospel, I said unto Peter before all men, If thou being a Jew, livest as the Gentiles, and not like the Jews, why 4 constrainest thou the Gentiles to do like the Jews?
15 1 We which are Jews 2 by nature, and not 1 sinners of the Gentiles,
16 Know that a man is not justified by the works of the Law, but by the faith 1 of Jesus Christ, even we, I say, have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the Law, because that by the works of the Law, 2 no flesh shall be justified.
17 1 4 If then while 2 we seek to be made righteous by Christ, we ourselves are found sinners, is Christ therefore the minister of sin? God forbid.
18 For if I build again the things that I have destroyed, I make myself a trespasser.
19 For I through the Law am dead to the 1 Law, that I might live unto God.
20 I am crucified with Christ, but I live, yet not I anymore, but Christ liveth in me: and in that I now live in the 4 flesh, I live by the faith in the Son of God, who hath loved me, and given himself for me.
21 1 I do not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousness be by the Law, then Christ died without a 2 cause.

2:11 1 Before all men.
2:12 1 Another most vehement proof of his Apostleship, and also of that doctrine, which he had delivered concerning free justification by faith only because that for this thing only he reprehended Peter at Antioch, who offended herein, in that for a few Jews' sakes which came from Jerusalem he played the Jew, and offended the Gentiles which had believed.
2:13 1 By example rather than by judgment.
2:14 1 Word for word, with a right foot which he seteth against halting and dissembling which is backward.
2 He calleth the truth of the Gospel both the doctrine itself, and also the use of doctrine, which we call the practice.
3 He saith they were constrained, which played the Jews by Peter's example.
2:15 1 The second part of this Epistle, the state whereof is this: we are justified by faith in Christ Jesus without the works of the Law: which thing he propoundeth in such sort, that first of all he meeteth with an objection, (for I also saith he am a Jew, that no man may say against me, that I am an enemy to the Law) and afterward, he confirmeth it by the express witness of David.
2 Although we be Jews, yet we preach justification by faith because we know undoubtedly, that no man can be justified by the Law.
1 So the Jews called the Gentiles, because they were strangers from God's covenant.
2:16 1 In Jesus Christ.
2 No man, and in this word (flesh) there is a great vehemence, whereby is meant that the nature of man is utterly corrupt.
2:17 1 Before he goeth any further, he meeteth with their objection, which abhorred this doctrine of free justification by faith, because say they, men are by this means withdrawn from the study of good works. And in this sort is the objection, If sinners should be justified through Christ by faith without the Law Christ should approve sinners, and should as it were exhort them thereunto by his ministry. Paul answereth that this consequence is false, because that Christ destroyeth sin in the believers: for so saith he do men flee unto Christ, through the terror and fear of the Law that being quit from the curse of the Law and justified, they may be saved by him, that doctrine, which he had delivered concerning free justification in Christ, if we lay hold on him by faith.
2 He goeth from justification to sanctification, which is another benefit we receive by Christ, if we lay hold on him by faith.
2:19 1 The Law that terrifieth the conscience, bringeth us to Christ, and he only causeth us to die to the Law indeed, because that by making us righteous, he taketh away from us the terror of conscience, and by sanctifying us, causeth through the mortifying of lust in us, that it cannot take such occasion to sin by the restraint which the Law maketh, as it did before, Rom. 7:10-11.
2:20 1 The same that I was before.
2 In this mortal body.
2:21 1 The second argument taken of an absurdity: If men may be justified by the Law, then was it not necessary for Christ to die.
2 For there was no cause why he should do so.
3:1 1 The third reason or argument taken of those gifts of the Holy Ghost, wherewith they were endued from heaven after they had heard and believed the Gospel by Paul's ministry: which seeing they were so evident to all men's eyes, that they were as it were lively images, wherein they might behold the truth of the doctrine of the Gospel, no less than if they had beheld with their eyes Christ himself crucified, in whose only death they ought to have their trust, he marvellèth how it could be that they could be so bewitched by the false apostles.
2 Christ was laid before you, so notably and so plainly, that you had his lively image as it were represented before your eyes, as if he had been crucified before you.
the Gentiles be blessed.
9 So then they which be of faith, are blessed with faithfull Abraham.
10 For as many as are of the works of the Law, are under the curse: For it is written, Cursed is every man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the book of the Law, to do them.
11 And that no man is justified by the Law in the sight of God, it is evident: for the just shall live by faith.
12 And the Law is not of faith: but the man that shall do those things, shall live in them.
13 Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the Law, made a curse for us, (for it is written, Cursed is everyone that hangeth on tree.)
14 That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Jesus, that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.
15 Brethren, I speak as men do: though it be

3:2 1 Those spiritual graces and gifts, which were a seal as it were to the Galatians, that the Gospel which was preached to them was true.
2 Of the doctrine of faith.
3:3 1 The fourth argument mixed with (the former) and it is double, If the Law is to be joined with faith, this were not to go forward, but backward, seeing that those spiritual gifts which were bestowed upon you, are more excellent than any that could proceed from yourselves. And moreover, it should follow, that the Law is better than Christ, because it should perfect and bring to end that which Christ began only.
2 By the (flesh) he meaneth the ceremonies of the Law, against which he setteth the Spirit, that is, the spiritual working of the Gospel.
3:4 1 An exhortation by manner of upbraiding, that they do not in vain suffer so many conflicts.
3:5 1 He repeateth the third argument which was taken of the effects, because he had interlaced certain other arguments by the way.
3:6 1 The first argument which is of great force, and hath three grounds, The first, That Abraham was justified by faith, to wit, by free imputation of righteousness according to the promise apprehended by faith, as Moses doth most plainly witness.
2 See Rom. 4.
3:7 1 The second, that the sons of Abraham must be esteemed and accounted of by faith.
3:8 1 The third, that all people that believe, are without exception, comprehended in the promise of the blessing.
2 A proof of the first and second grounds, out of the words of Moses.
3:9 1 The conclusion of the fifth argument. Therefore as Abraham is blessed by faith, so are all his children (that is to say, all the Gentiles that believe) blessed, that is to say, freely justified.
2 With faithful Abraham, and not by faithful Abraham, to give us to understand that the blessing cometh not from Abraham, but from him, by whom Abraham and all his posterity is blessed.
3:10 1 The sixth argument, the conclusion whereof is also in the former verse taken of contraries, thus, They are accused which are of the works of the Law, that is to say, which value their righteousness by the performance of the Law. Therefore they are blessed which are of faith, that is, they which have righteousness by faith.
2 A proof of the former sentence or proposition: and the proposition of this argument is this: Cursed is he that fulfilleth not the whole Law.
3:11 1 The second proposition with the conclusion: But no man fulfilleth the Law. Therefore no man is justified by the Law, or else, which seek righteousness by the works of the Law. And there is annexed also this manner of proof of the second proposition, to wit, Righteousness and life are attributed to faith. Therefore no man fulfilleth the Law.
3:12 1 Here is a reason shown of the former consequence: Because the law promiseth life to all that keep it, and therefore if it be kept, it justifieth and giveth life. But the Scripture attributing righteousness and life to faith, taketh it from the Law, seeing that faith justifieth by imputation, and the Law by the performing of the work.
3:13 1 A preventing of an objection: How then can they be blessed, whom the Law pronounceth to be accursed? Because Christ sustained the curse which the Law laid upon us, that we might be quit from it.
2 A proof of the answer by the testimony of Moses.
3:14 1 A conclusion of all that was said before in the handling of the fifth and sixth reasons, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free blessing of Abraham in Christ, and also that the Jew themselves, of whose number the Apostle counteth himself to be, cannot obtain that promised grace of the Gospel, which he calleth the Spirit, but only by faith. And the Apostle doth severally apply the conclusion, both to the one and the other, preparing himself a way, to the next argument, whereby he declareth, that the one only seed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples can no otherwise be joined and grow up together, but by faith in Christ.
3:15 1 He putteth forth two general rules before the next argument, which is the seventh in order: That one is, that it is not lawful to break covenants and contracts which are justly made and according to Law amongst men, neither may anything be added unto them: The other is, that God did so make a covenant with Abraham, that he would gather together his children which consist both of Jews and Gentiles into one body (as appeareth by that which hath been said before.) For he did not say, that he would be the God of Abraham and of his seeds, (which things notwithstanding should have been said, if he had many and divers seeds, as the Gentiles apart and the Jews apart,) but that he would be the God of Abraham, and of his seed, as of one.
2 I will use an example which is common among you, that you may be ashamed you give not so much to God's covenants, as you do to man's.
but a man’s covenant, when it is 3confirmed, yet no man doth abrogate it, or addeth anything thereto, 16 Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, and to the seeds, as speaking of many: but, And to thy seed, as of one, which is 2Christ.

17 And this I say, that the covenant that was confirmed afore of God in respect of Christ, the Law which was four hundred and thirty years after, cannot disannul, that it should make the promise of none effect.

18 If for the inheritance of the Law, it is no more by the promise, but God gave it freely unto Abraham by promise.

19 Wherefore serves the Law? It was added because of the transgressions, till the seed came, unto which the promise was made: and it was ordained by Angels in the hand of a Mediator.

20 Now a Mediator is not a Mediator of one: but God is one.
21 Is the Law then against the promises of God? God forbid: For if there had been a Law given which could have given life, surely righteousness should have been by the Law.
22 But the Scripture hath concluded all under sin, that the promise by the faith of Jesus Christ should be given to them that believe.
23 But before faith came, we were kept under the Law, as under a garrison, and shut up unto that faith, which should afterward be revealed.
24 Wherefore the Law was our schoolmaster to bring us to Christ, that we might be made righteous by faith.
25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer under a schoolmaster.

26 For ye are all the sons of God by faith, in Christ Jesus.
27 1For all ye that are 2baptized into Christ, have 3put on Christ.
28 There is neither Jew nor Grecian: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all 1one in Christ Jesus.
29 And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs by promise.

4 1Being delivered from the bondage of the Law, 4 by Christ's coming, who is the end thereof, 9 it is very absurd to slide back to beggarly ceremonies: 13 He calleth them again therefore to the purity of the doctrine of the Gospel. 21 confirming his discourse with a fine allegory.

1 Then 1I say, that the heir as long as he is a child, differeth nothing from a servant, though he be Lord of all,
2 But is under tutors and governors, 1until the time appointed of the Father.
3 Even so we, when we were children, were in bondage under the 1rudiments of the world.
4 1But when the 2fullness of time was come, God sent forth his Son made of a 3woman, and made under the Law,
5 That he might redeem them which were under the Law, that we 1might receive the 1adoption of the sons.
6 1And because ye are sons, God hath 2sent forth the 3Spirit of his Son into your hearts, which crieth, Abba, Father.
7 Wherefore, thou art no more a 3servant, but a son: now if thou be a son, thou art also the 2heir of God through Christ.
8 1But even then, when ye knew not God, ye did service unto them, which by nature are not gods:
9 But now seeing ye know God, yea, rather are known of God, how turn ye again unto impotent and 1beggarly rudiments, whereunto as from the beginning ye will be in bondage 2again?
10 1Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years.
11 I am in fear of you, lest I have bestowed on you labor in vain.
12 1Be ye as I (for I am even as you) brethren, I beseech you: ye have not hurt me at all.
13 And ye know, how through 2infirmity of the 3:27 1Using a general particle, lest the Jews at the least should not think themselves bound with the band of the Law, he pronounceth that Baptism is common to all believers, because it is a pledge of our delivery in Christ, as well to the Jews as to the Grecians, that by this means all may be truly one in Christ, that is to say, that promised seed of Abraham and inheritors of everlasting life.

2 He setteth Baptism secretly against circumcision, which the false apostles so much bragged of.
3 The Church must put on Christ, as it were a garment, and be covered with him, that it may be thoroughly holy, and without blame.
3:28 1You are all as one: and so in this great knot and conjunction signified.
4:1 1He declareth that by another double similitude, which he said before concerning the keeper and schoolmaster. For he saith, that the Law, (that is, the whole government of God's house according to the Law) was as it were a tutor or overseer appointed for a time, until such time as that protection and overseeing which was but for a time, being ended, we should at length come to be at our own liberty, and should live as children, and not as servants. Moreover, he sheweth by the way, that that governance of the Law, was as it were an ABC, and as certain principles in comparison of the doctrine of the Gospel.
4:2 1This is added, because he that is always under a tutor or governor, may hardly be counted a freeman.
4:3 1The Law is called rudiments, because that by the Law God instructed his Church as it were by rudiments, and afterward poured out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the time of the Gospel.
4:4 1He uttereth and declareth many things at once, to wit, that this tutorship was ended at his time, that curious men may leave to ask, why that schoolmastership lasted so long. And moreover, that we are not sons by nature, but by adoption, and that in that Son of God, who therefore took upon him our flesh, that we might be made his brethren.

2 The time is said to be full, when all parts of it are past and ended, and therefore Christ could not have come either sooner or later.
3 He calleth Mary a woman, in respect of the sex, and not as the word is used in a contrary sense to a virgin still.
flesh, I preached the Gospel unto you at the first.
14 And the trial of me which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but ye received me as an Angel of God, yea, as Christ Jesus.
15 What was then your felicity? for I bear you record, that if it had been possible, ye would have plucked out your own eyes, and have given them unto me.
16 Am I therefore become your enemy, because I tell you the truth?
17 They are jealous over you amiss: yea, they would exclude you, that ye should altogether love them.
18 But it is a good thing to love earnestly always in a good thing, and not only when I am present with you, 19 My little children, of whom I travail in birth again, until Christ be formed in you.
20 And I would I were with you now, that I might change my voice: for I am in doubt of you.
21 Tell me, ye that will be under the Law, do ye not hear the Law?
22 For it is written, that Abraham had two sons, one by a servant, and one by a free woman.
23 But he which was of the servant, was born after the flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was born by promise.

24 By the which things another thing is meant: for these mothers are the two Testaments, the one which is Hagar of mount Sinai, which gendereth unto bondage.
25 (For Hagar or Sinai is a mountain in Arabia, and it answered to Jerusalem which now is) and she is in bondage with her children.
26 But Jerusalem, which is above, is free: which is the mother of us all.
27 For it is written, Rejoice thou barren that bearest no children: break forth, and cry, thou that travailest not: for the desolate hath many more children, than she which hath an husband.
28 Therefore, brethren, we are after the manner of Isaac, children of the promise.
29 But as then he that was born after the flesh, persecuted him that was born after the Spirit, even so it is now.
30 But what saith the Scripture? Put out the servant and her son: for the son of the servant shall not be heir with the son of the free woman.
31 Then brethren, we are not children of the servant, but of the free woman.

4:14 1 Those daily troubles wherewith the Lord tried me amongst you.
2 For my minstry's sake.
4:15 1 What a talk was there abroad in the world amongst men, how happy you were?
2 That desire so greatly.
4:17 1 For they are jealous over you for their own commodity.
2 They are called two covenants, one of the old Testament, and another of the New: which were not two indeed, but in respect of the times, and the diversity of the government.
4:20 1 Use other words among you.
4:21 1 Because the false apostles always urged this, that unless the Gentiles were circumcised, Christ could profit them nothing at all, and this dissension of them which believed of the circumcision against them which believed of the uncircumcision, was full of offense: the Apostle, after divers arguments whereby he hath refuted their error, bringeth forth an allegory, wherein he saith the holy Ghost did procure and call back again the slavery of the Law, seeing that the children of barren Sarah, that is to say, of them which only of the promise and by grace only, and the first was not only not heir, but also persecuted the heir: So there are two covenants, and as it standeth betwixt Hagar and her children, wherein he saith the holy Ghost did shadow not unto us, all these mysteries: to wit, that it should come to pass, that two sorts of sons should have Abraham a father common to them both, but not with like success: for as Abraham begat Ishmael, by the common course of nature, of Hagar his bondmaid and a stranger, and begat Isaac of Sarah a free woman by the virtue of the promise and by grace only, and the first was not only not heir, but also persecuted the heir: So there are two covenants, and as it were two sons born to Abraham of those two covenants, as it were of two mothers. The one was made in Sina, without the land of promise according to which covenant Abraham's children according to the flesh were begotten: to wit, the Jews which seek righteousness by that covenant, that is, by the Law: but they are not heirs, nay they shall at length be cast out of the house, as they that persecute the true heirs. The other was made in that high Jerusalem or in Zion (to wit, by the sacrifice of Christ) which begetteth children of promise, to wit, believers by the virtue of the holy Ghost which children (as Abraham) do rest themselves in the free promise, and they only by the right of children shall be partakers of the father's inheritance, and those shall be shut out.
2 That desire so greatly.
4:23 1 As all men are, and by the common course of nature.
2 By virtue of the promise, which Abraham laid hold on for himself and his true seed, for otherwise Abraham and Sarah were past begetting and bearing children.
4:24 1 These do represent and shadow forth.
2 They are called two covenants, one of the old Testament, and another of the New: which were not two indeed, but in respect of the times, and the diversity of the government.
3 He maketh mention of Sina, because that covenant was made in that mountain, of which mountain Hagar was a shadow.
4:25 1 Look how the case standeth betwixt Hagar and her children, even so standeth it between Jerusalem and hers.
2 That is, Sina.
4:26 1 Which is excellent, and of great account.
4:27 1 He showeth that in this allegory, he hath followed the steps of Isaac, who foretold that the Church should be made and consist of the children of barren Sarah, that is to say, of them which only spiritually should be made Abraham's children by faith, rather than of fruitful Hagar, even then foreshowing the casting off of the Jews, and calling of the Gentiles.
3 She that is destroyed and wasted.
4:28 1 After the manner of Isaac who is the first begotten of the heavenly Jerusalem, as Israel is of the slavish Synagogue.
2 That seed, unto which the promise belongeth.
4:29 1 By the common course of nature.
2 By the virtue of God's promise and after a spiritual manner.
4:31 1 The conclusion of the former allegory, that we by no means procure and call back again the slavery of the Law, seeing that the children of the bondmaid shall not be heirs.
1 Having declared that we came of the free woman, he sheweth the price of that freedom, 13 and how we should use the same, 16 that we may obey the Spirit, 19 and resist the flesh.

1 Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.

2 "Behold, I Paul say unto you, that if ye be circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.

3 For I testify again to every man, which is circumcised, that he is bound to keep the whole Law.

4 Ye are abjured from Christ: whosoever are justified by the Law, ye are fallen from grace.

5 For we through the Spirit wait for the hope of righteousness through faith.

6 For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth anything, neither uncircumcision, but faith which worketh by love.

7 Ye did run well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the truth?

8 It is not the persuasion of him that calleth you.

9 A little leaven doth leaven the whole lump.
19 Moreover the works of the flesh are manifest, which are adultery, fornication, uncleanness, wantonness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, contentions, envylings, strife, envylings, drunkenness, revelings, and such like: of these I tell you before, as I have also told you, that they which do such things, shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

20 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law.

21 For they that are Christ’s, have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts.

22 If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.

23 Let us not therefore be weary of well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.

24 While we have therefore time, let us do good: for he that soweth to his flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit, shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.

25 And we should not be conformed to this world, but be transformed thereby, that we may prove what the will of God is, which thing is good and acceptable and perfect.

26 Now he entreateth particularly of charity toward such as are FALLEN: 6 toward the Ministers of the word: 10 and those that are of the household of faith: 12 Not like unto such who have a counterfeit zeal of the Law. 13 gloriing in the mangling of the flesh, 14 and not in the cross of Christ.

1 Brethren, If a man be suddenly taken in any offense, ye which are spiritual, restore such one with the spirit of meekness, considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. 2 Bear ye one another’s burden, and so fulfill the law of Christ.

3 For if any man seem to himself, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself in his imagination.

4 But let every man prove his own work: and then shall he have rejoicing in himself only and not in another.

5 For every man shall bear his own burden.

6 Let him that is taught in the word, make him that hath taught him, partaker of all his goods.

7 Be not deceived: God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.

8 For he that soweth to his flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption: but he that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reap life everlasting.

9 Let us not therefore be weary of well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.

10 While we have therefore time, let us do good unto all men, but especially unto them, which are of the household of faith.

11 Ye see how large a letter I have written unto you with mine own hand.
12 As many as desire to make a fair show in the flesh, they constrain you to be circumcised, only because they would not suffer persecution for the cross of Christ.
13 For they themselves which are circumcised keep not the Law, but desire to have you circumcised, that they might rejoice in your flesh.
14 But God forbid that I should rejoice, but in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world.
15 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth anything, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature.
16 And as many as walk according to this rule, peace shall be upon them, and mercy, and upon the Israel of God.
17 From henceforth let no man put me to business: for I bear, in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus.
18 Brethren, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, Amen.

Rom. 2:19.

6:12 1 He setteth a far show against the truth.
2 In keeping of ceremonies.
3 For the preaching of him that was crucified.
6:13 1 That they have entangled you in Judaism, and yet he harpeth on the form of circumcision.
6:14 1 He sticketh not to compare himself with them, showing that on the contrary part he rejoiceth in those afflictions which he suffereth for Christ’s sake, and as he is despised of the world, so doth he in like sort esteem the world as naught: which is the true circumcision of a true Israelite.
2 When Paul useth this word in good sense of part, it signifieth to rest a man’s self wholly in a thing, and to content himself therewith.
6:16 1 Upon the true Israel, whose praise is of God and not of men,

Rom. 2:19.

6:17 1 Continuing still in the same metaphor, he opposeth his miseries and the marks of those stripes which he bare for Christ’s sake, against the scar of the outward circumcision, as a true mark of his Apostleship.
2 Marks which are burnt into a man’s flesh, as they used in old times, to mark their servants that had run away from them.
3 For it importeth much, whose marks we bear: for the cause maketh the Martyr, and not the punishment.
6:18 1 Taking his farewell of them, he wisheth them grace, and the Spirit against the deceits of the false apostles, who labored to beat those outward things into their brains.
2 With your minds and hearts.
1 After the salutation, the inscription and salutation, whereof we have spoken in the former Epistles.

2 This is the definition of the Saints, showing what they are.

3 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he handleth all the parts of our salvation, propounding the example of the Ephesians, and using divers exhortations, and beginning after his manner with thanksgiving.

4 The efficient cause of our salvation is God, not considered confusedly and generally, but as the father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

5 The next final cause, and in respect of us, is our justification, while that he made a use of his manifold bountifulness.

6 With all kind of gracious and bountiful goodness which is heavenly indeed, and from God only.

7 Which God our Father gave us from his high throne from above: or because the Saints have those gifts bestowed on them, which belong properly to the citizens of heaven.

8 The matter of our salvation is Christ, in whom only we are endued with spiritual blessing and unto salvation.

9 He declareth the efficient cause, or by what means God the Father saveth us in his Son: Because saith he, he chose us from everlasting.

10 He expoundeth the next final cause, which he maketh double, to wit, sanctification and justification, whereof he will speak hereafter. And hereby also two things are to be noted, to wit, that holiness of life cannot be separated from the grace of election: and again what pureness forever is in us, is the gift of God, who hath freely of his mercy chosen us.

11 Then God did not choose us, because we were, or otherwise should have been holy, but to the end we should be holy.

12 The next final cause, and in respect of us, is our justification, while that he made a use of his manifold bountifulness.

13 That as his bountiful goodness deserveth all praise, so also it should be set forth and published.

14 He declareth the efficient cause, or by what means God the Father saveth us in his Son: Because saith he, he chose us from everlasting in his Son.

15 To be adopted in him.

16 He expoundeth the next final cause, which he maketh double, to wit, sanctification and justification, whereof he will speak hereafter. And hereby also two things are to be noted, to wit, that holiness of life cannot be separated from the grace of election: and again what pureness forever is in us, is the gift of God, who hath freely of his mercy chosen us.

17 The next final cause, and in respect of us, is our justification, while that he made a use of his manifold bountifulness.

18 Now he cometh at length to the formal cause, that is to say, to vocation or preaching of the Gospel, whereby God executeth that eternal counsel of our free reconciliation and salvation in Christ. And putting in place of the Gospel all wisdom and understanding, he showeth how excellent it is.

19 For unless the Lord had opened unto us that mystery, we could never have so much as dreamed of it ourselves.

20 By which gracious goodness and bountifulness.

21 In perfect and sound wisdom.

22 And hath opened unto us the mystery of his will according to his good pleasure, which he hath purposed in him,
10 1 That in the dispensation of the fullness of the times, he might gather together in one all things, both which are in heaven, and which are in earth, even in Christ:

11 1 In whom also we are chosen when we were predestinated according to the purpose of him, which worketh all things after the counsel of his own will,

12 1 That we, which first trusted in Christ, should be unto the praise of his glory:

13 1 In whom also ye have trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, even the Gospel of your salvation, wherein also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with the holy Spirit of promise, 14 1 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the redemption that liberty purchased unto the praise of his glory.

15 1 Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye have in the Lord Jesus, and love toward all the Saints,

16 1 I cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 2 That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, that Father of glory, might give unto you the Spirit of wisdom, and revelation through the knowledge of him,

18 1 That the eyes of your understanding may be lightened, that ye may know what the hope of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints,

19 1 And what is the exceeding greatness of his power toward us, which believe, according to the working of his mighty power,

20 1 Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his right hand in the heavenly places,

21 1 Far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every Name, that is named, not in this world only, but also in that that is to come,

22 1 And hath made all things subject under his feet, and hath given him over all things to be the head to the Church,

23 1 Which is his body, even the fullness of him that filleth all in all things.

1:10 1 The Father exhibeth and gave Christ, who is the head of all the elect unto the world, at that time which was convenient, according as he most wisely disposed all times from everlasting. And Christ is he in whom all the elect from the beginning of the world, (otherwiser wandering and separated from God) are gathered together: of which some were then in heaven when he came into the earth, (to wit, such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and others being found upon the earth, were gathered together of him, and the rest are daily gathered together.

2 The faithful are said to be gathered together in Christ, because they are joined together with him through faith, and become as it were one man.

1:11 1 He applieth severally the benefit of vocation to the believing Jews, going back to the very fountain, that even they also may not attribute their salvation neither to themselves, nor to their stock, nor to any other thing, but to the only grace and mercy of God, both because they were called, and also because they were first called.

2 All things are attributed to the grace of God without exception, and yet for all that, we are not stocks, for he giveth us grace both to will and to be able to do those things that are good, Phil. 2:13.

1:12 1 He speaketh of the Jews.

1:13 1 Now he maketh the Ephesians (or rather all the Gentiles) equal to the Jews, because that notwithstanding they came last, yet being called by the same Gospel, they embraced it by faith, and were sealed up with the same spirit, which is the pledge of election, until the inheritance itself be seen, that in them also also the glory of God's sovereignty.

2 This is a borrowed kind of speech taken of a seal, which being put to anything, maketh a difference between those things that are authentical, and others that are not.

3 With that Spirit, which bringeth not the Law, but the promise of free adoption.

1:14 1 Full and perfect.

1:15 1 He returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of those things that went before: the first is, that all good things come to us from God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, that for them he may be praised of us. The second is that all those things (which he bringeth to two heads, to wit, faith and charity) are increased in us by certain degrees, so that we must desire increase of his grace from whom we have the beginning, and of whom we hope for the end.

1:17 1 The causes of faith are God the Father lightening our minds with his holy spirit, that we may embrace Christ opened unto us in the Gospel, to the obtaining of everlasting life, and the setting forth of God's glory.

2 Full of majesty.

3 For it is not enough for us to have known God once, but we must know him every day more and more.

1:18 1 What blessings they are which he calleth you to hope for whom he calleth to Christ.

1:19 1 The excellency of faith is declared by the effects, because the mighty power of God is set forth and shown therein.

1:20 1 The Apostle willeth us to behold in our most glorious Christ with the eye of faith, that most excellent power and glory of God, whereof all the faithful are partakers, although it be as yet very dark in us, by reason of the ignorance of the cross and the weakness of the flesh.

2 To be set on God's right hand, is to be partaker of the sovereignty which he hath over all creatures.

1:21 1 Everything whatsoever it be, or above all things be they of never such power or excellency.

1:22 1 That we should not think that that excellent glory of Christ is a thing wherewith we have ought to do, he witnesseth, that he was appointed of God the Father the head of all the Church, and therefore the body must be joined to his head, which otherwise should be a maimed thing without the members: which notwithstanding is not of necessity (seeing that the Church is rather quickened and sustained by the only virtue of Christ, so far off is it, that he needeth the fullness thereof) but of the infinite goodwill and pleasure of God, who vouchsafteth to join us to his Son.

2 Insomuch that there is nothing but is subject to him.

1:23 1 For the love of Christ is so great toward the Church, that though he do fully satisfy all with all things, yet he esteemeth himself but a maimed and unperfect head, unless he have the Church joined to him as his body.
Among whom we also had our conversation delivered from that death, and made partakers of eternal life, to the declaring our excellency, to wit, that by the virtue of Christ we are a whit better.

Wherein, in times past ye walked, according to the course of this world, and after the prince that ruleth in the air, even the spirit, that now worketh in the children of disobedience.

Among whom we also had our conversation in time past in the lusts of our flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the mind, and were by nature the children of wrath, as well as others.

But God which is rich in mercy, through his great love wherewith he loved us,

Even when we were dead by sins, hath quickened us together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saved,

And hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus,

That he might show in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace through his kindness toward us in Christ Jesus.

For by grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God,

Not of works, lest any man should boast himself.

For we are his workmanship created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath ordained, that we should walk in them.

Wherefore remember that ye being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and called uncircumcision of them, which are called circumcision in the flesh, made with hands,

That ye were, I say, at that time without Christ, and were aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and were strangers from the covenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.

But now in Christ Jesus, ye which once were far off, are made near by the blood of Christ.

For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stop of the partition means he beateth this into their heads, that the efficient cause of this benefit is the free mercy of God: and Christ himself is the material cause: and faith is the instrument which also is the free gift of God: and the end is God's glory.

To wit, as he addeth afterward in Christ, for as yet this is not fulfilled in us, but only in our head, by whose spirit we have begun to die to sin, and live to God, until that work be fully brought to an end; but yet the hope is certain, for we are as sure of that we look for: as we are of that we have received already.

So then, Grace, that is to say, the gift of God, and faith, do stand one with another, to which two these are contrary. To be saved by ourselves, or by our works. Therefore what mean they which would join together things of so contrary nature?

He taketh away expressly and namely from our works the praise of justification, seeing that the good works themselves are the effects of grace in us.

He declareth again the greatness of God's good will, by comparing that miserable state wherein we are born, with that dignity whereunto we are advanced by God the Father in Christ. So he describeth that condition in such sort, that he saith, that touching whereunto we are advanced by God the Father in Christ. So he concludeth that the whole man is of nature the son of wrath.

For as the immortality of them which are damned, is no life, so neither is the corruption of them which are saved. For as the body of the flesh is the seat of the spirit, and the mind, so is the soul the seat of the body, and the spirit. Wherefore he divideth into two parts: into the flesh, which is the part that is for the sense, and is wrapped up in the lusts of the flesh, and the spirit, which is for the reason, and is wrapped up in the spirit of God. Wherein lies the corruption, wherein lies the immortality, with this respect, that the body is the seat of the spirit, and the spirit of the body.

Men are therefore slaves to Satan, because they are willingly rebellious against God.

They are the children of disobedience, which are given to disobedience.

Afer that he hath severally condemned the Gentiles, he confesseth that the Jews, amongst whom he numbereth himself, are not a whit better. By the name of flesh in the first place, he meaneth the whole man, which he divideth into two parts: into the flesh, which is the part that is for the sense, and is wrapped up in the lusts of the flesh, and the spirit, which is for the reason, and is wrapped up in the spirit of God. Wherein lies the corruption, wherein lies the immortality, with this respect, that the body is the seat of the spirit, and the spirit of the body.
wall,
15 In abrogating through his flesh the hatred, that is, the Law of commandments which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twain one new man in himself, making peace,
16 And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by his cross, and 3 slay hatred thereby, 17 4 And came, and preached peace to you which were afar off, and to them that were near.
18 For through him we both have an entrance unto the Father by one Spirit.
19 5 Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the household of God.
20 6 And are built upon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief cornerstone, 21 In whom all the building coupled together, growtheth unto an holy Temple in the Lord.
22 In whom ye also are built together to be the habitation of God by the Spirit.

1 He declareth that therefore he suffered many things of the Jews, 3 because he preached the mystery touching the salvation of the Gentiles, 8 at God's commandment. 13 After he desired the Ephesians not to faint for his afflictions. 14 And for this cause he prayeth unto God, 18 that they may understand the great love of Christ.

1 For this cause, I Paul am the prisoner of Jesus Christ for you Gentiles.
2 If ye have heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is given me to youward,

2:16 1 He alludeth to the sacrifices of the Law, which represented that true and only sacrifice.
2 For he destroyed death by death, and fastened it as it were to the cross.
2:17 1 The preaching of the Gospel is an effectual instrument of this grace, common as well to the Jews as to the Gentiles.
2:18 1 Christ is the gate as it were, by whom we come to the Father, and the holy Ghost is as it were our lodestar who leadeth us.
2:19 1 The conclusion: The Gentiles are taken into the fellowship of salvation. And he describeth the excellency of the Church, calling it the city and house of God.
2:20 1 The Lord committed the doctrine of salvation, first to the Prophets, and then to the Apostles, and to the end whereof and matter as it were and substance, is Christ. Therefore that is indeed the true and Catholic Church, which is built upon Christ by the Prophets and Apostles, as a spiritual temple consecrated to God.
2 7 That is, the head of the building, for the foundations are as it were the heads of the buildings.
2:21 1 So that God is the workman not only of the foundation, but also of the whole building.
3:1 1 He maintaineth his Apostleship against the offense of the cross, whereas he taketh an argument to confirm himself, affirming that he was not only appointed an Apostle by the mercy of God, but was also particularly appointed to the Gentiles, to call them on every side to salvation: because God had so determined it from the beginning, although he deferred a great while the manifestation of that his counsel.
2 These words, The prisoner of Jesus Christ, are taken passively, that is to say I Paul am cast into prison for maintaining the glory of Christ.
3:5 1 He meaneth not that none knew the calling of the Gentiles before, but because very few knew of it, and they that did know it, as the Prophets, had it revealed unto them very darkly, and under figures.
3:10 1 The unlooked for calling of the Gentiles, was as it were a glass to the heavenly Angels, wherein they might behold the marvellous wisdom of God.
3:15 1 Of whom is named the whole family in heaven

3:14 1 He teacheth by his own example, that the efficacy of the doctrine dependeth upon the grace of God, and therefore we ought to join prayers with the preaching and hearing of the word: which are needful not only to them which are younglings in religion, but even to the oldest also, that they growing up more and more by faith in Christ, being confirmed with all spiritual gifts, may be grounded and rooted in the knowledge of that immeasurable love, wherewith God the Father hath loved us in Christ, seeing that the whole family, whereof part is already received into heaven, and part is yet here on earth, dependeth upon that adoption of the heavenly Father, in his only Son.
3:15 1 All that whole people which hath but one household Father, and that is the Church which is adopted in Christ.
2 And that he might grant you according to the riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened with might through his Spirit in the inner man.

3 For by grace are ye saved, through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God:

4 For it is the gift of God that ye should be holy, as he is holy.

5 There is one body and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your vocation;

6 One Lord, one Faith, one Baptism,

7 One God and Father of all, which is above all, and in all, and in you all.

8 But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ.

9 For this is the sum whereof is this, that every man behave himself as it is meet for the vocation whereunto he is called,

10 That he might grant you according to the riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened with might through his Spirit in the inner man,

11 That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith: that ye, being rooted and grounded in love,

12 May be able to comprehend with all Saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

13 And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all the fullness of God.

14 And wherein he putteth all things in subjection under his feet, he setted the head over all things for the Church.

15 And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and doctors; for the perfecting of the saints,

16 Unto the building up of the Body of Christ,

17 That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, by which they lie in wait to deceive;

18 But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the Head, even Christ:

19 And not teaching again the rudiments of Christ, when ye are taught with the Word of God; for ye are come to that grace whereunto ye were called, that ye should holiness.

20 And ye have not used the grace unto holiness.

21 But rather ask how ye may return to repentance from the seducing doctrines of the ungodly.

22 But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the Head, even Christ:

23 Who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence.

24 For he is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation;

25 Who is the beginning of the creation of God; that in all things he might have the preeminence.

26 And he is before all things, and by him all things consist.

27 And he is the head of the body, the Church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence.
of Christ,

13 Till we all meet together (in the unity of faith and that acknowledging of the Son of God) unto a perfect man, and unto the measure of the age the fullness of Christ, 14 That we henceforth be no more children, waverings and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the deceit of men, and with craftiness, whereby they lay in wait to deceive.

15 But let us follow the truth in love, and in all things, grow up into him, which is the head, that is, Christ.

16 By whom all the body being coupled and knit together by every joint, for the furniture thereof (according to the effectual power, which is in the measure of every part) receiveth increase of the body, unto the edifying of itself in love.

17 This I say therefore and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in vanity of their mind.

18 Having their understanding darkened, and being strangers from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the hardness of their heart:

19 Which being past feeling, have given themselves unto wantonness, to work all uncleanness, even with greediness.

20 But ye have not so learned Christ,

21 If so be ye have heard him, and have been taught by him, as the truth is in Jesus,

22 That is, that ye cast off, concerning the conversation in time past, that old man, which is corrupt through the deceitful lusts,

23 And be renewed in the spirit of your mind,

24 And put on the new man, which after God is created unto righteousness, and true holiness.

25 Wherefore cast off lying, and speak every man truth unto his neighbor: for we are members one of another.

26 Be angry, but sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath, 27 Neither give place to the devil.

4:13 1 The use of this ministry is perpetual so long as we are in this world, that is, until that time that having cut off the flesh, and thoroughly and perfectly agreeing betwixt ourselves, we shall be joined with Christ our head. Which thing is done by that knowledge of the Son of God increasing in us, and he himself by little and little growing up in us until we come to be a perfect man, which shall be in the world to come, when God shall be all in all.

2 In that most near conjunction which is knit and fastened together by faith.

3 Christ is said to grow up to full age, not in himself, but in us.

4:14 1 Betwixt our childhood (that is to say, a very weak state, while as we do yet altogether waive) and our perfect age, which we shall have at length in another world, there is a mean, to wit, our youth, and steady going forward to perfection.

2 He compareth them which rest not themselves upon the word of God, to little boats which are tossed hither and thither with the doctrines of men, as it were with contrary winds, and therewithall forewarneth them that it cometh to pass not only by the lightness and deceit of those men which are very well practised in deceiving of others.

3 With those uncertain chances which toss men to and fro.

4 By the deceit of those men which are very well practised in deceiving of others.

4:15 1 By earnest affection of the truth and love, we grow up into Christ: for he (being effectual by the ministry of his word, which is the vital spirit doth so quicken the whole body, that it nourisheth all the limbs thereof according to the measure and proportion of each one) quickeneth and cherisheth his Church, which consisteth of divers functions, as of divers members, and preserveth the proportion of every one. And thereof it followeth that neither this body can live without Christ, neither can any man grow up spiritually, which separateth himself from the other members.

4:16 1 Of Christ, who in manner of the soul, quickeneth and cherisheth all the members.

2 Such increase as is meet the body should have.

3 Charity is the knitting of the limbs together.

4:17 1 He descendeth to the fruits of Christian doctrine, and reasoneth first upon the principles of manners and actions, setting down a most grave comparison between the children of God, and them which are not regenerate. For in these men, all the powers of the mind are corrupted and their mind is given to vanity, and their senses are darkened with most gross mistiness, and their affections are so accustomed by little and little to wickedness, that at length they run headlong into all uncleanness, being utterly destitute of all judgment.

2 If the noblest parts of the soul be corrupt, what is man but corruption only?

4:18 1 Whereby God liveth in them.

4:19 1 Void of all judgment.

2 They strive to pass one another as though there had been some gain to be gotten by it.

4:20 1 Here followeth the contrary part touching men which are regenerate by the true and lively knowledge of Christ, which have other principles of their doings far different, to wit, holy and honest desires, and a mind clean changed by the virtue of the holy Ghost, from whence proceed also like effects, as a just and holy life indeed.

4:21 1 As they have learned which acknowledge Christ indeed, and in good earnest.

4:22 1 Yourselves.

4:23 1 Where there ought to have been the greatest force of reason, there is the greatest corruption of all which wasteth all things.

4:24 1 After the image of God.

2 The effect and end of the new creation.

3 Not fained nor counterfeit.

4:25 1 He commendeth several certain peculiar Christian virtues, and first of all he requereth truth (that is to say, sincere manners) condemning all deceit and dissembling, because we are born one for another.

4:26 1 He teacheth us to bridle our anger in such sort, that although it be not, yet that it break not out, and that it be straightforward quenched before we sleep, lest Satan taking occasion to give us evil counsel through the wicked counselor destroy us.

2 If it so fall out, that you be angry, yet sin not: that is, bridle your anger, and do not wickedly put that in execution, which you have wickedly conceived.

3 Let not the night come upon you in your anger, that is, make atonement quickly for all matters.
28 1 Let him that stole, steal no more: but let him rather labor, and work with his hands the thing which is 'good, that he may have to give unto him that needeth.

29 1 Let no 'corrupt communication proceed out of your mouths: but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister 'grace unto the hearers.

30 1 And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, by whom ye are sealed unto the day of redemption.

31 Let all bitterness, and anger, and wrath, crying, and evil speaking be put away from you, with all maliciousness.

32 Be ye courteous one to another, and tender hearted, freely forgiving one another, 'even as God for Christ's sake, freely forgave you.

5 3 Let, in those vices which be reprehended, they should set light by his admonitions. 5 be terrifieth them by denouncing severe judgment. 8 and stirreth them forward: 15 Then he defendeth from general lessons of manners, 22 to the particular duties of wives, 25 and husbands.

1 Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children,

2 'And walk in love, even as Christ hath loved us, and hath given himself for us, to be an offering and a sacrifice of a sweet smelling savor to God.

3 1 But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as it becometh Saints,

4 Neither filthiness, neither foolish talking, nor 'jesting, which are things not comely, but rather giving of thanks.

5 1 For this ye know, that no whoremonger, neither unclean person, nor covetous person, which is an 'idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ, and of God.

6 'Let no man deceive you with vain words: for, for such things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience.

7 1 Be not therefore companions with them.

8 For ye were once darkness, but are now 'light in the Lord: walk as children of light.

9 (For the fruit of the 'Spirit is in all goodness, and righteousness, and truth.)

10 Approving that which is pleasing to the Lord.

11 And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but even 'reprove them rather.

12 For it is shame even to speak of the things which are done of them in secret.

13 But all things when they are reproved of the light, are manifest: for it is light that maketh all things manifest.

14 Wherefore 'he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and stand up from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light.

15 1 Take heed therefore that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as 'wise, 16 'Redeeming the season: for the days are evil.

17 Wherefore, be ye not unwise, but understand what the will of the Lord is.
18 1 And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be fulfilled with the Spirit, 2 speaking unto yourselves in Psalms, and hymns, and spiritual songs, singing and making melody to the Lord in your hearts, 3 giving thanks always for all things unto God even the Father, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ. 4 Submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of God, 5 Wives, submit yourselves unto your husbands, as unto the Lord. 6 For the husband is the wife’s head, even as Christ is the head of the Church, and he is the Savor of his body. 7 Therefore as the Church is in subjection to Christ, even so let the wives be to their husbands in everything. 8 Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ loved the Church, and gave himself for it, 9 That he might sanctify it, and cleanse it by the washing of water through the word, 10 That he might make it unto himself a glorious Church, not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy and without blame.

28 Another argument: Every man loveth himself, even of nature: therefore he striveth against nature that loveth not his wife: he proveth the consequent, first by the mystical knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wives is) he showeth that it is secret, to wit, spiritual and such as proceedeth from the inner man. 29 That no man might dream of natural conjunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wives) he sheweth that it is secret, to wit, spiritual and such as far differeth from the common capacity of man: as which consisteth of the only Lord must ring, be it in prosperity or adversity. 30 That he might sanctify it, and cleanse it by the washing of water through the word, 31 That he might make it unto himself a glorious Church, not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy and without blame.

5:18 1 He setteth the sober and holy assemblies of the faithful, against the dissolute bankers of the unfaithful, in which the praises of the only Lord must ring, be it in prosperity or adversity. 2 All kind of riot, joined with all manner of filthiness and shamefulness.

5:19 1 With an earnest affection of the heart, and not with the tongue only.

5:21 1 A short repetition of the end whereunto all things ought to be referred, to serve one another for God’s sake. 2 Now he descendeth to a family, dividing orderly all the parts of a family. And he saith that the duty of wives consisteth herein, to be obedient to their husbands.

5:22 1 The first argument, for they cannot be disobedient to their husbands, but they must resist God also, who is the author of this subjection. 2 A declaration of the former saying: Because God hath made the man head of the woman in matrimony, as Christ is the head of the Church.

5:23 1 See Matt. 19:5

5:24 1 The conclusion of the duties of wives’ towards their husbands.

5:25 1 The husbands’ duty towards their wives, is to love them as themselves, of which love, the love of Christ toward his Church. 2 Because many men pretend the infirmities of their wives to excuse their own hardness and cruelty, the Apostle will eth us to mark what manner of Church Christ gat, when he joined it to himself, and how he doth not only not loathe all her filth and uncleanness, but ceaseth not to wipe the same away with his cleanliness, until he have wholly purged it. 3 Make it holy.

5:26 1 Through the promise of free justification and sanctification in Christ, received by faith.

5:27 1 The Church, as it is considered in itself, shall not be without wrinkle, before it come to the mark it shooteth at: for while it is in this life, it runneth in a race: but if it be considered in Christ, it is clean and without wrinkle.

5:28 1 Another argument: Every man loveth himself, even of nature: therefore he striveth against nature that loveth not his wife: he proveth the consequent, first by the mystical knitting of Christ and the Church together, and then by the ordinance of God, who saith, that man and wife are as one, that is, not to be divided.

5:29 1 His own body.

5:30 1 He alludeth to the making of the woman, which signifieth our coupling together with Christ, which is wrought by faith, but is sealed by the Sacrament of the Supper.

5:31 1 See Matt. 19:5

5:32 1 That no man might dream of natural conjunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wives) he sheweth that it is secret, to wit, spiritual and such as far differeth from the common capacity of man: as which consisteth by the virtue of the Spirit, and not of the flesh by faith, and by no natural band.

5:33 1 The conclusion both of the husband’s duty toward his wife, and of the wife’s toward her husband.

6:1 1 He cometh to another part of a family, and sheweth that the duty of the children toward their parents, consisteth in obedience unto them. 2 The first argument: because God hath so appointed: whereon it followeth also, that children are so far forth bound to obey their parents, as they may not swerve from the true worship of God. 3 For the Lord is author of all fatherhood, and therefore we must yield such obedience as he will have us.

6:2 1 A proof of the first argument.

6:4 1 The third argument, taken of the profit that ensueth thereby: because the Lord vouchsafed this commandment amongst the rest, of a special blessing.

6:5 1 With a special promise: for otherwise the second commandment hath a promise of mercy to a thousand generations, but that promise is general.

Geneva Bible.indb   1222 6/23/08  7:20:59 PM
That it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest live long on earth.

And ye, fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in instruction and information of the Lord.

Servants, obey in all things your masters according to flesh; with reverence and fear.

Not with service to the eye, as men pleasers, but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart.

With good will, serving the Lord, and not men.

And know ye that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, that same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free.

And ye masters, do the same things unto them, putting away threatening: and know that even your master also is in heaven, neither is there respect of person with him.

Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the assaults of the devil.

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, and against the worldly governors, the princes of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness, which are in the high places.

For this cause take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to resist in the evil day, and having finished all things, stand fast.

Stand therefore, and your loins girded about with verity, and having on the breastplate of righteousness.

And your feet shod with the preparation of the Gospel of peace.

Above all, take the shield of Faith, wherewith ye may quench all the fiery darts of the wicked.

And take the helmet of Salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

And pray always with all manner prayer and supplication in the Spirit: and watch thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all Saints.

And for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel.

Whereof I am the ambassador in bonds, that therein I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.

But that ye may also know mine affairs, and what I do, Tychicus my dear brother and faithful minister in the Lord, shall show you of all things.

Whom I have sent unto you for the same purpose, that ye might know mine affairs, and that he might comfort your hearts.

Peace be with the brethren, and love with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

Grace be with all them which love our Lord Jesus Christ, to their immortality, Amen.

1 And ye, fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in instruction and information of the Lord.

2 Such information and precepts, as being taken out of God’s book are holy and acceptable to him.

3 Now he ascendeth to the third part of a family, to wit, to the duty both of the masters and of the servants. And he showeth that the duty of servants consisteth in a hearty love and reverence to their master.

4 He mitigateth the sharpness of service, in that they are spiritually free, notwithstanding the same, and yet that spiritual freedom taketh away corporal service, insomuch that they cannot be Christ’s, unless they serve their masters willingly and faithfully, so far forth as they may with safe conscience.

5 With careful reverence: for slavish fear is not allowable, much less in Christian servants.

6 To cut off occasion of all pretences, he teacheth us that it is God’s will that some are either born or made servants, and therefore they must respect God’s will, although their service be never so hard.

7 Being moved with a reverence so Godward, as though ye served God himself.

8 Although they serve unkind and cruel masters, yet the obedience of servants is no less acceptable to God, than the obedience of them that are free.

9 It is the duty of masters to use the authority that they have over their servants modestly, and holily, seeing that they in another respect have a common master, which is in heaven, who will judge both the bond and the free.

10 And ye masters, do the same things unto them, putting away threatening: and know that even your master also is in heaven, neither is there respect of person with him.

11 Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the assaults of the devil.

12 For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, and against the worldly governors, the princes of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness, which are in the high places.

13 For this cause take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to resist in the evil day, and having finished all things, stand fast.

14 Stand therefore, and your loins girded about with verity, and having on the breastplate of righteousness.

15 And your feet shod with the preparation of the Gospel of peace.

16 Above all, take the shield of Faith, wherewith ye may quench all the fiery darts of the wicked.

17 And take the helmet of Salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

18 And pray always with all manner prayer and supplication in the Spirit: and watch thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all Saints.

19 And for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel.

20 Whereof I am the ambassador in bonds, that therein I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.

21 But that ye may also know mine affairs, and what I do, Tychicus my dear brother and faithful minister in the Lord, shall show you of all things.

22 Whom I have sent unto you for the same purpose, that ye might know mine affairs, and that he might comfort your hearts.

23 Peace be with the brethren, and love with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

24 Grace be with all them which love our Lord Jesus Christ, to their immortality, Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF
PAUL TO THE PHILIPPIANS

1 3 Having testified his godly and tender affection towards the Philippians, 12 he entreateth of himself and his bands; 22 And priceth them forward, by his own example, 27 and exhorte them to unity, 28 and patience.

1 Paul 1and Timothy the servants of JESUS CHRIST, to all the Saints in Christ Jesus, which are at Philippi, with the 2Bishops, and Deacons:
2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ:
3 I thank my God, having you in perfect memory,
4 (Always in all my prayers for all you, praying with gladness)
5 Because of the ‘fellowship which ye have in the Gospel, from the ‘first day unto now.
6 And I am persuaded of this same thing, that he that hath begun this good work in you, will perform it until the ‘day of Jesus Christ,
7 As it becometh me so to judge of you all, because I have you in remembrance, that both in my ‘bands, and in my defense, and confirmation of the Gospel
you all were partakers of my ‘grace.
8 ‘For God is my record, how I long after you all from the very heart root in Jesus Christ.
9 And this I pray that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all judgment, 10 ‘That ye may allow those things which are best, that ye may be pure, and without offense, until the day of Christ,
11 Filled with the ‘fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ unto the glory and praise of God.
12 ¶ ‘I would ye understood, brethren, that the things which have come unto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospel, 13 So that my bands in Christ are famous throughout all the ‘judgment hall, and in all other places.
14 Insomuch that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldened through my bands, and dare more frankly speak the ‘Word.
15 Some preach Christ even through envy and strife, and some also of good will.
16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention, and not ‘purely, supposing to add more affliction to my bands.
17 But the others of love, knowing that I am set for the defense of the Gospel.
18 ‘What then: yet Christ is preached all manner ways, whether it be under a ‘pretence, or sincerely:
and I therein joy: yea, and will joy.
19 For I know that this shall turn to my salvation through your prayer, and by the help of the Spirit

1:1 1 The mark whereat he shooteth in this Epistle, is to confirm the Philippians by all means possible, not only not to faint, but also to go forward. And first of all, he commendeth their former doings, to exhort them to go forward: which thing he sayeth, he hopeth fully they will do, and that by the testimony of their lively charity, but in the mean season he referreth all things to the grace of God.
2 By the Bishops are meant both the Pastors, which have the dispen­sion of the word and the Elders, that govern: and by Deacons are meant those that were stewards of the treasury of the Church and had to look unto the poor.
1:5 1 Because that you also are made partakers of the Gospel.
2 Ever since I knew you.
1:6 1 ‘The Spirit of God will not forsake you unto the very latter end, until your mortal bodies shall appear before the judgment of Christ, to be glorified.
1:7 1 A true proof of a true knitting together with Christ.
2 ‘He calleth his bands, grace, as though he had received some singular benefit.
1:8 1 He declareth his good will towards them, therewithal showing by what means chiefly they may be confirmed; to wit, by continual prayer.
1:9 1 He sheweth what thing we ought chiefly desire, to wit, first of all, that we may increase in the true knowledge of God (so that we may be able to discern things that differ one from another) and also in charity, that even to the end we may give ourselves to good works indeed, to the glory of God by Jesus Christ.
1:10 1 If righteousness be the tree, and good works the fruits, then must the papists needs be deceived, when they say that works are the cause of righteousness.
1:12 1 ‘He preventeth the offense that might come by his persecution, whereby divers took occasion to disgrace his Apostleship. To whom he answereth, that God hath blessed his imprisonment in such wise, that he is by that means become more famous, and the dignity of the Gospel by this occasion is greatly enlarged, although not with like affection in all men, yet indeed.
1:13 1 For Christ’s sake.
2 In the Emperor’s court.
1:14 1 The Gospel is called the Word, to set forth the excellence of it.
1:15 1 Not with a pure mind: for otherwise their doctrine was pure.
1:18 1 ‘He sheweth by setting forth his own example, that the end of our affliction is true joy: and that through the virtue of the Spirit of Christ, which he giveth to them that ask it.
2 Under a goodly color and show: for they made Christ a cloak for their ambition and envy.
2:11 He exhorted them above all things, 3 to humility, 6 and that by the example of Christ. 19 He promiseth to send Timothy shortly unto them, 26 and excuseth the long tarrying of Epaphroditus.

1 If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any compassion and mercy.
2 Fulfill my joy, that ye be like minded, having the same love, being of one accord, and of one judgment.
3 That nothing be done through contention or vainglory, but that in meekness of mind every man esteem others better than himself.
4 Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of other men.
5 Let the same mind be in you that was even in Christ Jesus,
6 Who being in the form of God, thought it no robbery to be equal with God:
7 But he made himself of no reputation, and took on him the form of a servant, and was made like unto men, and was found in shape as a man.
8 He humbled himself, and became obedient unto the death, even the death of the cross.
9 Wherefore God hath also highly exalted him, and given him a name above every name.
10 That at the Name of Jesus should every knee bow, both of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth.
11 And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is the Lord, unto the glory of God the Father.

2:10 1 We must continue even to the end, with great confidence, having nothing before our eyes but Christ’s glory only, whether we live or die.
1:22 1 An example of a true shepherd, who maketh more account how he may profit his sheep, than he doth of any commodity of his own whatsoever.
2:27 1 Having set down those things before, in manner of a Preface, he descendeth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and mind, and afterward, that being thus knit together with those common bands, they continue through the strength of faith to bear all adversity in such sort, that they admit nothing unworthy the profession of the Gospel.
3:1 The word signifieth, to stand fast, and it is proper to wrestlers, that stand fast, and shrink not a foot.
1:28 1 We ought not to be discouraged, but rather encouraged by the persecutions which the enemies of the Gospel imagine and practice against us: seeing that they are certain witnesses from God himself, both of our salvation, and of the destruction of the wicked.
1:29 1 He proveth that his saying, that persecution is a token of our salvation, because it is a gift of God to suffer for Christ, which gift he bestowed upon his own, as he doth the gift of faith.
1:30 1 Now he showeth for what purpose he made mention of his afflictions.
2:1 1 A most earnest request to remove all those things, whereby that great and special consent and agreement is commonly broken, to wit, contention and pride, whereby it cometh to pass, that they separate themselves one from another.
2 Any Christian comfort.
3 If any feeling of inward love.
2:2 1 Like love.
2:5 1 He setteth before them a most perfect example of all modesty and sweet conversation, Christ Jesus, whom we ought to follow.
2:7 1 He humbled himself, and became obedient unto the death, even the death of the cross.
2:8 He humbled himself, and became obedient unto the death, even the death of the cross.
2:9 1 Wherefore God hath also highly exalted him, and given him a name above every name.
2:10 That at the Name of Jesus should every knee bow, both of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth.
11 And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is the Lord, unto the glory of God the Father.
12 Therefore my beloved, as ye have always obeyed me, not as in my presence only, but now much more in mine absence, so make an end of your own salvation with fear and trembling.

13 For it is God which worketh in you both the will and the deed, even of his good pleasure.

14 Do all things without murmuring and reasonings,

15 That ye may be blameless, and pure, and the sons of God without rebuke in the midst of a naughty and crooked nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world,

16 Holding forth the word of life, that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither have I laboured in vain.

17 Yea, and though I be offered up upon the sacrifice, and service of your faith, I am glad, and rejoice with you all.

18 For the same cause also be ye glad, and rejoice with me.

19 And I trust in the Lord Jesus, to send Timothy shortly unto you, that I also may be of good comfort, when I know your state.

20 For I have no man like-minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.

21 For all seek their own, and not that which is Jesus Christ's.

22 But ye know the proof of him, that as a son with the father, he hath served with me in the Gospel.

23 Him therefore I hope to send as soon as I know your state.

24 And I trust in the Lord, that I also myself shall come shortly.

25 But I suppose it necessary to send my brother Epaphroditus unto you my companion in labor, and fellow soldier, even your messenger, and he that ministered unto me such things as I wanted.

26 For he longed after all you, and was full of heaviness, because ye had heard that he had been sick.

27 And no doubt he was sick, very near unto death: but God had mercy on him, and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow.

28 I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when ye should see him again, ye might rejoice, and I might be the less sorrowful.

29 Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness, and make much of such:

30 Because that for the work of Christ he was near unto death, and for you it is a sure thing.

2:19 Moreover he confirmeth their minds both by sending back Epaphroditus unto them, whose fidelity towards them, and great pains in helping him, he commendeth: and also promising to send Timothy shortly unto them, by whose presence they shall receive great commodity, and hoping also to come himself shortly unto them, if God wills.

2:20 May be confirmed in my joy of mind.

2:21 The most part.

2:30 He calleth it here the work of Christ, to visit Christ, being poor and in bonds in the person of Paul.

3:1 A conclusion of those things which have been before said, to wit, that they go forward cheerfully in the Lord.

3:2 A preface to the next admonition that followeth, to take good heed and beware of false apostles, which join Circumcision with Christ, (that is to say, justification by works, with free justification by faith) and beat into men's heads the ceremonies which are abolished: for true exercises of godliness and charity. And he calleth them dogs of profane barker, and evil workmen, because they neglected true works and did not teach the true use of them. To be short, he calleth them Concision, because in urging Circumcision, they cut off themselves and others from the Church.

3:3 Which you have oftentimes heard of me.

3:2 He alludeth to Circumcision, of the name whereof while they boasted, they cut asunder the Church.

3:3 He sheweth that we ought to use true circumcision, to wit, the circumcision of the heart, that cutting off all wicked affections by the virtue of Christ, we may serve God in purity of life.
God in the spirit, and rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh:

4 Though I might also have confidence in the flesh, if any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, much more I.

5 Circumcised the eighth day, of the kindred of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, an Hebrew of the Hebrews, by the Law a Pharisee.

6 Concerning zeal, I persecuted the Church: touching the righteousness which is in the Law, I was unrebuttable.

7 But the things that were vantage unto me, the same I counted loss for Christ's sake.

8 Yea, doubtless I think all things but loss for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Jesus my Lord, for whom I have counted all things but loss, and do judge them to be dung, that I might win Christ,

9 And might be found in him, that is, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the Law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, even the righteousness which is of God through faith,

10 That I may know him, and the virtue of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable unto his death,

11 If by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of the dead:

12 Not as though I had already attained, or were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am comprehended of Christ Jesus.

13 Brethren, I count not myself, that I have attained to it, but one thing I do: I forget that which is behind, and endeavor myself unto that which is before,

14 And follow hard toward the mark, for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

15 Let us therefore as many as be perfect, be thus minded: and if ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even the same unto you.

16 Nevertheless, in that whereunto we are come, let us proceed by one rule, that we may mind one thing.

17 Brethren, be followers of me, and look on them, which walk so, as ye have us for an example.

18 For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ:

19 Whose end is damnation, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is to their shame, which mind earthly things.

20 But our conversation is in heaven, from whence also we look for the Savior, even the Lord Jesus Christ, 21 Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working, whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself.

1 From particular exhortations, he cometh to general. He said before that he was not perfect. So that in this place he calleth them perfect, which have somewhat profited in the knowledge of Christ and the Gospel, whom he setteth against the rude and ignorant, of the cross of Christ:

4 Reward. Which they hunt after at men's hands.

20 He setteth against these fellows, true pastors which neglect earthly things, and aspire to heaven only, where they know, that even in their bodies they shall be clothed with that eternal glory, by the virtue of God.

41 A rehearsal of the conclusion: That they manfully continue, until they have gotten the victory, trusting to the Lord's strength.

2 My honor.

3 In that concord, whereof the Lord is the band.
ye beloved.

2 I pray Euodia, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of one accord in the Lord.

3 Yea, and I beseech thee, faithful yokefellow, help those women, which labored with me in the Gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellow laborers, whose names are in the 41 book of life.

4 Rejoice in the 42 Lord always, again I say, rejoice.

5 Let your 43 patient mind be known unto all men. 44 The Lord is at hand.

6 Be nothing careful, but in all things let your requests be showed unto God in prayer and supplication with 45 giving of thanks.

7 And the 46 peace of God which passeth all understanding, shall preserve your 47 hearts and minds in Christ Jesus.

8 Furthermore, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things 48 are honest, whatsoever things 49 are just, whatsoever things 50 are pure, whatsoever things 51 are worthy love, whatsoever things 52 are of good report, if there be any virtue, or if there be any praise, think on these things.

9 Which ye have both learned and received, and heard, and seen in me; those things do, and the God of peace shall be with you.

10 Now I rejoice also in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care for me springeth afresh, wherein notwithstanding ye were careful, but ye lacked opportunity.

11 I speak not because of 53 want: for I have learned by experience, whether I am in abundance or want.

12 And I can be 54 abased, and I can abound: everywhere in all things I am 55 instructed, both to be full, and to be hungry, and to abound, and to have want.

13 I am able to 56 do all things through the help of Christ, which strengtheneth me.

14 Notwithstanding ye have well done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.

15 And ye Philippians know also that in the beginning of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with me, concerning the matter of giving and receiving, but ye only.

16 For even when 57 I was in Thessalonica, ye sent once, and afterward again for my necessity.

17 Not that I desire a gift: but I desire the fruit which may further your reckoning.

18 Now I have received all, and have plenty: I was even filled, after that I had received of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an 58 odor that smelled sweet, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasant to God.

19 And my God shall fulfill all your necessities through his riches with glory in Jesus Christ.

20 Unto God even our Father be praise for evermore, Amen.

21 Salute all the Saints in Christ Jesus. The brethren, which are with me, greet you.

22 All the Saints salute you, and most of all they which are of Caesar's household.

23 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

Chapter 4

Written to the Philippians from Rome, and sent by Epaphroditus.

1:1 1 By the free bountifulness of God.
1:2 1 Colosse is situated in Phrygia, not far from Hierapolis and Laodicea, on that side that they bend toward Lycia and Pamphylia.
1:3 1 He commendeth the doctrine that was delivered them by Epaphras, and their readiness in receiving it.
2 2 We cannot otherwise consider of God to our salvation, but as he is Christ's Father, in whom we are adopted.
1:5 1 For the glory that is hoped for.
1:8 1 He declareth his good will towards them, telling them that they must not still remain at one stay but go on further both in the knowledge of the Gospel, and also in the true use of it.
2 2 Your spiritual love, or your love which cometh from the Spirit.
1:9 1 God's will.
1:11 1 The gift of continuance is not of us, but it proceedeth from the virtue of God, which he doth freely give us.
2 2 It must not be unwilling, and as it were drawn out of us by force, but proceed from a merry and joyful mind.
1:12 1 Having ended the preface, he goeth to the matter itself, that is to say, to an excellent description (although it be but short) of whole Christianity, which is fitly divided into three treatises: for first of all he expoundeth the true doctrine, according to the order of the causes, beginning from this verse to the 24. And from thence he beginneth to apply the same to the Colossians with divers exhortations to verse 6 of the second Chapter. And last of all in the third place even to the third Chapter, he refuteth the corruption of true doctrine.
2 2 The efficient cause of our salvation is the only mercy of God the Father, who maketh us meet to be partakers of eternal life, delivering us from the darkness wherein we were born, and bringing us to the light of the knowledge of the glory of his Son.
3 3 In that glorious and heavenly kingdom.
1:14 1 The matter itself of our salvation, is Christ the Son of God, who hath obtained remission of sins for us by the offering up of himself.
1:15 1 A lively description of the person of Christ, whereby we understand that in him only, God showeth himself to be seen: who was begotten of the Father before anything was made, that is, from everlasting, by whom also all things that are made, were made without any exception, by whom also they do consist, and whose glory they serve.
2 2 Begotten before anything was made: and therefore the everlasting Son of the everlasting Father.
1:16 1 He setteth forth the Angels with glorious names, that by the comparison of most excellent spirits we may understand how far passing the excellence of Christ, in whom only we have to content ourselves, and let go all Angels.

8 1 Who hath also declared unto us your love in the Spirit.
9 9 For this cause we also, since the day we heard of it, cease not to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be fulfilled with knowledge of his will in all wisdom, and spiritual understanding.
10 10 That ye might walk worthy of the Lord, and please him in all things, being fruitful in all good works, and increasing in the knowledge of God,
11 11 Strengthened with all might through his glorious power, unto all patience, and longsuffering with joyfulness,
12 12 Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the Saints in light,
13 13 Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son, 14 14 In whom we have redemption through his blood, that is, the forgiveness of sins.
15 15 Who is the image of the invisible God, the first begotten of every creature.
16 16 For by him were all things created which are in heaven, and which are in earth, things visible and invisible: whether they be Thrones, or Dominions, or Principalities, or Powers, all things were created by him, and for him.
17 And he is before all things, and in him all things consist.
18 1And he is the head of the body of the Church: he is the beginning, 2and the firstbegotten of the dead, that in all things he might have the preeminence.
19 For it pleased the Father, that in him should 1all fullness dwell.
20 1And through peace made by that blood of that his cross, to reconcile to himself through him, through him, I say, 2all things, both which are in earth, and which are in heaven.
21 1And you which were in times past strangers and enemies, because your minds were set in evil works, hath 2he now also reconciled,
22 In that body of his 1flesh through death, to make you holy and unblameable, and without fault in his sight.
23 1If ye continue, grounded and established in the faith, and be not moved away from the hope of the Gospel, whereof ye have heard, and which hath been preached to 2every creature, which is under heaven, 2whereof I Paul am a minister.
24 Now rejoice I in my sufferings 1for you, and fulfill the 2rest of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for his body’s sake, which is the Church,
25 1Whereof I am a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is given me unto youward, to fulfill the word of God,
26 1Which is the mystery hid since the world began, and from all ages, but now is made manifest to his 2Saints,
27 To whom God 1would make known what is the riches of his glorious mystery among the Gentiles, which riches is Christ in you, the hope of glory,
28 1Whom we preach, admonishing every man, and teaching every man in 2all wisdom, that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus.
29 Whereunto I also labor and strive, according to his working which worketh in me mightily.

1:18 1Having gloriously declared the excellent dignity of the person of Christ, he describeth his office and function, to wit, that he is that same to the Church, that the head is to the body, that is to say, the prince and governor of it, and the very beginning of true life, as who rising first from death, he is the Author of eternal life, so that he is above all, in whom only there is most plentiful abundance of all good things, which is poured out upon the Church.
2 Who so rose again that he shall die no more, and who raiseth others from death to life by his power.
1:19 1Most plentiful abundance of all things pertaining to God.
1:20 1Now he teacheth how Christ executed that office which his Father joined him, to wit, by suffering the death of the cross (which was joined with the curse of God) according to his decree, that by this sacrifice he might reconcile his Father all men as well them which believed in him to come, and were already under this hope gathered into heaven, as them which should upon the earth believe in him afterwards. And thus is justification described of the Apostle, which is one and the chiefest part of the benefit of Christ.
2 The whole Church.
1:21 1Sanctification is another work of God in us by Christ, in that that he restored us (which hated God extremely, and were wholly and willingly given to sin) to his gracious favor, in such sort, that he therewithal purifieth us with his holy Spirit, and consecrateth us to righteousness.
2 The Son.
1:22 1In that fleshly body, to give us to understand that his body was not a fantastical body, but a true body.
1:23 1This second treatise of this part of the Epistle, wherein he exhorteth the Colossians not to suffer themselves by any means to be moved from this doctrine, showing and declaring that there is nowhere any other true Gospel.
2 To all men: whereby we learn that the Gospel was not shut up within the corners of Judea alone.
3 He purchased authority to this doctrine by his Apostleship, and taketh a most sure proof thereof, of his afflictions which he sufferrath for Christ’s Name to instruct the Churches with these examples of patience.
1:24 1For your profit and commodity.
2 The afflictions of the Church are said to be Christ’s afflictions, by reason of that fellowship and knitting together, that the body and the head have the one with the other, not that there is any more need to have the Church redeemed, but that Christ sheweth his power in the daily weakness of his, and that for the comfort of the whole body.
1:25 1He bringeth another proof of his Apostleship, to wit, that God is the author of it, by whom also he was appointed peculiarly Apostle of the Gentiles, to the end that by this means, that same might be fulfilled by him, which the Prophets foretold of the calling of the Gentiles.
1:26 1Whom he chose to sanctify unto himself in Christ: moreover he saith that the mystery of our redemption was hidden since the world began, except it were revealed unto a few, who also were taught it extraordinarily.
1:27 1This Paul bridles the curiosity of men.
1:28 1He protesteth that he doth faithfully execute his Apostleship in every place, bringing men unto Christ only, through the Lord’s plentiful blessings of his labors.
2 Perfect and sound wisdom, which is perfect in itself, and shall in the end make them perfect that follow it.
2:1 1The taking away of an objection, in that he visited not the Colossians, nor the Laodicceans, he did it not of any negligence but is so much the more careful for them.
2 Me present in body.
2:2 1He concludeth shortly the sum of the former doctrine, to wit, that the whole sum of true wisdom and most secret knowledge of God, consisteth in Christ only, and that this is the use of it touching men, that they being knit together in love, rest themselves happily in the knowledge of so great a goodness, until they come fully to enjoy it.
2 Whom he never saw.
they knit together in love, and in all riches of the ful assurance of understanding, to know the mystery of God, even the Father, and of Christ:

3 In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

4 And this I say, lest any man should beguile you with enticing words:

5 For though I be absent in the flesh, yet am I with you in the spirit, rejoicing and beholding your order, and your steadfast faith in Christ.

6 As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk in him.

7 Rooted and built in him, and established in the faith, as ye have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving:

8 Beware lest there be any man that spoil you through philosophy, and vain deceit, through the traditions of men, according to the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ.

9 For in him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily.

10 And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power.

11 In whom also ye are circumcised with circumcision made without hands, by putting off the sinful body of the flesh, through the circumcision of Christ,

12 In that ye are buried with him by baptism, in whom ye are also raised up together through the faith of the operation of God, which raised him from the dead.

13 And ye which were dead in sins, and in the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, forgiving you all your trespasses,

14 And putting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, he even took it out of the way, and fastened it upon the cross,

15 And hath spoiled the Principalities, and Powers, and hath made a show of them openly, and hath triumphed over them in the same cross.

16 Let no man therefore condemn you in meat

1 Of that understanding, which bringeth forth certain and undoubted persuasion in our minds.
2 1 There is no true wisdom without Christ.
2 2 A passing over to the treatise following against the corruptions of Christianity.
2 3 With a framed kind of talk made to persuade.
2 4 The manner of your Ecclesiastical discipline.
2 5 Doctrinal.
2 6 So then Christ hangeth not upon men's traditions.
2 7 He bringeth all corruptions to three kinds: The first is that, which resteth of vain and curious speculations, and yet beareth a show of a certain subtle wisdom.
2 8 This is a word of war, and it is as much as to drive or carry away a spoil or booty.
2 9 The second which is manifestly superstitious and vain, and standeth only upon custom and fained inspirations.
2 10 The third kind was of them which joined the rudiments of the world, that is to say, the ceremonies of the Law with the Gospel.
2 11 Principles and rulers, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were under a schoolmaster.
2 12 A general confutation of all corruptions is this, that that must needs be a false religion, which addeth anything to Christ.
2 13 A reason: Because only Christ God and man, is most perfect, and passeth far above all things, so that whosoever hath him, may require nothing more.
2 14 By these words, is showed a distinction of the natures.
2 15 This word Dwelleth noteth out unto us the joining together of those natures, so that of God and Man, is one Christ.
2 16 These words set down most perfect Godhead to be in Christ.
2 17 The second which is manifestly superstitious and vain, and standeth only upon custom and fained inspirations.
2 18 The third kind was of them which joined the rudiments of the world, that is to say, the ceremonies of the Law with the Gospel.
2 19 Principles and rulers, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were under a schoolmaster.
2 20 A general confutation of all corruptions is this, that that must needs be a false religion, which addeth anything to Christ.
2 21 A reason: Because only Christ God and man, is most perfect, and passeth far above all things, so that whosoever hath him, may require nothing more.
2 22 These words set down most perfect Godhead to be in Christ.
2 23 The second which is manifestly superstitious and vain, and standeth only upon custom and fained inspirations.
2 24 The third kind was of them which joined the rudiments of the world, that is to say, the ceremonies of the Law with the Gospel.
2 25 Principles and rulers, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were under a schoolmaster.

3 In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

4 So then all the force of the matter cometh not from the very deed done, that is to say, it is not the dipping of us into the water by a Minister that maketh us to be buried with Christ, as the Papists say, that even for the very act's sake, we become verily Christians, but it cometh from the virtue of Christ, for the Apostle addeth the resurrection of Christ and faith.

4 1 And hath spoiled the Principalities, and Powers, and hath made a show of them openly, and hath triumphed over them in the same cross.

4 2 Another end of Baptism is, that we which were dead in sin, might obtain free remission of sins and eternal life through faith in Christ who died for us.

4 3 A new argument which lieth in these few words, and it is thus: Uncircumcision was no hindrance to you, why you being justified in the death and resurrection of Christ.

4 4 Through faith which cometh from God.

4 5 And putting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, he even took it out of the way, and fastened it upon the cross,

4 6 And hath spoiled the Principalities, and Powers, and hath made a show of them openly, and hath triumphed over them in the same cross.

4 7 One end of Baptism is the death and burial of the old man, and that by the mighty power of God only, whose virtue we lay hold on by faith, in the death and resurrection of Christ.

4 8 And so then Christ hangeth not upon men's traditions.

4 9 This is a word of war, and it is as much as to drive or carry away a spoil or booty.

4 10 The second which is manifestly superstitious and vain, and standeth only upon custom and fained inspirations.

4 11 The third kind was of them which joined the rudiments of the world, that is to say, the ceremonies of the Law with the Gospel.

4 12 Principles and rulers, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were under a schoolmaster.

4 13 A general confutation of all corruptions is this, that that must needs be a false religion, which addeth anything to Christ.

4 14 A reason: Because only Christ God and man, is most perfect, and passeth far above all things, so that whosoever hath him, may require nothing more.

4 15 By these words, is showed a distinction of the natures.

4 16 This word Dwelleth noteth out unto us the joining together of those natures, so that of God and Man, is one Christ.

4 17 These words set down most perfect Godhead to be in Christ.

4 18 The second which is manifestly superstitious and vain, and standeth only upon custom and fained inspirations.

4 19 The third kind was of them which joined the rudiments of the world, that is to say, the ceremonies of the Law with the Gospel.

4 20 Principles and rulers, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were under a schoolmaster.

4 21 A reason: Because only Christ God and man, is most perfect, and passeth far above all things, so that whosoever hath him, may require nothing more.

4 22 These words set down most perfect Godhead to be in Christ.

4 23 The second which is manifestly superstitious and vain, and standeth only upon custom and fained inspirations.

4 24 The third kind was of them which joined the rudiments of the world, that is to say, the ceremonies of the Law with the Gospel.

4 25 Principles and rulers, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were under a schoolmaster.

4 26 As a conqueror made by a show of those captives, and put them to shame.

4 27 The cross was as a chariot of triumph. No conqueror could have triumphed so gloriously in his chariot, as Christ did upon the cross.

4 28 The conclusion: wherein also he nameth certain kinds, as the difference of days and meats, and proveth by a new argument that we are not bond unto them: to wit, because those things were shadows of Christ to come but we possess him now exhibited unto us.
and drink, or in respect of an holy day, or of the new moon, or of the Sabbath days.

17 Which are but a shadow of things to come: but the 2body is in Christ.

18 Let no man at his pleasure bear rule over you by 3humbleness of mind, and worshipping of Angels, 4advancing himself in those things which he never saw, 5rashly puffed up with his fleshly mind.

19 And holdeth not the 3head, whereof all the body furnished and knit together by joints and bands, increaseth with the increasing of 3God.

20 Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the ordinances of the world, why, 2as though ye lived in the world, are ye burdened with traditions?

21 As, Touch not, Taste not, Handle not.

22 Which all perish with the using, 4and are after the commandments and doctrines of men.

23 Which things have indeed a show of 4wisdom, in 4voluntary religion and humbleness of mind, and in 4not sparing the body, which are things of no value, since they pertain to the 4filling of the flesh.

3 Against earthly exercises, which the false apostles urged, 2be setted heavenly: 5and beganeth with the mortifying of the flesh, 8whence he draweth particular exhortations, 18and particular duties which depend on each man's calling.

1 If ye then 2be 3risen with Christ, 4seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth at the right hand of God.

2 Set your affections on things which are above, and not on things which are on the earth.

2:17 1 The body as a thing of substance and pith, he setteth against shadows.

2:18 1 He disputeth against the first kind of corruptions, and setteth down the worshipping of Angels for an example: which kind of false religion he confuteth, first this way: because that they which being in such a worship, attribute that unto themselves which is proper only to God, to wit, authority to bind men's consciences with religion, although they seem to bring in these things by humbleness of mind.

2 By a foolish humbleness of mind: for indeed it is not. And he useth an argument taken of comparison. If by the death of Christ he establisheth a new covenant with his blood, you be delivered from those external rites wherewith it pleased the Lord to prepare you for the profession of the faith, and are therefore delivered from your duties.

3 Secondly, because they rashly trust upon them for oracles, those things which they neither saw nor heard, but devised of themselves.

4 Thirdly, because these things have no other ground, whereupon they are built, but only the opinion of men, which please themselves without all measure in their own duties.

5 Without reason.

2:19 1 The fourth argument, which is of great weight, because they spoil Christ of his dignity, who only is sufficient both to nourish, and also to increase his whole body.

2 Christ.

3 With the increasing which cometh from God.

2:20 1 Now last of all he fighteth against the second kind of corruptions, that is to say, against mere superstitions, invented by men, which partly deceive the simplicity of some with their craftiness, and partly with very foolish superstitions, and to be laughed at: as when godliness, remission of sins, or any such like virtue is put in some certain kind of meat and such like things, which the inventors of such rites themselves understand not, because indeed it is not. And he useth an argument taken of comparison. If by the death of Christ who establisheth a new covenant with his blood, you be delivered from those external rites wherewith the Lord pleased you to bind men's consciences with religion, what then is to say, as though ye depended upon this life, and earthly things? Now this is the cause why before verse 8 he followed another order than he doth in the confutation: because he showeth thereby what degrees false religions came into the world, to wit, beginning first by curious speculations of the wise after which in process of time succeeded gross superstition, against which mischief the Lord set at length that service of the Law, which some abused in like sort: but in the confutation he began with the abolishing of the Law service, that he might show by comparison, that those false services ought much more to be taken away.

2 As though your felicity stood in these earthly things, and the kingdom of God were not rather spiritual.

2:21 1 An imitation in the person of these superstitious men, rightly expressing their nature and use of speech.

2:22 1 Another argument: The spiritual and inward kingdom of God cannot consist in these outward things, and such as perish with the using.

2 The third argument: Because God is not the author of these traditions, and therefore they do not bind the conscience.

2:23 1 The taking away of an objection. These things have a goodly show, because men by this means, seem to worship God with a good mind and humble themselves, and neglect the body, which the most part of men curiously pamper up and cherish: but yet notwithstanding the things themselves are of no value, for so much as they pertain not to things that are spiritual and everlasting, but to the nourishment of the flesh.

2 Which seem indeed to be some exquisite thing, and so wise devices as though they came from heaven.

3 Hence sprang the works of supererogation, as the Papists term them, that is to say, needless works, as though men performed more than is commanded them, which was the beginning and the very ground whereupon Monks' merits were brought in.

4 A lively description of Monkeys.

5 Seeing they stand in meat and drink, wherein the kingdom of God doth not stand.

3:1 1 Another part of this Epistle, wherein he taketh occasion by the reason of those vain exercises, to show the duty of a Christian life: which is an ordinary thing with him after he hath once set down the doctrine itself.

2 Our renewing or new birth, which is wrought in us by being partakers of the resurrection of Christ, is the fountain of all holiness, out of which sundry arms or rivers do afterwards flow.

3 If for we be partakers of Christ, we are carried as it were into another life, where we shall need neither meat nor drink, for we shall be like unto the Angels.

4 The end and mark which all the duties of Christian life shoot at, is to enter into the kingdom of heaven, and to give ourselves to those things which lead us thither, that is to true godliness, and not to those outward and corporal things.

32 1 So he calleth that show of religion, which he spake of in the former Chapter.
3 1For ye are dead, 2and your life is hid with Christ in God.

4 When Christ which is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory.

5 4Mortify therefore your 7members which are on the earth, fornication, uncleanness, the inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness which is idolatry.

6 For the which things' sake the wrath of God 2cometh on the children of disobedience.

7 Wherein ye also walked once, when ye lived in them.

8 But now put ye away even all these things, wrath, anger, malice, slandering, filthy speaking, out of your mouth.

9 Lie not one to another: 1seeing that ye have put off the old man with his works,

10 And have put on the new, 1which is renewed in 4knowledge after the image of him that created him, 11 1Where is neither Grecian nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond, free: But Christ is all, and in all things.

12 Now therefore as the elect of God, holy and beloved, 1put on the 2bowels of mercies, kindness, humility of mind, meekness, longsuffering:

13 Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel to another: even as Christ forgave, even so do ye.

14 And above all these things put on love, which is the 1bond of perfectness.

15 And let the peace of God 4rule in your hearts, to the which ye are called in 4one body, and be ye thankful:

16 Let the word of Christ dwell in you plenteously in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing yourselves, in 4psalms, and hymns, and spiritual songs, singing with a grace in your hearts to the Lord, 17 4And whatsoever ye shall do, in word or deed, do all in the 1name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God even the Father by him.

18 4Wives, submit yourselves unto your husbands, as is 4comely in the Lord.

19 4Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter unto them.

20 4Children, obey your parents in 4all things: for that is well pleasing unto the Lord.

21 4Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.

22 4Servants, be obedient unto them that are your masters according to the flesh, in all things, not with eye service as men pleasers, but in singleness
23 And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men, 24 Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ.
25 But he that doeth wrong, shall receive for the wrong that he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

He returneth to general exhortations, touching prayer and gracious speech, and so endeth with greetings and commendations.

1 Ye masters, do unto your servants, that which is just and equal, knowing that ye also have a master in heaven.
2 a. Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving,
3 b. Praying also for us, that God may open unto us the door of utterance, to speak the mystery of Christ: wherefore I am also in bonds,
4 That I may utter it, as it becometh me to speak.
5 ¶ c. Walk wisely toward them that are without, and redeem the season.
6 Let your speech be gracious always, and powdered with salt, that ye may know how to answer every man.
7 ¶ Tychicus our beloved brother and faithful minister, and fellow servant in the Lord, shall declare unto you my whole state:
8 Whom I have sent unto you for the same purpose that he might know your state, and might comfort your hearts,
9 With Onesimus a faithful and a beloved brother, who is one of you. They shall show you of all things here.
10 Aristarchus my fellow saluteth you, and Marcus, Barnabas's cousin (touching whom ye received commandments: If he come unto you, receive him.)
11 And Jesus which is called Justus, which are of the circumcision. These only are my work-fellows unto the kingdom of God, which have been unto my consolation.
12 Epaphras the servant of Christ, which is one of you, saluteth you, and always striveth for you in prayers, that ye may stand perfect, and full in all the will of God.
13 For I bear him record, that he hath a great zeal for you, and for them of Laodicea, and them of Hierapolis, 14 Luke the beloved physician greeteth you, and Demas.
15 Salute the brethren which are of Laodicea, and Nymphas, and the Church which is in his house.
16 And when this Epistle is read of you, cause that it be read in the Church of the Laodiceans also, and that ye likewise read the Epistle written from Laodicea, 17 And say to Archippus, Take heed to the ministry, that thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfill it.
18 The salutation by the hand of me Paul. Remember my bands. Grace be with you, Amen.
1 He therefore beginneth with thanksgiving, to put them in mind that whatsoever was praiseworthy in them, it came of God's goodness: and that they are ensamples unto others.

1 Paul, and Silvanus, and Timothy, unto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, and in the Lord Jesus Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 We give God thanks always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers.

3 Without ceasing, remembering your effectual faith, and diligent love, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God, even our Father,

4 Knowing, beloved brethren, that ye are elect of God.

5 For our Gospel was not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the holy Ghost, and in much assurance, as ye know after what manner we were among you for your sakes.

6 And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, and received the word in much affliction, with joy of the holy Ghost,

7 So that ye were as ensamples to all that believe in Macedonia and in Achaia.

8 For from you sounded out the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia only: but your faith also which is toward God, spread abroad in all quarters, that we need not to speak anything.

9 For they themselves show of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, and how ye turned to God from idols, to serve the living and true God.

10 And to look for his son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus which delivereth us from that wrath to come.

2 1 He declareth how faithfully he preacheth the Gospel unto them, seeking neither gain, nor praise of men: and he proveth the same by their own testimony:

2 That they did courageously bear persecution of their countrymen: that he desireth very much to see them.

1 For ye yourselves know, brethren, that our entrance in unto you was not in vain,

2 But even after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated at a Philippi, (as ye know) we were bold in our God, to speak unto you the Gospel of God, with much striving.

3 For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor by uncleanness, nor by guile.
2:4 1 To approve his conscience to God, being free from all flattery and covetousness.
2 Seeing there is this difference between the judgments of God and the judgments of men, when God judge, they respect the qualities of those things which stand before them, but God findeth the reason of his counsel only in himself, it followeth, that seeing we are not able to think a good thought, that whomsoever he first chooseth to those holy callings, he maketh them able, and doth not find them able. And therefore in that we are allowed of God, it hangeth upon his mercy.
3 Which liketh and alloweth them.
26 1 To submit himself even to the basest, to win them, and to eschew all pride.
2 When I might lawfully have lived upon the expenses of the Church.
27 1 We were not rough, but easy, and gentle, as a nurse that is neither ambitious nor covetous, but taketh all pains as patiently, as if she were a mother.
28 1 To have the flock that is committed unto him in more estimation than his own life.
29 1 To depart with his own rights rather than to be chargeable to his sheep.
3:1 To excel others in example of godly life.
3:2 To exhort and comfort with a fatherly mind and affection.
3:12 To exhort all men diligently and earnestly to lead a godly life.
3:13 Having approved his ministry, he commendeth again (to that end and purpose that I spake of) the cheerfulness of the Thessalonians, which was answerable to his diligence in preaching, and their manly patience.
3:14 1 He confirmeth them in their afflictions which they suffered of their own people, because they were afflicted of their own countrymen: which came as well (saith he) to the Churches of the Jews, as to them: and therefore they ought to take it in good part.
2 Which Christ hath gathered together.
3 Even of them which are of the same country, and the same town that you are of.
3:15 1 Who both killed the Lord Jesus and their own Prophets, and have persecuted us away, and God they please not, and are contrary to all men,
2 And forbid us to preach unto the Gentiles, that they might be saved, to fulfill their sins always: for the wrath of God is come on them to the utmost.
3 Forasmuch, brethren, as we were kept from you for a season, concerning sight, but not in the heart, we enforced the more to see your face with great desire.
3:17 Therefore we would have come unto you (I Paul, at least once or twice) but Satan hindered us.
3:18 For what is our hope or joy, or crown of rejoicing? are not even you it in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming?
3:20 Yea, ye are our glory and joy.

1 For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, that when ye received the word of God, which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is indeed the word of God, which also worketh in you that believe.
14 For brethren, ye are become followers of the Churches of God, which in Judea are in Christ Jesus, because ye have also suffered the same things of your own country men, even as they have of the Jews,
15 Who both killed the Lord Jesus and their own Prophets, and have persecuted us away, and God they please not, and are contrary to all men,
16 And forbid us to preach unto the Gentiles, that they might be saved, to fulfill their sins always: for the wrath of God is come on them to the utmost.
17 Forasmuch, brethren, as we were kept from you for a season, concerning sight, but not in the heart, we enforced the more to see your face with great desire.
18 Therefore we would have come unto you (I Paul, at least once or twice) but Satan hindered us.
19 For what is our hope or joy, or crown of rejoicing? are not even you it in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming?
20 Yea, ye are our glory and joy.

1 To show his affection towards them, he sendeth Timothy unto them:
2 That ye would walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdom and glory.
3 As ye know how that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought every one of you, (as a father his children.)
4 That ye should walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdom and glory.
5 For ye remember, brethren, our labor and travail: for we labored day and night, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, and preached unto you the Gospel of God.
6 Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily, and justly, and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe.
7 As ye know how that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought every one of you, (as a father his children.)
8 Thus being affectioned toward you, our good will was to have dealt unto you, not the Gospel of God, but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us.
9 For ye remember, brethren, our labor and travail: for we labored day and night, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, and preached unto you the Gospel of God.
10 Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily, and justly, and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe.
11 As ye know how that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought every one of you, (as a father his children.)
12 That ye should walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdom and glory.
13 For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, that when ye received the word of God, which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is indeed the word of God, which also worketh in you that believe.
4 For verily when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulations, even as it came to pass, and ye know it.

5 Even for this cause, when I could no longer forbear, I sent him that I might know of your faith, lest the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labor had been in vain.

6 But now lately when Timothy came from you unto us, and brought us good tidings of your faith and love, and that ye have good remembrance of us always, desiring to see us, as we also do you,

7 Therefore brethren, we had consolation in you, in all our affliction and necessity through your faith.

8 For now are we alive, if ye stand fast in the Lord.

9 For what thanks can we recompense to God again for you, for all the joy wherewith we rejoice for your sakes before our God,

10 Night and day, praying exceedingly, that we might see your face, and might accomplish that which is lacking in your faith?

11 Now God himself, even our Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, guide our journey unto you.

12 And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you:

13 To make your hearts stable and unblamable in holiness before God even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his Saints.

14 And furthermore we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Jesus, that ye increase more and more, as ye have received of us, how ye ought to walk, and to please God.

15 For ye know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jesus.

16 For this is the will of God even your sanctification, and that ye should abstain from fornication,

17 That everyone of you should know, how to possess his vessel in holiness and honor,

18 And not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God:

19 That no man oppress or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is avenger of all such things, as he hath told you beforehand, and testified.

20 For God hath not called us unto uncleanness, but unto holiness.

21 He therefore that despiseth these things, despiseth not man, but God who hath even given you his holy Spirit.

22 But as touching brotherly love, ye need not that I write unto you: for ye are taught of God to love one another.

23 Yea, and that thing verily ye do unto all the brethren, which are throughout all Macedonia: but we beseech you brethren, that ye increase more and more, 24 And that ye study to be quiet, and to meddle with your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you.

25 That ye may behave yourselves honestly toward them that are without, and that nothing be lacking unto you.

3:3 The will of God, who calleth his on this condition, to bring them to glory by affliction is a most sure remedy against all affliction.

3:6 But because they have hitherto gone so well forward, he exhorteth them again to make an end of the rest of the journey, seeing that therein also they shall do him their Apostle a great pleasure.

3:8 For now you cannot otherwise think me safe and in good case, unless you go forward in religion and faith.

3:10 Paul was constrained through the importunate dealing of the enemies to leave the building which he had scarce began: And for that cause he had left Silas and Timothy in Macedonia, and when Timothy came to Athens to him, he sent him back again straightway.

3:12 Another part of the Epistle, wherein he speaketh of the duties of a Christian life. And he sheweth that the perfection of a Christian life consisteth in two things, to wit, in charity toward all men, and inward purity of the heart, the accomplishment whereof notwithstanding is deferred to the next coming of Christ, who will then perfect his work by the same grace, wherewith he began it in us.

4:1 Divers exhortations, the ground whereof is this, to be mindful of those things, which they have heard of the Apostle.

4:2 That ye labor to excel more and more, and daily pass yourselves.

4:3 This is the sum of those things, which he delivered them, to dedicate themselves wholly to God. And he condemneth plainly all filthiness through lust, because it is altogether contrary to the will of God.

4:4 Another reason, because it defileth the body.

4:5 The third, because the Saints are discerned from them which know not God, by honesty and purity.

4:6 Secondly, he reprehendeth all violent oppression and immediate desire, and showeth most severely as the Prophet of God, that God will revenge such wickedness.

4:8 These commandments which I gave you.

4:9 Thirdly, he requireth a ready mind to all manner of lovingkindness, and exhorteth them to profit more and more in that virtue.

4:11 He condemneth unquiet brains, and such as are curious in matters which appertain not unto them.

4:12 He rebuketh idleness and slothfulness, which vices whosoever are given unto, fall into other wickedness, to the great offense of the Church.
13 ¶ I would not brethren, have you ignorant concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not even as others which have no hope.

14 For if we believe that Jesus is dead, and is risen, even so them which sleep in Jesus, will God bring with him.

15 For this say we unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which live, and are remaining in the coming of the Lord, shall not prevent them which sleep.

16 For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, and with the voice of the Archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first:

17 Then shall we which live and remain, be caught up with them also in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord.

18 Wherefore, comfort yourselves one another with these words.

5 1 Condemning the curious searching for the seasons of Christ's coming. 6 be warneth them to be ready daily to receive him: 11 And so giveth them sundry good lessons.

1 But of the times and seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you.

2 For ye yourselves know perfectly, that the day of the Lord shall come, even as a thief in the night.

4:13 1 The third part of the Epistle, which is interlaced among the former exhortations (which he returneth unto afterward) wherein he speaketh of mourning for the dead, and the manner of the resurrection, and of the latter day.

2 We must take heed that we do not immoderately bewail the dead, that is, as they used to do which think that they are utterly perished.

3 A confirmation: for death is but a sleep of the body (for he speaketh of the faithful) until the Lord cometh.

4:14 1 A reason of the confirmation, for seeing that the head is risen, the members also shall rise, and that by the virtue of God.

2 They die in Christ, which continue in faith, whereby they are grafted into Christ, even to the last gasp.

3 Will call their bodies out of their graves, and join their souls to them again.

4:15 1 The manner of the resurrection shall be thus. The bodies of the dead shall be as it were raised out of sleep, at the sound of the trumpet of God, Christ himself shall descend from heaven. The Saints (for he speaketh properly of them) which shall then be found alive together with the dead which shall rise, shall be taken up into the clouds to meet the Lord, and shall be in perpetual glory with him.

2 In the Name of the Lord, as though he himself speaks unto you.

3 He speaketh of these things, as though he should be one of them whom the Lord shall find alive at his coming, because that time is uncertain, and therefore every one of us ought to be in such a readiness, as if the Lord were coming at every moment.

4:16 1 The word which the Apostle useth here, signifieth properly that encouragement which mariners use one to another, when they altogether with one shout put forth their oars and row together.

4:17 1 Suddenly and in the twinkling of an eye.

5:1 1 The day that God hath appointed for his judgment, we know not. But this is sure that it shall come upon men when they look for nothing less.

2 See Acts 1:7.

5:4 1 Returning to exhortations he warneth us which are lightened with the knowledge of God, that it is our duty not to live securely in deliciousness, lest we be suddenly taken in a dead sleep in pleasures, but contrariwise to have an eye to the Lord, and not suffer ourselves to be oppressed with the cares of this world, for that is meet for the darkness of the night, and this for the light.

5:8 1 We must fight with faith and hope, much less ought we lie carelessly snorting.

5:9 1 He pricketh us forward by seeing most certain hope of victory before us.

5:10 1 The death of Christ is a pledge of our victory, for therefore he died, that we might be partakers of his life or virtue; yea even while we live here.

5:11 1 We must not only watch ourselves, but we are also bound to stir up and to confirm one another.

5:12 1 We must have great consideration of them which are appointed to the ministry of the word, and government of the Church by God, and do their duty.

2 That you acknowledge and take them for such as they are, that is to say, men worthy to be greatly accounted of among you.

3 In those things which pertain to God's service: so is the Ecclesiastical function distinguished from civil authority, and true shepherds from wolves.

5:13 1 So then, where this cause ceaseth, there must the honor cease.

2 This maintenance of mutual concord, is especially to be looked unto.
14 1 We desire you, brethren, admonish them that are out of order: comfort the feebleminded: bear with the weak: be patient toward all men.
15 1 See that none recompense evil for evil unto any man: but ever follow that which is good, both toward yourselves, and toward all men.
16 1 Rejoice evermore.
17 1 Pray continually.
18 1 In all things, give thanks, for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus toward you.
19 1 Quench not the Spirit.
20 Despise not prophesying.
21 Try all things, and keep that which is good.
22 Abstain from all appearance of evil.
23 Now the very God of peace sanctify you throughout: and I pray God that your whole spirit and soul and body, may be kept blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.
24 Faithful is he which calleth you, which will also do it.
25 Brethren, pray for us.
26 Greet all the brethren with an holy kiss.
27 I charge you in the Lord, that this Epistle be read unto all the brethren the Saints.
28 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you, Amen.

¶ The first Epistle unto the Thessalonians written from Athens.
THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE

THESALONIANS

1 Paul and Silvanus, and Timothy, unto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God our Father, and in the Lord Jesus Christ:
2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.
3 We ought to thank God always for you, brethren, as it is meet, because that your faith groweth exceedingly, and the love of every one of you toward another, aboundeth,
4 So that we ourselves rejoice of you in the Churches of God, because of your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye suffer.
5 Which is a manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for the which ye also suffer.
6 For it is a righteous thing with God, to compass 1tribulation to them that trouble you, and will do away the miseries of his people.
7 And to you which are troubled, rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall show himself from heaven with his mighty Angels,
8 In flaming fire, rendering vengeance unto them, that do not know God, and which obey not unto the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.
9 Which shall be punished with everlasting perdition from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power,
10 When he shall come to be glorified in his Saints, and to be made marvellous in all them that believe (because our testimony toward you was believed) in that day.
11 Wherefore, we also pray always for you, that our God may make you worthy of this calling, and fulfill all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the work of faith with power.
12 That the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Jesus Christ.

1 Now we beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our assembling unto him,

1.3 1 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he rejoiceth that through the grace of God, they have manfully sustained all the assaults of their enemies, wherein he confirmeth them moreover showing with what gifts they must chiefly fight, to wit, with faith and charity, which must daily increase.
2 That whereas it grew us before, it doth also receive some increase every day more and more.
15 1 He openeth the fountain of all true comfort, to wit, that in afflictions, which we suffer of the wicked for righteousness sake, we may behold as it were in a glass the testimony of that judgment to come, and the end therefore most acceptable to us, and most sharp to his enemies.
16 1 A proof: God is just, therefore he will worthily punish the unjust, and will do away the miseries of his people.
17 He confirmeth them also by the way, by this means, that the condition both of this present state and the state to come, is common to him with them.
2 A most glorious description of the second coming of Christ, to be set against all the miseries of the godly, and the triumphs of the wicked.
1:8 1 There is no knowledge of God unto salvation, without the Gospel of Christ.
1:10 1 The children of God shall be counted by the faith which they have in the Gospel, which is preached unto them by the Apostles.
1:11 1 Seeing that we have the mark set before us, it remaineth that we go unto it. And we go to it, by certain degrees of causes: first by the free love and good pleasure of God, by virtue whereof all other inferior causes work: from thence proceedeth the free calling to Christ, and from calling, faith, whereupon followeth both the glorifying of Christ in us, and us in Christ.
2 By (calling) he meaneth not the very act of calling, but that selfsame thing whereunto we are called, which is the glory of that heavenly kingdom.
3 Which he determined long since, only upon his gracious and merciful goodness toward you.
4 So then, faith is an excellent work of God in us: and we see here plainly that the Apostle leaveth nothing to free will, to make it checkmate with God’s working therein, as the Papists dream.
21 1 The second part of the Epistle, containing an excellent prophecy of the state of the Church, which shall be from the Apostles’ times unto the latter day of judgment.
2 If we think earnestly upon that immeasurable glory, which we shall be partakers of with Christ, it will be an excellent remedy for us against wavering, and impatience, so that neither the glistering of the world shall allure us, nor the dreadful sight of the cross dismay us.
2:1 That ye be not suddenly moved from your mind, nor troubled neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter, as it were from us, as though the day of Christ were at hand.

2 Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a departing first, and that he that maketh sin be revealed, even the son of perdition.

3 Which is an adversary, and exalteth himself against all that is called God, or that is worshipped: so that he doth sit as God in the Temple of God, showing himself that he is God.

4 Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I told you these things?

5 And now ye know what withholdeth, that he might be revealed in his time.

6 For the mystery of iniquity doth already work: only he which now withholdeth, shall let till he be taken out of the way.

7 And then shall that wicked man be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the Spirit of his mouth, and shall abolish with the brightness of his coming.

8 Even him whose coming is by the effectual working of Satan, with all power, and signs, and lying wonders, 9 For he that cometh against me is antichrist, which is the spirit of antichrist, and the lies of the world, and the spirit that worketh in the children of disobedience.

10 And in all deceivableness of unrighteousness, among them that perish, because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved.

11 And therefore God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe lies.

12 That all they might be damned which believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness.

13 But we ought to give thanks always to God for you, brethren beloved of the Lord, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to salvation, through sanctification of the Spirit, and the faith of truth, 14 Whereunto he called you by our Gospel, to obtain the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15 Therefore, brethren, stand fast and keep the instructions, which ye have been taught, either by word, or by our Epistle.

16 Now the same Jesus Christ our Lord, and our God, even the Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through Grace, 17 Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every word and good work.

1 He desireth them to further the preaching of the Gospel with their prayers, 6 and to withdraw themselves from those, who through idleness, 11 and curiosity pervert good order: 14 Whom he excludeth from the company of the faithful.

1. Furthermore, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free passage and be glorified, even as it is with you.

2. And that we may be delivered from unreasonable and evil men: 2 for all men have not faith.

3. But the Lord is faithful, which will establish you, and keep you from evil.

4. And we are persuaded of you through the Lord, that ye both do, and will do the things which we warn you of.

5. And the Lord guide your hearts to the love of God, and the waiting for of Christ.

6. We warn you, brethren, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walked inordinately, and not after the instruction, which he received of us.

7. For ye yourselves know, how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves inordinately among you,

8. Neither took we bread of any man for nought: but we wrought with labor and travail night and day, because we would not be chargeable to any of you.

9. Not because we have not authority, but that we might make ourselves an ensample unto you to follow us.

10. For even when we were with you, this we warned you of, that if there were any, which would not work, that he should not eat.

11. For we hear, that there are some which walk among you inordinately, and work not at all, but are busybodies.

12. Therefore them that are such, we warn and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that they work with quietness, and eat their own bread.

13. And ye, brethren, be not weary in well doing.

14. If any man obey not this our saying in this letter, note him, and have no company with him, that he may be ashamed.

15. Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother.

16. Now the Lord himself of peace give you peace always by all means. The Lord be with you all.

17. The salutation of me Paul, with mine own hand, which is the token in every Epistle: so I write, The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with ye all, Amen.

¶ The second Epistle to the Thessalonians, written from Athens.

3:1 1 He addeth now consequently according to his manner, divers admonitions. The first of them is, that they make prayers for the increase and free passage of the Gospel, and for the safety of the faithful ministers of the same.

3:2 1 Which have no care of their duty.

2 It is no marvel that the Gospel is hated of so many, seeing that faith is a rare gift of God. Notwithstanding, the Church shall never be destroyed by the multitude of the wicked, because it is grounded and stayed upon the faithful promise of God.

3:3 1 From Satan’s snares, or from evil.

3:4 1 The second admonition is, that they follow always the doctrine of the Apostles as a rule for their life.

3:5 1 Thirdly, he diligently and earnestly admonisheth them of two things which are given us by the only grace of God, to wit, of charity, and a watchful mind to the coming of Christ.

3:6 1 Fourthly, he saith, that idle and lazy persons ought not to be relieved of the Church, nay, that they are not to be suffered.

3:7 1 Lest he might seem to deal harshly with them, he setteth forth himself as an example, who besides his travail in preaching labored with his hands, with which he saith he was not simply bound to do.

3:10 1 What shall we do then with those idle bellied Monks, and sacrificing Priests? A Monk (saith Socrates, book 8, of his Tripartite history) which worketh not with hands, is like a thief.

3:11 1 How great a fault idleness is, he declareth by that that God created no man in vain or to no purpose, neither is there any unto whom he hath not allotted as it were a certain standing and room. Whereupon it followeth, that the order which God hath appointed, is not the destruction, but the end of the excommunication is not the destruction, but the salvation of the sinner, that at least through shame he may be driven to the right way.

3:12 1 The Lord commandeth, and the Apostles pray in the name of Christ, first that no men be idle, and next, that every man do quietly follow an infinite sort of mischiefs: to wit, that there are none more busy in other men’s matters than they which neglect their own.

3:13 1 We must take heed that some men’s unworthiness cause us not to be slacker in well doing.

3:14 1 Excommunication is a punishment for the obstinate.

2 We must have no familiarity nor fellowship with the excommunicate.

3:15 1 We must so eschew familiarity with the excommunicate, that we diligently seek all occasions and means that may be to bring them again into the right way.

3:16 1 Prayers are the seals of all exhortations.

3:17 1 The Apostle subscribeth his letters with his own hand, that false letters might not be brought and put in place of true.
THE FIRST EPISTLE OF
TIMOTHY

1 Setting forth a perfect pattern of a true Pastor, whose office especially consisteth in teaching. 4 he warned him that vain questions set apart, he teach those things. 5 which further charity and faith: 12 and that his authority be not condemned. 14 he sheweth what an one he is made through the grace of God.

1 Paul 1an Apostle of Jesus Christ, by the 2commandment of God our Savior, and of our Lord Jesus Christ our hope,

2 Unto Timothy 3my natural son in the faith: Grace, 1mercy, and peace from God our Father, and 4from Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 1As I besought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so do, that thou mayest warn some, that they teach none other doctrine,

4 1Neither that they give heed to fables and 2genealogies which are endless, which breed questions rather than godly edifying which is by faith.

5 1For the end of the 2commandment is 1love out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned.

6 1From the which things some have erred, and have turned unto vain jangling.

7 1They would be doctors of the Law, and yet understand not what they speak, neither whereof they affirm.

8 1And we know, that the Law is good, if a man use it lawfully.

9 1Knowing this, that the Law is not given unto a righteous man, but unto the lawless and disobedient, to the ungodly, and to 1sinners, to the unholy, and to the profane, to murderers of fathers and mothers, to manslayers,

10 1To whoremongers, to buggerers, to menstealers, to liars, to the perjured, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to wholesome doctrine,

11 1Which is according to the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, 2which is committed unto me.

12 1Therefore I thank him which hath made me strong, that is, Christ Jesus our Lord: for he counted me faithful, and put me in his service:

1:1 1 First of all, he avoucheth his own free vocation, and also Timothy's, that the one might be confirmed by the other: and therewithal he declareth the sum of the Apostolical doctrine, to wit, the mercy of God in Christ Jesus apprehended by faith, the end whereof is yet hoped for.

2 Or, ordinance.

1:2 1 There is as much difference betwixt mercy and grace, as is betwixt the effect, and the cause: For grace is that free good will of God, whereby he chose us in Christ, and mercy is that free justification which followeth it.

1:3 1 This whole Epistle consisteth in admonitions, wherein all the duties of a faithful Pastor are lively set out. And the first admonition is this, that no innovation be made either in the Apostle's doctrine itself, or in the manner of teaching it.

1:4 1 The doctrine is corrupted not only by false opinions, but also by vain and curious speculations: the declaration and utterance thereof can nothing help our faith.

1:5 1 The second admonition is, that the right use and practice of the doctrine must be joined with the doctrine. And that consisteth in pure charity, and a good conscience, and true faith.

1:6 1 That which he spake before generally of vain and curious controversies, he applieth to them, which pretending a zeal of the Law, dwelled upon outward things, and never made an end of babbling of foolish trifles.

1:7 1 There are none more unlearned, and more impudent in usurping the name of holiness, than foolish sophistical babblers.

1:8 1 The taking away of an objection. He condemneth not the Law, but requireth the right use and practice of it.

1:9 1 He indeed escapeth the curse of the Law, and therefore doth not abhor it, who fleeing and eschewing those things which the Law condemneth, giveth himself with all his heart to observe it: and not he that maketh a vain babbling of outward and curious matters.

1:10 1 And such a one is he, whom the Lord hath endued with true doctrine, and with the holy Ghost.

1:11 1 To such as make an art as it were of sinning.

1:11 1 He setteth against fond and vain babbling, not only the Law, but the Gospel also, which condemneth not, but greatly commendeth the wholesome doctrine contained in the commandments of God, and therefore he calleth it a glorious Gospel, and the Gospel of the blessed God, the virtue whereof these babblers knew not.

2 A reason why neither any other Gospel is to be taught than he hath taught in the Church, neither after any other sort, because there is no other Gospel besides that which God committed to him.

1:12 1 He mainteneth of necessity his Apostleship against some that did carp at his former life, debas ing himself, even to hell, to advance Christ's only mercy, wherewith he abolished all those his former doings.

2 Which gave me strength, not only when I had no will to do well, but also when I was wholly given to evil.
13 When before I was a 1blasphemer, and a persecutor, and an oppressor; but I was received to mercy: for I did it ignorantly through unbelief.

14 But the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant 1with faith and love, which is in Christ Jesus.

15 1This is a 1true saying, and by all means worthy to be received, that 1Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief.

16 Notwithstanding for this cause was I received to mercy, that Jesus Christ should first show on me all long suffering unto the ensemble of them, which shall in time to come believe in him unto eternal life.

17 1Now unto the king everlasting, immortal, invisible, unto God 1only wise, be honor, and glory, for ever, and ever, Amen.

18 1This commandment commit I unto thee, son Timothy, according to the prophecies which went before upon thee, that thou 2by them shouldest fight a good fight, 19 Having 1faith and a good conscience, 1which some have put away, and as concerning faith, have made shipwreck.

20 Of whom is Hymenaeus, and Alexander, 1whom I have 2delivered unto Satan, that they might 3learn not to blaspheme.

2 He exhorteth them to make public prayers for all men. 4, 5 and that for two causes. 8 and therefore he willeth all men in all places to pray, 9 and declareth in what apparel. 11 and with what modesty, women ought to behave themselves in holy assemblies.

1 1Exhort therefore, that first of all supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks be made for all men,

2 For Kings, and for all that are in authority, 1that we may lead a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godliness, and 1honesty.

3 For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Savior.

4 1Who will that all men shall be saved, and come unto the acknowledging of the truth.

5 1For there is one God, and one Mediator between God and man, 1which is the 1man Christ Jesus, 6 Who gave himself a ransom for all men, 1to be that testimony in due time.

7 Whereunto I am ordained a preacher and an Apostle (I speak the truth in Christ, and lie not) 1even a teacher of the Gentiles in 1faith and verity.

8 1I will therefore that the men pray, everywhere
3:15 One that can rule his own house honestly, having children under obedience with all honesty.

3:16 For if any cannot rule his own house, how shall he care for the Church of God?

3:17 He may not be a young scholar, lest he being puffed up fall into the condemnation of the devil.

3:18 He must also be well reported of, even of them which are without, lest he fall into rebuke, and the snare of the devil.

3:19 Likewise must Deacons be grave, not double tongued, not given unto much wine, neither to filthy lucre,

3:20 Having the mystery of the faith in pure conscience.

3:21 And let them first be proved, then let them minister, if they be found blameless.

3:22 Likewise their wives must be honest, not evil speakers, but sober, and faithful in all things.

3:23 Let the Deacons be the husbands of one wife, and such as can rule their children well, and their own households.

3:24 For they that have ministered well, get themselves a good decree, and great liberty in the faith, which is in Christ Jesus.

3:25 These things write I unto thee, trusting to come very shortly unto thee.

3:26 But if I tarry long, that thou mayest yet know, how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God.

2:12 The first argument, why it is not lawful for women to teach in the Congregation, because by this means they should be placed above men, for they should be their masters: which is against God’s ordinance.

2:13 He proveth this ordinance of God, whereby the woman is subject to man, first by that, that God made the woman after man, for man’s sake.

2:14 Then because that after sin God enjoined the woman this punishment, for that the man was deceived by her.

2:15 He addeth a comfort by the way, that their subjection hindereth not but that women may be saved as well as men, if they behave themselves in those burdens of marriage holy and modestly, with faith and charity.

2:16 Having dispatched the treatise, as well of doctrine and of the manner of handling of it, as also of public prayer, he now in the third place cometh to the persons themselves, speaking first of Pastors and afterward of Deacons, and he useth a preface, that the Church may know that these be certain and sure rulers.

2:17 A Bishopric or the ministry of the word is not an idle dignity, but a work and that an excellent work: and therefore a Bishop must be furnished with many virtues both at home and abroad. Wherefore it be requisite before he be chosen, to examine well his learning, his gifts, and ableness, and his life.

2:18 He speaketh not here of ambitious seeking, than the which there cannot be a worse fault in the Church, but general of the mind, and disposition of man, framed and disposed to help and edify the Church of God, when and wheresoever it shall please the Lord.

2:19 Therefore he that shutteth out married men from the office of Bishop, he desireth a worthy work.

2:20 A Bishop therefore must be unreproveable, the house of God.

2:21 Without these griefs and offenses of the mind, which hinder us from calling upon God with a good conscience.

2:22 Doubting which is against faith, James 1:6.

2:23 Likewise the Deacons must first be proved that there may be of them that they array them not falsely, nor be taken unawares.

2:24 Likewise their wives must be honest, not evil speakers, but sober, and faithful in all things.

2:25 Lest by reason that he is advanced to that degree, he take occasion to be proud, which will undo him, and so he fall into the same condemnation that the devil himself is fallen into.

2:26 Likewise the Deacons must first be proved that there may be a good trial of their honesty, truth, sobriety, mind, void of covetousness, that they are well instructed in the doctrine of faith, and to be short, of their good conscience and integrity.

2:27 These are they that had to see to the poor.

2:28 The doctrine of the Gospel, which is a mystery indeed: for flesh and blood do not reveal it.

2:29 Thirdly he appointeth women to learn in the public assemblies with silence and modesty, being comely appareled without any riot or excess in their apparel.

2:30 They that have more wives than one at one time, must neither be called to be ministers, nor to be Deacons.

3:1 These are they that had to see to the poor.

3:2 They that have more wives than one at one time, must neither be called to be ministers, nor to be Deacons.

3:3 Likewise also the women, that they array themselves in comely apparel, with shamefastness and modesty, not with braided hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly apparel.

3:4 But (as becometh women that profess the fear of God) with good works.

3:5 Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection.

3:6 I permit not a woman to teach, neither to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence.

3:7 For Adam was not deceived, but the woman was deceived, and was in the transgression.

3:8 Likewise was deceived, and was in the transgression.

3:9 For Adam was first formed, then Eve.

3:10 And Adam was not deceived, but the woman was deceived, and was in the transgression.

3:11 Not ‘given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre, but gentle, no fighter, not covetous.

3:12 ‘The doctrine of the Gospel, which is a mystery indeed: for flesh and blood do not reveal it.

3:13 But (as becometh women that profess the fear of God) with good works.

3:14 These are they that had to see to the poor.

3:15 ‘The doctrine of the Gospel, which is a mystery indeed: for flesh and blood do not reveal it.

3:16 ‘The doctrine of the Gospel, which is a mystery indeed: for flesh and blood do not reveal it.

3:17 ‘The doctrine of the Gospel, which is a mystery indeed: for flesh and blood do not reveal it.
of God, which is the Church of the living God, the pillar and ground of truth.

16. And without controversy, great is the mystery of godliness, which is, God is manifested in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, and received up in glory.

4. 1 He commendeth as well false doctrine, of marriage and the choice of meats, as also profane fables: and commendeth the godly exercise, and the daily reading of the Scriptures.

1. Now the Spirit speaketh evidently, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, and shall give heed unto spirits of error, and doctrines of devils,

2. Which speak lies through hypocrisy, and have their consciences burned with an hot iron,

3. Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats which God hath created to be received with giving thanks of them which believe and know the truth.

3:16 2 To wit, in respect of men: for the Church resteth upon that cornerstone, Christ, and is the preserver of the truth, but not the mother.

3:16 1 There is nothing more excellent than this truth, whereof the Church is the keeper and preserver here amongst men, the ministry of the word being appointed to that end and purpose: for it teacheth us the greatest matters that may be thought of, to wit, that God is become visible in the person of Christ by taking our nature upon him, whose Majesty notwithstanding in so great weakness was made manifest to all men, by the sucking of the Gentiles, and to conclude, he being preached unto the Gentiles was received of them, and is now placed above in glory unspeakable.

3:16 1 He proveth that he justly called such doctrines devilish, first, in respect of men: for the Church resteth upon that cornerstone, Christ, and is the preserver of the truth, but not the mother.

He setteth down two kinds of this false doctrine, to wit, the Law and the promise both of the life present, and of that that is to come.

3:16 2 He setteth against that true doctrine, false opinions, which he had sucked of the Gentiles, and to conclude, he being preached unto the Gentiles was received of them by his word, and calleth upon him.

3:16 3 He setteth an Apostolical rule, for taking away the difference of meats, as also profane fables: and exercise thyself unto godliness.

3:16 2 It is so made pure and holy in respect of us, that we may use it with a good conscience, as received at the Lord's hand.

3:16 3 We confess and acknowledge that God is the maker and giver of those creatures which we use. Secondly, that we are of the number of those, who through Christ's benefit have recovered that right over all creatures, which Adam lost by his fall. Thirdly, by our prayers we crave of the Lord, that we may use those meats with a good conscience, as received at the Lord's hand.

3:16 4 For every creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving.

4. 1 He setteth an Apostolical rule, for taking away the difference of meats, against that false doctrine.

4. 1 He setteth forth the difference of meats sanctified to us.

4. 1 The conclusion with an exhortation to Timothy, to propound these things diligently to the Churches, which he had sucked of the Apostle, even in a manner from the teat.

4. 2 Never departing from the side of it.

4. 1 Godliness consisteth in spiritual exercise, and not in outward austereness of life, which though it be something to be accounted of, if it be rightly used, yet is it in no wise comparable with godliness: for it profiteth not of itself, but through the benefit of another, but this hath the promise both of the life present, and of that that is to come.

4. 1 He goeth a little from his matter, and showeth that they which give themselves to godliness, although they are afflicted and reproached, are notwithstanding not to be counted miserable as other men are, because they are not afflicted for that cause that other men are, and the end of them both is far different one from the other. For how can God forsake his, which is bountiful even towards his enemies? And he willeth that this doctrine be well beaten into their heads.
5:1 Having set down a manner how to rebuke all degrees. 5 He entreateth of widows, who then were chosen for the service of the Church. 17 Then he cometh to Elders, 23 and speaketh somewhat touching the health of the body.

1 Rebuke not an elder, but exhort him as a father, and the younger men as brethren.
2 The elder women as mothers, the younger as sisters, with all pureness.
3 1Honor widows, which are widows indeed.
4 But if any widow have children or nephews let them learn first to show godliness toward their own house, and to recompense their kindred: for that is an honest thing, and acceptable before God.
5 And she that is a widow indeed and left alone, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.
6 But she that liveth in pleasure, is dead, while she liveth.
7 These things therefore warn them of, that they may be blameless.
8 If there be any that provideth not for his own, and namely for them of his household, he denieth the faith, and is worse than an infidel.
9 1Let not a widow be taken into the number under threescore years old, that hath been the wife of one husband.
10 And well reported of for good works: if she have nourished her children, if she have lodged the strangers, if she have washed the Saints’ feet, if she have ministered unto them which were in adversity, if she were continually given unto every good work.
11 1But refuse the younger widows: for when they have begun to wax wanton against Christ, they will marry.
12 Having damnation, because they have broken the first faith.
13 1And likewise also being idle they learn to go about from house to house: yea they are not only idle, but also prattlers and busybodies, speaking things which are not comely.
14 1I will therefore that the younger women marry, and bear children, and govern the house, and give none occasion to the adversary to speak evil.
15 For certain are already turned back after Satan.
16 1If any faithful man or faithful woman have widows, let them minister unto them, and let not the Church be charged, that there may be sufficient for them that are widows indeed.

4:12 1 Now he returneth to that exhortation, showing which are the virtues of a Pastor, whereby he may come to be reverenced, although he be but young, to wit, such speech and life as are witnesses of charity, zeal, faith, and purity, but here is no mention made of the crosser staff, ring, cloak, and such other foolish and childish toys.
4:13 1 The private exercise of Pastors, is continual reading of the Scriptures, whence out they may draw matter of wholesome doctrine and exhortation, both to themselves and to others.
4:16 1 Faith is by hearing, and hearing by preaching: and therefore the ministers of the word are so said to save themselves and others, for that in them the Lord hath put the word of reconciliation.
5:1 1Of keeping measure in private reprehensions according to the degrees of ages and kinds.
5:3 2 Have care of those widows which have need of help.
5:4 1Widows’ children and nephews must take care for their parents, according to their ability.
2 The first reason, because that, that which they bestow upon theirs, they bestow it upon themselves.
3 Another, because nature itself teacheth us to recompense our parents.
4 The third: because this dutifulness pleaseth God.
5:5 1 The second rule: Let the church have care of such as are widows indeed; that is to say, such as are poor and destitute of help of their own friends, and live godly and religiously.
5:6 1 The third rule: Let widows that live in pleasure, and neglect the care of their own family, be holden and accounted as fallers away from God and his religion, and worse than very infidels.
5:9 1 The fourth rule: Let none under threescore years old, be taken into the number of widows, to serve the Congregations or Churches, and such as are free from all reproach of unchastity, and are well reported of for their diligence, charity, and integrity.
2 That hath had no more husbands, but one at one time.
5:10 1 This is spoken in respect of the manner of those countries.
5:11 1 The first reason why younger widows are not to be admitted to this ministry, to wit, because for the lightness of their age, they will at length shake off the burden that Christ hath laid upon them, and think rather upon marrying again: and so will forsake the ministry whereunto they had bound themselves.
2 Take them not into the college of widows.
5:13 1 Another reason: because they are for the most part prattlers and busybodies, and gadders up and down, neglecting their charge and duty.
5:14 1 The fifth rule: Let younger widows marry and govern their houses godly.
5:16 1 The sixth rule: Let the faithful help their widows at their own charges as much as they can, and let not the Congregation be burdened with these expenses.
The Elders that rule well, let them be had in double honor, specially they which labor in the word and doctrine.

For the Scripture saith, 'Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn: and, 'The laborer is worthy of his wages.

Against an Elder receive none accusation, but under two or three witnesses.

Them that sin, rebuke openly, that the rest also may fear.

I charge thee before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect Angels, that thou observe these things, without preferring one to another, and do nothing partially.

'LAY hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men's sins; keep thyself pure.

'Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake, and thine often infirmities.

'Some men's sins are open before hand, and go before unto judgment: but some men's follow after.

'Likewise also the good works are manifest before hand, and they that are otherwise, cannot be hid.

Now he giveth rules, and showeth how he ought to behave himself with the Elders, that is to say, with the Pastors and such as have the governance in the discipline of the Church, which is president of their company. The first rule: Let the Church or Congregation see unto this especially, as God himself hath commanded, that the Elders that do their duty well, be honestly maintained.

We must be more careful for them, than for the rest.

There were two kinds of Elders, the one attended upon the government only, and looked to the manners of the Congregation; the other did beside that, attend upon preaching and prayers, to and for the Congregation.

The second rule: Let no accusation be admitted against an Elder, but under two or three witnesses.

The third rule: Let the Elders so convicted be rebuked openly, and have also masters of the same profession and religion, abuse the dels to their masters, serve them notwithstanding with great fidelity.

The fourth rule: Let sincerity be used without any prejudice or respect of persons in Ecclesiastical proceedings, (especially against the Elders) because God himself is there present, and the Lord Jesus Christ with a multitude of Angels.

The fifth rule: Let the minister lay hands suddenly on no man. Let him not be faulty herein either by favoring any man's folly, or perverse affection: If ought be done otherwise than well of his fellows, let him keep his conscience pure.

As much as in thee lieth do not rashly admit any whatsoever, to any Ecclesiastical function.

The sixth rule: Let the Elders have indifferent consideration of their health, in the manner of their diet.

Because hypocrites sometimes creep into the ministry although there be never so great diligence used, the Apostle willeth the Pastors not to be troubled therefore, or slack any whit of their diligence in trying and examining, because the Lord hath appointed a time to discover the faults of such men, and it is our parts to take heed that we offend not therein.

Another comfort belonging to them, which sometimes are slandered and misreported of.

He sheweth the duty of servants: and what a mischievous evil covetousness is: having spoken somewhat of rich men, he once again forbiddeth Timothy, to cumber himself with vain babblings.

Let as many servants as are under the yoke, count their masters worthy of all honor, that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not evil spoken of.

And they which have believing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren, but rather do service, because they are faithful, and beloved, and partakers of the benefit. These things teach and exhort.

If any man teach otherwise, and consenteth not to the wholesome words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness,

He is puffed up and knoweth nothing, but doteth about questions and strive of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, Froward disputations of men of corrupt minds and destitute of the truth, which think that gain is godliness: from such separate thyself.

But godliness is great gain, if a man be content with that he hath.

He addeth also rules for the servants' duty towards their masters: whereupon no doubt there were many questions then moved by them which took occasion by the Gospel to trouble the common state. And this is the first rule: Let servants that are come to the faith, and have infidels to their masters, serve them notwithstanding with great fidelity.

The reason: lest God should seem by the Doctrine of the Gospel to stir up men to rebellion and all wickedness.

The second rule: Let not servants that are come to the faith, and have also masters of the same profession and religion, abuse the name of brotherhood, but let them so much the rather obey them.

Let this be sufficient, that as touching those things which pertain to everlasting life, they are partakers of the same good will and love of God, as their masters themselves are.

A general conclusion, that these things ought not only to be simply taught, but must with exhortations be diligently beaten into their heads.

He condemneth severely, and excommunicateth or casteth out of the Church as proud men, such as content not themselves with Christ's doctrine, (that is to say, the doctrine of godliness) but weary both themselves and others in vain questions, (for all other things are vain) because they content not themselves in Christ's doctrine: and as lying deceivers, because they savour or sound of nothing but vanity: as mad men, because they trouble themselves so much in matters of nothing: as mischievous plagues, for that they cause great contentions, and corrupt men's minds and judgment: to be short, as profane and wicked, because they abuse the precious name of godliness and religion to filthy lucre.

Striving about words, and not about matter: and by words he meaneth all those things which have no pith in them, and whereby we can reap no profit.

Such as we see in those shameless schools of Popery, which are nothing else but vain babbling and prating.

He turneth away filthy the name of gain and lucre, confessing that godliness is great gain, but far after another sort, to wit, because it bringeth true sufficiency.
7 1For we brought nothing into the world, and it is certain, that we can carry nothing out.
8 Therefore when we have food and raiment, let us therewith be content.
9 1For they that will be rich, fall into tentation and snares, and into many foolish and noisome lusts, which drawn men in perdition and destruction.
10 For the desire of money is the root of all evil, which while some lusted after they erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows.
11 1But thou, O man of God, flee these things, and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, and meekness.
12 Fight the good fight of faith: lay hold of eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses.
13 1I charge thee in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Jesus Christ, which under Pontius Pilate witnessed a good confession.
14 That thou keep this commandment without spot, and unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ, 15 Which in due time he shall show, that is blessed and Prince only, the King of kings and Lord of lords.

16 Who only hath immortality, and dwelleth in the light that none can attain unto, whom never man saw, neither can see, unto whom be honor and power everlasting. Amen.
17 1Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high minded, and that they trust not in uncertain riches, but in the living God, (which giveth us abundantly all things to enjoy.)
18 That they do good, and be rich in good works, and be ready to distribute, and communicate.
19 1Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may obtain eternal life.
20 1O Timothy, keep that which is committed unto thee, and avoid profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called,
21 Which while some profess, they have erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee, Amen.

He mocketh Timothy from covetousness after another sort, to not be moved out of our standings.
He voucheth the power of God, which if we stick fast unto, we shall continue in the simplicity of sincere doctrine.

The praise of liberality by the effects thereof: because it is a sure testimony of the Spirit of God which dwelleth in us, and therefore of the salvation that shall be given us.
He rehearseth the chiefest of all the former exhortations, which ought to be deeply imprinted in the minds of all ministers of the word, to wit, that they eschew all vain babblings of sophistry and continue in the simplicity of sincere doctrine.
Not only in word, but also in countenance and gesture: to be short, while their behavior was such that even when they held their peace, they would make men believe their heads were occupied about nothing but high and weighty matters, even then they erred concerning the faith.
1 3 He commendeth Timothy's faith, 6 and exhorteth him to go on faithfully in the charge committed unto him: 8 and that neither for his bonds, 15 nor the revolting of others, he faint. 11 He triumpheth of his Apostleship. 14 He willeth him to have care of the thing committed unto him, 16 and praiseth Onesiphorus.

1 1 Paul an Apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, 1according to the promise of life which is in Christ Jesus,
2 2 To Timothy my beloved son: Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from Jesus Christ our Lord.
3 1 I thank God, whom I serve from mine elders 2with pure conscience, that without ceasing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day,
4 4 Desiring to see thee, mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy:
5 5 When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am assured that it dwelleth in thee also.
6 6 Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance that thou 2stir up the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands.
7 7 For God hath not given to us the Spirit of fear, but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.
8 8 Be not therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, neither of me 2his prisoner: but be partaker of the afflictions of the 4Gospel according to the 3power of God,
9 9 Who hath saved us, and called us with an 3holy calling, not according to our 2works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was 2given to us through Christ Jesus 3before the 4world was,
10 10 But is now made manifest by that appearing of our Savior Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality unto 1light through the Gospel.
11 11 Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.
12 12 For the which cause I also suffer these things, 5but I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and I am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed to him against that
I. Keep the true pattern of the wholesome words, which thou hast heard of me in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus.

II. That worthy thing, which was committed to thee, keep through the holy Ghost, which dwelleth in us.

III. This thou knowest, that all they which are in Asia, be turned from me: of which sort are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

IV. The Lord give mercy unto the house of Onesiphorus: for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chain,

V. But when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.

VI. The Lord grant unto him, that he may find mercy with the Lord at that day, and in how many things he hath ministered unto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

VII. The better to set out perseverance in the Christian warfare, he taketh similitudes, 4 from soldiers, 6 and from husbandmen. 10 He sheweth that his bonds are for the profit of the Saints: 15 Then he warneth Timothy to divide the word of truth aright, 17 to beware of the examples of the wicked. 22 and to do all things modestly.

VIII. Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.

IX. And what things thou hast heard of me, by many witnesses, the same deliver to faithful men,

X. which shall be able to teach others also.

XI. Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.

XII. No man that warreth, entangleth himself with the affairs of this life, because he would please him that hath chosen him to be a soldier.

XIII. And if any man also strive for a mastery, he is not crowned, except he strive as he ought to do.

XIV. The husbandman must labor before he receive the fruits.

XV. Consider what I say: and the Lord give thee understanding in all things.

XVI. Remember that Jesus Christ, made of the seed of David, was raised again from the dead according to my Gospel, XVII. Wherein I suffer trouble as an evil doer, even unto bonds: but the word of God is not bound.

XVIII. Therefore I suffer all things for the elect's sake, that they might also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus, with eternal glory.

XIX. It is a true saying, For if we be dead together with him: we also shall live together with him.

XX. If we suffer, we shall also reign together with him; 4 if we deny him, he also will deny us.

XXI. As he believe not, yet abideth he faithful: he cannot deny himself.

XXII. Of these things put them in remembrance, and protest before the Lord, that they strive not about words, which is to no profit, but to the perverting of the hearers.

1:13 I He sheweth wherein he ought to be most constant, to wit, both in the doctrine itself, the abridgment whereof is faith and charity, and next in the manner of teaching it, a lively pattern and shape whereof Timothy knew in the Apostle.

1:14 I An amplification, taken of the dignity of so great a benefit committed of the ministers.

2:1 The taking away of an objection. It is a hard thing to do it, but the Spirit of God is mighty, who hath inwardly endued us with his virtue.

2:15 I He preventeth an offense which arose by the means of certain that fell from God and the religion, and uttereth also their names, that they might be known of all men. But he setteth against them the singular faith of one man, that one only good example might remain that fell from God and the religion, and uttereth also their names.

2:2 When many were, by which can bear witness of these things.

2:3 Another admonition. That the ministry of the word is a spiritual warfare, which no man can so travail in, that he may please his captain, unless he forgo and part with all hindrances which might draw him away from it.

2:4 With affairs of household, or other things that belong to other ordinary businesses.

2:5 The third admonition. The ministry is like to a game or justing, wherein men strive for the victory, and no man is crowned unless he strive according to the laws which are prescribed, be they never so hard and painful.

2:6 Another similitude tending to the same end: no man may look for the harvest, unless he first take pains to plow and sow his ground.

2:7 All these things cannot be understood, and much less practiced, unless we ask of God and he gives us understanding.

2:8 He confirmeth plainly two principles of our faith, which are always assaulted of heretics, the one whereof (to wit, that Christ is the true Messiah made man of the seed of David) is the ground of our salvation: and the other is the highest part of it, to wit, that he is risen again from the dead.

2:9 I The taking away of an objection: Truth it is, that he is kept in prison, as an evildoer, yet there is no cause, why therefore some should go about to derogate credit from his Gospel, seeing that notwithstanding God did bless his ministry; nay rather, that example of this his captivity and patience did sundry ways confirm the Church in the hope of a better life.

2:10 The fourth admonition: we ought not to contend upon words and questions, which are not only unprofitable, but also for the most part hurtful: but rather upon this, how we may frame ourselves to all manner of patience, and to die also with Christ (that is to say, for Christ's Name) because that is the plain way to the most glorious life: as contrariwise the falling away of men can diminish no part of the truth of God, although by such means, they procure most certain destruction to themselves.

2:11 If we be afflicted with Christ, and for Christ's sake.

2:14 Call God to witness, or as a Judge: as Moses, Joshua, Samuel, and Paul himself did, Acts 20.
15 Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, dividing the word of truth 2right.

16 Study profane, and vain babblings: for they shall increase unto more ungodliness.

17 And their word shall fret as a canker: of which sort is Hymenaeus and Philetus.

18 Which as concerning the truth have erred from the mark, saying that the resurrection is past already, and do destroy the faith of certain.

19 But the foundation of God remaineth sure, and hath this seal, The Lord knoweth who are his: and, Let everyone that calleth on the Name of Christ, depart from iniquity.

20 Nevertheless in a great house are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth, 2and some for honor, and some unto dishonor.

21 If any man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honor, sanctified, and meet for the Lord, and prepared unto every good work.

22 Flee also from the lusts of youth, and follow after righteousness, faith, love, and 2peace, with them that call on the Lord with pure heart, 23 And put away foolish and unlearned questions, knowing that they engender strife.

24 But the servant of the Lord must not strive, but must be gentle toward all men, apt to teach, 2suffering the evil, 25 Instructing them with meekness that are contrary minded, proving if God at any time will give them repentance, that they may acknowledge the truth.

26 And come to amendment out of that snare of the devil, of whom they are taken prisoners, to do his will.

CHAPTER 3

1 He foretelleth the dangerous times that are to ensue: 9 but with the certain hope of victory. 10 he encourageth him to the combat. 14 setting out especially the trial of sound doctrine.

1 This know also, that in the last days shall come perilous times.

2 For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, cursed speakers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,

3 Without natural affection, truce breakers, false accusers, intemperate, fierce, no lovers at all of them which are good,

4 Traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God,

5 Having a show of godliness, but have denied the power thereof: turn away therefore from such.

6 For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive simple women laden with sins, and led with divers lusts,

7 Which women are ever learning, and are never able to come to the acknowledging of the truth.

8 And as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth, men of corrupt minds, probating concerning the faith.

9 But they shall prevail no longer: for their madness shall be evident unto all men, as theirs also was.
10 ¶ But thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of living, purpose, faith, longsuffering, love, patience, 11 Persecutions, and afflictions which came unto me at Antioch, Iconium, and at Lystra, which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord delivered me.
12 Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus, shall suffer persecution.
13 But the evil men and deceivers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived.
14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned, and which are committed unto thee, knowing of whom thou hast learned them:
15 And that thou hast known the holy Scriptures of a child, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation, through the faith which is in Christ Jesus.
16 For the whole Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable to teach, to convince, to correct, and to instruct in righteousness, 17 That the man of God may be absolute, being made perfect unto all good works.

4:1 He charged him to preach the Gospel with all diligence, 3 in that so miserable a time: 6 that his death is hard at hand. 8 yet so, that as a conqueror he maketh haste to a glorious triumph. 10 He showeth the cause why he sendeth for Timothy, 11 even by reason of his present state.
1 I Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Jesus Christ, which shall judge the quick and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdom,
2 Preach the word: be instant, in season, and out of season: improve, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine.
3 For the time will come when they will not suffer wholesome doctrine: but having their ears itching, shall after their own lusts get them an heap of teachers,
4 And shall turn their ears from the truth, and shall be given unto fables.
5 ¶ But watch thou in all things: suffer adversity: do the work of an Evangelist: cause thy ministry to be thoroughly liked.
6 ¶ For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.
7 I have fought a good fight, and have finished my course: I have kept the faith.
8 For henceforth is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord the righteous Judge shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love that his appearing.
9 ¶ Make speed to come unto me at once:
10 For Demas hath forsaken me, and hath embraced this present world, and is departed unto Thessalonica. Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia.
11 ¶ Only Luke is with me. Take Mark and bring him with thee: for he is profitable unto me to minister.
12 And Tychicus have I sent to Ephesus.
13 The cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the books, but specially the parchments.
14 Alexander the coppersmith hath done me much evil: the Lord reward him according to his works.
15 Of whom be thou ware also: for he withstand our preaching sore.
16 At my first answering no man assisted me, but all forsook me: I pray God, that it may not be laid to their charge.
17 Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened me, that by me the preaching might be fully believed, and that all the Gentiles should

| ¶ The second Epistle written from Rome unto Timothy, the first Bishop elected |
| of the Church of Ephesus, when Paul was presented the second time before the |
| Emperor Nero.                                                                 |

4:17 1 Of Nero. 2 Timothy 1:16. 4:18 1 Preserve me pure from committing anything unworthy my Apostleship. 2 To make me partaker of his kingdom.
1 He showeth what kind of men ought to be chosen for ministers: 10 how vain babblers’ mouths should be stopped: 12 and through this occasion he toucheth the nature of the Cretans. 14 and the Jews, who put boldness in outward things.

1 Paul’s servant of God, and an Apostle of Jesus Christ, according to the faith of God’s elect, and the acknowledging of the truth, which is according unto godliness.

2 Unto the hope of eternal life, which God that cannot lie, hath promised before the world began:

3 But hath made his word manifest in due time through the preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Savior:

4 To Titus my natural son according to the common faith, grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ our Savior:

5 For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest continue to redress the things that remain, and shouldest ordain Elders in every city as I ap-pointed thee.

6 If any be unproveable, the husband of one wife, having faithful children, which are not slandered of riot, neither are disobedient.

7 For a Bishop must be unproveable, as God’s steward, not froward, not angry, not given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre,

8 But harberous, one that loveth goodness, wise, righteous, holy, temperate.

9 Holding fast that faithful word according to doctrine, that he also may be able to exhort with wholesome doctrine, and convince them that say against it.

10 For there are many disobedient and vain talkers and deceivers of minds, chiefly they of the Circumcision, 11 Whose mouths must be stopped, which subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s sake.

12 One of themselves, even one of their own Prophets said, The Cretans are always liars, evil beasts, slow bellies.

1:1 1 He voucheth his Apostleship, (not for Titus, but for the Cretans’ sake) both by the testimony of his outward calling, and by his consent wherein he agreeeth with all the elect from the beginning of the world.
2 Minister, as Christ himself, in that he was a minister and head of the Prophets, is called a servant, Isa. 43:10.
3 Of those whom God hath chosen.
4 The faith wherein all the elect consent, is the true and sincere knowledge of God, tending to this end, that worshipping God aright according to his eternal purpose.
1:2 1 Hope is the end of faith.
2 Freely, and of his mere liberalitie.
1:3 1 This truth is no other where to be sought, but in the preaching of the Apostle.
2 This word (Savior) doth not only signify a preserver of life, but also a giver of life.
1:4 1 The Apostle moveth the Cretans to hear Titus, by setting forth his consent and agreement with him in the faith, and therewithal sheweth by what special note we may distinguish true ministers from false.
2 There is but one way of salvation, common both to the Pastor and the flock.

1:5 1 The first admonition, to ordain Elders in every city.
1:6 1 This word is proper to horses and oxen, which will not abide the yoke.
1:7 1 The second admonition, what faults pastors (whom he comprehended afore under the word Elders) ought to be void of, and what virtues they ought to have.
2 Whom the Lord hath appointed steward of his gifts.
3 Not hard conditioned, and evil to please.
1:8 1 Circumspect, of a sound judgment, and of a singular example of moderation.
1:9 1 The third admonition: The Pastor must hold fast that doctrine, which the Apostles delivered, and pertaineth to salvation, leaving all curious and vain matters.
2 The fourth admonition: To apply the knowledge of true doctrine unto use, which consisteth in two things, to wit, in governing them which show themselves apt to learn, and confuting the obstinate.
1:10 1 An applying of the general proposition to a particular: The Cretans above all others need sharp reprehensions: both because their minds are naturally given to lies and slothfulness, and also because of certain covetous Jews, which under a color of godliness joined partly certain vain traditions, and partly old ceremonies with the Gospel.
2 Of the Jews, or rather of those Jews, which went about to joyn Christ and the Law together.
1:12 1 Epimenides, who was counted a Prophet amongst them.

Look upon Laertius and Cicero in his first book of Divination.
13 This witness is true: wherefore convince them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith.
14 And not taking heed to Jewish fables and commandments of men, that turn away from the truth.
15 Unto the pure are all things pure, but unto them that are defiled, and unbelieving, is nothing pure, but even their minds and consciences are defiled.
16 They profess that they know God, but by works they deny him, and are abominable and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate.

2 He setteth out the duties of sundry persons and states, and willeth him to instruct the Church in manners. He draweth an argument from the end of our redemption, 12 which is, that we live godly and uprightly.

1 But speak thou the things which become wholesome doctrine,
2 That the elder men be watchful, grave, temperate, sound in the faith, in love, and in patience:
3 The elder women likewise, that they be in such behavior as becometh holiness, not false accusers, nor subject to much wine, but teachers of honest things.
4 That they may instruct the young women to be sober minded, that they love their husbands, that they love their children,
5 That they be temperate, chaste, keeping at home, good and subject unto their husbands, that the word of God be not evil spoken of.
6 Exhort young men likewise, that they be sober minded.
7 In all things show thyself an example of good works with uncorrupt doctrine, with gravity, integrity,

8 And with the wholesome word, which cannot be condemned, that he which withstandeth, may be ashamed, having nothing concerning you to speak evil of.
9 Let servants be subject to their masters, and please them in all things, not answering again,
10 Neither pickers, but that they show all good faithfulness, that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things.
11 For that grace of God, that bringeth salvation unto all men, hath appeared,
12 And teacheth us, that we should deny ungodliness and worldly lusts, and that we should live soberly and righteously, and godly in this present world,
13 Looking for that blessed hope, and appearing of that glory of that mighty God, and of our Savior Jesus Christ.
14 Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purge us to be peculiar people unto himself, zealous of good works.
15 These things speak, and exhort, and convince with all authority. See that no man despise thee.

3 He willeth that all generally be put in mind to reverence such as be in authority: That they remember their former life, and attribute all justification unto grace. And if any braggart withstand these things, he willeth that he be rejected.

1 Put them in remembrance that they be subject to the principalities and powers, and that they be obedient, ready to every good work.
2 That they speak evil of no man, that they be no fighters, but soft, showing all meekness unto all men.
3 For we ourselves also were in times past unwise, disobedient, deceived, serving the lusts and divers pleasures, living in maliciousness and envy, hateful, and hating one another.

4 But when that bountifulness and that love of God our Savior toward man appeared,

5 Not by the works of righteousness, which we had done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of the new birth, and the renewing of the holy Ghost,

6 Which he shed on us abundantly, through Jesus Christ our Savior,

7 That we, being justified by his grace, should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life.

8 This is a true saying, and these things I will thou shouldest affirm, that they which have believed God, might be careful to show forth good works. These things are good and profitable unto men.

9 But stay foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and brawlings about the Law: for they are unprofitable and vain.

10 Rejeg him that is an heretic, after once or twice admonition, 11 Knowing that he that is such, is perverted, and sinneth, being damned of his own self.

12 When I shall send Artemas unto thee, or Tychicus, be diligent to come to me unto Nicopolis: for I have determined there to winter.

13 Bring Zenas the expounder of the Law, and Apollos on their journey diligently, that they lack nothing.

14 And let ours also learn to show forth good works for necessary uses, that they be not unfruitful.

15 All that are with me, salute thee. Greet them that love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

¶ To Titus, elect the first Bishop of the Church of the Cretans, written from Nicopolis in Macedonia.

3:5 1 Word for word, of works which are done in righteousness: and this place doth fully refute the doctrine of merits.
2 Which the virtue of the holy Ghost worketh.
3:8 1 Again with great earnestness he beateth into our heads, how that we ought to give ourselves, to true godliness, and eschew all vain questions, which serve to nothing but to move strife and debate.

2 Give themselves earnestly unto good works.
3:10 1 The ministers of the word must at once cast off heretics, that is, such as stubbornly and seditiously disquiet the Church, and will give no ear to Ecclesiastical admonitions.
3:12 1 Last of all, he writeth a word or two of private matters and commendeth certain men.
THE EPISTLE OF
PAUL TO PHILEMON

1 Paul handling a base and small matter, yet according to his manner mounteth aloft unto God. 8 Sending again to Philemon his vagabond and thievish servant, he entreateth pardon for him, and very gravely preacheth of Christian equity.

1 Paul a prisoner of Jesus Christ, and our brother Timothy, unto Philemon our dear friend, and fellow helper,
2 And to our dear sister Apphia, and to Archipus our fellow soldier, and to the Church that is in thine house:
3 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.
4 I give thanks to my God, making mention always of thee in my prayers,
5 (When I hear of thy love and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus, and toward all Saints.)
6 That the fellowship of thy faith may be made effectual, and that whatsoever good thing is in you through Christ Jesus, may be known.
7 For we have great joy and consolation in thy love, because by thee, brother, the Saints bowels are comforted.
8 Wherefore, though I be very bold in Christ to command thee that which is convenient,
9 Yet for love's sake I rather beseech thee, though I be as I am, even Paul aged, and even now a prisoner for Jesus Christ.
10 I beseech thee for my son Onesimus, whom I have begotten in my bonds, 11 Which in times past was to thee unprofitable, but now profitable both to thee and to me.
12 Whom I have sent again: thou therefore receive him, that is mine own bowels, 13 Whom I would have received with me, that in thy stead he might have ministered unto me in the bonds of the Gospel.

14 But without thy mind would I do nothing, that thy benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly.
15 It may be that he therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldst receive him forever,
16 Not now as a servant, but above a servant, even as a brother beloved, specially to me: how much more then unto thee, both in the flesh and in the Lord?
17 If therefore thou count our things common, receive him as myself.
18 If he hath hurt thee, or oweth thee ought, that put on my accounts.
19 I Paul have written this with mine own hand: I will recompense it, albeit I do not say to thee, that thou owest moreover unto me even thine own self.
20 Yea, brother, let me obtain this pleasure of thee in the Lord: comfort my bowels in the Lord.
21 Trusting in thine obedience, I wrote unto thee knowing that thou wilt do even more than I say, 22 Moreover also prepare me lodging: for I trust through your prayers I shall be freely given unto you.
23 There salute thee Epaphras my fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus, 25 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, Amen.

¶ Written from Rome to Philemon, and sent by Onesimus a servant.

1:6 1 By fellowship of faith, he meaneth those duties of charity which are bestowed upon the Saints, and flow forth of an effectual faith.
2 That by this means all men may perceive how rich you are in Christ, to wit, in faith, charity, and all bountifulness.
1:7 1 Because thou diest so dutifully and cheerfully refresh the Saints, that they conceived inwardly a marvelous joy; for by this word (Bowels) is meant not only the inward feeling of wants and miseries that men have one of another's state, but also that joy and comfort which entreeth into the very bowels, as though the heart were refreshed and comforted.
1:9 1 An example of a Christian exercise and commendation for another man.
1:12 1 As mine own son, and as if I had begotten him of mine own body.
1:14 1 That thou mightest not seem to have lent me thy servant upon constraint, but willingly.
1:15 1 Thus he assuageth the harder kind of speech, which is to say, he ran away.
1:16 1 For a little time.
1:16 1 Because he is thy servant, as other servants are, and because he is the Lord's servant, so that thou must needs love him both for the Lord's sake, and for thine own sake.
1:20 1 Good brother let me obtain this benefit at thine hand.
THE EPISTLE TO THE

HEBREWS

Chapter 1

1:1 1 The first part of the general proposition of this Epistle: the Son of God is indeed that Prophet or teacher, which hath actually now performed that that God after a sort and in shadows signified by his Prophets, and hath fully opened his Father’s will to the world.

2 So that the former declaration made by the Prophets was not full, and nothing must be added to this latter.

1:2 1 The second part of the same proposition: The same Son is appointed by the Father to be our King and Lord, by whom also he made all things, and in whom only he seteth forth his glory, yea and himself also to be beholden of us, who beareth up and sustaineth all things by his will and pleasure.

2 Possessor and equal companion of all things with the Father.

1:3 1 He in whom that glory and Majesty of the Father shineth, who is otherwise infinite, and cannot be beheld.

2 His father’s person.

3 Sustainer, defendeth and cherisheth.

4 The third part of the same proposition. The same Son executed the office of the high Priest in offering up himself, and is our only and most mighty Mediator in heaven.

5 This showeth that the savor of that his sacrifice is not only most acceptable to the Father, but also is everlasting, and furthermore how far this high Priest passeth all the other high Priests.

1:4 1 Before he cometh to declare the office of Christ, he setteth forth the excellency of his person, and first of all he showeth him so upon him without measure.

2 Dignity and honor.

1:5 1 He proveth and confirmeth the dignity of Christ manifested in the flesh by these six evident testimonies, whereby it appeareth that he far passeth all Angels, insomuch that he is called both Son, and the brightness of the glory, and the engraved form of his 2person, and 3bearing up all things by his mighty word: 4hath by himself purged our sins; and 5sitteth at the right hand of the Majesty in the highest places.

1:6 1 And is made so much more excellent than the Angels, inasmuch as he hath obtained a more excellent 2Name than they.

5 For unto which of the Angels said he at any time, 6Thou art my Son, this day begat I thee? and again, I will be his Father, and he shall be my Son:

6 And again, when he bringeth in his first begotten Son into the world, he saith, 7And let all the Angels of God worship him.

7 And of the Angels he saith, He maketh the spirits his messengers, and his ministers a flame of fire.

8 But unto the Son he saith, O God, thy 3throne is forever and ever: the scepter of thy kingdom is a scepter of righteousness.

9 Thou hast loved righteousness and hated iniquity, Wherefore God, even thy God, hath 3anointed thee with the oil of gladness, above thy fellows.

10 And, Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast established the earth, and the heavens are the works of thine hands.

11 They shall perish, but thou dost remain, and they all shall wax old as doth a garment.

12 And as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail.

13 Unto which also of the Angels said he at any time, 14Before he cometh to declare the office of Christ, he setteth forth the excellency of his person, and first of all he showeth him so to be man, that therewithal he is God also.

1:7 1 Cherub, Ps 18:11.

1:8 1 The throne is proper to the Prince, and not to the servant.

2 For everlasting, for this doubling of the word increaseth the signification of it beyond all measure.

1:9 1 This kind of rehearsing in which the Jews use contraries, hath great force in it.

1:10 1 Madest the earth firm and sure.

1:11 1 Possessor and equal companion of all things with the Father.

1:12 1 That is, whatsoever hath been at any time, is, or shall be.

1:13 1 The government of thy kingdom is righteous.

1:14 1 In that, that the word became flesh, by pouring the holy Ghost upon him without measure.

1:15 1 For he is the head and we are his members.

1:16 1 He proveth and confirmeth the dignity of Christ manifested in the flesh by these six evident testimonies, whereby it appeareth that he far passeth all Angels, insomuch that he is called both Son, and God, in verses 5, 6, 7, 10, 13.

1:17 1 He begat the Son from everlasting, but that everlasting generation was made manifest and represented to the world in his time, and therefore he addeth this word (Today.)

1:18 1 The Father begat the Son from everlasting, but that everlasting generation was made manifest and represented to the world in his time, and therefore he addeth this word (Today.)

1:19 1 The throne is proper to the Prince, and not to the servant.

2 For everlasting, for this doubling of the word increaseth the signification of it beyond all measure.

3 The government of thy kingdom is righteous.

1:20 1 This kind of rehearsing in which the Jews use contraries, hath great force in it.

1:21 1 In that, that the word became flesh, by pouring the holy Ghost upon him without measure.

1:22 1 For he is the head and we are his members.

1:23 1 Madest the earth firm and sure.
HEBREWS 1:14

Chapter 2

2:1 1 Thereof he inferreth, that good head must be given to Christ's doctrine: 9 And he setteth him out unto us even as our brother in our flesh, that we may with a good will yield up ourselves wholly unto him.

2 1 Wherefore we ought diligently to give heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we run out.

2 For if the word spoken by Angels was steadfast, and every transgression, and disobedience received a just recompense of reward,

3 How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation, 1 which at the first began to be preached by the Lord, and afterward was confirmed unto us by them that heard him.

4 “God bearing witness thereto, both with signs and wonders, and with divers miracles, and gifts of the holy Ghost, according to his own will? 5 For he hath not put in subjection unto the Angels the world to come, whereof we speak.

6 1 But one in a certain place witnessed, saying, 2 What is man, that thou shouldest be mindful of him? or the son of man, that thou wouldest consider him?

7 Thou madest him a little inferior to the Angels: thou crownest him with glory and honor, and hast set him above the works of thine hands.

8 Thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet. And in that he hath put all things in subjection under him, he left nothing that should not be subject unto him. 1 But we yet see not all things subdued unto him, 9 1 But we see Jesus crowned with glory and honor, 2 which was made little inferior to the Angels, 3 through the suffering of death, that by God's grace he might taste death for all men.

10 For it became him, for whom are all these things, and by whom are all these things, 2 seeing that he brought many children unto glory, 3 that they are next [to] the Angels.

1:14 1 By that name by which we commonly call Princes' messengers, he here calleth the spirits.

2:1 1 Now as it were pausing with himself and showing to what end and purpose all these things were spoken, to wit, to understand by the excellency of Christ above all creatures, that his doctrine, majesty and Priesthood is most perfect, he useth an exhortation taken from a comparison. 2 He maketh himself an hearer.

3 They are said to let the word run out, which hold it not fast when they have heard it.

2:2 1 The Law which appointed punishment for the offenders: and which Paul saith was given by Angels, Gal. 3:19, and Stephen, Acts 7:53.

2:3 1 If the breach and transgression of the word spoken by Angels was not suffered unpunished, much less shall it be lawful for us to neglect the Gospel which the Lord of Angels preached, and was confirmed by the voice of the Apostles, and with so many signs and wonders from heaven, and especially, and with so great and mighty working of the holy Ghost.

2 By the Apostles.

2:4 1 This is the true end of miracles. Now they are called signs, because they appear one thing, and represent another; and they are called wonders, because they represent some strange and unaccustomed things and virtues, because they give us a glimpse of God's mighty power. 2 This is the true end of miracles. Now they are called signs, because they appear one thing, and represent another: and they are called wonders, because they represent some strange and unaccustomed things and virtues, because they give us a glimpse of God's mighty power.

2:5 1 If it were an heinous matter to contemn the Angels which are but servants, much more heinous is it to condemn that most mighty King of the restored world. 2 The world to come, whereof Christ is Father, Isa. 9:6, or the Church, which as a new world, was to be gathered together by the Gospel.

2:6 1 He showeth that the use of this kingly dignity consisteth herein, that men might not only [in] Christ recover that dignity which they have lost, but also might be through him advanced above all things, which dignity of men David describeth most excellently.

2 What is there in man that thou shouldest have so great regard of him, and do him that honor?

3 For he calleth all the citizens of that heavenly kingdom as they are considered in themselves, before that God giveth them the liberty, of that city in Christ, Man, and Son of man.

2:7 1 This is the first honor of the citizens of the world to come, that he should consecrate the 3Prince of their salvation through afflictions.

11 1For he that 2sanctifieth, and they which are sanctified, are all of 3one: wherefore he is not ashamed to call them brethren.

12 1Saying, I will declare thy Name unto my brethren: in the midst of the Church will I sing praises to thee.

13 1And again, I will put my 2trust in him. And again, 3Behold, here am I, and the children which God hath given me.

14 Forasmuch then as the children are 3partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part with them, that he might destroy 1through death, him that had the 4power of death, that is, the 5devil.

15 And that he might deliver all them, which for fear of 1death were all their lifetime subject to bondage.

16 1For he in no sort took on him the 3Angels' nature, but he took on him the 3seed of Abraham.

17 1Wherefore in 3all things he behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be 3merciful, and a 4faithful high Priest in things concerning God, that he might make reconciliation for the sins of the people.

18 For in that he suffered, and was 3tempted, he is able to succor them that are tempted.

** Chapter 3

1 Now he showeth how far inferior Moses is to Christ, 5, 6 even so much as the servant to the Master: and so he bringeth in certain exhortations and threatenings taken out of David, 8 against such as either stubbornly resist, 12 or else are very slow to obey.

1 Therefore, 1holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly vocation, consider the 2Apostle and high Priest of our 3profession Christ Jesus:

2 1Who was faithful to him that hath 2appointed him, 3even as Moses was in all his house.

3 1For this man is counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as he which hath builded the house, hath more honor than the house.

4 For every house is builded of some man, and he that hath built all things, is God.

5 The Chieftain, who as he is chiefest in dignity, so is he the first begotten from among the dead, amongst many brethren.

2:11 1The ground of both the former arguments: for neither should we be sons through him, neither could he be consecrated through afflictions, unless he hath been made man like unto us. But because this Sonhood dependeth not upon nature only, for no man is begotten from among the dead, amongst many brethren.

2:12 1That which he taught before of the incarnation of the sanctifier, he applieth to the prophethal office.

2:13 1He applieth the same to the kingly power of Christ in delivering his from the power of the devil and death.

2 2I will commit myself to him, and to his defense.

2:14 1This Isaiah speaketh of himself and his disciples, but betokening thereby all ministers, as also his disciples signify the whole Church. And therefore seeing Christ is the head of the Prophets and ministers, these words are more rightly verified of him, than of Isaiah.

2:15 1The devil is said to have the power of death, because he is the author of sin: and from sin cometh death, and for this cause he eggeth us daily to sin.

2 3He speaketh of one as of the Prince, joining to him secretly all his angels.

2:16 1By (death) thou must understand here that death which is joined with the wrath of God, as it must needs be, if it be without Christ, then there can be nothing devised more miserable.

2:17 1He expoundeth those words of flesh and blood, showing that Christ is true man, and not by turning his divine nature, but by taking on man's nature. And he nameth Abraham, respecting the promises made to Abraham in this behalf.

2:18 1Was tried and egged to wickedness by the devil.

3:1 1Having laid the foundation, that is to say, declared and proved both the natures of one selfsame Christ, he giveth him three offices, to wit, the office of a Prophet, king, and Priest: and as touching the office of teaching and governing, compareth them with Moses and Joshua, unto verse 14 of the next Chapter, and with Aaron touching the Priesthood. And he propoundeth that which he purposeth to speak of, with a most grave exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Christ, as to the only everlasting teacher, governor, and high Priest.

3 2The nature of Angels.

3 3The very nature of man.

3:17 1He applieth the same to the Priesthood, for which he should not have benefit, unless he had become man, and that like unto us in all things, sin only except.

2Not only as touching nature, but qualities also.

3That he might be truly touched with the feeling of our miseries.

4Doing his office sincerely.

3:18 1I was tried and egged to wickedness by the devil.

3:1 1Having laid the foundation, that is to say, declared and proved both the natures of one selfsame Christ, he giveth him three offices, to wit, the office of a Prophet, king, and Priest: and as touching the office of teaching and governing, compareth them with Moses and Joshua, unto verse 14 of the next Chapter, and with Aaron touching the Priesthood. And he propoundeth that which he purposeth to speak of, with a most grave exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Christ, as to the only everlasting teacher, governor, and high Priest.

2The Ambassador or messenger, as Rom. 1:5, he is called the minister of circumcision.

3 2Of the doctrine of the Gospel which we profess.

3:2 He confirmeth this exhortation with two reasons, first of all because Christ Jesus was appointed such an one of God: secondly, because he thoroughly executed the offices that his Father enjoined him.

3:3 1Apostle and high Priest.

3:4 1Now he cometh to the comparison with Moses, and he maketh them like one to the other in this, that they were both appointed rulers over God's house, and executed faithfully their office: but by and by after he showeth that there is great unlikeness in that similitude.

3:3 1The first comparison: The builder of the house is better than the house itself, therefore is Christ better than Moses. The reason of the consequent is this: because the builder of this house is God, which cannot be attributed to Moses: and therefore Moses was not properly the builder, but a part of the house: but Christ as Lord and God, made all this house.
5 Now Moses verily was faithful in all his house, as a servant, for a witness of the things which should be spoken after.

6 But Christ is as the Son, over his own house, whose house we are, if we hold fast that confidence and that rejoicing of that hope unto the end.

7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghost saith, Today if ye shall hear his voice, 8 Harden not your hearts, as in the provocation, according to the day of the temptation in the wilderness, 9 Where your fathers tempted me, proved me, and saw my works forty years long.

10 Wherefore I was grieved with that generation, and said, They err ever in their heart, neither have they known my ways.

11 Therefore I swear in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest.

12 Take heed brethren, lest at any time there be in any of you an evil heart, and unfaithful, to depart away from the living God.

13 But exhort one another daily, while it is called Today, lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin.

14 For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keep sure unto the end that beginning, wherewith we are uphelden, 15 So long as it is said, Today if ye hear his voice, harden not your hearts, as in your provocation.

16 For some when they heard, provoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by the words of David to hear the Son himself speak, and to give full credit to his words, seeing that otherwise they cannot enter into that eternal rest.

17 But with whom was he displeased forty years? Was he not displeased with them that sinned, whose carcasses fell in the wilderness?

18 And to whom swear he that they should not enter into his rest, but unto them that obeyed not?

19 So we see that they could not enter in, because of unbelief.

4 I He joineth exhortation with threatening, lest they, even as their fathers were be deprived of the rest offered unto them, 11 but that they endeavor to enter into it. 14 And so he beginneth to entreat of Christ's Priesthood.

1 Let us fear therefore, lest at any time by forsaking the promise of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to be deprived.

2 For unto us was the Gospel preached as also unto them: but the word that they heard, profiteth not them, because it was not mixed with faith in those that heard it.

3 For we which have believed, do enter into rest, as he said to the other, As I have sworn in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For he spake in a certain place of the seventh day on this wise, And God did rest the seventh day from all his works.

5 And in this place again, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter thereinto, and they to whom it was first preached, entered not therein for unbelief's sake:

7 Again he appointed in David a certain day, by

3:5 1 Another comparison: Moses was a faithful servant in this house, that is, in the Church, seeing the Lord that was to come, but Christ ruleth and governeth his house as Lord.

3:6 1 He applieth the former doctrine to this end, exhorting all men by the words of David to hear the Son himself speak, and to give full credit to his words, seeing that otherwise they cannot enter into that eternal rest.

3:7 2 To wit, Christ's.

3:8 1 He calleth that excellent effect of faith (whereby we cry, Abba, that is, Father) confidence, and to confidence he joineth hope.

3:7 2 So that God was to speak once again after Moses.

3:8 1 In the day that they vexed the Lord, or strove with him.

3:10 1 They are brutish and mad.

3:12 1 Now weighing the words of David, he showeth first by this word, Today that we must not neglect the occasion while we have it: for that word is not to be restrained to David's time, but it comprehendeth all the time wherein God calleth us.

3:13 1 While today lasteth, that is to say, so long as the Gospel is offered to us.

3:14 1 Now he considereth these words, If you hear his voice, etc., showing that they are spoken and meant of the hearing of faith, against which he setteth hardening through unbelief.

3:15 1 So long as this voice soundeth out.

4:3 2 He comparedeth the preaching of the Gospel to drink, which being drunk, that is to say, heard, profiteth nothing, unless it be tempered with faith.

4:3 1 Lest any man should object, that those words were meant of the Land of Canaan, and of Moses' doctrine, and therefore cannot well be drawn to Christ, and to eternal life, the Apostle showeth that there are two manner of rests spoken of in the Scriptures: the one, of the seventh day, wherein God is said to have rested from all his works: the other is said to be that same, whereinto Joshua led the people: but this rest is not the last rest whereto we are called and that he proveth by two reasons. For seeing that David so long time after, speaking to the people which were then placed in the land of Canaan, useth these words, Today, and threateneth them still that they shall not enter into the rest of God, which refuseth then the voice of God that sounded in their ears, we must needs say that he meant another time.

4:3 3 Lest the way to this rest, which Moses and the land of Canaan and all that order of the Law did shadow, is opened in the Gospel only.
Today, after so long a time, saying, as it is said, ‘This day, if ye hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

8 For if ‘Jesus had given them rest, then would he not after this have spoken of another day.

9 There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.

10 ‘For he that is entered into his rest, hath also cleared from his own works, as God did from his.

11 ‘Let us study therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of disobedience.

12 ‘For the word of God is lively, and mighty in operation, and sharper than any two edged sword, and entereth through, even unto the dividing asunder of the soul and the spirit, and of the joints, and the marrow, and is a discernor of the thoughts, and the intent of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature, which is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked and open unto his eyes, with whom we have to do.

14 ‘Seeing that we have a great high Priest, which is entered into heaven, even Jesus the Son of God, let us ‘hold fast our profession.

15 ‘For we have not an high Priest, which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like sort, yet without sin.

16 Let us therefore go boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may receive mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.

5 1 First he sheweth the duty of the high Priest: 5 Secondly, that Christ is appointed of God to be our high Priest. 7 and that he hath fulfilled all things belonging thereto.

1 For ‘every high Priest is taken from among men, and is ordained for men, in things pertaining to God, ‘that he may offer both ‘gifts and ‘sacrifices for sins.

2 Which is ‘able sufficiently to have compassion
‘on them that are ignorant, and that are out of the way, because that he also is ‘compassed with infirmity.

3 And for the same sake he is bound to offer for sins, as well for his own part, as for the peoples.

4 ‘As and no man taketh this honor unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5 So likewise Christ took not to himself this honor to be made the high Priest, but that he said unto him, ‘Thou art my son, this day begat I thee, gave it him.

6 As he also in another place speaketh, ‘Thou art
a Priest forever, after the ‘order of Melchizedek.

7 ‘Who in the ‘days of his flesh did offer up prayers and supplications, with strong crying and tears unto him, that was able to ‘save him from death, and was also heard in that which he feared.

8 And though he were the Son, yet ‘learned he

4:8 1 He speaketh of Joshua the son of Nun: and as the land of Canaan was a figure of our true rest, so was Joshua a figure of Christ.
4:10 1 As God rested the seventh day, so must we rest from our works, that is, from such as proceed from our corrupt nature.
4:11 1 He returneth to an exhortation.
2 Lest any man become a like example of infidelity.
4:12 1 An amplification taken from the nature of the word of God, the power whereof is such, that it entereth even to the deepest and most inward and secret parts of the heart, wounding them deadly that are stubborn, and plainly quickening the believers.
2 The doctrine of God which is preached both in the Law and in the Gospel.
3 He calleth the word of God lively by reason of the effects it worketh in them, to whom it is preached.
4 He calleth that the soul, which hath the affections resident in it.
5 By the spirit he meaneth that noblest part which is called the mind.
4:13 1 In God’s sight.
4:14 1 Now he entereth into the comparison of Christ’s Priesthood with Aaron’s, and declareth even in the very beginning the marvelous excellency of this Priesthood, calling him the Son of God and placing him in the seat of God in heaven, plainly and evidently setting him against Aaron’s Priests, and the transitory tabernacle: which comparisons he setteth forth afterward more at large.
2 And let it not go out of your hands.
4:15 1 Lest he might seem by this great glory of our high Priest, to stay and stop us from going unto him, he addeth straightways after, that he is notwithstanding our brother indeed, (as he proved it also before) and that he counteth all our miseries, as his own, to call us boldly to him.

5:1 1 The first part of the comparison of Christ’s high Priesthood, with Aaron’s: Other high Priests are taken from among men, and are called after the order of men.
2 The first part of the second comparison, Others as weak: are made high Priests, to the end that feeling the same infirmity in themselves which is in all the rest of the people, they should in their own and the people’s name offer gifts and sacrifices, which are witnesses of common faith, and repentance.
3 Offering of things without life.
4 Beast which were killed, but especially in the sacrifices for sins and offenses.
5:2 1 Fit and meet.
2 On them that are sinful: for in the Hebrew tongue, under ignorance and error is every sin meant, even that sin that is voluntary.
3 For that he himself beareth about with him a nature subject to the same discommodities and vices.
5:4 1 The third comparison which is whole: The others are called of God, and so was Christ, but in another order than Aaron: for Christ is called the Son, begotten of God, and a Priest forever after the order of Melchizedek.
5:5 1 After the likeness or manner as it is afterward declared, Heb.
7:15.
5:7 1 The other part of the second comparison: Christ being exceedingly afflicted and exceedingly merciful, asked not for his sins, for he had none, but for his fear, and obtained his request, and offered himself for all his.
2 While he lived here with us in our weak and frail nature.
3 To deliver him from death.
5:8 1 He learned indeed what it is to have a Father, whom a man must obey.
obedience, by the things which he suffered.

9 1 And being consecrated, was made the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him:

10 And is called of God an high Priest after the order of Melchizedek.

11 1 Of whom we have many things to say, which are hard to be uttered, because ye are dull of hearing.

12 1 For when as concerning the time ye ought to be teachers, yet have ye need again that we teach you what are the first principles of the word of God: and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat.

13 For everyone that useth milk, is inexpert in the word of righteousness: for he is a babe.

14 But strong meat belongeth to them that are of age, which through long custom have their wits exercised, to discern both good and evil.

6 1 He briefly toucheth the childish slothfulness of the Hebrews, 4 and terrifieth them with severe threatenings: 7 He stirreth them up to endeavor in time to go forward: 9 He hopeth well of them: 13 He allegeth Abraham's example: 17 and compareth faith that taketh hold on the word, 19 unto an anchor.

1 Therefore, leaving the doctrine of the beginning of Christ, let us be led forward unto perfection, 2 not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God,

2 Of the doctrine of baptisms, and laying on of hands, and of the resurrection from the dead, and of eternal judgment.

3 And this will we do if God permit.
enjoyed the promise.

16 For men verily swear by him that is greater than themselves, and an oath for confirmation is among them an end of strife.

17 So God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the stableness of his counsel, bound himself by an oath,

18 That by two immutable things, wherein it is impossible that God should lie, we might have strong consolation, which have our refuge to lay hold upon that hope that is set before us, 19 Which hope we have, as an anchor of the soul, but sure and steadfast, and it entereth into that which is within the veil.

20 Whither the forerunner is for us entered in, even Jesus that is made an high Priest forever after the order of Melchizedek.

6:17 1 More than was needful, were it not for the wickedness of men which believe not God, no though he swear.

6:19 1 He liketh hope to an anchor: because that even as an anchor being cast into the bottom of the sea, stayeth the whole ship, so doth hope also enter even into the very secret places of heaven. And he maketh mention of the Sanctuary, alluding to the old tabernacle, and by this means returneth to the comparisons of the Priesthood of Christ with the Levitical.

6:20 1 He repeateth David’s words, wherein all these comparisons whereby he hath before made mention, are signified, as he declareth in all the next chapter.

7:1 1 Declaring those words, According to the order of Melchizedek, whereupon that comparison standeth of the Priesthood of Christ with the Levitical: first Melchizedek himself is considered as the figure of Christ, and these are the hands of that comparison, Melchizedek was a king and a priest: and such an one indeed is Christ alone. He was a King of peace and righteousness: after that, he is also King of Salem, that is, King of peace, and an everlasting Priest.

2 For this Melchizedek was King of Salem, the Priest of the most high God, who met Abraham, as he returned from the slaughter of the Kings, and blessed him:

3 To whom also Abraham gave the tithe of all things: who first is by interpretation King of righteousness: after that, he is also King of Salem, that is, King of peace, and an everlasting Priest.

7:5 1 Whither the forerunner is for us entered in, even Jesus that is made an high Priest forever after the order of Melchizedek.

7:7 1 Without father, without mother, without kindred, and hath neither beginning of his days, neither end of life: but is likened unto the Son of God, and continueth a Priest forever.

4 1Now consider how great this man was, unto whom even the Patriarch Abraham gave the tithe of the spoils.

5 For verily they which are the children of Levi, which receive the office of the Priesthood, have a commandment to take, according to the Law, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they came out of the loins of Abraham.

6 But he whose kindred is not counted among them, received tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.

7 And without all contradiction the less is blessed of the greater.

8 And here men that die, receive tithes: but there he received them, of whom it is witnessed, that he liveth.

9 1And to say as the thing is, Levi also which receiveth tithes, payeth tithes in Abraham.

10 For he was yet in the loins of his father Abraham, when Melchizedek met him.

11 1If therefore perfection had been by the Priesthood of the Levites (for under it the Law was established to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Priest should rise after the order of Melchizedek, and not to be called after the order of Aaron?

12 1For if the Priesthood be changed, then of necessity must there be a change of the Law.

3 1Without father, without mother, without kindred, and hath neither beginning of his days, neither end of life: but is likened unto the Son of God, and continueth a Priest forever.

4 1Now consider how great this man was, unto whom even the Patriarch Abraham gave the tithe of the spoils.

5 For verily they which are the children of Levi, which receive the office of the Priesthood, have a commandment to take, according to the Law, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they came out of the loins of Abraham.

6 But he whose kindred is not counted among them, received tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.

7 And without all contradiction the less is blessed of the greater.

8 And here men that die, receive tithes: but there he received them, of whom it is witnessed, that he liveth.

9 1And to say as the thing is, Levi also which receiveth tithes, payeth tithes in Abraham.

10 For he was yet in the loins of his father Abraham, when Melchizedek met him.

11 1If therefore perfection had been by the Priesthood of the Levites (for under it the Law was established to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Priest should rise after the order of Melchizedek, and not to be called after the order of Aaron?

12 1For if the Priesthood be changed, then of necessity must there be a change of the Law.
13 For he of whom these things are spoken, pertaineth unto another tribe, whereof no man served at the altar.

14 For it is evident, that our Lord sprang out of Judah, concerning which tribe Moses spake nothing, touching the Priesthood.

15 And it is yet a more evident thing, because that after the similitude of Melchizedek, there is risen up another Priest, 16 Which is not made Priest after the Law of the carnal commandment, but after the power of the endless life.

17 For he testifieth thus, Thou art a Priest forever, after the order of Melchizedek.

18 For the commandment that went afore, is dissanualled, because of the weakness thereof, and unprofitableness.

19 For the Law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfect, whereby we draw near unto God.

20 And forasmuch as it is not without an oath (for these are made Priests without an oath:

21 But this is made with an oath by him that said unto him, The Lord hath sworn, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest forever, after the order of Melchizedek.)

22 By so much is Jesus made a surety of a better Testament.

23 And among them many were made Priests, because they were not suffered to endure, by the reason of death.

24 But this man, because he endureth ever, hath a Priesthood, which cannot pass from one to another.

25 Wherefore, he is able also perfectly to save them that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth, to make intercession for them.

26 For such an high Priest it became us to have, which is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens:

27 Which needeth not daily as those high Priests to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the peoples: for that did he once, when he offered up himself.

28 For the Law maketh men high Priests, which have infirmity: but the word of the oath that was since the Law, maketh the Son, who is consecrated for evermore.

8 1 To prove more certainly that the ceremonies of the Law are abrogated, 5 he sheweth that they were appointed to serve the heavenly pattern. 8 He bringeth in the place of Jeremiah, 13 to prove the amendment of the old covenant.

1 Now of the things which we have spoken, this is the sum, that we have such an high Priest, that sitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heavens,

2 And is a minister of the Sanctuary, and of the ceremonial, and perfect pureness, which may separate him from sinners, for whom he offereth. But the Levitical high Priests shall not be found to be such, for they offer first for their own sins: But Christ only is such a one; and therefore the true and only high Priest.

27 Another argument which notwithstanding he handleth afterward: The Levitical Priests offered sacrifice after sacrifice, first for themselves, and then for the people. But Christ offered not for himself, but for others, not sacrifices, but himself, not oftentimes, but once. And this ought not to seem strange; saith he, forsomuch as they are weak, but this man is consecrated an everlasting Priest, and that by an oath.

2 That sacrifice which he offered.

2 It was so done, that it needeth not be repeated or offered again anymore.

28 The commandment of God which was bound with an oath.

4 Another argument taken of the time: former things are taken away by the latter.

8:1 Exhibited.

8:1 He briefly repeateth that, whereunto all these things are to be referred, to wit, we have a far other high Priest than those Levitical high Priests are, even such an one as sitteth at the right hand of the most high God in heaven.

8:2 They of Levi were high Priests in an earthly sanctuary, but Christ is in the heavenly.

8:2 Of heaven.

8:3 They of Levi exercised their Priesthood in a frail tabernacle, but Christ beareth about with him a far other tabernacle, to wit, his body which God himself made to be everlasting, as it shall afterward be declared, Heb. 9:11.
that 'true Tabernacle which the Lord pitched, and not man.

3 1For every high Priest is ordained to offer both gifts and sacrifices: wherefore it was of necessity, that this man should have somewhat also to offer.

4 1For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priests that according to the Law offer gifts,

5 1Who serve unto the pattern and shadow of heavenly things, as Moses was warned by God when he was about to finish the Tabernacle. 'See, said he, that thou make all things according to the pattern, showed to thee in the mount.

6 1But now our high Priest hath obtained a more excellent office, inasmuch as he is the Mediator of a better Testament, which is established upon better promises.

7 1For if that first Testament had been unblameable, no place should have been sought for the second.

8 1For in rebuking them he saith, 'Behold, the days will come, saith the Lord, when I shall make with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah a new Testament:

9 1Not like the Testament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I took them by the hand, to lead them out of the land of Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.

10 1For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel, After those days, saith the Lord, I will put my Laws in their mind, and in their heart I will write them, and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

11 1And they shall not teach every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord; for all shall know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

12 1For I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and I will remember their sins and their iniquities no more.

13 1In that he saith a new Testament, he hath abrogated the old: now that which is disannulled and waxed old, is ready to vanish away.

2 1Comparing the form of the Tabernacle, and the ceremonies of the Law, unto the truth set out in Christ, he concludes that now there is no more need of another Priest, because Christ himself had fulfilled these duties under the new covenant.

1 1Then 'the first Testament had also ordinances of religion, and a worldly Sanctuary,

2 1For the first Tabernacle was made, wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the shewbread, which Tabernacle is called the Holy places.

3 1And after the second veil was the Tabernacle, which is called the Holy of all.

4 1Which had the golden censer, and the Ark of the Testament overlaid round about with gold, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna, was, and Aaron's rod that had budded, and the tables of the Testament.

5 1And over the Ark were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the mercy seat: of which things we will not now speak particularly.

6 1Now when these things were thus ordained, the Priest went always into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the service.

7 1But into the second went the high Priest alone, once every year, not without blood which he offered for himself, and for the ignorances of the people.

4 Of his body.

8:3 1 He bringeth a reason why it must needs be that Christ should have a body (which he calleth a tabernacle which the Lord pitched and not man) to wit, that he might have what to offer: for otherwise he could not be an high Priest. And the selfsame body is both the tabernacle and the sacrifice.

8:4 1 He giveth a reason why he said that our high Priest is in the heavenly sanctuary and not in the earthly: because, saith he, if he were now on the earth, he could not minister in the earthly sanctuary; seeing there are yet Levitical Priests, which are appointed for him, that is to say, to be patterns of that perfect example. And to what purpose should the patterns serve when the true and original example is present.

8:6 1 He entereth into the comparison of the old and transitory Testament or covenant being but for a time, whereas the Levitical Priests were mediators with the new the everlasting Mediator whereof is Christ, to show that this is not only better than that in all respects, but also that that was abrogated by this.

8:7 1 He proveth by the testimony of Jeremiah, that there is a second Testament or covenant, and therefore that the first was not perfect.

8:8 1 He calleth it an house, as it were one family of the whole kingdom: for whereas the kingdom of David was divided into two factions, the Prophet giveth us to understand that through the new Testament they shall be joined together again in one.

8:13 1 The conclusion: Therefore by the latter and the new, the first and old is taken away, for it could not be called new if it differed not from the old. And again that same is at length taken away: which is subject to corruption, and therefore imperfect.

9:1 1 A division of the first Tabernacle which he calleth worldly, that is to say, transitory and earthly into two parts, to wit, into the holy places and the Holiest of all.

9:2 1 An earthy and a fittng.

9:3 1 He calleth it the second veil, not because there were two veils, but because it was behind the Sanctuary or the first Tabernacle. The holiest Sanctuary.

9:5 1 The Hebrews call the cover of the Ark of the covenant, the mercy seat, whom both the Greeks and we follow.

9:6 1 Now he cometh to the sacrifices which he divideth into those daily sacrifices, and that yearly and solemn sacrifice, with which the high Priest only, but once every year entering into the Holiest of all with blood, offered for himself and the people.

9:7 1 For the sins. See Heb. 5:2.
8 Whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into the Holiest of all was not yet opened, while as yet the first tabernacle was standing.

9 Which was a figure for that present time, wherein were offered gifts and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the service.

10 Which only stood in meats and drinks, and divers washings, and carnal rites, which were enjoined, until the time of reformation.

11 But Christ being come an high Priest of good things to come, 2by a greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with hands, that is, not of this building, 12 Neither by the blood of 2goats and calves: but by his own blood entered he in once unto the holy place, and obtained eternal redemption for us.

13 For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling them that are unclean, sanctifieth as touching the purifying of the flesh, the people,

20 ‘Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed unto you.

21 Moreover, he sprinkled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministering vessels, 22 And almost all things are by the Law purged with blood, and without shedding of blood is no remission.

23 It was then necessary, that the similitudes of heavenly things should be purified with such things: but the heavenly things themselves are purified with better sacrifices than are these.

24 ‘For Christ is not entered into the holy places that are made with hands, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuary: but is entered into very heaven, to appear now in the sight of God for us,

25 Not that he should offer himself often, as the high Priest entered into the Holy place every year with others’ blood, 26 ‘For then must he have often suffered since the foundation of the world but now in the 2end of the world hath he been made manifest, once to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself.

27 And as it is appointed unto men that they shall ‘once die, and after that cometh the judgment:

28 So ‘Christ was once offered to take away the sins of many; and unto them that look for him, shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation.

9:23 ‘The similitudes of heavenly things were earthly, and therefore they were to be set forth with earthly things, as with the blood of beasts, and wool, and hyssop. But under Christ all things are heavenly, and therefore they could not but be sanctified with the offering of his lively blood.

9:24 ‘Another double comparison: the Levitical high Priest entered into the Sanctuary, which was made indeed by the commandment of God, but yet with men’s hands, that it might be a pattern of another more excellent, to wit, of the heavenly place. But Christ entered even into heaven itself. Again, he appeared before the Ark, but Christ before God the Father himself.

9:25 ‘Another double comparison: the Levitical high Priest offered other blood, but Christ offered his own: he every year once iterated his offering. Christ offering himself but once, abolished sin altogether, both of the former ages and of the ages to come.

9:26 ‘An argument to prove that Christ’s offering ought not to be repeated. Seeing that sins were to be purged from the beginning of the world, and it is proved that sins cannot be purged, but by the only blood of Christ: he must needs have died oftentimes since the beginning of the world. But a man can die but once: therefore Christ’s oblation which was once done in the latter days, neither could nor can be repeated. Seeing then it is so, surely the virtue of it extended both to sins that were before, and to sins that are after his coming.

9:28 ‘Thus the general promise is restrained to the elect only: and we have to seek the testimony of our election: not in the secret counsel of God, but in the effects that our faith worketh, and so we must climb up from the lowest step to the highest, there to find such comfort as is most certain, and shall never be moved.

2 Shortly by the way he setteth out Christ as Judge, partly to terrify them, which do not not rest themselves in the only oblation of Christ once made, and partly to keep the faithful in their duty, that they will go not back.

10:1 ‘He preventeth a privy objection. Why then were those sacrifices offered? The Apostle answereth first touching that yearly sacrifice which was the solemnest of all, wherein (saith he) there was made every year a remembrance again of all former sins. Therefore that sacrifice had no power to sanctify: for to what purpose should those sins which are purged be repeated again, and wherefore should new sins come to be repeated every year, if those sacrifices did abolish sin?

2 ‘Of things which are everlasting, which were promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in Christ.

10:5 ‘A conclusion following of those things that went before, and comprehending also the other sacrifices. Seeing that the sacrifices of the Law could not do it, therefore Christ speaking of himself as of our high Priest manifested in the flesh, witnesseth evidently that God resteth not in the sacrifices, but in the obedience of his Son our high Priest, in which obedience he offered up himself once to his Father for us.

3 ‘The Son of God is said to come into the world, when he was made man.

4 ‘It is word for word in the Hebrew text, Thou hast pierced mine ears through, that is, thou hast made me obedient, and willing to hear.
offered by the Law.)
9 Then said he, Lo, I come to do thy will, O God, he taketh way the first, that he may stablish the second.
10 By the which will we are sanctified, even by the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once made.
11 And every Priest standeth daily ministering, and oftentimes offereth one manner of offering, which can never take away sins:
12 But this man after he had offered one sacrifice for sins, sitteth forever at the right hand of God, 13 And from henceforth tarrieth, till his enemies be made his footstool.
14 For with one offering hath he consecrated forever them that are sanctified.
15 For the holy Ghost also beareth us record: for after that he had said before,
16 This is the Testament that I will make unto them after those days, saith the Lord, I will put my Laws in their heart, and in their minds I will write them.
17 And their sins and iniquities will I remember no more.
18 Now where remission of these things is, there is no more offering for sin.
19 Seeing therefore, brethren, that by the blood of Jesus we may be bold to enter into the Holy place, 20 By the new and living way, which he hath prepared for us, through the veil, that is, his flesh:
21 And seeing we have an high Priest, which is over the house of God,
22 Let us draw near with a true heart in assurance of faith, our hearts being pure from an evil conscience,
23 And washed in our bodies with pure water, let us keep the profession of our hope, without waiving, (for he is faithful that promised.)
24 And let us consider one another, to provoke unto love, and to good works, 25 Not forsaking the fellowship that we have among ourselves, as the manner of some is: but let us exhort one another, and that so much the more, because ye see that the day draweth near.
26 For if we sin willingly after that we have received and acknowledged that truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins, 27 But a fearful looking for of judgment, and violent fire, which shall devour the adversaries.
28 He that despiseth Moses' Law, dieth without mercy under two, or three witnesses:
29 Of how much sorer punishment suppose ye shall he be worthy, which treadeth under foot the Son of God, and counteth the blood of the Testament as an unholy thing, wherewith he was sanctified, and doeth despite the Spirit of grace?
30 For we know him that hath said, Vengeance...
Chapter 11

11 1 He declareth in the whole Chapter, that the Fathers, which from the beginning of the world were approved of God, attained salvation no other way than by faith, that the Jews may know that by the same only, they are knit unto the Fathers in an holy union.

1 1 Now faith is the grounds of things which are hoped for, and the evidence of things which are not seen.

1 For by it our elders were well reported of.

2 Rule or govern.

10:32 1 As he terified the fallers away from God doth he now comfort them that are constant and stand strongly setting before them the success of their former fightings, so stirring them up to a sure hope of a full and ready victory.

10:33 1 You were brought forth to be ashamed.

2 In taking their miseries, to be your miseries.

10:34 1 Goods and riches.

10:38 1 He commendeth the excellency of a sure faith by the effect, because it is the only way to life, which sentence he setteth forth and Amplifieth by setting the contrary against it.

11:1 1 An excellent description of faith by the effects, because it representseth things which are but yet in hope, and setteth as it were before our eyes things that are invisible.

11:2 1 He sheweth that the Fathers ought to be accounted of, by this virtue.

2 That is, those Fathers of whom we came: and whose authority and example ought to move us very much.

11:3 1 He showeth the propriety of faith, by setting unto us most piked examples of such as from the beginning of the world excelled in the Church.

2 So that the world which we see, was not made of any matter that appeared or was before, but of nothing.

11:4 1 Abel.

11:5 1 Enoch.

2 That he should not die.

11:6 1 This reward is not referred to our merits, but to the free promise, as Paul teacheth in Abraham the father of all the faithful, Rom. 4:4.

11:7 1 Noah.

11:8 1 Abraham and Sarah.

11:10 1 This foundation is set against their tabernacle.

11:12 1 As unlikely to bear children, as if she had been stark dead.

11:13 1 In faith, which they had while they lived, and followed them even to their grave.
promises, but saw them afar off, and believed them, and received them thankfully, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.

14 For they that say such things, declare plainly, that they seek a country.

15 And if they had been mindful of that country, from whence they came out, they had leisure to have returned.

16 But now they desire a better, that is an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed of them to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city.

17 By faith Abraham offered up Isaac, when he was tried, and he that had received the promises, offered his only begotten son.

18 (To whom it was said, In Isaac shall thy seed be called.)

19 For he considered that God was able to raise him up even from the dead: from whence he received him also after a sort.

20 By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau, concerning things to come.

21 By faith Jacob when he was a dying, blessed both the sons of Joseph, and leaning on the end of his staff, worshipped God.

22 By faith Joseph, when he died, made mention of the departure of the children of Israel, and gave commandment of his bones.

23 And Moses when he was born, was hid three months of his parents, because they saw he was a proper child, neither feared they the king’s commandment.

24 By faith Moses when he was come to age, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh’s daughter,

25 And chose rather to suffer adversity with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season, 26 Esteeming the rebuke of Christ greater riches, than the treasures of Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompense of the reward.

27 By faith he forsook Egypt, and feared not the fierceness of the king: for he endured, as he that saw him which is invisible.

28 Through faith he ordained the Passover and the effusion of blood, lest he that destroyed the first born, should touch them.

29 By faith they passed through the red sea as by dry land, which when the Egyptians had assayed to do, they were swallowed up.

30 By faith the walls of Jericho fell down after they were compassed about seven days.

31 By faith the harlot Rahab perished not with them which obeyed not, when she had received the spies peaceably.

32 And what shall I more say? for the time would be too short for me to tell of Gideon, of Barak, and of Samson, and of Jephthah, also of David, and Samuel, and of the Prophets:

33 Which through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions,

34 Quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, weak made strong, waxed valiant in battle, turned to flight the armies of the aliens.

35 The women received their dead raised to life: others also were racked, and would not be delivered, that they might receive a better resurrection.

36 And others have been tried by mockings and scourgings, yea, moreover by bonds, and imprisonment.

37 They were stoned, they were hewn asunder, they were tempted, they were slain with the sword, they wandered up and down in sheep’s skins, and in goats’ skins, being destitute, afflicted, and tormented:

38 Whom the world was not worthy of: they wandered in wildernesses and mountains, and dens, and caves of the earth.

39 And these all through faith obtained good
40 God providing a better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect.

12 1 He doth not only by the examples of the Fathers before recited, exhort them to patience and constancy, but also by the example of Christ. 11 That the chastenings of God cannot be rightly judged by the outward sense of our flesh.

1 Wherefore, let us also, seeing that we are compassed with so great a cloud of witnesses, cast away everything that presseth down, and the sin that hangeth so fast on: let us run with patience the race that is set before us,

2 1 Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith, who for the joy that was set before him, endured the cross, and despised the shame, and is set at the right hand of the throne of God.

3 Consider therefore him that endureth such speaking against of sinners, lest ye should be wearied and faint in your minds.

4 Ye have not yet resisted unto blood, striving against sin.

5 And ye have forgotten the consolation, which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not the chastening of the Lord, neither faint when thou art rebuked of him.

6 For whom the Lord loveth, he chasteneth: and thou art rebuked of him.

7 If ye endure chastening, God offered himself unto you as unto sons: for what son is it whom the father chasteneth not?

8 If therefore ye be without correction, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons.

9 Moreover we have had the fathers of our bodies which corrected us, and we gave them reverence: should we not much rather be in subjection unto the father of spirits, that we might live?

10 For they verily for a few days chastened us after their own pleasure, but he chastened us for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holiness.

11 Now no chastising for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: but afterward, it bringeth the quiet fruit of righteousness, unto them which are thereby exercised.

12 Wherefore lift up your hands which hang down, and your weak knees, 13 And make straight steps unto your feet, lest that which is halting, be turned out of the way, but let it rather be healed.

14 Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without the which no man shall see the Lord.

15 Take heed, that no man fall away from the grace of God: let no root of bitterness spring up and trouble you, lest thereby many be defiled.

16 Let there be no fornicator, or profane person as Esau, which for one portion of meat sold his birthright.

17 For ye know how that afterward also when he would have inherited the blessing, he was rejected: for he found no place to repentance, though he sought that blessing with tears.

18 For ye are not come unto the mount that might report, and received not the promise, for he found no place to repentance, though he sought that blessing, being not come up by his own will. 11 For their salvation did hang upon Christ, who was exhibited to them as the prophet of the things that were to come. 12 But saw Christ afar off. 13 For sin besiegeth us on all sides, so that we cannot escape out. 14 For sin besiegeth us on all sides, so that we cannot escape out. 15 Take heed, that no man fall away from the grace of God: let no root of bitterness spring up and trouble you, lest thereby many be defiled. 16 For their salvation did hang upon Christ, who was exhibited to them as the prophet of the things that were to come. 17 For ye know how that afterward also when he would have inherited the blessing, he was rejected: for he found no place to repentance, though he sought that blessing with tears. 18 For ye are not come unto the mount that might be touched, nor unto burning fire, nor to blackness and darkness, and tempest, 19 Neither unto the sound of a trumpet, and the voice of words, which they that heard it, excused themselves, that the word should not be spoken to them any more.
20 (For they were not able to abide that which was commanded, yea, though a beast touch the mountain, it shall be stoned, or thrush through with a dart:
21 And so terrible was the sight which appeared, that Moses said, I fear and quake.)
22 But ye are come unto the mount Sion, and to the city of the living God, the celestial Jerusalem, and to the company of innumerable Angels.
23 And to the assembly and congregation of the first born, which are written in heaven, and to God the judge of all, and to the spirits of just and perfect men,
24 And to Jesus the Mediator of the new Testament, and to the blood of sprinkling that speaketh better things than that of Abel,
25 (See that ye despise not him that speaketh: for if they escaped not which refused him, that spake on earth: much more shall we not escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven.
26 Whose voice then shook the earth, and now hath declared, saying, Yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things which are shaken, as of things which are made with hands, that the things which are not shaken, may remain.
27 And this word, Yet once more, signifieth the shape and form which he saw, which was no counterfeit 28 Wherefore seeing we receive a kingdom, which cannot be shaken, let us have grace whereby we may serve God, that we may please him with reverence and fear.
29 For even our God is a consuming fire.

CHAPTER 13
1 He giveth good lessons not only for manners, but also for doctrine.
1 Let brotherly love continue.
2 Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have received Angels into their houses unawares.
3 Remember them that are in bonds, as though ye were bound with them: and them that are in affliction, as if ye were also afflicted in the body.
4 Marriage is honorable among all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge.
5 Let your conversation be without covetousness, and be content with those things that ye have, for he hath said,
6 I will not fail thee, neither forsake thee:
7 So that we may boldly say, The Lord is mine helper, neither will I fear what man can do unto me.
8 Remember them which have the oversight of you, which have declared unto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering what hath been the end of their conversation. Jesus Christ yesterday, and today, the same also is forever.
9 Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines: for it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace, and not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein.

12:18 2 Which might be touched with hands, which was of a gross and earthly matter.
12:21 1 The shape and form which he saw, which was no counterfeit and forged shape, but a true one.
12:22 1 So he calleth them that are taken up into heaven, although one part of them sleep in the earth.
12:25 1 The applying of the former comparison, if it were not lawful to contend his word which spake on the earth, how much less his voice which is from heaven?
12:26 1 He compareth the steadfast majesty of the Gospel, wherewith the whole world was shaken, and even the very frame of heaven was as it were astonmart, with the small and vanishing sound of the governance by the Law.
2 It appeareth evidently in this that the Prophet speaketh of the calling of the Gentiles, that these words must be referred to the kingdom of Christ.
12:28 1 A general exhortation to live reverently and religiously under the most happy subjuction of so mighty a king, who as he blesseth his most mighty, so doth he most severely revenge the rebellious. And this is the sum of a Christian life, respecting the first table.
2 By reverence is meant that honest shamefastness which keepeth them in their duties.
3 Religious and godly fear.
13:1 1 He cometh to the second table, the sum whereof is charity, especially toward strangers and such as are afflicted.
13:3 2 Be so much touched, as if their misery were yours.
13:4 1 He commendeth chaste matrimony in all sorts of men, and covetousness is condemned, against which is set a contented mind with that which the Lord hath given.
2 Even the Lord himself.
13:7 1 He setteth man against God.
13:8 1 We have to set before us the examples of valiant Captains, whom we ought diligently to follow.
2 He repeateth the sum of the doctrine, to wit, the only ground of all precepts of manners, and that is this. That we ought to quiet and content ourselves in Christ only: for there was yet never any man saved without the knowledge of him, neither is at this day saved, neither shall be saved hereafter.
13:9 1 He toucheth them which mixed an external worship, and especially the difference of meats, with the Gospel, which doctrine he plainly condemneth as clean repugnant to the benefit of Christ.
2 By this one kind which concerneth the difference of clean and unclean meats, we have to understand all the ceremonial worship.
3 Which observed the difference of them superstitiously.
10 1 We have an 2 altar, whereof they have no authority to eat, which 3 serve in the Tabernacle.

11 For the bodies of those beasts whose blood is brought into the holy place by the high Priest for sin, are burnt without the camp.

12 Therefore even Jesus, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate.

13 3 Let us go forth to him therefore out of the camp, bearing his reproach.

14 4 For here have we no continuing city: but we seek one to come.

15 1 Let us therefore by him offer the sacrifice of praise always to God, that is, the 5 fruit of the lips, which confess his Name.

16 To do good, and to distribute forget not: for with such sacrifices God is pleased.

17 6 Obey them that have the oversight of you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give accounts, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you.

18 1 Pray for us, for we are assured that we have a good conscience in all things, desiring to live honestly.

19 And I desire you somewhat the more earnestly, that ye so do, that I may be restored to you more quickly.

20 The God of peace that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, the great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting Covenant, 21 Make you 7 perfect in all good works, to do his will, 8 working in you that which is pleasant in his sight through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise forever and ever, Amen.

22 I beseech you also, brethren, suffer the words of exhortation: for I have written unto you in few words.

23 Know that our brother Timothy is delivered, with whom (if he come shortly) I will see you.

24 Salute all them that have the oversight of you, and all the Saints. They of Italy salute you.

25 Grace be with you all, Amen.

¶ Written to the Hebrews from Italy, and sent by Timothy.

13:10 1 He refuteth their error by an apt and fit comparison. They which in times past served the Tabernacle, did not eat of the sacrifices whose blood was brought for sin into the holy place by the high Priest. Moreover these sacrifices did represent Christ our offering. Therefore they cannot be partakers of him which serve the Tabernacle, that is, such as stand in the service of the Law: but let not us be ashamed to follow him out of Jerusalem, from whence he was cast out and suffered: for in this also Christ, who is the truth, answereth that figure, in that he suffered without the gate.

2 By the Altar, he meaneth the offering.

3 Whereof they cannot be partakers which stubbornly retain the rites of the Law.

13:13 1 He goeth on further in this comparison, and showeth that this also signified unto us, that the godly followers of Christ must as it were go out of the world, bearing his cross.

13:15 1 Now that those corporal sacrifices are taken away, he teacheth us that the true sacrifices of confession remain, which consist partly in giving of thanks, and partly in liberality, with which sacrifices indeed God is now delighted.

13:17 1 We must obey the warnings and admonitions of our Ministers and Elders, which watch for the salvation of the souls which are committed unto them.

13:18 1 The last part of this Epistle, wherein he commendeth his ministry to the Hebrews, and wisheth them continuance and increase of graces from the Lord: and excuseth himself in that he hath used but few words to comfort them, having spent the Epistle in disputing: and saluteth certain brethren familiarly and friendly.

13:21 1 Make you fit or meet.

2 Hence cometh that saying of the Fathers, that God crowneth his works in us.
James 1:4 He entreateth of patience. 6 of faith. 10 and of lowliness of mind in rich men. 13 That tentations come not of God for our evil. 17 because he is the author of all goodness. 21 In what manner the word of life must be received.

1 James a servant of God, and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve Tribes, which are scattered abroad, salutation.

2 My brethren, count it exceeding joy, when ye fall into divers tentations,

3 Knowing that the trying of your faith bringeth forth patience,

4 And let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, lacking nothing.

5 If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, which giveth to all men liberally, and reproacheth not:

6 But let him ask in faith, and not wavering: for he that wavereth, is like a wave of the sea, tossed of the wind, and carried away.

7 Neither let that man think that he shall receive anything of the Lord.

8 A double minded man is unstable in all his ways.

9 Let the brother of low degree rejoice in that he is exalted:

10 Again, he that is rich, in that he is made low:

11 For as when the sun riseth with heat, then the grass withereth, and his flower falleth away, and the goodly shape of it perisheth: even so shall the rich man wither away in all his ways.

12 Blessed is the man, that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him.

13 Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil.

Title 1 That is, written to no one man, city or country, but to all the Jews generally, being now dispersed.

1:1 To all the believing Jews, of what Tribe soever they be, and are dispersed through the whole world.

1:2 The first place or part touching comfort in afflictions, wherein we ought not be cast down and be fainthearted, but rather rejoice and be glad.

2 Seeing their condition was miserable in that scattering abroad, he doth well to begin as he doth.

3 The first argument, because our faith is tried through afflictions: which ought to be most pure, for so it is behooveful for us.

1:3 The second; Because patience, far passing and most excellent virtue, is by this means engendered in us.

2 That wherewith your faith is tried, to wit, those manifold temptations.

1:4 The third argument propounded in manner of an exhortation, that true and continual patience may be discerned from fained and for a time.

1:5 An answer to a privy objection: It is easily said, but it is not so easily done. He answereth that we need in this case a far other manner of wisdom, than the wisdom of man, to judge those things best for us, which are most contrary to the flesh: but yet we shall easily obtain this gift of wisdom, if we ask it rightly; that is, with a sure confidence of God, who is most bountiful and liberal.

2 By wisdom he meaneth the knowledge of that doctrine wherein mention was made before, to wit, wherefore we are afflicted of God, and what fruit we have to reap of affliction.

1:6 Why then what need other Mediator?

2 A digression or going aside from his matter, against prayers which are conceived with a doubting mind, whereas we have a certain promise of God, and this is that second part of the Epistle.

1:8 In all his thoughts and his deeds.

1:9 He returneth to his purpose, repeating the proposition, which is, that we must rejoice in the cross, for it doth not press us down, but exalt us.

2 Who is afflicted with poverty, or contempt, or with any kind of calamity.

1:10 Before he concludeth, he giveth a doctrine contrary to the former: to wit, how we ought to use prosperity, which is plenty of all things: to wit, that no man therefore please himself, but be so much the more void of pride.

2 Who hath all things at his will.

1:12 An argument taken of the very nature of the things themselves, for that they are most vain and uncertain.

1:11 Whatever he either purposeth in his mind, or doeth.

1:12 The conclusion: Therefore we must patiently bear the cross: and he addeth a fourth argument, which comprehended the sum of all the former, to wit, because we come by this way to the crown of life, but yet of grace according to the promise.

2 Affliction whereby the Lord trieth him.

1:13 The third part of this Epistle, wherein he descendeth from outward temptations, that is, from afflictions, whereby God trieth us, to inward that is, to those lusts whereby we are stirred up to do evil. The sum is this: Every man is the author of these temptations to himself, and not God: for we bear about in our bosoms that wicked corruption, which taketh occasions by what means soever, to stir up evil motions in us, whence out at length proceed wicked doing, and in conclusion followeth death the just reward of them.

2 When he is provoked to do evil.

3 Here is a reason showed, why God cannot be the author of evil doing in us, because he desireth not evil.
14 But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away by his own concupiscence, and is enticed. 15 Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin, and sin when it is finished, bringeth forth death. 16 Err not my dear brethren.

17 Every good giving and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. 18 Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be as the firstfruits of his creatures.

19 Wherefore my dear brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, and slow to wrath. 20 For the wrath of man doth not accomplish the righteousness of God.

21 Wherefore lay apart all filthiness, and superfluity of maliciousness, and receive with meekness the word that is sown in you, which is able to save your souls. 22 And be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves. 23 For if any hear the word, and do it not, he is like unto a man, that beheldeth his natural face in a glass. 24 For when he hath considered himself, he goeth his way, and forgetteth immediately what manner of one he was. 25 But who so looketh in the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he not being a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, shall be blessed in his deed. 26 If any man among you seem religious, and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain. 27 Pure religion and undefiled before God, even the Father, is this, to visit the fatherless, and widows in their adversity, and to keep himself unspotted of the world.

2 He sayeth, that to have respect of persons is not agreeable to Christ's faith. 14 which to profess in words is not enough, unless 21 after the example of Abraham.

1 My brethren, have not the faith of our glorious Lord Jesus Christ in respect of persons. 2 For if there come into your company a man with a gold ring, and in goodly apparel, and there come in also a poor man in vile raiment, 3 And ye have a respect to him that weareth the gay clothing; and say unto him, Sit thou here in a goodly place, and say unto the poor, Stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool, 4 Are ye not partial in your selves, and are become Judges of evil thoughts? 5 Hearken my beloved brethren, hath not God chosen the poor of this world, that they should be rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he promised to them that love him?

6 But ye have despised the poor. Do not the rich oppress you by tyranny, and do they not draw you before the judgment seats?

7 Do not they blaspheme the worthy Name after which ye be "named?"

8 "But if ye fulfill the royal Law according to the Scripture, which saith, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself, ye do well."

9 But if ye regard the persons, ye commit sin, and are rebuked of the Law, as transgressors.

10 "For whosoever shall keep the whole Law, and yet faileth in one point, he is guilty of all."

11 "For he that said, Thou shalt not commit adultery, said also, Thou shalt not kill. Now though thou doest none adultery, yet if thou killest, thou art a transgressor of the Law.

12 "So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the Law of liberty.

13 For there shall be condemnation merciless to him that showeth not "mercy, and mercy rejoiceth against condemnation.

14 "What availeth it my brethren, though a man saith, he hath faith, when he hath no works? can that faith save him?

15 "For if a brother or a sister be naked and destitute of daily food, and one of you say unto them, Depart in peace: warm yourselves, and fill your bellies, notwithstanding ye give them not those things, which are needful to the body, what helpeth it?

16 And one of you say unto them, Depart in peace: warm yourselves, and fill your bellies, notwithstanding ye give them not those things, which are needful to the body, what helpeth it?

17 Even so the faith, if it have no works, is dead in itself.

18 But some man might say, Thou hast the faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works.

19 "Thou believest that there is one God: thou dost well: the devils also believe it, and tremble.

20 "But wilt thou understand, O thou vain man, that the faith which is without works, is dead?

21 Was not Abraham our father "justified through works, when he offered Isaac his son upon the altar?

22 Seest thou not that the faith wrought with his works? and through the works was the faith made perfect.

23 And the Scripture was fulfilled which saith, Abraham believed God, and it was imputed unto him for righteousness: and he was called the friend of God.

24 "Ye see then how that of works a man is justified, and not of faith only.
25 1 Likewise also was not Rahab the harlot justified through works, when she had received the messengers, and sent them out another way? 26 1 For as the body without the spirit is dead, even so the faith without works is dead.

3 1 To show that a Christian must govern his tongue with the bridle of faith and charity. 6 He declareth the commodities and mischiefs that ensue thereof: 15 and how much man's wisdom 17 differeth from heavenly.

1 1 My brethren, be not many masters, 2 knowing that we shall receive the greater condemnation. 2 For in many things we sin all. 3 If any man sin not in word, he is a perfect man, and able to bridle all the body.

3 1 Behold, we put bits into the horses' mouths, that they should obey us, and we turn about all their body.

4 1 Behold also the ships, which though they be so great, and are driven of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a very small rudder, whithersoever the governor listeth.

5 1 Even so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth of great things: 2 behold, how great a thing a little fire kindleth.

6 1 And the tongue is fire, yea, 2 a world of wickedness: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and 3 setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell.

7 1 For the whole nature of beasts, and of birds, and of creeping things, and things of the sea is tamed, and hath been tamed of the nature of man.

8 1 But the tongue can no man tame. It is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

9 1 Therewith bless we God even the Father, and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God.

10 1 Out of one mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing: my brethren, these things ought not so to be.

11 1 Dost a fountain send forth at one place sweet water and bitter?

12 1 Can the fig tree, my brethren, bring forth olives, either a vine figs? so can no fountain make both salt water and sweet.

13 1 Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show by good conversation his works in meekness of wisdom.

14 1 But if ye have bitter envy and strife in your hearts, rejoice not, neither be liars against the truth.

15 1 This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, and devilish.

16 1 For where envy and strife is, there is sedition, and all manner of evil works.

17 1 But the wisdom that is from above, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easy to be entreated, full of 1 mercy and good fruits, without judging, and without hypocrisy.

18 1 And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace, of them that make peace.

1 1 He reckoneth up the mischiefs that proceed of the works of the flesh. 7 He exhorteth to humility, 8 and to purge the heart from pride, 10 backbating, 14 and the forgerousness of our own infirmity.
1 From 'whence are wars and contentions among you? are they not hence, even of your pleasures, that fight in your members?

2 Ye lust, and have not: ye envy, and desire immoderately, and cannot obtain: ye fight, and war, and get nothing, because ye ask not.

3 Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye might lay the same on your pleasures.

4 Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the amity of the world is the enmity of God? Whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world, makes himself the enemy of God.

5 Do ye think that the Scripture saith in vain, The spirit that dwelleth in us, lusteth after envy?

6 But the Scripture offereth more grace, and therefore saith, ‘God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.’

7 Submit yourselves to God: resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

8 Draw near to God, and he will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners, and purge your hearts, ye double minded.

9 Suffer afflictions, and sorrow ye, and weep: let your laughter be turned into mourning, and your joy into heaviness.

10 Cast down yourselves before the Lord, and he will lift you up.

11 Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, or he that condemneth his brother, speaketh evil of the Law, and condemneth the Law: and if thou condemnest the Law, thou art not an observer of the Law, but a judge.

12 There is one Lawgiver, who is able to save, and to destroy, Who art thou that judgest another man?

13 Go to now, ye that say, Today or tomorrow we will go into such a city, and continue there a year, and buy and sell, and get gain.

14 (And yet ye cannot tell what shall be tomorrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor that appeareth for a little time, and afterward vanisheth away.)

15 For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, and if we live, we will do this or that.

16 But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil.

17 Therefore to him that knoweth how to do well, and doeth it not, to him it is sin.

5 He threateneth the rich with God’s severe judgment, for their pride, 7 that the poor hearing the miserable end of the rich, 8 may patiently bear afflictions, 11 as Job did, 14 even in their distresses.

1 Go to now, ye rich men: weep, and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you.

2 Your riches are corrupt, and your garments are moth eaten.

3 Your gold and silver is cankered, and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh, as it were fire. Ye have heaped up treasure for the last days.

4 Behold, the hire of the laborers, which have reap’d your fields (which is of you kept back by fraud) crieth, and the cries of them which have reaped, are entered into the ears of the Lord of hosts.

5 Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and in against pride and arrogance, holy modesty.

2 By this word the Greeks meant an heaviness joined with shamefastness, which is to be seen in a cast down countenance, and settled as it were upon the ground.

4:11 He reprehended most sharply another double mischief of pride: the one is in that the proud and arrogant will have other men to live according to their will and pleasure and therefore they do most arrogantly condemn whatsoever pleaseth them not: which thing cannot be done without great injury to our only Lawmaker, for by this means his Laws are found fault withal, as not circumspectly enough written, and men challenge that unto themselves which properly belongeth to God alone, in that they lay a Law upon men’s consciences.

4:13 The other fault is this: that men do so confidently determine upon these and those matters and businesses, as though that every moment of their life did not depend of God.

4:17 The conclusion of all the former treatise: The knowledge of the will of God doth not only nothing at all profit, unless the life be answerable unto it, but also maketh the sins far more grievous.

5:1 He denounceth utter destruction to the wicked and profane rich men, and such as are drowned in their riotousness, mocking at their foolish confidence when as there is nothing indeed more vain than such things.

5:4 The Lord who is more mighty than ye are, hath heard them.
wantonness. Ye have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter.

6 Ye have condemned, and have killed the just, and he hath not resisted you.

7 Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the former, and the latter rain.

8 Be ye also patient therefore, and settle your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth near.

9 Grudge not one against another, brethren, lest ye be condemned: behold, the judge standeth before the door.

10 Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an example of suffering adversity, and of long patience, which have spoken in the name of the Lord.

11 Behold, we count them blessed which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have known what made the Lord make. For the Lord is very pitiful and merciful.

12 But before all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, nor by earth, nor by any other oath; but let your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay; lest ye fall into condemnation.

CHAPTER 5

5:5 Ye have pampered up yourselves.
2 The Hebrews call a day that is appointed to solemn banqueting, a day of slaughter or feasting.
5:7 1 He applieth that to the poor, which he spake against the rich, warning them to wait for the Lord's coming patiently, who will revenge the injuries which the rich men do them.
2 The taking away of an objection: Although his coming serve to linger, yet at the least we must follow the husbandmen, who do patiently wait for the times that are proper for the fruits of the earth. And again, God will not defer the least iota of the time that he hath appointed.
5:9 1 He commendeth Christian patience, so that whereas others through impatience use to accuse one another, the faithful on the contrary side complain not, although they receive injury.
2 By grudging, he meaneth a certain inward complaining which betokeneth impatience.
3 The conclusion: The Lord is at the door, who will defend his own, and revenge his enemies, and therefore we need not to trouble ourselves.
5:10 1 Because most men are wont to object, that it is good to repel injuries by what means soever; he setteth against that, the examples of the Fathers, whose patience had a most happy end, because God as a most bountiful Father, never forsaketh his.
5:11 1 What end the Lord gave.
5:12 1 Because even the best men sometimes through impatience break out into oaths sometimes lesser, sometimes greater, the Apostle warneth us to detest such wickedness, and to accustom our tongues to simple and true talk.

14 1 Is any sick among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and anoint him with oil in the Name of the Lord.
15 And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up: and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him.
16 1 Acknowledge your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed: for the prayer of a righteous man availeth much, if it be fervent.
17 1 Elijah was a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not rain, and it rained not on the earth for three years and six months.
18 And he prayed again: and the heaven gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit.
19 Brethren, 1If any of you hath erred from the truth, and some man hath converted him, 20 Let him know that he which hath converted the sinner from going astray out of his way, shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins.
THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERAL OF

PETER

1 1 He exaliteth God's mercy shewed in Christ, which we lay hold on by faith, and pass through hope: 10 whereof the Prophets foretold. 13 He exhorteth 15 to renounce the world, 23 and their former life, and so wholly yield themselves to God.

1 1 Peter an Apostle of Jesus Christ, to the strangers that dwell here and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,

2 1 Elect according to the 2foreknowledge of God the Father unto 3 sanctification of the Spirit, through obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace and peace be multiplied unto you.

3 1 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a 1 lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 1 To an inheritance immortal and undefiled, and that withereth not, reserved in heaven for us,

5 1 Which are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation, which is prepared to be showed in the 2 last time.

6 1 Wherein ye rejoice, though now for a season (if need require) ye are in heaviness, through manifold temptations,

7 1 That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than gold that perisheth (though it be tried with fire) might be found unto your praise, and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ:

8 1 Whom ye have not seen, and yet love him, in whom now, though ye see him not, yet do you believe, and rejoice with joy) unspeakable and glorious,

9 1 Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls.

10 1 Of the which salvation the Prophets have inquired and searched, which prophesied of the grace that should come unto you,

11 1 Searching when or what time the Spirit which testified before of Christ which was in them, should declare the sufferings that should come unto Christ, and the glory that should follow.

12 1 Unto whom it was revealed, that not unto themselves, but unto us they should minister the things, which are showed unto you by them which have preached unto you the Gospel by the holy Ghost 1 sent down from heaven, the which things the Angels desire to behold.

13 1 Wherefore 1 gird up the loins of your mind:

1:2 1 Peter purposing to speak of the duties of a Christian life, reasoneth first of the principles and beginning of all Christian actions, rising far higher than nature, and carrying us also far above the same. For he sheweth that which we are otherwise of nature sinners, were through the free mercy of God the Father first chosen from everlasting: then according to that everlasting decree were by a certain second creation made his sons in Christ his only begotten, by whose Spirit we are inwardly changed, and by whose blood we are reconciled, to the end, that as Christ himself rose again from the dead, we also might be received into that same heavenly and everlasting glory.

2 1 Or according to the purpose of God, who never altereth nor changeth the same.

3 1 That being set apart from the rest of the wicked world, through the working of the holy Ghost, they should be consecrate to God, Eph. 1:5.

1:3 1 Everlasting hope.

1:5 1 Now he showeth by what way we come unto that glory, to wit, through all kinds of afflictions, wherein notwithstanding faith maketh us so secure, that we are not only not overcome with sorrow, but also through the beholding of God himself (who otherwise is invisible) with the eyes of faith are unspeakably joyful: because all such things, as they are but for a time, so are they not applied unto us to destroy us, but as it were by fire to purge us, and to make us perfect, that at the length we may obtain salvation.

2 This is that time which Daniel calleth the time of the end, when as that great restoring of all things shall be, which all creatures look for Rom. 8:19.

1:7 1 He speaketh of the second coming of Christ.

1:9 1 Or, reward.

1:10 1 He putteth a difference between true faith, that is to say, that faith which only hath an eye to the doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles, and false faith: Afterward he maketh two degrees of one and the selfsame faith, according to the manner of the divers revelations, when as indeed it is but one only faith: Thirdly, he saith, that the preaching of the Apostles is the fulfilling of the preaching of the Prophets, although the latter end of it be as yet looked for of the very Angels.

1:12 1 He alludeth to the prophecy of Joel, which was exhibited upon the day of Pentecost, in the Apostles, as it were in the firstfruits of the holy Ghost, which this same our Peter declareth Acts 2:6.

1:13 1 He goeth from faith to hope, which is indeed a companion that cannot be sundered from faith: and he useth an argument taken of comparison: We ought not to be weary in looking for so excellent a thing, which the very Angels wait for with great desire.

2 This is a borrowed speech, taken of a common usage amongst them: for by reason that they wore long garments, they could not travel unless they girded up themselves: and hence it is that Christ said, Let your loins be girded up.
be sober, 1 and trust 2 perfectly on that grace 3 that is brought unto you, 4 in the revelation of Jesus Christ, 14 1 As obedient children, not fashioned yourselves unto the former lusts of your ignorance:
15 But as he which hath called you, is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation, 16 1 Because it is written, 1 Be ye holy, for I am holy.
17 And if ye call him Father, which without respect of person judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your dwelling here in fear.
18 1 Knowing that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation, received by the traditions of the fathers, 19 1 But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a Lamb undefiled, and without spot.
20 1 Which was ordained before the foundation of the world, but was declared in the last times for your sakes,
21 Which by his means do believe in God that raised him from the dead, and gave him glory, that your faith and hope might be in God.
22 1 Having purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit, to love brotherly without feigning, love one another with a pure heart fervently;
23 1 Being born anew, not of mortal seed, but of immortal, by the word of God, who liveth and endureth forever.
24 1 For all flesh is grass, and all the glory of man is as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower falleth away.
25 1 But the word of the Lord endureth forever: and this is the word which is preached among you.

2 He exhorteth the newborn in faith, to lead their lives answerable to the same: 6 and lest their faith should stagger, he bringeth in that which was foretold touching Christ. 11 Then he willeth them to be obedient to Magistrates. 21 and that they patiently bear adversity after Christ's example.

1 Wherefore, 1 laying aside all malice, and all guile, and dissimulation, and envy, and all evil speaking,
2 1 As newborn babes desire that sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby,
3 Because ye have tasted that the Lord is bountiful.
4 To whom coming as unto a living stone, disallowed of men, but chosen of God and precious,
5 Ye also as lively stones, be made a spiritual house, an holy Priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.

1 Peter 2:5

1 Wherefore also it is contained in the Scripture, Behold, I put in Zion a chief cornerstone, elect and precious, and he that believeth therein, shall not be ashamed.
2 And a stone to stumble at, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient, unto which thing they were even
3 But ye are a chosen generation, a royal Priesthood, an holy nation, a people set at liberty, that ye should show forth the virtues of him that hath called you out of darkness into his marvelous light,
4 Which in time past were not a people, yet are now the people of God: which in time past were not under mercy, but now have obtained mercy.

1 Peter 2:9

1 Dearly beloved, I beseech you, as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts which fight against the soul,
2 And have your conversation honest among the Gentiles, that they which speak evil of you as of evil doers, may by your good works which they shall see, glorify God in the day of visitation.

1 Peter 2:12

1 Therefore submit yourselves unto all manner ordinance of man for the Lord's sake, whether it be unto the King, as unto the superior,
2 Or, do taste. 1 He commendeth that spiritual nourishment for the sweetness and profit of it.
3 He goeth on forward in the same exhortation, and useth another kind of borrowed speech, alluding to the Temple. Therefore he saith, that the company of the faithful is as it were another kind of borrowed speech, alluding to the Temple.
4 Therefore he saith, that the company of the faithful is as it were another kind of borrowed speech, alluding to the Temple.
5 Ye also as lively stones, be made a spiritual house, an holy Priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.

1 Peter 2:4

1 To whom coming as unto a living stone, disallowed of men, but chosen of God and precious,
2 And a stone to stumble at, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient, unto which thing they were even
3 But ye are a chosen generation, a royal Priesthood, an holy nation, a people set at liberty, that ye should show forth the virtues of him that hath called you out of darkness into his marvelous light,
4 Which in time past were not a people, yet are now the people of God: which in time past were not under mercy, but now have obtained mercy.

1 Peter 2:9

1 Dearly beloved, I beseech you, as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts which fight against the soul,
2 And have your conversation honest among the Gentiles, that they which speak evil of you as of evil doers, may by your good works which they shall see, glorify God in the day of visitation.

1 Peter 2:12

1 Therefore submit yourselves unto all manner ordinance of man for the Lord's sake, whether it be unto the King, as unto the superior,
14 Or unto governors, as unto them that are sent of him, for the punishment of evil doers, and for the praise of them that do well.

15 For so is the will of God, that by well doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men.

16 As free, and not as having the liberty for a cloak of maliciousness, but as the servants of God.

17 Honor all men: love brotherly fellowship: fear God; honor the King.

18 Servants, be subject to your masters with all fear, not only to the good and courteous, but also to the froward.

19 For this is thankworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongly.

20 For what praise is it, if when ye bebuffeted for your faults, ye take it patiently? but and when ye do well, ye suffer wrong and take it patiently, this is acceptable to God.

21 For hereunto ye are called: for Christ also suffered for you, leaving you an example that ye should follow his steps.

22 Who did no sin, neither was there guile found in his mouth.

23 Who when he was reviled, reviled not again: when he suffered, he threatened not, but committed it to him that judgeth righteously.

24 Who is his own self bare our sins in his body on the tree, that we being dead to sin, should live in righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed.

25 For ye were as sheep going astray: but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls.

1 That Christian women should not contemn their husbands, though they be infidels. 6 He bringeth in examples of godly Women. 8 General exhortations, 14 patiently to bear persecutions, 15 and boldly to yield a reason of their faith. 18 Christ's example.

1 Likewise let the wives be subject to their husbands, that even they which obey not the word, may without the word be won by the conversation of the wives.

2 While they behold your pure conversation which is with fear:

3 Whose apparel let it not be that outward, with braided hair, and gold put about, or in putting on of apparel:

4 But let it be the hidden man of the heart, which consisteth in the incorruption of a meek and quiet spirit, which is before God a thing much set by.

5 For even after this manner in time past did the holy women, which trusted in God, tire themselves, and were subject to their husbands.
6 As Sarah obeyed Abraham, and called him Sir: whose daughters ye are, while ye do well, not being afraid of any terror.

7 Likewise ye husbands, dwell with them as men of understanding, giving honor unto the woman, as unto the weaker vessel, even as they which are heirs together of the grace of life, that your prayers be not interrupted.

8 Finally, be ye all of one mind: one suffer with another: love as brethren: be courteous.

9 Not rendering evil for evil, neither rebuke for rebuke: but rendering bountifully, knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should be heirs of blessing.

10 For if any man long after life, and to see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile.

11 Let him eschew evil and do good: let him seek peace and follow after it.

12 For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: and the face of the Lord is against them that do evil.

13 And who so is it that will harm you, if ye follow that which is good?

14 Notwithstanding blessed are ye, if ye suffer for righteousness’ sake. Yea, fear not their fear, neither be troubled.

15 But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts, and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekness and reverence.

16 Having a good conscience, that when they speak evil of you as of evil doers, they may be ashamed that slander your good conversation in Christ.

17 For it is better (if the will of God be so) that ye suffer for well doing, than for evil doing.

18 For Christ also hath once suffered for sins,
2 the just for the unjust, \( ^{19} \)that he might bring us to God, \( ^{19} \)and was put to death concerning the \( ^{19} \)flesh, but was quickened by the spirit.

19 \( ^{19} \)By \( ^{19} \)the which he also went, and preached unto the \( ^{19} \)spirits that are in prison.

20 Which were in time passed disobedient, when \( ^{1} \)once the long suffering of God abode in the days of \( ^{1} \)Noah, while the Ark was preparing, wherein few, that is, eight \( ^{1} \)souls were saved in the water.

21 Whereof the baptism \( ^{1} \)that now is, answering that figure, \( ^{2} \)(which is \( ^{2} \)not a putting away of the filth of the flesh, but a confident demanding with a good conscience maketh to \( ^{2} \)God) saveth us also \( ^{3} \)by the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

22 Which is at the right hand of God, gone into heaven, to whom the Angels, and Powers, and might are subject.

4 \( ^{1} \)He bringeth in Christ's example, and applieth it. \( ^{6} \)to the mortifying of the flesh, especially commending Charitv: \( ^{12} \)And so entreateth of patience. \( ^{19} \)That it is necessary that correction begin at the Church.

1 Forasmuch \( ^{1} \)then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind, \( ^{1} \)which is, that he which hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sin,

2 That he hence forward should live (as much time as \( ^{2} \)remained in the flesh) not after the lusts of men, but after the will of God.

3 \( ^{a} \)For it is sufficient for us that we have spent the time past of the life, after the lust \( ^{b} \)of the Gentiles walking in wantonness, lusts, drunkenness, in gluttony, drinkings, and in abominable idolatries.

4 \( ^{1} \)Wherein it seemeth to them \( ^{2} \)strange, that ye run not with them unto the same excess of riot: \( ^{1} \)therefore speak they evil of you.

5 Which shall give account to him, that is ready to judge quick and dead.

6 \( ^{1} \)For unto this purpose was the Gospel preached also unto the dead, that they might be condemned according to men in the flesh, but might live according to God in the spirit.

\[ ^{2} \]An argument taken of comparison: Christ the just suffered for us that are unjust, and shall it grieve us who are unjust to suffer for the just's cause?

\[ ^{3} \]Another argument being partly taken of things coupled together, to wit, because Christ bringeth us to his Father that same way that he went himself, and partly from the cause efficient: to wit, because Christ is not only set before us for an example to follow, but also he holdeth us up by his virtue in all the difficulties of this life, until he bring us to his Father.

\[ ^{4} \]Another argument taken of the happy end of these afflictions, wherein also Christ goeth before us both in example and virtues, as one who suffered most grievous torments even unto death, although but in one part only of him, to wit, in the flesh or man's nature, but yet became conqueror by virtue of his divinity.

\[ ^{5} \]As touching his manhood, for his body was dead, and his soul felt the sorrows of death.

3:19 \( ^{1} \)A secret objection: Christ indeed might do this, but what is that to us? yet (saith the Apostle) for Christ hath showed forth this virtue in all ages both to the preservation of the godly, were they never so few and miserable, and to revenge the rebellion of his enemies, as it appeareth by the history of the flood: for Christ is he which in those days (when God through his patience appointed a time of repentance to the world) was present not in corporal presence, but by his divine virtue, preaching repentance even by the mouth of Noah himself who then prepared the Ark, to those disobedient spirits which are now in prison waiting for the full recompence of their rebellion, and saved those few (that is, eight only persons) in the water.

\[ ^{2} \]By the virtue of which Spirit, that is to say of the divinity: therefore this word, Spirit, cannot in this place be taken for the soul, unless we say, that Christ was raised up again, and quickened by the virtue of his soul.

\[ ^{3} \]He calleth them Spirits, in respect of his time, not in respect of the time that they were in the flesh.

3:20 \( ^{1} \)This word (once) showeth that there was a furthermost day appointed, and if that were once past, there should be no more.

\[ ^{2} \]Men.

\[ ^{3} \]A proportional applying of the former example to the times which followed the coming of Christ: for that preservation of Noah in the waters was a figure of our Baptism, not as though that material water of Baptism saveth us, as those waters which bare up the Ark saved Noah, but because Christ with his inward virtue, which the outward Baptism shadoweth, preserveth us being washed, so that we may call upon God with a good conscience.

\[ ^{2} \]The conscience being sanctified may freely call upon God.

\[ ^{3} \]That selfsame virtue, whereby Christ rose again, and now being carried into heaven, hath received all power, doth at this day defend and preserve us.

4:1 \( ^{1} \)Having ended his digression and sliding from his matter, now he returneth to the exhortation which he brake off, taking occasion by that which he said touching the death, and resurrection of Christ, so defining our sanctification, that to be sanctified, is all one as to suffer in the flesh, that is to say: to leave off from our wickedness and viciousness: and to rise again to God, that is to say, to be renewed, by the virtue of the holy Ghost, that we may lead the rest of our life which remaineth, after the will of God.

4:2 \( ^{1} \)So much of this present life as remaineth yet to be passed over.

4:3 \( ^{1} \)By putting us in mind of the dishonesty of our former life led in the filth of sin, he calleth us to earnest repentance.

\[ ^{2} \]Wickedly and licentiously after the manner of the Gentiles.

4:4 \( ^{1} \)That we be not moved with the enemies' perverse and slanderous judgments of us, we have to set against them that last judgment of God which remaineth for them, for none, whether they be then found living, or were dead before, shall escape it.

\[ ^{2} \]They think it a new and strange matter.

4:6 \( ^{1} \)A digression because he made mention of the last general judgement. And he preventeth an objection, that seeing Christ came very lately, they may seem to be excusable which died before. But this the Apostle denieth, for (saith he) this selfsame Gospel was preached unto them also: (for he speaketh unto the Jews) and that to the same end that I now preach it unto you, to wit, that the flesh being abolished and put away (that is to say, that wicked and naughty corruption which reigneth in men) they should suffer themselves to be governed by the virtue of the Spirit of God.
7 Now the end of all things is at hand. Be ye therefore sober, and watching in prayer.
8 But above all things have fervent love among you; for love shall cover the multitude of sins.
9 Be ye given to hospitality one to another, without grudging.
10 And let not an evil thing come of the gift, but of the gift be the minister the same one to another, as good disposers of the manifold grace of God.
11 If any man speak, let him speak as the words of God. If any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God ministereth, that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom is praise and dominion forever, and ever, Amen.
12 Dear beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial, which is among you, to prove you as though some strange thing were come unto you.
13 But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings, that when his glory shall appear, ye may be glad and rejoice.
14 If ye be railed upon for the Name of Christ, blessed are ye: for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: which on their part is evil spoken of, but on your part is glorified.
15 But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or an evil doer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters.
16 But if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed: but let him glorify God in this behalf.
17 For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God. If it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them which obey not the Gospel of God?
18 And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?
19 Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit their souls to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator.

5 1 He warneth the Elders not to usurp authority over the Church, 5 willing the younger sort to be willing to be taught, and to be modest. 8 to be sober and watchful to resist the cruel adversary.

1 The Elders which are among you, 1 I beseech which am also an Elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed,
2 1,2Feed the 3flock of God, 4which dependeth upon you, 5caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind:

3 Not as though ye were Lords over God's 1heritage, but that ye may be examples to the flock.

4 1And when that chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive an incorruptible crown of glory.

5 Likewise ye younger submit yourselves unto the Elders, and submit yourselves every man, one to another: 4deck yourselves inwardly in lowliness of mind: 2for 4God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.

6 Humble yourselves therefore 1under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time.

7 1Cast all your care on him: for he careth for you.

8 1Be sober, and watch: for your adversary the devil as a roaring lion walketh about, seeking whom he may devour:

9 Whom resist steadfast in the faith, 1knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your 2brethren which are in the world.

10 1And the God of all grace, which hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a little, make you perfect, confirm, strengthen, and establish you.

11 To him be glory and dominion forever and ever, Amen.

12 1By Silvanus a faithful brother unto you, as I suppose, have I written briefly, exhorting and testifying how that this is the true grace of God, wherein ye stand.

13 1The Church that is at Babylon elected together with you, saluteth you, and Mark my son.

14 Greet ye one another with the 7kiss of love. Peace be with you all which are in Christ Jesus, Amen.

5:2 1 The first rule: He that is a shepherd, let him feed the flock:

2 He saith not, Offer for the quick and dead, and sing patched shreds in a strange tongue, but (Feed.)

3 The second: Let the shepherd consider, that the flock is not his, but God's.

4 The third: Let not the shepherds invade other men's flocks, but let them feed that which God hath committed unto them.

5 Let the shepherds govern the Church with the word and example of godly and unblamable life, not by constraint but willingly, not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind, not as Lords over God's portion and heritage, but as his ministers.

5:3 1 Which is the Christian people.

4 1 That the shepherds' minds be not overcome either with the wickedness of men, or their cruelty, he warneth us to set the power of God against the vanity of proud men, and to hang wholly upon his providence.

5:8 1 The cruelty of Satan, who seeketh by all means to devour us, is overcome by watchfulness and faith.

5:9 1 The persecutions which Satan stirreth up are neither new nor proper to any one man, but from old and ancient time common to the whole Church, and therefore we must suffer that patiently wherein we have such and so many fellows of our conflicts and combats.

5:10 1 He sealeth up as it were with a seal the former exhortation with a solemn prayer, again willing them to ask increase of strength at his hands of whom they had the beginning, and hope to have the accomplishment, to wit, of God the Father in Jesus Christ in whom we are sure of the glory of eternal life.

5:11 1 Familiar salutations.

2 Amongst your brethren which are dispersed throughout the world.

5:12 1 Continuance and perseverance in the doctrine of the Apostles, is the only ground and foundation of Christian strength: Now the sum of the Apostles' doctrine, is salvation freely given of God.

5:13 1 In that famous city of Assyria, where Peter the Apostle of the circumcision then was.
1 Peter, verse 1

3 Having spoken of the bountifulness of God, 5 and of the virtues of faith, 6 he exhorteth them to holiness of life. 12 And that his counsel may be the more effectual. 14 He showeth that his death is at hand, 16 and that himself did see the power of Christ, which he opened unto them.

1 Simon Peter, a servant and an apostle of Jesus Christ, to you which have obtained like precious faith with us by the righteousness of our God and Savior Jesus Christ.

2 Grace and peace be multiplied to you, through the acknowledging of God, and of Jesus Christ our Lord.

3 According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the acknowledging of him that hath called us unto glory and virtue.

4 Whereby most great and precious promises are given unto us, that by them ye should be partakers of the divine nature, in that ye flee the corruption, which is in the world through lust.

5 Therefore give even all diligence thereunto: join moreover virtue with your faith: and with virtue, knowledge:

6 And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godliness:

7 And with godliness, brotherly kindness: and with brotherly kindness, love.

8 For if these things be among you, and abound, they will make you that ye neither shall be idle, nor unfruitful in the acknowledging of our Lord Jesus Christ:

9 For he that hath not these things, is blind, and cannot see far off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.

10 Wherefore, brethren, give rather diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall.

11 For by this means an entering shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

12 Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you always in remembrance of these things, though that ye have knowledge, and be established in the present truth.
13 For I think it meet as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stir you up by putting you in remembrance, 14 Seeing I know that the time is at hand that I must lay down this my tabernacle, even as our Lord Jesus Christ hath showed me.
15 I will endeavor therefore always, that ye also may be able to have remembrance of these things after my departing.

2 For we followed not deceitful fables, when we opened unto you the power, and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but with our eyes we saw his majesty:
17 For he received of God the Father honor and glory, when there came such a voice to him from that excellent Glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.
18 And this voice we heard when it came from heaven being with him in the holy mount.
19 We have also a most sure word of the Prophets, to the which ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawns, and the day star arise in your hearts.
20 So that ye first know this, that no prophecy of the Scripture is of any private interpretation:
21 For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the holy Ghost. 1 He foretelleth them of false teachers, 13 whose wicked sleights and destruction he declareth. 12 He understood them to bruit beasts, 17 and to wells without water, 20 because they seek to withdraw men from God to their old filthiness.
2 But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you: which privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that hath bought them, and bring upon themselves swift damnation.
1 And many shall follow their destroyers, by whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of.
3 And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you, whose condemnation long since resteth not, and their destruction slumbereth not.
4 For if God spared not the Angels that had sinned, but cast them down into hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be kept unto damnation:
5 Neither hath spared the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person a preacher of righteousness, and brought in the Flood upon the world of the ungodly.
6 And turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them and overthrew them, and made them an ensample unto them that after should live ungodly.
7 And delivered just Lot vexed with the uncleanly conversation of the wicked:
8 For he being righteous, and dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds.

1:13 1 In this body.
1:16 1 Another amplification taken both of the great certainty and also excellency of this doctrine, as whereof our Lord Jesus Christ the Son of God is author, whose glory the Apostle himself both saw and heard.
1:19 1 The truth of the Gospel is hereby also manifest, in that it agreeth wholly with the foretellings of the Prophets.
2 The doctrine of the Apostles doth not shut out the doctrine of the Prophets, for they confirm each other by each other’s testimonies, but the Prophets were as candles which gave light unto the blind, until the brightness of the Gospel began to shine.
3 A more full and open knowledge than was under the shadows of the Law.
4 That clearer doctrine of the Gospel.
1:20 1 The Prophets are to be read, but so that we ask of God the gift of interpretation: for he that is the author of the writings of the Prophets, is also the interpreter of them. 2 He joineth the Scripture and prophecy together to distinguish true prophecies from false.
3 For all interpretation cometh from God.
1:21 1 The godly interpreters and messengers.
2 Inspired of God: and these their motions were in very good order, and not such as were the motions of the profane soothsayers, and foretellers of things to come.
2:1 As in times past there were two kinds of Prophets, the one true, the other false, so Peter foretelleth them that there shall be some true and some false teachers in the Church, insomuch that Christ himself shall be denied by some, who notwithstanding shall call him redeemer.
9 The Lord knoweth to deliver the godly out of tentation, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment under punishment:

10 And chiefly them that walk after the flesh, in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government, which are bold, and stand in their own conceit, and fear not to speak evil of them that are in dignity.

11 Whereas the Angels which are greater both in power and might, give not railing judgment against them before the Lord.

12 But these as natural brute beasts, led with sensuality and made to be taken, and destroyed, speak evil of those things which they know not, and shall perish through their own corruption.

13 And shall receive the wages of unrighteousness, as they which count it pleasure daily to live deliciously.

14 Having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot company of the godly.

15 Which forsaking the right way, have gone astray following the way of 'Balaam, the son of Beor, which loved the wages of unrighteousness.

16 But he was rebuked for his iniquity: for the dumb beast speaking with man's voice forbade the foolishness of the Prophet.

17 These are 'wells without water, and clouds carried about with a tempest, to whom the 'black darkness is reserved forever.

18 For in speaking 'swelling words of vanity, they 'beguile with wantonness through the lusts of the flesh them that were 'clean escaped from them which are wrapped in error,

19 Promising unto them liberty, and are themselves the 'servants of corruption: for of whomsoever a man is overcome, even unto the same is he in bondage.

20 For if they, after they have escaped from the filthiness of the world, through the acknowledging of the Lord, and of the Savior Jesus Christ, are yet tangled again therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning.

21 For it had been better for them not to have acknowledged the way of righteousness, than after they have acknowledged it, to turn from the holy commandment given unto them.

22 But it is come unto them according to the true proverb, 'The dog is returned to his own vomit: and the sow that was washed, to the wallowing in the mire.

3 I showeth that he writeth the same things again. 2 Because they must often be stirred up, 3 because dangers hang over their heads through certain mockers. 8 Therefore he warneth the godly that they do not after the judgment of the flesh, 12 appoint the day of the Lord, 14 but that they think it always at hand, 15 in which doctrine he showeth that Paul agreeth with him.

1 This second Epistle I now write unto you, beloved, wherewith I stir up, and warn your pure minds,

2 To call to remembrance the words, which were told before of the holy Prophets, and also the commandment of us the Apostles of the Lord and Savior.

2:9 1 Hath been long practiced in saving and delivering the righteous.

2:10 1 He goeth to another sort of corrupt men, which notwithstanding are within the bosom of the Church, which are wickedly given, and do sedulously speak evil of the authority of Magistrates, (which the Angels themselves that minister before God, do not disapprove) A true and lively description of the Romish Clergy (as they call it).

2 Princes and great men, be they never so high in authority.

2:12 1 A lively painting out of the same persons, wherein they are compared to beasts, which are made to snare themselves to destruction, while they give themselves to fill their bellies. For there is no greater ignorance than in these men, although they most impudently find fault with those things which they know not; and it shall come to pass that they shall destroy themselves as beasts, with those pleasures wherewith they are delighted, and dishonor and defile the company of the godly.

2 Made to this end, to be a prey to others: so do these men willingly cast themselves into Satan's snares.

3 Their own wicked manners shall bring them to destruction.

2:13 1 Or, little rocks.

2 When as by being amongst the Christians in the holy banquets which the Church keepeth, they would seem by that means to be true members of the Church, yet they are indeed but blots on the Church.

2:14 1 He condemneth those men, as showing even in their behavior and countenance an inmeasurable lust, as making merchandise of the souls of light persons, as men exercised in all the crafts of covetousness, to be short, as men that sell themselves for money to curse the Sons of God after Balaam's example, whom the dumb beast reproved.

2:17 1 Another note whereby they may be well known what manner of men they are, because they have inwardly nothing but either utterly vain or very hurtful, although they make a show of some great goodness: but they shall not escape unpunished for it, because under pretence of false liberty, they draw men into most miserable slavery of sin.

2 Most gross darkness.

2:18 1 They deceive men with vain and swelling words.

2 They take them as fishes are taken with the hook.

2 Unfeignedly and indeed clean departed from Idolatry.

2:20 1 It were better never to have known the way of righteousness, than to turn back from it to the old filthiness: and men that do so are compared to dogs and swine.

3:1 1 The remedy against those wicked enemies both of true doctrine and holiness, is to be sought for by the continual meditation of the writings of the Prophets and Apostles.

3 1This first understand, that there shall come in the last days, 2mockers, which will walk after their lusts,

4 1And say, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the Fathers died, all things continue alike from the beginning of the creation.

5 1For this they willingly know not, that the heavens were of old, and the 2earth that was of the water, and by the water, by the word of God.

6 1Wherefore the world that then was, perished, overflowed with the 2water.

7 1But the heavens and earth, which are now, are kept by the same word in store, reserved unto fire against the day of condemnation, and of the destruction of ungodly men.

8 1Dearly beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord, 2as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.

9 1The Lord of that promise is not slack (as some men count slackness) 2but is patient toward us, and 3would have no man to perish, but would all men to come to repentance.

10 1But the day 2of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in the which the heavens shall pass away with a 2noise, and the elements shall melt with heat, and the earth with the works that are therein shall be burnt up.

11 1Seeing therefore that all these things must be dissolved, what manner persons ought ye to be in holy conversation and godliness.

12 1Looking for, and 2hasting unto the coming of that day of God, by the which the heavens being on fire, shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with heat?

13 1But we look for 2new heavens, and a new earth, according to his promise, 3wherein dwelleth righteousness.

14 Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot and blameless.

15 1And suppose that the long suffering of our Lord is salvation, 2even as our beloved brother Paul according to the wisdom given unto him wrote to you.

16 As one that in all his Epistles speaketh of these things: 3among the 4which, some things are hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable, wrest, as they do also other Scriptures unto their own destruction.

17 Ye therefore beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware, lest ye be also plucked away with the error of the wicked, and fall from your own steadfastness.

18 But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ: to him be glory both now and for evermore. Amen.

33 1He voucheth the second coming of Christ against the Epicureans by name.

2Monstrous men, who will seem wise by their contempt of God, and wicked boldness.

34 1The reason which these mockers pretend because the course of nature is all one as it was from the beginning: therefore the world is from everlasting, and shall be forever.

35 1He setteth against them the creation of heaven and earth by the word of God, which these men are willingly ignorant of.

2Which appeared when the waters were gathered together into one place.

36 1Secondly, he setteth against them the universal flood which was the destruction, as it were of the whole world.

2For the waters returning into their former place this world, that is to say, this beauty of the earth which we see, and all living creatures which live upon the earth perished.

37 1Thirsdly, he pronounceth that it shall not be harder for God to burn heaven and earth with fire in that day which is appointed for the destruction of the wicked, (which thing he will also do) than it was for him in times past to make them with his only word and afterward to overwhelm them with water.

38 1The taking away of an objection: in that he seemeth to defer this judgment a long season, in respect of us it is true, but not before God with whom there is no time either long or short.

39 1The Lord will surely come, because he hath promised: and that neither sooner nor later than he hath promised.

4 A reason why the latter day cometh not out of hand, because God doth patiently wait till the elect are brought to repentance, that none of them may perish.

3:10 1A very short description of the least distinction of the world, but in such sort as nothing could be spoken more gravely.

2With the violence as it were of a hissing storm.

3:11 1An exhortation to purity of life, setting before us that horrible judgment of God both to bridle our wantonness, and also to comfort us, so that we be found watching and ready to meet him at his coming.

3:12 1He requireth patience of us, yet such patience as is not slothful.

3:13 1In which heavens.

3:14 1That you may try to your profit, how gentle and peaceable he is.

3:15 Paul’s Epistles are allowed by the express testimony of Peter.

3:16 There be certain of these things obscure and dark, whereof the unlearned take occasion to overthrow some men that stand not fast, wresting the testimonies of the Scripture to their own destruction. But this is the remedy against such deceit, to labor that we may daily more and more grow up and increase in the knowledge of Christ.

That is to say, among the which things: for he disputeth not here whether Paul’s Epistles be plain or dark, but saith, that amongst those things which Paul hath written of his Epistles, and Peter himself in these two of his own, there are some things which cannot be easily understood, and therefore are of some drawn to their own destruction: and this he saith to make us more attentive and diligent, and not remove us from the reading of holy things, for to what end should they have written vain speculations?
THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERAL OF JOHN

1 1 He testifieth that he bringeth the eternal word, wherein is life, 5 and light. 9 God will be merciful unto the faithful, if groaning under the burden of their sins, they learn to flee unto his mercy.

1 That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with these our eyes, which we have looked upon, and these hands of ours have handled of that word of life,

2 (For that life was made manifest, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and show unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was made manifest unto us.)

3 That I say, which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye may also have fellowship with us, and that our fellowship also may be with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ.

4 And these things write I unto you, that your joy may be full.

5 This then is the message, which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness.

6 If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not truly.

7 But if we walk in the light as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin.

8 a If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and truth is not in us.

9 If we acknowledge our sins, he is faithful and just, to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

10 If we say, we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

2 1 He declareth that Christ is our mediator and advocate, 3 and showeth that the knowledge of God consisteth in holiness of life, 12 which appertaineth to all sorts, 14 that depend on Christ alone: 15 Then having exhorteth them to content themselves, 18 he giveth warning that Antichrists be avoided, 24 and that the known truth be stood unto.

1 My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not: and if any man sin, we have an

---

1:1 1 He beginneth with the description of the person of Christ, whom he maketh one and not two: and him both God from everlasting (for he was with the Father from the beginning, and is that eternal life) and also made true man, whom John himself and his companions, both heard and beheld, and handled.

2 I heard him speak, I saw him myself with mine eyes, I handled with mine hands him that is very God, being made very man, and not I alone, but others also that were with me.

3 That same everlasting word, by whom all things are made, and in whom only is life.

1:2 1 Being sent by him: and that doctrine is rightly said to be showed, for no man could so much as have thought of it, if it had not been thus showed.

1:3 1 The use of this doctrine is this, that all of us being coupled and joined together with Christ by faith, might become the Sons of God, in which thing only consisteth all happiness.

1:5 1 Now he entereth into a question, whereby we may understand that we are joined together with Christ, to wit, if we be governed with his light, which is perceived by the ordering of our life. And thus he reasoneth, God is in himself most pure light, therefore he agreeth with them, which are lightsome, but with them which are of the darksome he hath no fellowship.

1:7 1 God is said to be light of his own nature, and to be in light, that is to say, in that everlasting infinite blessedness: and we are said to walk in light, in that the beams of that light do shine unto us in the world.

2:1 1 A rehearsal of the former sentence: wherein he condemned all of sin without exception, insomuch that if any man persuade himself otherwise, he doth as much as in him lieth, make the word of God himself vain and to no purpose, yea he maketh God a liar, for to what end either in times past needed sacrifices or now Christ and the Gospel, if we be not sinners?

2:2 1 They do not only deceive themselves, but also are blasphemous against God.

3 1 His doctrine shall have no place in us, that is, in our hearts.

2:1 1 It followeth not hereof that we must give our wicked nature the bridle, or sin so much the more freely, because our sins are cleansed away by the blood of Christ but we must rather so much more diligently resist sin. And yet we must not despair because of our weakness, for we have an Advocate and a purger, Christ Jesus the just, and therefore acceptable unto his father.
2 Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the Just.
2 And he is the 'reconciliation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the 'whole world.
3 And hereby we are sure that we 'know him, if we keep his commandments.
4 He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.
5 But he that keepeth his word, in him is the 'love of God perfect indeed: hereby we know that we are in him.
6 He that saith he remaineth in him, ought even so to walk as he hath walked.
7 Brethren, I write no new commandment unto you, but an old commandment, which ye have had from the beginning: this old commandment is that word, which ye have heard from the beginning.
8 Again, a new commandment I write unto you, that 'which is true in him: and also in you: for the darkness is past, and that true light now shineth.
9 He that saith that he is in that light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness, until this time.

10 He that loveth his brother, abideth in that light, and there is no occasion of evil in him.
11 But he that hateth his brother, is in darkness, and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes.
12 Little children, I write unto you, because your sins are forgiven you for his 'Name's sake.
13 I write unto you, fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. I write unto you, young men, because ye have overcome that wicked one. I write unto you, little children, because ye have known the Father.
14 I have written unto you fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome that wicked one.
15 Love not this world, neither the things that are in this world. If any man love this world, the 'love of the Father is not in him.
16 For all that is in this world, (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not...
of the Father, but is of this world.

17 1 And this world passeth away, and the lust thereof; but he that fulfilleth the will of God, abideth ever.

18 1 Little children, 2 it is the last time, 3 and as ye have heard that Antichrist shall come, even now there are many Antichrists: whereby we know that it is the last time.

19 1 They went out from us, but they were not of us: for if they had been of us, 2 they should have continued with us. 3 But this cometh to pass, that it might appear, that they are not all of us.

20 1 But ye have an 2 ointment from that 3 Holy one, and know all things.

21 1 I have not written unto you, because ye know not the truth: but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.

22 1 Who is a liar, but he that denieth that Jesus is 2 that Christ? 3 the same is that Antichrist that denieth the Father and the Son.

23 1 Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father.

24 1 Let therefore abide in you that same which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning, shall remain in you, ye shall also continue in the Son, and in the Father.

25 1 And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even that eternal life.

26 1 These things have I written unto you, concerning them that deceive you.

27 1 But that anointing which ye received of him, dwelleth in you: and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and it is true and is not lying, and as it taught you, ye shall abide in him.

28 1 And now, little children, abide in him, that when he shall appear, we may be bold, and not be ashamed before him, at his coming.

29 1 If ye know that he is righteous, know ye that he which doeth righteously, is born of him.

3 1 Setting down the inestimable glory of this that we are God's sons, 2 he showeth that newness of life must be testified by good works, whereof charity is a manifest token. 19 Of faith, 22 and praying unto God.

1 1 Behold, 2,3 what love the Father hath given to both together, and at once. And they that do so do in vain boast and brag of God, for that in denying the Son the Father also is denied.

3 1 The true Messiah.
CHAPTER 3

1 Dearly beloved, now are we the sons of God, but yet it is not made manifest what we shall be: and we know that when he shall be made manifest we shall be like him: for we shall see him as he is.
2 And every man that hath this hope in him purgeth himself, even as he is pure.
3 Whosoever committeth sin, transgresseth also the Law: for sin is the transgression of the Law.
4 And ye know that he was made manifest, that he might take away our sins, and in him is no sin.
5 Whosoever abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoever sinneth, hath not seen him, neither hath known him.
6 Little children, let no man deceive you, he that doeth righteousness, is righteous, as he is righteous.
7 He that committeth sin is of the devil: for the devil sinneth from the beginning: for this purpose was made manifest that Son of God, that he might loose the works of the devil.
8 He is said to sin, that giveth not himself to pureness, and in him sin reigneth; but sin is said to dwell in the faithful, and not to reign in them.
9 Whosoever is born of God sinneth not: for his seed remaineth in him, neither can he sin, because he is born of God.
10 In this are the children of God known, and the children of the devil: whosoever doeth not righteousness, is not of God, neither he that loveth not his brother.
11 For this is the message that ye heard from the beginning, that we should love one another, 12 Not as Cain which was of that wicked one, and slew his brother: and wherefore slew he him? because his own works were evil, and his brother’s good.
13 Marvel not my brethren, though this world hate you.
14 We know that we are translated from death unto life, because we love the brethren: he that loveth not his brother, abideth in death.
15 Whosoever hateth his brother, is a manslayer: and ye know that no manslayer hath eternal life abiding in him.

3:1 That we should be the sons of God, and so that all the world may perceive we are so.
4 Before he declareth this adoption, he saith two things: the one, that this so great a dignity is not to be esteemed, according to the judgment of the flesh, because it is unknown to the world, for the world knoweth not God the Father himself.
3:2 The other. This dignity is not fully made manifest to ourselves, much less to strangers, but we are sure of the accomplishment of it, insomuch that we shall be like to the Son of God himself, and shall enjoy his sight indeed, such as he is now: but yet notwithstanding this is deferred until his next coming.
4:2 Like, but not equal.
3 For now we see as in a glass, 1 Cor. 13:12.

3:3 Now he describeth this adoption, (the glory whereof as yet consisteth in hope) by the effect, to wit, because that whosoever is made the Son of God, endeavoureth to resemble the Father in purity.
4 This word signifieth a likeness, but not in equality.
3:4 The rule of this purity can from no whence else be taken but from the Law of God, the transgression whereof is that which is called sin.
4 Giveth not himself to pureness.
3 A short definition of sin.
3:5 An argument taken from the material cause of our salvation: Christ in himself is most pure, and he came to take away our sins, by sanctifying us with the holy Ghost. Therefore, whosoever is truly partaker of Christ doth not give himself to sin: and so contrariwise he that giveth himself to sin knoweth not Christ.
3:6 He is said to sin, that giveth not himself to pureness, and in him sin reigneth, but sin is said to dwell in the faithful, and not to reign in them.
3:7 Another argument of things coupled together: He that liveth justly, is just, and resembleth Christ that is just, and by that is known to be the son of God.
3:8 An argument taken of contraries: the devil is the author of sin, and therefore he is of the devil, or is ruled by the inspiration of the devil that serve sin: and if he be the devil’s son, then is he not God’s son: for the devil and God are so contrary the one to the other, that even the Son of God was sent to destroy the works of the devil. Therefore on the contrary side, whosoever resists sin, is the Son of God, being born again of his spirit as of new seed, insomuch that necessity he is now delivered from the slavery of sin.
4:2 Resembleth the devil, as the child doth the father, and is governed by his spirit.
3 He saith not sinned, but sinneth, for he did nothing else but sin.
4 From the very beginning of the world.
3:9 The holy Ghost is so called of the effect he worketh, because by his virtue and mighty working, as it were by seed, we are made new men.
3:10 The conclusion, by a wicked life they are known which are governed by the spirit of the Devil, and by a pure life, which are God’s children.
4 He beginneth to commend charity towards the brethren, as another mark of the Sons of God.
3:11 The first reason, taken of the authority of God, which giveth the commandment.
3:12 An amplification, taken of the contrary example of Cain, which slew his brother.
4 He bringeth forth a very fit and very old example, wherein we may behold both the nature of the sons of God, and of the sons of the devil, and what state and condition remaineth for us in this world: and what shall be the end of both at length.
3:13 Another argument of things coupled together: He that loveth his brother, is a murderer, therefore he is in death. And thereupon followeth the contrary. He that loveth his brother, hath passed to life, for indeed we are born dead.
4:2 Love is a token that we are translated from death to life, for as such as by the effects the cause is known.
3:15 A confirmation: Whosoever is a murderer, is in eternal death, who so hateth his brother, is a murderer, therefore he is in death. And therefore he that loveth not his brother, is a manslayer, and ye know that no manslayer hath eternal life abiding in him.
16 1 Having spoken somewhat touching the trying of spirits: 4 For some speak after the world, 5 and some after God. 7 He returneth to charity. 11, 19 and by the example of God he exhorteth to brotherly love.

1 Dearly beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: for many false Prophets are gone out into the world.

2 1 Hereby shall ye know the Spirit of God, Every spirit which confesseth that 3 Jesus Christ is come in the 4 flesh is of God.

3 And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this is the spirit of Antichrist, of whom ye have heard, how that he should come, and now already he is in this world.

4 1 Little children, ye are of God, and have overcome them: for greater is he that is in you, than he that is in this world.

5 1 They are of this world, therefore spake they of this world, and this world heareth them.

6 1 We are of God, he that knoweth God, heareth us: he that is not of God heareth us not. Hereby know we the 2 Spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.

7 1 Beloved, let us love one another: 2 for love is of God.
cometh of God, and everyone that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God.

8 He that loveth not, knoweth not God, 1for God is love.

9 1Herein was that love of God made manifest amongst us, because God sent that his only begotten Son into this world, that we might live through him.

10 Herein is that love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be a reconciliation for our sins.

11 1Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.

12 1No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfect in us.

13 Hereby know we, that we dwell in him, and he in us: because he hath given us of his Spirit.

14 1And we have seen, and do testify, that the Father sent the Son to be the Savior of the world.

15 Whosoever 1confesseth that Jesus is the Son of God, in him dwelleth God, and he in God.

16 And we have known, and believed the love that God hath in us, 1God is love, and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him.

17 1Herein is that love perfect in us, that we should have boldness in the day of judgment: for 2as he is, even so are we in this world.

18 There is no 1fear in love, but perfect love casteth out our fear: for fear hath painfulness: and he that feareth, is not perfect in love.

19 1We love him, because he loved us first.

20 1If any man say, I love God, and hate his brother, he is a liar: 2for how can he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, love God whom he hath not seen?

21 41And this commandment have we of him, that he that loveth God, should love his brother also.

5 1He sheweth that brotherly love and faith are things inseparable: 10 And that there is no faith towards God, but by believing in Christ: 14 Hence proceedeth calling upon God with assurance: 16 and also that our prayers be available for our brethren.

1 Whosoever 1believeth that Jesus is that 2Christ, is born of God: and everyone that loveth him, which begat, loveth 1him also which is begotten of him.

2 1In this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God, and keep his commandments.
5:3 1 For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not burdensome.

4 1 For all that is born of God, overcometh this world: and this is the victory that hath overcome this world even our faith.

5 1 Who is it that overcometh this world, but he which believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?

6 1 This is that Jesus Christ that came by water and blood: not by water only, but by water and blood: and it is that Spirit that beareth witness: for that Spirit is truth.

7 For there are three, which bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the holy Ghost: and these three are one.

8 And there are three, which bear record in the earth, the Spirit, and the Water and the Blood: and these three agree in one.

9 1 If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for this is the witness of God, which he testified of his Son.

10 1 He that believeth in that Son of God, hath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God, hath made him a liar, because he believed not the record, that God witnessed of his Son.

11 1 And this is that record, to wit, that God hath given unto us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.

12 He that hath that Son, hath that life: and he that hath not that Son of God, hath not that life.

13 1 These things have I written unto you, that believe in the name of that Son of God, that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe in the Name of that Son of God.

14 1 And this is that assurance that we have in him, that if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us.

15 And if we know that he heareth us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions, that we have desired of him.
16 If any man see his brother sin a sin that is not unto death, let him ask, and he shall give him life for them that sin not unto death. There is a sin unto death, I say not that thou shouldst pray for it.

17 All unrighteousness is sin, but there is a sin not unto death.

18 We know that whosoever is born of God, sinneth not: but he that is begotten of God keepeth himself, and that wicked one toucheth him not.

19 Little children, keep yourselves from idols, Amen.

5:16 1 We have to make prayers not only for ourselves, but also for our brethren which do sin, that their sins be not unto them, to death: and yet he excepteth that sin, which is never forgiven, or the sin against the holy Ghost, that is to say, an universal and willful falling away from the known truth of the Gospel.

2 This is as much as if he said, Let him desire the Lord to forgive him, and he will forgive him being so desired.

5:17 1 The taking away of an objection: Indeed all iniquity is comprehended under the name of sin, but yet we must not despair therefore, because every sin is not deadly, and without hope of remedy.

5:18 1 A reason why not all, nay rather why no sin is mortal to some: to wit, because they be born of God, that is to say, made the sons of God in Christ, and being endued with his Spirit, they do not serve sin, neither are deadly wounded of Satan.

5:19 1 Every man must particularly apply to himself the general promises, that we may certainly persuade ourselves, that whereas all the world is by nature lost, we are freely made the sons of God, by the sending of Jesus Christ his Son unto us, of whom we are lightened with the knowledge of the true God, and everlasting life.

5:20 1 The divinity of Christ is most plainly proved by this place.

5:21 1 He expresseth a plain precept of taking heed of idols: which he setteth against the only true God, that with this seal as it were he might seal up all the former doctrine.
This Epistle is written to a woman of great renown, who brought up her children in the fear of God: that she accompany not with Antichrists, but avoid them.

The Elder to the elect Lady, and her children, whom I love in the truth: and not I only, but also all that have known the truth.

For the truth's sake which dwelleth in us, and shall be with us forever:

Grace be with you, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ the Son of the Father, with truth and love.

I rejoiced greatly, that I found of thy children walking in truth, as we have received a commandment of the Father.

And now beseech I thee, Lady, (not as writing a new commandment unto thee, but the same which we had from the beginning) that we love one another.

And this is that love that we should walk after his commandments. This commandment is, that as ye have heard from the beginning, ye should walk in it.

For many deceivers are entered into this world, which confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. He that is such one, is a deceiver and an Antichrist.

Look to yourselves, that we lose not the things, which we have done, but that we may receive a full reward.

Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son.

If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not to house, neither bid him Godspeed.

For he that biddeth him Godspeed, is partaker of his evil deeds. Although I had many things to write unto you, yet would I not write with paper and ink: but I trust to come unto you, and speak mouth to mouth, that our joy may be full.

The sons of thine elect sister greet thee, Amen.

1:1 This is no proper name, but to be taken as the word soundeth, that is to say to the worthy and noble Lady.
1:2 Excellent and honorable Dame.
1:3 The bond of Christian conjunction or linking together, is the true and constant profession of the truth.
1:4 With true knowledge, which hath always love joined with it, and following it.
1:5 This true profession consisteth both in love one toward another which the Lord hath commanded, and also especially in wholesome and sound doctrine, which also is delivered unto us: for the commandment of God is a sound and sure foundation both of the rule of manners and of doctrine, and these cannot be separated the one from the other.
1:6 According as the truth directeth them.
1:7 Antichrists fighting against the person and office of Christ, were already crept into the Church in the time of the Apostles.
1:8 He that maketh shipwreck of doctrine, loseth all.
1:9 Beware and take good heed.
1:10 We ought to have nothing to do with them that defend perverse doctrine.
He commendeth Gaius for hospitality, 9 and reprehendeth Diotrephes for vainglory: 10 he exhorteth Gaius to continue in well doing: 12 and in the end commendeth Demetrius.

1 The Elder unto the beloved Gaius whom I love in the truth.
2 Beloved, I wish chiefly that thou prosperedst and faredst well as thy soul prospereth.
3 For I rejoiceth greatly when the brethren came and testified of the truth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the truth.
4 I have no greater joy than these, that is, to hear that my sons walk in verity.
5 Beloved, thou doest faithfully, whatsoever thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers,
6 Which bore witness of thy love before the Churches, Whom if thou bringest on their journey as it seemeth according to God, thou shalt do well,
7 Because that for his Name's sake they went forth, and took nothing of the Gentiles.
8 We therefore ought to receive such, that we might be helpers to the truth.
9 I wrote unto the Church, but Diotrephes which loveth to have the preeminence among them, receiveth us not.
10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance his deeds which he doeth, prattling against us with malicious words, and not therewith content, neither he himself receiveth the brethren, but forbideth them that would, and thrusteth them out of the Church.
11 Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good: he that doeth well is of God: but he that doeth evil, hath not seen God.
12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the truth itself: yea, and we ourselves bear record, and ye know that our record is true.
13 I have many things to write: but I will not with ink and pen write unto thee:
14 For I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speak mouth to mouth. Peace be with thee. The friends salute thee. Greet thy friends by name.
3 He warned the godly to take heed of such men. 4 That make the grace of God a cloak for their wantonness; 5 and that they shall not escape unpunished, for the contempt of that grace. 6, 7 He proveth by three examples: 14 and allegeth the prophecy of Enoch: 20 Finally he sheweth the godly a means to overthrow all the snares of those deceivers.

1 Jude a servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James, to them which are called and sanctified of God the Father, and preserved to Jesus Christ:

2 Mercy unto you, and peace and love be multiplied.

3 Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you, to exhort you, that ye should earnestly contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was once given unto the Saints.

4 For there are certain men crept in, which were before of old ordained to this condemnation: ungodly men they are, which turn the grace of our God into wantonness, and deny God the only Lord, and our Lord Jesus Christ.

5 I will therefore put you in remembrance, forasmuch as ye once knew this, how that the Lord, after that he had delivered the people out of Egypt,

8 Likewise notwithstanding these 'sleepers also defile the flesh, and despise government, and speak evil of them that are in authority.

9 Yet Michael the Archangel, when he strove against the devil, and disputed about the body of Moses, durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but said, ‘The Lord rebuke thee.’

10 But these speak evil of those things, which they know not: and whatsoever things they know naturally as beasts, which are without reason, in those things they corrupt themselves.

11 Woe be unto them: for they have followed the way of Cain, and are cast away by the deceits of Balaam’s wages, and perish in the gainsaying of Korah.

12 These are rocks in your ‘feasts of charity,' destroyed them afterward which believed not.

6 The ‘Angels also which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day.

7 As Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities about them, which in like manner as they did, ‘committed fornication, and followed ‘strange flesh, are set forth for an example, and suffer the vengeance of eternal fire.

8 Likewise notwithstanding these ‘sleepers also defile the flesh, ‘and despise ‘government, and speak evil of them that are in authority.

9 Yet Michael the Archangel, when he strove against the devil, and disputed about the body of Moses, durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but said, ‘The Lord rebuke thee.’

11 Woe be unto them: for they have followed the way of Cain, and are cast away by the deceits of Balaam’s wages, and perish in the gainsaying of Korah.

12 These are rocks in your ‘feasts of charity,' destroyed them afterward which believed not.

7 As Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities about them, which in like manner as they did, ‘committed fornication, and followed ‘strange flesh, are set forth for an example, and suffer the vengeance of eternal fire.

12 These are rocks in your ‘feasts of charity,' destroyed them afterward which believed not.
when they feast with you, without all fear, feeding themselves: clouds they are without water, carried about of winds, corrupt trees and without fruit, twice dead, and plucked up by the roots.

13 They are the raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shames: they are wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever.

14 And Enoch also the seventh from Adam, prophesied of such, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with thousands of his Saints, 15 To give judgment against all men, and to rebuke all the ungodly among them of all their wicked deeds, which they have ungodly committed, and of all their cruel speakings, which wicked sinners have spoken against him.

16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts: whose mouths speak proud things, having men's persons in admiration, because of advantage.

17 But, ye beloved, remember the words which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ:

18 How that they told you that there should be mockers in the last time, which should walk after their own ungodly lusts.

19 These are they that separate themselves from others, natural, having not the Spirit.

20 But, ye beloved, edify yourselves in your most holy faith, praying in the holy Ghost.

21 And keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ, unto eternal life.

22 And have compassion of some, in putting difference:

23 And others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire, and hate even that garment which is spotted by the flesh.

24 Now unto him that is able to keep you that ye fall not, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with joy, 25 That is, to God only wise, our Savior be glory, and majesty, and dominion, and power, both now and forever, Amen.

1:12 Impudently, without all reverence either to God or man.
1:13 Most gross darkness.
1:14 The present time for the time to come.
1:17 The rising up of such monsters was spoken of before, that we should not be troubled at the newness of the matter.
1:19 It is the property of Antichrists to separate themselves from the godly, because they are not governed by the Spirit of God: and contrariwise is it the property of Christians to edify one another through godly prayers both in faith and also in love until the mercy of Christ appears to their full salvation.
1:22 Among them which wander and go astray, the godly have to use this choice, that they handle some of them gently, and that others some being even in the very flame, they endeavor to save with severe and sharp instruction of the present danger: yet so, that they do in such sort abhor the wicked and dishonest, that they eschew even the least contagion that may be.
1:23 By fearing them, and holding them back with godly severity.
2 An amplification taken from the forbidden things of the Law which did defile.
1:24 He commendeth them to the grace of God, declaring sufficiently that it is God only that can give us that constancy which he requireth of us.
THE

OF SAINT JOHN THE APOSTLE

1

2 He declareth what kind of doctrine is here handled. 8 even his that is the beginning and ending. 12 Then the mystery of the seven Candlesticks and stars, 20 is expounded.

1 The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to show unto his servants things which must shortly be done: which he sent, and showed by his Angel unto his servant John,

2 Who bare record of the word of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things that he saw,

3 Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand.

4 John to the seven Churches which are in Asia, Grace be with you, and peace from him, 3Which is, and Which was, and Which is to come, and from the 7seven Spirits which are before his Throne,

5 And from Jesus Christ 4which is that 6faithful witness, and 7that first begotten of the dead, and that Prince of the Kings of the earth, unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his 5blood,

6 And made us 5Kings and Priests unto God even his Father, to him, I say, be glory, and dominion for evermore, Amen.

7 Behold, he cometh with clouds, and every eye shall see him: yea, even they which pierced him through: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail before him, Even so, Amen.

8 4I am 2Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, Which is, and Which is asked by prayer of this Spirit, which is a divine work, and an action incommunicable, in respect of the most high Deity. Secondly, he is placed between the Father and the Son, as set in the same degree of dignity and operation with them. Besides he is before the throne as of the same substance with the Father and the Son: as the seven eyes and seven horns of the Lamb. Moreover, these spirits are never said to adore God, as all other things are. Finally, that is the power whereby the Lamb opened the book, and loosed the seven seals thereof when none could be found amongst all creatures by whom the book might be opened, Rev. 5. Of these things long ago, Master John Luide of Oxford wrote learnedly unto me. Now the holy Ghost is set in order of words before Christ, because there was in that which followeth, a long process of speech to be used concerning Christ.

1:1 1 This Chapter hath two principal parts, the title or inscription, which standeth instead of an exordium: and a narration going before the whole prophecy of this book: The inscription is double, general and particular. The general containeth the kind of prophecy, the author, and, matter, instruments, and manner of communicating the same, in the first verse: the most religious faithfulness of the Apostle, and, matter, instruments, and manner of communicating the whole prophecy of this book: The inscription is double, general which standeth instead of an exordium: and a narration going before the time, the third verse.

2 An opening of a secret and hid thing.

3 Which the Son opened to us out of his Father's bosom by Angels.

1:4 1 This is the particular or singular inscription wherein salutation is written unto certain Churches by name, which represent the Church time, the first verse: the most religious faithfulness of the Apostle as public witness, verse 2. And the use of communicating the same taken from the promise of God, and from the circumstance of the time, the third verse.

2 That is, from God the Father, eternal, immortal, immutable: whose unchangeableness S. John declareth by a form of speech which is unconfirmed. For there is no incongruity in this place, where, of necessity the words must be attempted unto the mysteries, not the mysteries corrupted or impaired by the word.

3 By these three times, Is, Was and shall be, is signified this word Jehovah, which is the proper name of God.

4 That is, from the holy Ghost which proceedeth from the Father and the Son. This Spirit is one in person according to his subsistence: but in communication of his virtue, and in demonstration of his divine works in those seven Churches, doth so perfectly manifest himself, as if there were many Spirits, every one perfectly working in his own Church, wherefore after Rev. 5:6, they are called the seven horns and seven eyes of the Lamb, as much to say, as his most absolute power and wisdom: and Rev. 3:1. Christ is said to have there seven Spirits of God, and Rev. 4:5, it is said, that seven lamps do burn before his throne, which also are those seven Spirits of God. That this place ought to be so understood, it is thus proved. For first grace and peace was, and Which is to come, even the Almighty.

9 1I John even your brother and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, was in the 2isle called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the witnessing of Jesus Christ.

10 And I was ravished in 3spirit on the 4Lord’s day, and heard behind me a great voice, as it had been of a trumpet, 11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, that first and that last: and that which thou seest write in a book, and send it unto the seven Churches which are in Asia, unto Ephesus, and unto Smyrna, and unto Pergamos, and unto Thyatira, and unto Sardis, and unto Philadelphia, and unto Laodicea.

12 Then I turned back to 5see the voice that spake with me: and when I was turned, I saw seven golden candlesticks, 13 And in the midst of the seven candlesticks, one like unto the son of man, clothed with a garment down to the feet, and girded about the paps with a golden girdle.

14 His head and hairs were white as white wool, and as snow; and his eyes were as a flame of fire, 15 And his feet like unto fine brass burning as in a furnace: and his voice as the sound of many waters.

16 And he had in his right hand seven stars: and out of his mouth went a sharp two edged sword, and his face shine as the sun shineth in his strength.

17 1And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead:
2then he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not: 3I am that 4first and that last,

18 And am alive, but I was dead: and behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen: and I have the keys of hell and of death.

19 Write these things which thou hast seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall come hereafter.

20 The mystery of the seven stars which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seven golden candlesticks, is this, The seven stars are the 2Angels of the seven Churches: and the seven candlesticks which thou sawest, are the seven Churches.

1 John is commanded to write those things which the Lord knew necessary to the Churches of Ephesus.

8 Of the Smyrnians, 12 of Pergamos, 18 and of Thyatira, as that they keep those things which they received of the Apostles.

1 Unto the Angel of the Church of Ephesus write, 2 These things saith he that holdeth the seven stars in his right hand, and walketh in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks.

1 I know thy works, and thy labor, and thy patience; and how thou canst not bear with them which are evil, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars.

2 And thou wast burdened, and hast patience, and for my Name's sake hast labored, and hast not fainted.

4 Nevertheless, I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love.

5 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent and do the first works: or else I will come against thee shortly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou amends.

6 But this thou hast that thou hastest the works of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.

7 Let him that hath an ear hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches: To him that overcometh, will I give to eat of the tree of life which is in Paradise of God.

8 And unto the Angel of the Church of the Smyrnians write. These things saith he that is first and last, which was dead and is alive.

9 I know thy works and tribulation, and poverty (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemy of them, which say they are Jews, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

10 Fear none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: behold, it shall come to pass, that the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried, and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto the death, and I will give thee the crown of life.

11 Let him that hath an ear hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches. He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death.

12 And to the Angel of the Church, which is at Smyrna, Thus saith he which hath the sharp sword with two edges.

13 I know thy works, and where thou dwellest, even where Satan's throne is, and thou keepest my Name, and hast not denied my faith, even in those days when Antipas my faithful martyr was slain among you, where Satan dwelleth.

14 But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that maintain the doctrine of Balaam, which taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, that they should eat of things sacrificed unto idols, and commit fornication.

15 Even so hast thou them that maintain the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which thing I hate.

16 Repent thyself, or else I will come unto thee shortly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

17 Let him that hath an ear, hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches. To him that overcometh, I will give to eat of the Tree that is hid, and will give him unto the end, to him will I give power over nations.

27 ¶ And he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and as the vessels of a potter, shall they be broken:

28 Even as I received of my Father, so will I give him the morning Star.

29 Let him that hath an ear, hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches.

3:1 The first Epistle sent to the Pastors of the Church of Sardis, 7 of Philadelphia, 14 And of the Laodiceans. 16 that they be not lukewarm, 20 but endeavor further God's glory.

1 ¶ And write unto the Angel of the Church which is at Sardis, These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars, I know thy works: for thou hast a name that thou livest, but thou art dead.

2 Be awake, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die: for I have not found thy work perfect before God.

3 Remember therefore, how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast and repent. If therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee.

4 Notwithstanding thou hast a few names yet in Sardis, which have not defiled their garments: and they that overcometh, shall be clothed in white garment, and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his Angels.

5 Let him that hath an ear, hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches.

2:17 4 The bread of life, invisible, spiritual, and heavenly, which is kept secretly with God, from before all eternity.

5 Which is a sign and witness of forgiveness and remission of sins, of righteousness and true holiness, and of purity uncorrupted, after that the old man is killed.

6 A sign and testimony of newness of life in righteousness and true holiness, by putting on the new man, which is in himself, the praise whereof is not of man, but of God, Rom. 2:28.

2:18 1 The fourth place is unto the Pastors of Thyatira. The exordium is taken out of verses 14 and 15 of the first Chapter.

2:19 1 The proposition of praise is in this verse: of reprehension, for they tolerated with them, the doctrine of ungodliness and unrighteousness, is verse 20, the authors whereof though they were called back of God, yet repented not verse 21, whereunto is added a most heavy threatening, verses 22 and 23, of a conditional promise, and of exhortation to hold fast the truth, is in the two verses following.

2 So he calleth those offices of charity which are done to the saints.

2:20 1 By Fornication, is often in the Scripture idolatry meant.

2:21 1 He pointeth out the bragging of certain men, which boasted of their deep, that is, plentiful and common knowledge, which notwithstanding is devilish.

2 I will speak no worse thing against you, being content to have showed you what I require to be in you.

2:26 1 The conclusion, wherein Christ assureth unto his servants the communion of his Kingdom and glory, in this verse and the next following, commandeth an holy attention in the last verse.

2:27 1 That is, I will make him a King by communion with me, and my fellow heir, as it is promised, Matt. 19:28 and 25:34; Rom. 8:17 and 1 Cor. 6:3; Eph. 2:6 and 1 Tim. 2:12.

2:28 1 The brightness of greatest glory and honor nearest approaching unto the light of Christ, who is the Son of righteousness, and our head, Matt. 4.

3:1 1 The fifth place is unto the Pastors of Sardis. The exordium is taken out of verses 4 and 16 of the first Chap.

2 Sardis is the name of a most flourishing and famous City, where the Kings of Lydia kept their courts.

3 The proposition of reproof is in this verse: of exhortation joined with a threatening in the two verses that follow, and of qualification by way of correction unto the comfort of the good which yet remained there, verse 4.

4 Thou art said to live, but art dead indeed.

3:2 1 Other things, whose state is such, that they are now going, and unless they be confirmed, will perish fortheith.

3:4 1 That is, who have with all religion guarded themselves from sin and moral contagion, even from the very show of evil, as S. Jude exhorteth, verse 23.

3:5 1 The conclusion standing upon a promise and a commandment as before.
saieth unto the Churches.

7 ¶ And write unto the Angel of the Church which is of Philadelphia. These things saith he that is Holy, and True, which hath the key of David, which openeth and shutteth, and shutteth and openeth.

8 I know thy works: behold I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my Name.

9 Behold, I will make them of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themselves Jews, and are not, but do lie: behold, I say, I will make them that they shall come and worship before thy feet, and shall know that I have loved thee.

10 Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, therefore I will deliver thee from the hour of temptation, which will come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth.

11 Behold, I come shortly: hold that which thou hast, that no man take thy crown.

12 Him that overcometh, will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the Name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is the new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God, and I will write upon him my new Name.

13 Let him that hath an ear, hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches.

14 And unto the Angel of the Church of the Laodicceans write, These things saith 2Amen, the faithful and true witness, that beginning of the creatures of God.

15 ¶ I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot: I would thou werest cold or hot.

16 Therefore because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, it will come to pass, that I shall spew thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing, and knowest not how thou art wretched and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked.

18 I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried by the fire, that thou mayest be made rich: and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that thy filthy nakedness do not appear: and anoint thine eyes with eye salve, that thou mayest see.

19 As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore and amend.

20 Behold, I stand at the door, and knock, 1If any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in unto him, and will sup with him, and he with me.

21 To him that overcometh, will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I overcame, and sit with my Father in his throne.

22 Let him that hath an ear, hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches.

4 Another vision containing the glory of God's Majesty: 3 which is magnified of the four beasts, 10 and the four and twenty Elders.

1 After this I looked, and behold, a door was open in heaven, and the first voice which I heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with me, saying, Come up hither, and I will show thee things which must be done hereafter.

2 And immediately I was raviished in the spirit, and behold, a throne was set in heaven, and one sat upon the throne.

3 And he that sat, was to look upon, like unto a Jasper stone, and a sardine, and there was a rainbow round about the throne, in sight like to an emerald.

4 And round about the throne were four and twenty seats, and upon the seats I saw four and twenty Elders sitting, clothed in white raiment, and had on their heads crowns of gold.

5 And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thuderings and voices, and there were seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven spirits of God.

6 And before the throne there was a Sea of glass like unto crystal: and in the midst of the throne, and round about the throne were four beasts, full of eyes before and behind.

7 And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calf, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying Eagle.

8 And the four beasts had each one of them six wings about him, and they were full of eyes within, and they ceased not day nor night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, Which was, and which is, and which is to come.

9 And when those beasts gave glory, and honor, and thanks to him that sat on the throne, which liveth forever and ever,

10 The four and twenty Elders fell down before him that sat on the throne, and worshipped him that liveth for evermore, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying,

11 Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory, and honor, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy will’s sake they are, and have been created.

The sum of their speech: that all glory must be given unto him, when we godly and reverently set forth that which is properly and only his.

4:10 Three signs of divine honor given unto God, prostration or falling down, adoration and casting their crowns before God, in which the godly, though made kings by Christ, do willingly empty themselves of all glory, moved with a religious respect for the majesty of God.

4:11 The sum of their speech: that all glory must be given unto God: the reason, because he is the eternal beginning of all things, from whose only will they have their being and are governed: and finally in all respects are that which they are.

That is, that thou shouldst challenge the same to thyself alone. But as for us, we are unworthy, that even by thy goodness we should be made partakers of this glory. And hitherto hath been handled the principal cause unapproachable, which is God.

5:1 A passing unto the second principal cause, which is the Son of God, God and man, the mediator of all, as the eternal word of God the Father manifested in the flesh. This chapter hath two parts: one that prepareth the way unto the Revelation, by rehearsal of the occasions that did occur in the first four verses. Another, the history of the Revelation of Christ, thence unto the end of the chapter.

That is, in the very right hand of God.

Here are showed the occasions for which this principal cause, and this Revelation was also necessary: the same are three, the first a present vision of the book of the counsels of God, concerning the government of this whole world, which book is said to be laid up with the Father as it were in his hand: but shut and unknown unto all creatures, in this verse. The second is a religious desire of the Angels of God to understand the mysteries of this book, verse 2, whereof see 1 Pet. 1:12. The third is a lamentation of Saint John and all the godly, moved by the same desire, verse 4, when they saw that it was a thing impossible for any creature to effect: which is declared in the third verse.

4:2 The manner of revelation, as before, 1:10.

2 See Rev. 1:12.

3 A description of God the Father, and of his glory in the heavens, framed unto the manner of men, by his office, nature, company, attending, effect, instruments and events that follow afterwards. In this verse, he is present in office a judge, as Abraham said, Gen. 18, which is declared by his throne, as an ensign of judgment, and his sitting thereupon.

4:3 By his nature, in that he is the Father, most glorious in his own person, and with his glory overshadowing all other things.

4:4 By the company attending about him in that, as that most high Judge, he is accompanied with the most honorable attendance of Prophets and Apostles, both of the old and new Church, whom Christ hath made to be Priests and Kings, Rev. 1:6 and 5:10.

4:5 By effects, in that most mightily he speaketh all things by his voice and word, as Ps. 29:3, and with the light of his spirit and providence peruseth and passes through all.

4:6 By instruments used, in that he both hath a most ready treasury, and as it were a workhouse excellently furnished with all things, unto the executing of his will, which things flow from his commandment, as is repeated, Rev. 15:2. And hath also the Angels most ready ministers of his counsels and pleasure unto all parts of the world, continually watching (in this verse) working by reason otherwise than the instruments, without life last mentioned, courageous as lions, mighty as bulls, wise as men, swift as eagles, verse 7, most apt unto all purposes, as furnished with wings on every part, most piercing of sight, and finally pure and perfect Spirits, always in continual motion, verse 8.

4:8 Every beast had six wings.

2 By events, in that for all the causes before mentioned God is glorified both of Angels, as holy, Judge, omnipotent, eternal and immutable, verse 8, and also after their example he is glorified of holy men (verse 9) in sign and in speech, verses 10, 11.
REVOLUTION 5:2

backside sealed with seven seals.

2 And I saw a strong Angel which preached with a loud voice. Who is worthy to open the book, and to loose the seals thereof?

3 And no man in heaven nor in earth, neither under the earth, was able to open the book, neither to look thereon.

4 Then I wept much, because no man was found worthy to open, and to read the book, neither to look thereon.

5 And one of the Elders said unto me, Weep not: behold, that Lion which is of the tribe of Judah, that root of David, hath obtained to open the book, and to loose the seven seals thereof.

6 Then I beheld, and lo, in the midst of the throne, and of the four beasts, and in the midst of the Elders stood a Lamb, as though he had been killed, which had seven horns, and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God, sent into all the world.

7 And he came, and took the book out of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne.

8 And when he hath taken the book, the four beasts, and the four and twenty Elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one harps and golden vials full of odors, which are the prayers of the Saints,

9 And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof, because thou wast killed, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation.

10 And hast made us unto our God Kings, and Priests, and we shall reign on the earth.

11 Then I beheld, and I heard the voice of many Angels round about the throne, and about the beasts and the Elders, and there were ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousand thousands, 12 Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was killed, to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honor, and glory, and praise.

13 And all the creatures which are in heaven, and on the earth, and under the sea, and in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I saying, Praise, and honor, and glory, and power be unto him, that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb for evermore.

14 And the four beasts said, Amen, and the four and twenty Elders fell down and worshipped him that liveth for evermore.

6 1 The Lamb openeth the first seal of the book. 3 The second, 5 the third, 7 the fourth, 9 the fifth, 12 and the sixth, and then arise murders, famine, pestilence, outcries of Saints, earthquakes, and divers strange sights in heaven.
6:1 This is the second part of the first history (which I said was common and of the whole world) of the works of God in the government of all things. Of this part there are generally 3 members, the foresignifying, the caution, and the execution of all the evils which God poureth out upon this world, which hath most hardly deserved of him. The foresignifying is set down in this chapter, the caution for preserving the Church, is in the next chapter, and the execution is described, Rev. 8:9. In every part of the foresignifying, there are three branches: the several and express calling of S. John, to prepare himself to take knowledge of the things that were to be showed unto him in the opening of the seals: the sign and the word expounding the sign: And albeit the express calling of S. John, be used only in four of the visions, yet the same is also to be understood in the rest that follow. The author of the foresignifying is the Lamb, as that word of the Father made the Mediator, opening the seals of the book. The instruments are the Angels in most of the visions, who expound the sign and words thereof. Now this first verse containeth an express calling of S. John to mark the opinion of the first seal.

6:2 The first sign joined with declaration, is that God for the sins, and horrible rebellion of the world, will invade the same: and first of all as afar off, with his darts of pestilence most suddenly, mightily, and gloriously, bear down the same as judge, and triumph over it as conqueror.

6:3 The second sign joined with words of declaration (after the express calling of S. John as before) is that God being provoked unto wrath by the obstinacy and hardheartedness of the world not repenting for the former plague, as setting upon the same hand, will kindle the fire of debate amongst men, and will destroy the inhabitants of this world, one by the sword of another.

6:5 The third sign with declaration, is that God will destroy the world with famine, withdrawing all provision: which is by the figure Synecdoche comprehended in wheat, barley, wine and oil.

6:6 Hereby is signified what great scarcity of corn there was, for the word here used is a kind of measure of dry things, which is in quantity but the eighth part of a bushel, which was an ordinary portion to name that sat on him was Death, and Hell followed after him, and power was given unto them over the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with beasts of the earth.

6:9 And when he had opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of them that were killed for the word of God, and for the testimony which they maintained.

6:10 And they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, Lord, which art holy and true! dost not thou judge and avenge our blood on them, that dwell on the earth?

6:11 And long white robes were given unto every one, and it was said unto them, that they should rest for a little season until their fellow servants, and their brethren that should be killed even as they were, were fulfilled.

6:12 And I beheld when he had opened the sixth seal, and lo, there was a great earthquake, and the Sun was as black as sackcloth of hair, and the Moon was like blood.

6:13 And the stars of heaven fell unto the earth, as a fig-tree casteth her green figs, when it is shaken of a mighty wind.

6:14 And heaven departed away, as a scroll, when it was rolled together as a book.
15 And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chief captains, and the mighty men, and every bondman, and every free man, hid themselves in dens, and among the rocks of the mountains,

16 And said to the mountains and rocks, Fall on us, and hide us from the presence of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb.

17 For the great day of his wrath is come, and who can stand?

7 The Angels coming to hurt the earth, are stayed until the elect of the Lord. Of all tribes were sealed. Such as suffered persecution for Christ's sake, have great felicity.

1 And after that, I saw four Angels stand on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the winds should not blow on the earth, neither on the sea, neither on any tree.

2 And I saw another Angel come up from the earth, neither on the sea, neither on any tree.

3 Hurt ye not the earth, neither the sea, neither any tree.

4 The Angels going forth, they go, they step not out of the way, that is, they depart not so much as a foot breadth from the path commanded them of God.

5 And I heard the number of them, which were sealed an hundred and four and forty thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel.

6 Out of the tribe of Judah were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Reuben were sealed twelve thousand.

7 Of the tribe of Simeon were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Levi were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Issachar were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Zebulun were sealed twelve thousand.

8 Of the tribe of Joseph were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Benjamin were sealed twelve thousand.

9 After these things I beheld, and lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations and kindreds, and people, and tongues stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with... long white robes, and palms in their hands.

10 1 And they cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation cometh of our God, that sitteth upon the throne, and of the Lamb.

11 And all the Angels stood round about the throne, and about the Elders, and the four beasts, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God, 12 Saying, Amen, Praise and glory, and wisdom, and thanks, and honor, and power, and might, be unto our God for evermore, Amen.

13 1 And one of the Elders spake, saying unto me, What are these which are arrayed in long white robes? and whence came they?

14 And I said unto him, Lord, thou knowest. And he said unto me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their long robes, and have made their long robes white in the blood of the Lamb.

15 Therefore are they in the presence of the throne of God, and serve him day and night in his Temple, and he that sitteth on the throne will dwell among them.

16 They shall hunger no more, neither thirst anymore, neither shall the sun light on them, neither any heat.

17 For the Lamb, which is in the midst of the throne, shall govern them, and shall lead them unto the lively fountains of waters, and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.

1 After the opening of the seventh seal, 3 the Saints’ prayers are offered up with odors.  6 The seven Angels come forth with trumpets.  7 The four first blow, and fire falleth on the earth, 8 the sea is turned into blood, 10, 11 the waters wax bitter.  12 and the stars are darkened.

1 1And when he had opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven about half an hour.

2 1And I saw the seven Angels, which stood before God, and to them were given seven trumpets.

3 Then another Angel came and stood before the Altar, having a golden censer, and much odors was given unto him, that he should offer with the prayers of all Saints upon the golden Altar, which is before the throne.

4 And the smoke of the odors with the prayers of the Saints, went up before God, out of the Angel’s hand.

5 And the Angel took the censer, and filled it with fire of the Altar, and cast it into the earth, and there were voices, and thunderings, and lightnings, and earthquake.

6  Then the seven Angels, which had the seven trumpets, prepared themselves to blow the trumpets.

7  So the first Angel blew the trumpet, and there was hail and fire mingled with blood, and they were cast into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all green grass was burnt.

8  And the second Angel blew the trumpet, and as it were a great mountain, burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood.

9  And the third part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of ships were destroyed.

10  Then the third Angel blew the trumpet, and there fell a great star from heaven, burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the rivers, and into the fountains of waters.

11  And the name of the star is called wormwood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormwood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12  And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the sun was smitten, and the third part of the moon was darkened: and the third part of the stars was smitten, that the third part of them was darkened: and the day was smitten, that the third part of it could not shine, and likewise the night.

13  And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the sounds to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blow the trumpets.

1 The fifth Angel bloweth his trumpet, 3 and spoiling locusts come out. 13 The sixth Angel bloweth, 16 and bringeth forth horsemen, 20 to destroy mankind.

1  And the fifth Angel blew the trumpet, and I saw a star fall from heaven unto the earth, and to him was given the key of the bottomless pit.

2 And he opened the bottomless pit, and there arose a smoke of the pit, the smoke of a great furnace, and the sun, and the air were darkened by the smoke of the pit.

3 And there came out of the smoke Locusts upon the earth, and unto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power.

8:6 1 This is the work of the administrators. The Angels the administrators of Christ, only by sounding trumpet and voice (for they are only as Heralds) do effectual call forth the instruments of the wrath of God, through his power. Hitherto have been things general. Now followeth the narration of things particular, which the Angels fix in number wrought in their order set out in verse 19 of the next chap., and is concluded with the declaration of the event which followed upon these things done in the world, and in chapters 10 and 11.

8:7 1 The first execution at the sound of the first Angel upon the earth, that is, the inhabitants of the earth (by Metonymy) and upon all the fruits thereof: as the comparing of this verse with the second member of verse 9 doth not obscurely declare.

8:8 1 The second execution, upon the sea in this verse and all things that are there in the next verse.

8:10 1 The third execution upon the floods and fountains, that is, upon all fresh waters, in this verse: the effect whereof is, that many are destroyed with the bitterness of waters, in the verse following.

8:11 1 This is spoken by Metaphor of the name of a most bitter herb, and commonly known, unless perhaps a man following those that note the derivation of words had rather expound it adjectively, for that which by reason or bitterness cannot be drunk; or which maketh the liquor into which is poured more bitter than that any man can drink the same.

8:12 1 The fourth execution upon these lightsome bodies of heaven, which minister unto this inferior world.

8:13 1 A lamentable prediction or foretelling of those parts of the divine execution which are yet behind: which also is a passage unto the argument of the next Chapter. Of all these things in a manner Christ himself expressly foretold in Luke 12:24: and they are common plagues generally denounced, without particular note of time.

9:1 1 The first execution upon the wicked men inhabiting the earth (as a little before the Angel said) wrought by the infernal powers, is declared in this place unto the eleventh verse. And after the sixth execution thence unto the nineteenth verse. And lastly is showed the common event that followed the former execution in the world, in the two last verses.

2 That is, that the Angel of God glittering with glory, as a star fell down from heaven. Whether thou take him for Christ, who hath the keys of hell himself, and by Principally authority, Rev. 1:18, or whether for some inferior Angel, who hath the same key permitted unto him, and occupieth it ministerially, or by office of his ministry, here, and Rev. 21, so the word falling, is taken, Gen. 14:10, and 24:64, and Heb. 6:6.

3 The key was given to his star. For those powers of wickedness are thrust down into hell, and bound with chains of darkness: and are there kept unto damnation, unless God for a time do let them loose, 2 Pet. 2:4; Jude 1:6, and of this book, Rev. 20:20, the history of which chapter hath agreement of time with this present chapter.

4 By the bottomless pit, he meaneth the deepest darkness of hell.

9:2 1 Unto this is added, the smoke of the hellish and infernal spirits, all dark, and darkening all things in heaven and in earth. The spiritual darknesses are the causes of all disorder and confusion. For the devil at a time certain (whereof the fifth verse) sent these darknesses into his kingdom, that he might at once and with one impression overthrow all things, and pervert if it were possible the elect themselves. By this darkness all spiritual light, both active as of the Sun, and passive, as of the air which is lightened by the Sun, is taken away: and this is that which goeth before the spirits. it followeth of the spirits themselves.

9:3 1 A description of the malignant spirits invading the world, taken from their nature, power, form and order. From their nature, for that they are like unto certain locusts, in quickness, subtlety, hurtfulness, number, and such like in this verse. From their power, for that they are as the scorpions of the earth, of a secret force to do hurt. For our battle is not here with flesh and blood, but with powers, etc., Eph. 6:12. This place of the power of the Devils generally noted in this verse, is particularly declared afterwards in the three next verses.
4 And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth, neither any green thing, neither any tree: but only those men which have not the seal of God in their foreheads.

5 And to them was commanded that they should not kill them, but that they should be vexed five months, and that their pain should be as the pain that cometh of a scorpion, when he hath stung a man.

6 Therefore in those days shall men seek death, and shall not find it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them.

7 And the form of the locusts was like unto horses prepared unto the battle, and on their heads were as it were crowns, like unto gold, and their faces were like the faces of men.

8 And they had hair as the hair of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lions.

9 And they had habergeons, like unto habergeons of iron, and the sound of their wings was like the sound of chariots when many horses run unto battle.

10 And they had tails like unto scorpions, and there were stings in their tails, and their power was to hurt men five months.

11 And they have a king over them, which is the Angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greek he is named Apollyon, that is, destroying.

12 One woe is past, and behold, yet two woes come after this.

13 ¶ Then the sixth Angel blew the trumpet, and I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar, which is before God,

14 Saying to the sixth Angel, which had the Decretals, which the trumpet of the fifth Angel had expressly forbid, and had hindered until this time. The effects of the bloody actions are declared upon the sixth verse: that the miserable world languishing in so great calamities, should willingly run together unto death, and prefer the same before life, by reason of the grievousness of the miseries that oppressed them.

9:2 1 The form of these hellish spirits and administers, is shadowed out by signs and visible figures in this sort: that they are very expert and swift: that wheresoever they are in the world, the kingdom of theirs: that they manage all their affairs with cunning and skill, in this verse, that making show of mildness and tender affection to draw on men withal, they most impudently rage in all mischief: that they are most mighty to do hurt, Verse 8, that they are freed from being hurt of any man, as armed with the color of religion, and sacred authority of privilege, that they fill all things with horror, Verse 9, that they are fraudulent: that they are venomous and extremely noisome, though their power be limited, Verse 10. All which things are properly in the infernal powers, and communicated by them unto their ministers and vassals.

9:11 1 The order of the powers of maliciousness: that they are subject to one infernal King, whom thou mayest call in English, The Destroyer: who driveth the whole world both Jews and Gentiles into the destruction that belongeth unto himself. And I cannot tell whether this name belongeth unto the Etymological interpretation of Hildebrand, by a figure often used in the holy Scripture: which albeit it may otherwise be turned of the Germans (as the sense of compound words is commonly ambiguous) yet in very deed it signifieth so much as if thou shouldest call him the firebrand, that is, he that setteth on fire those that be faithful unto him.

9:12 1 A passage unto the next point, and the history of the time following.

9:13 1 The sixth execution done upon the world by the tyrannical powers thereof working in the four parts of the earth, that is in most cruel manner executing their tyrannous dominion through the whole world, and killing the miserable people without punishment, which before was not lawful for them to do in that sort, as I showed upon the fourth verse. This narration has two parts: a commandment from God, in verse 14, and execution of the commandment, in the verse following.

2 The commandment given by Christ himself, who is governor over all.

3 He alludeth to the altar of incense, which stood in the Court which the Priests were in, over against the Ark of the Covenant, having a veil betwixt them.
15 And the four Angels were loosed, which were prepared at an hour, at a day, at a month, and at a year to slay the third part of men.

16 And the number of horsemen of war were twenty thousand times ten thousand: for I heard the number of them.

17 And thus I saw the horses in a vision, and them that sat on them, having fiery habergeons, and of hyacinth, and of brimstone, and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lions, and out of their mouths went forth fire, and smoke, and brimstone.

18 Of these three was the third part of men killed, that is, of the fire, and of the smoke, and of the brimstone, which came out of their mouths.

19 For their power is in their mouths, and in their tails: for their tails were like unto serpents, and had heads wherewith they hurt.

20 And the remnant of the men which were not killed by these plagues, repented not of the works of their hands that they should not worship devils, and idols of gold, and of silver, and of brass, and of stone, and of wood, which neither can see, neither hear, nor go.

21 Also they repented not of their murder, and of their sorcery, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

10 Another Angel appeareth with a cloud. 2 Holding a book open, and crieth out. 8 A voice from heaven commandeth John to take the book. 10 He eateth it.

1 And I saw another mighty Angel come down from heaven, clothed with a cloud, and the rainbow upon his head, and his face was as the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire.

2 And he had in his hand a little book open, and he put his right foot upon the sea, and his left on the earth,

3 And cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roar eth: and when he had cried, seven thunders uttered their voices.
4 1 And when the seven thunders had uttered their voices, I was about to write: but I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, 2 Seal up those things which the seven thunders have spoken, and write them not.

5 And the Angel which I saw stand upon the sea, and upon the earth, 1 lifted up his hand to heaven,

6 And sware by him that liveth for evermore, which created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, 1 that time should be no more.

7 But in the days of the voice of the seventh Angel, when he shall begin to blow the trumpet, even the mystery of God shall be finished, as he hath declared to his servants the Prophets.

8 1 And the voice which I heard from heaven, spake unto me again, and said, Go, and take the little book which is open in the hand of the Angel, which standeth upon the sea, and upon the earth.

9 So I went unto the Angel, and said to him, Give me the little book. And he said unto me, Take it, and eat it up, and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth as sweet as honey.

10 Then I took the little book out of the Angel's hand, and ate it up, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honey: but when I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

11 1 And he said unto me, Thou must prophesy again among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many Kings.

11 The temple is commanded to be measured. 3 The Lord stirreth up two witnesses, 7 whom the beast murdereth, 9 and no man believeth them. 11 God raiseth them to life, 12 and calleth them up to heaven, 13 the wicked are terrified, 15 by the trumpet of the seventh Angel the resurrection, 18 and judgment is described.

1 1 Then was given me a reed like unto a rod, and the Angel stood by, saying, Rise and 2 mete the Temple of God, and the Altar, and them that worship therein.

104 1 A godly care is laudable, but must be joined with knowledge. Therefore nothing is to be taken in hand, but by calling: which must be expected and waiting for of the godly.

2 Keep them close.

105 1 This was a gesture used of one that sweareth, which men do nowadays use.

106 1 Neither time itself, nor the things that are in time: but that the world to come is at hand which is altogether of eternity and beyond all times.

2 There shall never be anymore time.

107 1 Whereof Rev. 11:15 and 16:17.

108 1 The other part of this Chapter, concerning the particular calling of Saint John to the receiving of the prophecy following which is enjoined him, first by sign in three verses, then in plain words in the last verse. Unto the setting forth of the sign belong these things: That Saint John is taught from heaven to demand the book of the Prophecy in this verse: for these motions and desires God doth inspire: that demanding the book, he is charged to take it in a figurative manner, the use whereof also is expounded, the ninth verse, (as in the second Chapter of Ezekiel and the ninth verse) whence this similitude is borrowed last, for that Saint John at the commandment of Christ took the book, and found by experience that the same as proceeding from Christ was most sweet, but in that it foretelleth the afflictions of the Church it was most bitter unto his spirit.

10:11 1 A simple and plain declaration of the sign before going, witnessing the divine calling of S. John, and laying upon him the necessity thereof.

11:1 1 The authority of the intended revelation being declared, together with the necessity of that calling, which was particularly imposed upon Saint John: hereafter followeth the history of the estate of Christ's Church both conflicting or warfareing, and overcoming in Christ. For both the true Church of Christ is said to fight against that which is falsely so called over which Antichrist ruleth. Christ Jesus overthrowing Antichrist by the spirit of his mouth: and Christ is said to overcome most gloriously until he shall slay the Antichrist by the appearance of his coming, as the Apostle excellently teacheth, 2 Thess. 2:8. So this history hath two parts. One of the state of the Church conflicting with temptations, until Chapter 16. The other of the state of the same Church obtaining victory, thence unto Chapter 20. The first part hath two members most conveniently distributed into their times, whereof the first containeth an history of the Christian Church for 1260 years, what time the Gospel of Christ was as it were taken up from amongst men into heaven: the second containeth an history of the same Church unto the victory perfected. And these two members are briefly, though distinctly propounded in this Chapter, but are both of them more at large discussed after in due order. For we understand the state of the Church conflicting out of Chapters 12 and 13 and of the same growing out of afflictions out of Chapters 14, 15 and 16. Neither did Saint John at unawares join together the history of these two times in this Chapter, because here is spoken of prophecy, which all confess to be one just and innumerable in the Church, and which Christ commanded to be continual. The history of the former time reacheth unto verse 14: the latter is set down in the rest of this Chapter. In the former are showed these things: the calling of the servants of God in 4 verses: the conflicts which the faithful must undergo in their calling, for Christ and his Church, thence unto verse 10, and their resurrection and receiving up into heaven unto verse 14. In the calling of the servants of God are mentioned two things: the begetting and setting of the Church in two verses, and the education thereof in two verses. The begetting of the Church is here commended unto S. John by sign and by speech: the sign is a measuring rod, and the speech a commandment to measure the Temple of God, that is, to reduce the same unto a new form: because the Gentiles are already entered into the Temple of Jerusalem, and shall shortly defile and overthrow the same utterly.

2 Either that of Jerusalem which was a figure of the Church of Christ, or that heavenly Example, whereof verse 19, but the first liketh me better and the things following do agree thereunto. The sense therefore is, Thou seest all things in God's house almost from the passion of Christ to be disordered: and that not only the city of Jerusalem but also the court of the Temple is trampled underfoot by the nations, and by profane men whether Jews or strangers: and that only the Temple, that is, the body of the Temple, with the Altar, and a small company of good men which truly worship God, do now remain, whom God doth sanctify and confirm by his presence. Measure therefore this, even this true Church, or rather the true type of the true Church, omitting the rest and so describe all things from me that the true Church of Christ may be as it were a very little center, and the Church of Antichrist as the circle of the center, every way in length and breadth compassing about the same, that by way of prophecy thou mayest so declare openly, that the state of the Temple of God and the faithful which worship him, that is, of the Church, is much more straight than the Church of Antichrist.
2  But the 4Court which is without the Temple cast out, and mete it not: for it is given unto the 4Gentiles, and the holy city shall they tread under foot, two and forty Months.

3  But 1I will give power unto my two witnesses the sea, verse 6, as it described, 2 Cor. 10:4, according to the promise administers thereof, and destroying the enemies in this verse, virtue.

4  These are two olive trees, and two candlesticks, standing before the God of the earth.

5  And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouths and devoureth their enemies:

6  These have power to shut heaven, that it rain not in the days of their prophesying, and have power over waters to turn them into blood, and to smite the earth with all manner plagues, as often as they will.

7  And when they have finished their testimony, 1the beast that cometh out of the bottomless pit, shall make war against them, and shall overcome them, and kill them.

8  And their corpses shall lie in the 1streets of the great city, which 3 spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, 4 where our Lord also was crucified.
9 And they of the people and kindreds, and tongues, and Gentiles, shall see their corpses 4 three days and an half, and shall not suffer their carcasses to be put in graves.
10 And they that dwell upon the earth, 1 shall rejoice over them, and be glad, and shall send gifts one to another, for these two Prophets vexed them that dwelt on the earth.
11 But after three days and an half, 1 the spirit of life coming from God, shall enter into them, and they 3 shall stand up upon their feet: and great fear shall come upon them which saw them.
12 And they shall hear a great voice from heaven, saying unto them, 4 Come up hither: And they shall ascend up to heaven in a cloud, 4 and their enemies shall see them.
13 1 And the same hour shall there be a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city shall fall, and in the earthquake shall be slain in number seven thousand: and the remnant were sore feared, 4 and gave glory to God of heaven.
14 1 The second woe is past, and behold, the third woe will come anon.
15 1 And the seventh Angel blew the trumpet, and there were great voices in heaven, saying, 2 The kingdoms of the world are our Lord’s, and his Christ’s, and he shall reign for evermore.
16 1 Then the four and twenty Elders, which sat before God on their seats, fell upon their faces and worshipped God.
17 Saying, We give thee thanks, Lord God Almighty, Which art, and which wast, and which art to come: for thou hast received thy great might, and hast obtained thy kingdom.
18 1 And the Gentiles were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldest give reward unto thy servants the Prophets, and to thy Saints, and to them that fear thy Name, to small and great, and shouldest destroy them, which destroy the earth.
19 Then the Temple of God was 1opened in heaven, and there was seen in the Temple the Ark of his covenant: and there were lightnings, and voices, and thunderings, and earthquake, and much hail.

12 1 A woman clothed with the Sun, and the Moon was under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve Stars.

2 And she was with child, and cried travailing in birth, and was pained ready to be delivered.

3 And there appeared another wonder in heaven: for behold, a great red dragon having 7seven heads, and ten 3horns, and seven crowns upon his heads:

4 1And his tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and cast them to the earth. And the dragon 3stood before the woman, which was ready to be delivered, 8to devour her child, when she had brought it forth.

5 1So she brought forth a man 3child, which should rule all nations with a rod of iron: and that her child was taken up unto God and to his throne.

6 1And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that 7they should feed her there a thousand, two hundred and 7 And there was a battle in heaven, Michael and his angels, fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought and his angels.

8 And they prevailed not, neither was their place found anymore in heaven.

9 And the great dragon that old serpent, called the devil and Satan, was cast out, which deceived all the world: he was cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

10 And I heard a loud voice in heaven, saying, Now is salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night.

11 But they overcome him by that blood of that Lamb, and by that word of their testimony, and they loved not their lives unto the death.

12 Therefore rejoice, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the sea: for the devil is come down unto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time.

13 And when the dragon saw that he was cast unto the earth, he persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man child.

14 But to the woman were given two wings of a great Eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness, into her place where she is nourished for a time, and times, and half a time, from the presence of the serpent.

15 And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that he might cause her to be carried away of the flood.

16 But the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth.

17 And the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ.

18 And I stood on the sea sand.

12:1 They were cast out, so that they were never seen anymore in heaven.

12:10 I Christ is the Prince of Angels, and head of the Church, who beareth that iron rod, the fifth verse. See the notes upon Daniel, Dan. 12:1. In this verse a description of the battle and of the victory in the two verses following. The Psalmist had respect unto this battle, Ps. 68:9, and Paul, Eph. 4:1 and Col. 2:15.

12:8 I The description of the victory, by denying of the thing in this verse, and by affirming the contrary in the next verse. As that Satan gained nothing in heaven but was by the power of God thrown down into the world, whereof he is the prince, Christ himself and his elected members standing still by the throne of God.

12:9 They were cast out, so that they were never seen anymore in heaven.

12:11 1 He is said in the Hebrew tongue, to love his life that esteemeth nothing more precious than his life: and on the other side, he is said not to love his life, who doubteth not to hazard it, wheresoever need requireth.

12:13 1 The third part: an history of the woman delivered, consisting of two members, the second battle of Satan against the Christian Church of the Jewish nation, in four verses: and the battle intended against the seed thereof, that is against the Church of the Gentiles, which is called holy, by reason of the Gospel of Christ in the two last verses.

12:14 1 That is, being strengthened with divine power: and taught by oracle, she fled swiftly from the assault of the devil, and from the common destruction of Jerusalem, and went into a solitary City beyond Jordan called Pella, as Eusebius telleth in the first Chapter of the third book of his Ecclesiastical history, which place God had commanded her by Revelation. Into that place where God had appointed her.

2 That is, for three years and a half: so the same speech is taken, Dan. 7:15: This space of time is reckoned in manner from that last and most grievous rebellion of the Jews, unto the destruction of the city and Temple, for their destruction or falling away, began in the twelfth year of Nero, before the beginning whereof, many foresigns and predictions were showed from heaven, as Josephus writeth, lib. 7, chap. 12, and Hegesippus, lib. 5, chap. 44, amongst which this is very memorable, that in the feast of Pentecost, not only a great sound and noise was heard in the Temple, but also a great voice was heard of many out of the Sanctuary which cried out to all, Let us depart hence. Now three years and a half after this defection was begun of the Jews, and those wonders happened, the City was taken by force, the Temple overthrown, and the place forsaken of God: and this compass of time Saint John noted in this place.

12:15 1 That is, he inflamed the Romans and the nations, that they persecuting the Jewish people with cruel arms might by the same occasion invade the Church of Christ, now departed from Jerusalem and out of Judea. For it is an usual thing in Scripture that the raging tumults of the nations, should be compared unto waters.

12:16 1 That is, there was offered in their place other Jews, unto the Romans and nations raging against that people: and it came to pass thereby that the Church of God was saved whole from that violence, that most raging flood of persecution which the Dragon vomited out being altogether spent in the destruction of those other Jews.

12:17 1 Being set on fire by this means, he began to be more mad, and because he perceived that his purpose against the Christian Church of the Jewish remnant was come to nought, he resolved to fall upon her seed, that is, the Church gathered also by God of the Gentiles, and the holy members of the same. And this is that other branch, as I said upon verse 13, in which the purpose of Satan is showed, verse 17, and his attempt, verse 18.

12:18 1 That is, a most mighty tempest, that he rushed upon the whole world (whose prince he is) to raise the floods and provoke the nations, that they might with their furious bellows toss up and down, drive here and there, and finally destroy the Church of Christ with the holy members of the same. But the providence of God resisted his attempt, that he might favor the Church of the Gentiles, yet tender and as it were green. The rest of the story of the Dragon is excellently prosecuted by the Apostle S. John hereafter in the twentieth chapter. For here the Dragon endeavoring to do mischief, was by God cast into prison.
13 The beast with many heads is described, which draweth the most part of the world to idolatry. 13 The other beast rising out of the earth, giveth power unto him.

1 And I saw a beast rise out of the sea, having seven heads, and ten horns, and upon his horns were ten crowns, and upon his head the name of blasphemy.

2 And the beast which I saw was like a leopard, and his feet like a bear, and his mouth as the mouth of a Lion: and the dragon gave him his power and his throne, and great authority.

3 And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondered and followed the beast.

4 And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast, and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like unto the beast? who is able to war with him?

13:1 The Apostle having declared the springing up of the Christian Church and the state of the Church from which ours taketh her beginning, doth now pass unto the story of the progress thereof, as I showed in the entrance of the former Chapter. And this history of the progress of the Church, and the battles thereof, is set down in this Chapter, but distinctly in two parts, one is of the civil Roman Empire, unto the tenth verse. Another of the body Ecclesiastical or prophethial, thence unto the end of the chapter. In the former part are showed these things: First the state of that Empire, in four verses: then the acts thereof in three verses: after the effect, which is exceeding great glory, verse 8. And last of all is commended the use: and the instruction of the godly against the evils that shall come from the same, verses 9, 10. The history of the state containeth a most ample description of the beast, first entire, verses 1, 2, and then restored after hurt, verses 3, 4.

2 On the sand whereof stood the devil practicing new tempests against the Church, in the verse next foregoing: what time the Empire of Rome was endangered by domestical dissensions, and was mightily tossed, having ever and anon new heads, and new Emperors. See in the seventeenth chapter and the eighth verse.

3 Having the same instruments of power, providence, and most expert government which the Dragon is said to have had in Rev. 12:3.

4 We read in chapter 12 and third verse, that the Dragon had seven crowns set upon seven heads: because the thief announced himself to be proper Lord and Prince of the world: but this beast is said to have ten crowns set upon several, not heads, but horns: because the beast is beholden for all unto the Dragon, verse 2, and doth otherwise reign them by law of subjection given by himself, namely that he employ his horns against the Church of God. The speech is taken from the ancient custom and form of dealing in such case: by which they that were absolute kings did wear the diadem upon their heads, and new Emperors. See in the seventeenth chapter and the eighth verse.

5 The Pope is the wonder of the world. Nec Deus es, nec homo, sed neuter es inter utrumque. Thou art not God, nay art thou man, but neuter mixed of both: as the gloss witnesseth upon the sixth book: but they were bold to take unto themselves the very name of God, and to accept it given of other: according as almost an hundred and twenty years since, there was made for Sixtus the fourth, when he should first enter into Rome in his dignity Papal, a Pageant of triumph, and cunningly fixed upon the gate of the city he should enter at, having written upon it this blasphemous verse: Oracle vocis mundi moderaris habenas. Et mento in terris credens esse deus. By oracle of thine own voice the world thou governest all, And worthily a God on earth, men think, and do thee call.

These and six hundred the like who can impute unto that modesty whereby good men of old would have themselves called the servants of the servants of God, verily either this is a name of blasphemy, or there is none at all.

13:2 Swift as the Leopard, easily clasping all things, as the bear doth with his foot, and tearing and devouring all things with the mouth as doth the Lion.

1 That is, he lent the same unto the beast to use, when he perceived that himself could not escape, but must needs be taken by the hand of the Angel, and cast into the bottomless pit, Rev. 20, yet did not he abandon the same utterly from himself, but that he might use it as long as he could.

13:3 This is the other place that pertaineth to the description of the beast of Rome: that besides that natural dignity and amplitude of the Roman Empire, which was shadowed in the two former verses, there was added this also as miraculous, that one head was wounded as it were unto death, and was healed again, as from heaven, in the sight of all men. This head was Nero the Emperor, in whom the race of the Caesars fell from imperial dignity, and the government of the Roman Emperors: Lastly, the adoration of the beast himself, who sustains the Empire and governeth it: Secondly the obedience and submission of the whole earth in this verse: Thirdly, the adoration of the Dragon, and most wicked worshipping of Devils, confirmed by the Roman Emperors: Lastly, the adoration of the beast himself, who grew into so great estimation, as that both the name and worship of a God was given unto him, the fourth verse. Now there were two causes which brought in the minds of men this religion: the show of excellency, which bringeth with it reverence: and the show of power invincible, which bringeth fear. Who is like (say they) unto the beast? Who shall be able to fight with him?
5 1And there was given unto him a mouth, that spake great things and blasphemies, and power was given unto him, 2to do two and forty months.
6 And he opened his mouth unto blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his Name, 1and his tabernacle, 1and them that dwell in heaven.
7 And it was given unto him to make war with the Saints, and to overcome them, and power was given him over every kindred, and tongue, and ation.
8 Therefore all that dwell upon the earth, shall worship him, 1whose names are not written in the book of life of that Lamb, which was slain from the beginning of the world.
9 1If any man have an ear let him hear.
10 If any lead into captivity, he shall go into captivity:
11 And I beheld, another beast coming out of the earth, 2which had two horns like the Lamb, but he spake like the dragon.
12 1And he did all that the first beast could do before him, and he caused the earth and them which dwell therein, 2to worship the first beast whose deadly wound was healed.
13 1And he did great wonders, so that he made

135 1The second member containing an history of the acts of the beast, as I said verse 1. The history of them is concluded in two points, the beginning and the manner of them. The beginning is the gift of the dragon, who put and inspired into the beast both his impiety against God, and his eminency and injustice against all men, especially against the godly and those that were of the household of faith, the fifth verse. The manner of the acts or actions done, is of two sorts both impious in mind, and blasphemous in speech against God, his Church and the godly, verse six, and also most cruel and injurious in deeds, even such as were done of most raging enemies and of most insolent and proud conquerors, the seventh verse.
2 Namely his actions and manner of dealing. As concerning those two and forty months, I have spoken of them before in the twelfth Chapter and second verse.
136 1That is, the holy Church, the true house of the living God.
2 That is, the godly in several who hid themselves from his cru­ ely: For this bloody beast surcharged those holy souls most falsely with innumerable accusations for the Name of Christ, as we read in Justin Martyr, Tertullian, Amobius, Minutius, Eusebius, Augustine, and others: which example the latter times followed most diligently in destroying the flock of Christ and we in our own memory have found by experience to our incredible grief. Concerning heaven, see the eleventh Chapter and twelfth verse.
138 1That is, such as are not from everlasting elect in Christ Jesus.
For this is that Lamb slain, of which the fifth Chapter, verse six. These words I do with Aretas distinguish in this manner: Whose names are not written even from the laying of the foundation of the world, in the book of life, of the Lamb slain. And this distinction is confirmed by a like place hereafter, Rev. 17:8.
139 1The conclusion of this speech of the first beast, consisting of two parts, An exhortation to attentive audience in this verse: and a foretelling, which partly containeth threatenings against the wicked, and partly comforts for those which in patience and faith shall wait for that glorious coming of our Lord and Savior Christ, the tenth verse.
1311 1The second member of the vision, concerning the ecclesiastical dominion, which in Rome succeeded that which was politic, and is in the power of the corporation of false Prophets, and of the forgers of false doctrine. Wherefore the same body or corporation is called of S. John by the name of false prophet, Rev. 6:13, 19 and 20. The form of this beast is first described in this verse, then his acts, in the verses following, and the whole speech is concluded in the last verse. This beast is by his breed a Son of the earth (as they say) obscurely born, and by little and little creeping up out of his abject estate.
2 That is, in show he resembled the Lamb (for what is more mild or more humble than to be the servant of the servants of God) but in deed he played the part of the Dragon, and of the Wolf, Matt. 7:15.
For even Satan changeth himself into an Angel of light, 2 Cor. 11:14, and what should his honest disciples and servants do?
1312 1The history of the acts of this beast containeth in sum three things, hypocrisy, the witness of miracles and tyranny: of which the first is noted in this verse, the second in the 3 verses following: the third in the sixteenth and seventeenth verses. His hypocrisy is most full of leasing, whereby he abuseth both the former beast and the whole world: in that albeit he hath by his cunning, as it were by lime made of the former beast a most miserable ... or anatomy, usurped all his authority unto himself and most impudently exerciseth the same in the sight and view of him: yet he carrieth himself so, as if he honored him with most high honor, and did in very truth cause him to be honored of all men.
2 For unto this beast of Rome, which of civil Empire is made an Ecclesiastical hierarchy, are given divine honors, and divine authority so far as he is believed to be above the Scriptures, which the gloss upon the Decretals declareth by this devilish verse, Articulos solvit, synodumque facit generalem,
That is,
He changeth the Articles of faith, and giveth authority to general Counsels.
Which is spoken of the Papal power. So the beast is by birth, foundation, feat, and finally substance, one: only the Pope hath altered the form and manner thereof being himself the head both of that tyrannical Empire, and also of the false Prophets, for the Empire hath he taken unto himself, and thereunto hath added this cunning device. Now these words, whose deadly wound was cured are put here for distinction sake, as also sometimes afterwards: that even at that time the godly readers of this prophecy might by this sign be brought to see the things as present: as it were said, that they might adore this very Empire that now is, whose head we have seen in our own memory to have been cut off, and to be cured again.
1313 1 The second point of the things done by the beast, is the credit of great wonders or miracles, appertaining to the strength of this impi­ ety: of which signs some were given from above, as it is said, that fire was sent down from heaven by false sorcery, in this verse. Others were showed here below in the sight of the beast to establish idolatry, and deceive souls, which part S. John setteth forth beginning (as they say) at that which is last, in this manner: First the effect is declared in these words, He deceiveth the inhabitants of the earth. Secondly the common manner of working in two sorts, one of miracles. For the signs that were given him to do in the presence of the beasts: the other of the words added to the signs, and teaching the idolatry confirmed by those signs, Saying unto the inhabitants of the earth, that they should make an image unto the beasts which, etc. Thirdly, a special manner is declared:
That is given unto him to put life into the image of the beast: and that such a kind of quickening, that the same both spakeith by answer unto those that ask counsel of it, and also pronounceth death against all those that do not obey nor worship it: all which things oftentimes by false miracles through the procurement and inspiration of the Devil, fire to come down from heaven on the earth, in the sight of men.

14 And deceived them that dwell on the earth by the signs which were permitted to him to do in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the image of the beast, which had the wound of a sword, and did live.

15 And it was permitted to him to give a spirit unto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speak, and should cause that as many have been effected and wrought in images. The histories of the Papists are full of examples of such miracles, the most of them feigned, many also done by the devil in images: as of old in the serpent, Gen. 3:1. By which examples is confirmed, not the authority of the beast, but the truth of God, and of these prophecies.

13:14 1 That is, images by enalilage or change of the number: for the worship of them ever since the second Council of Nice, hath been ordained in the Church by public credit, and authority contrary unto the Law of God.

2 In the Greek the word is in the Dative case, as much to say, as unto the worship, honor and obeying of the beast: for by this maintenance of images this Pseudoprophetical beast doth mightily profit the beast of Rome, of whom long ago he received them. Wherefore the same is hereafter very fitly called the image of the beast, for that images have their beginning from the beast, and have their form or manner from the will of the beast, and have their end and use fixed in the profit and commodity of the beast.

13:15 1 And of this miracle of the images of the beast (that is, which the beast hath ordained to establish idolatry) which miraculously speak and give judgment, or rather marvelously, by the fraud of the false prophets, the Papists books are full fraughted.

2 To give life as Jannes and Jambres imitated the wonders that Moses wrought.

13:16 1 The third place, is a most wicked and most insolent tyranny as was said before, usurped over the persons of men in this verse, and over their goods and actions, in the next verse. For he is said, both to bring upon all persons a tyrannous servitude, that as bondslaves they might serve the beast: and also to exercise over all their goods and actions, a peddler-like abuse of indulgences and dispensations (as they term them) amongst their friends, and against others to use most violent interdicitions, and to shoot out cursings, even in natural and civil, private and public contracts, wherein all good faith ought to have place.

2 That is, their Chrism, by which in the Sacrament (as they call it) of Confirmation, they make servile unto themselves, the persons and doings of men, signing them in their forehead and hands: and as for the sign left by Christ (of which Rev. 7:3) and the holy Sacrament of Baptism they make as void. For whom Christ hath joined unto himself by Baptism, this beast maketh challenge unto them by her gregy Chrism, which he doubteth not to prefer over Baptism, both in authority and efficacy.

3 The mark of the name of the beast.

13:17 1 That is, have any traffic or intercourse with men, but they only those which have this anointing and consecration of Clerically tonsure, as they call it. Read Gratian de Consecratione, distinct. s. c. omnes, cap. Spiritus, etc. of these matters.

2 Here the false Prophets do require three things, which are set down in the order of their greatness, a character, a name and the number of the name. The meaning is, that man that hath not first their anointing and clerical tonsure or shaving: secondly holy orders, by reserving whereof is communicated the same of the beast: or finally hath not attained that high degree of Pontifical knowledge, and of the Law (as they call it) Canonical, and hath not as it were made up in account and cast the number of the mysteries thereof: for in these things consisteth the number of that name of the beast. And this is excellently set forth in the next verse.

13:18 1 That is in this number of the beast consisteth that Popish wisdom, which unto them seemeth the greatest of all others. In these words S. John expoundeth that saying which went before of the number of the beast, what it hath above his mark or acconisance and his name. These things, saith S. John, the mark and the name of the beast, do easily happen unto any man: but to have the number of the beast, is wisdom: that is, only the wise and such as have understanding, can come by that number for they must be most illuminated doctors that attain thereunto, as the words following do declare.

2 How great and of what denomination this number of the beast is, by which the beast accounted his wisdom, S. John declareth in these words. Dost thou demand how great it is? It is so great, that it occupieth the whole man: he is always learning, and never cometh to the knowledge thereof: he must be a man indeed that doth attain unto it. Asketh thou of what denomination it is? verily it standeth of six throughout and perfectly airesht of all the parts thereof in their several denominations (as they term them) it standeth of six by units, tens, hundreds, etc. so as there is no one part in the learning and order Pontifical, which is not either referred unto the head, and as it were the top thereof, or contained in the same: so fitly do all things in this hierarchy agree one with another, and with their head. Therefore that cruel beast Boniface the eighth doth commend by the number of six those Decretals which he perfected, in the proem of the sixth book. Which book (saith he) being to be added unto five other books of the same volume of Decretals, we thought good to name Sextum the sixth: that the same volume by addition thereof containing a senary, or the number of six books (which is a number perfect) may yield a perfect form of managing all things, and perfect discipline of behavior. Here therefore is the number of the beast, who poureth from himself all his parts and bringeth them all back again unto himself by his discipline in most wise and cunning manner. If any man desire more of this, let him read the gloss upon that place. I am not ignorant that other interpretations are brought upon this place: but I thought it my duty, with the good favor of all and without the offense of any, to propound mine opinion in this point. And for this cause especially, for that it seemed unto me neither profitable, nor like to be true, that the number of the beast, or of the name of the beast should be taken as the common sort of interpreters do take it. For this number of the beast teacheth, giveth out, imprinted, as a public mark of such as be his, and esteemeth that mark above all others as the mark of those whom he loveth best. Now those other expositions seem rather to be far removed from this property and condition of that number: whether you respect the name Latinus or Titan, or another. For these the beast doth not teach, nor give forth nor imprint, but most diligently forbiddeth to be taught, and audaciously denieth: he approveth not these, but reproveth them: and hateth them that think so of this number, with an hatred, greater than that of Vatinus.
14 1 The Lamb standeth on mount Zion: 4 with his chaste worshippers. 6 One Angel preacheth the Gospel. 8 Another foretelleth the fall of Babylon: 9 the third warneth that the beast be avoided. 13 A voice from heaven pronounceth them happy who die in the Lord. 16 The Lord’s sickle thrust into the harvest, 18 and into the vintage.

1 Then I looked, and lo, a Lamb 1 stood on mount Zion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father’s Name written in their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voice from heaven as the sound of many waters, and as the sound of a great thunder: and I heard the voice of harpers, harping with their harps.

3 And they sang as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the Elders: and no man could learn that song, but the hundred, forty and four thousand, which were bought from the earth.

4 These are they which are not defiled with adoration, verse 7. The overthrowing of wicked Babylon, verse 8, and the fall of every one of the ungodly which worship the beast, verses 9, 10, 11. Finally, the state of the holy servants of God both present, verse 11, and to come, most blessed, according to the promise of God, verse 15.

2 This Angel is a type or figure of the good and faithful servants of God, whom God especially from that time of Boniface the eighth, hath raised up to the publishing of the Gospel of Christ, both by preaching and by writing. So God first, near unto the time of the same Boniface, used Peter Cassiodorus an Italian: after, Arnold de villa nova, a Frenchman, then Occam, Dante, Petrarch, after that Johannes de rupe casa, a Franciscan: after again, John Wycliff an Englishman, and so continually one or another unto the restoring of the truth and enlarging of his Church.

14:7 That is, Babylon is destroyed by the sentence and judgment of God: the execution whereof S. John described, chap. 18. And this voice of the ministers of Christ hath continued since the time that Babylon (which is Rome) hath by deliberate counsel and manifest malice oppugned the light of the Gospel offered from God.

14:8 Of her fornication, whereby God was provoked to wrath.

14:9 That is, shall not worship God alone, but shall transfer his divine honor unto this beast, whether he doeth it with his heart or counterfeiteth in show. For he (saith Christ) that denieth me before men, him will I deny before my Father, and his Angels, Matt. 10:32.

14:6 a man, and his number is six hundred threescore and six.
of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is poured into the cup of his wrath, and he shall be tormented in fire and brimstone before the holy Angels, and before the Lamb.

11 And the smoke of their torment shall ascend evermore: and they shall have no rest day nor night, which worship the beast and his name.

12 Here is the patience of Saints: here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus.

13 Then I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, Write, The dead which die in the Lord, are fully blessed. Even so saith the Spirit: for they rest from their labors, and their works follow them.

14 ¶ And I looked, and behold, a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sitting like unto the Son of man, having on his head a golden crown, and in his hand a sharp sickle.

15 ¶ And another Angel came out of the Temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, Thrust in thy sickle and reap, for the time is come to reap: for the harvest of the earth is ripe.

16 And he that sat on the cloud, thrust in his sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

17 ¶ Then another Angel came out of the Temple, which is in heaven, having also a sharp sickle.

18 And another Angel came out from the altar, which had power over fire, and cried with a loud cry to him that had the sharp sickle, and said, Thrust in thy sharp sickle, and gather the clusters of the vineyard of the earth: for her grapes are ripe.

19 And the Angel thrust in his sharp sickle on the earth, and cut down the vines of the vineyard of the earth, and cast them into that great winepress of the wrath of God.

20 And the winepress was trodden without the city, and blood came out of the winepress, unto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs.

15 The seven Angels having the seven last plagues. 3 They that conquered the beast praise God. 6 To the seven Angels, 7 seven vials full of God's wrath are delivered.

14:12 1 The patience, sanctification and justification by faith: the consequence whereof are rest, felicity, and glory eternal, in the heavenly fellowship of God and his Angels.

14:13 1 That is for the Lord.

14:14 1 The second part of this Chapter, as I said, verse 1. Of the acts and doings of Christ in overthrowing of Antichrist and his Church by the Spirit of his divine mouth: seeing that having been called back by word both publicly and privately unto his duty, and admonished of his most certain ruin: he yet ceaseth not to maintain and protect his own adherents, that they may do him service: and to afflict the godly with most barbarous persecutions. Of those things which Christ doeth, there are two kinds: one common or general in the rest of this chapter, another particular against that savage and rebellious Christ other, and because it is understood to be executed with great diligence.

14:20 1 That is, it overflowed very deep, and very far and wide: the speech is by hyperbole or excessive, to signify the greatness of the slaughter. And these be those pleasant fruits forsooth, of the contempt of Christ, and desiring of Antichrist rather than him, which the miserable, mad, and blind world doth at this time reap.

15:1 1 This is that other place of the acts of Christ, as I noted before, 14:14. Now therefore is showed a singular work of the judgment of God belonging to the overthrow of Antichrist and his forces of which divine work the preparation is described in this Chapter and the execution in the next. The preparation is first set down generally and in type in this verse: and is after particularly set forth in the rest of the Chapter.

2 Of which Rev. 8:9, in pouring forth in the plagues of the world for even these plagues do for the most part agree with those.

15:2 1 There are two parts of the narration: one the confession of the Saints glorifying God, when they saw that preparation of the judgments of God, unto verse 4: another the vocation, instruction, and confirmation of those instruments which God hath ordained for the execution of his judgments, in 4 other verses.

3 This part of the vision alludeth unto the sea or large vessel of brass in which the Priests washed themselves in the entrance of the Temple: for in the entrance of the heavenly Temple (as it is called, verse 5) is said to have been a sea of glass, most lustrous and clear, unto the commodity of choice mixed with fire, that is, as containing the treasury of the judgments of God, which he bringeth forth and dispenseth according to his own pleasure: for out of the former, the Priests were cleansed of old and out of this the ungodly are destroyed now, Rev. 4:6.

4 That is, the Godly martyrs of Christ, who shall not give place even in miracles unto that beast: of these, see before, Rev. 13:17 and 14:9, 10.

5 Glorified God, from the particular observation of the weapons and instruments of God's wrath, floating in the sea of glass.
1 And I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvellous, seven Angels having the seven last plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

2 And I saw as it were a glassy sea, mingled with fire, and them that had gotten victory of the beast, and of his image, and of his mark, and of the number of his name, stand at the glassy sea, having the girdles of God,

3 And they sang the song of Moses the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, Great and marvellous are thy works, Lord God Almighty: just and true are thy ways, King of Saints.

4 Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name! for thou only art holy, and all nations shall come and worship before thee: for thy judgments are made manifest.

5 And after that, I looked, and behold, the Temple of the tabernacle of testimony was open in heaven.

6 And the seven Angels came out of the Temple, which had the seven plagues, clothed in pure and bright linen, and having their breasts girded with golden girdles.

7 And therefore four beasts gave unto the seven Angels seven golden vials full of the wrath of God which lived for evermore.

8 And the temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God and of his power, and no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the seven plagues of the seven Angels were fulfilled.

9 And the seven Angels pour out the seven vials of God's wrath given unto them, and so divers plagues arise in the world, to terrify the wicked. And the inhabitants of the great city.

10 And I heard a great voice out of the Temple, saying, to the seven Angels, Go your ways, and poured out the seven vials of the wrath of God upon the earth.

11 And the first went and poured out his vial upon the earth: and there fell a noisome and grievous sore upon the men which had the mark of the beast, and upon them which worshipped his image.

12 And the second Angel poured out his vial upon the sea, and it became as the blood of a dead man: and every living thing died in the sea.

13 And the third Angel poured out his vial upon the rivers and fountains of waters, and they became blood.

14 And I heard the Angel of the waters say, Lord, thou art just, which art, and which wast: and Holy, because thou hast judged these things.

153 That song of triumph which is Exod. 152.

2 So is Moses called for honor's sake, as it is set forth, Deut. 34:10.

3 This song hath two parts, one a confession, but particular in this verse, and general, in the beginning of the next verse: another, a narration of causes belonging to the confession, whereof one kind is eternal in itself, and most present unto the godly in that God is both holy, and alone God, another kind is future and to come, in that the elect taken out of the Gentiles (that is, out of the wicked ones and unbelieving: as Rev. 11:2) were to be brought unto the same state of happiness by the magnificence of the judgment of God, in the next verse.

4 Thy doings.

155 The second part of the narration (as was noted, verse 2) wherein first the authority of the whole argument and matter thereof is figured by a forerunning type of a temple opened in heaven, as Rev. 11:19, namely that all those things are divine and of God, that proceed from thence, in this verse. Secondly, the administers or executors, come forth out of the Temple, verse 6. Thirdly, they are furnished with instruments of the judgments of God, and weapons fit for the manner of the same judgments, verse 7. Finally they are confirmed by testimony of the visible glory of God, in the last verse. A like testimony whereunto was exhibited of old in the Law, Exod. 40:34.

156 That is, commandments to inflict those seven plagues. Here is the figure called Metonymy.

2 Which was in old time a sign of the kingly or princely dignity.

3 That is, girding was a sign of diligence, and the girdle of gold was a sign of sincerity and trustiness in taking in charge the commandments of God.

157 Of these before, Rev. 4:7.

158 None of those seven Angels might resume, till he had performed fully the charge committed unto him according to the decree of God.

161 In the former Chapter was set down the preparation unto the work of God: here is delivered the execution thereof. And in this discourse of the execution, is a general commandment, in this verse, then a particular recital in order of the execution done by every of the seven Angels, in the rest of the chapter. This special execution against Antichrist and his crew, doth in manner agree unto that which was generally done upon the whole world, Rev. 8 and 9, and belongeth (if my conjecture fail me not) unto the same time. Yet herein they do differ one from another, that this was particularly effected upon the Princes and ringleaders of the wickedness of the world, the other generally against the whole world being wicked. And therefore these judgments are figured more grievous than those.

16:2 The history of the first Angel, whose plague upon the earth, is described almost in the same words with that sixth plague of the Egyptians, Exod. 99. But it doth signify a spiritual ulcer, and that torture or butchery of conscience seared with an hot iron, which accuseth the ungodly within and both by truth of the word (the light whereof God hath now so long showed forth) and by bitterness stirreth up and forceth out the sword of God's wrath.

2 See Rev. 13:16

16:3 The history of the second Angel who troubleth and molesteth the seas, that he may stir up the conscience of men sleeping in their wickedness. See Rev. 8:8.

4 It was turned into rotten and filthy blood, such as is in dead bodies.

16:4 The history of the third Angel striking the rivers, in this verse who proclaiming the justice of God, commendeth the same by a most grave comparison of the sins of men with the punishment of God: which is common to this place and that which went before. Wherefore also this praising is attributed to the Angel of the waters, a name common to the second and third Angels according as both of them are said to be sent against the waters, albeit, the one of the sea the other of the rivers, in two verses.
For they shed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, and therefore hast thou given them blood to drink: for they are worthy.

1 And I heard another out of the Sanctuary say, Even so, Lord God almighty, true and righteous are thy judgments.

2 And the fourth Angel poured out his vial on the sun, and it was given to him to torment men with heat of fire,

3 And men boiled in great heat, and blasphemed the Name of God, which hath power over these plagues, and repented not to give him glory.

4 And the fifth Angel poured out his vial upon the throne of the beast, and the kingdom waxed dark, and they gnawed their tongues for sorrow.

5 And blasphemed the God of heaven for their pains, and for their sores, and repented not of their works.

6 And the sixth Angel poured out his vial upon the great river Euphrates, and the water thereof dried up, that the way of the Kings of the East should be prepared.

7 And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of that dragon, and out of the mouth of that beast, and out of the mouth of that false prophet.

8 For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, to go unto the kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty.

9 For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, to go unto the kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty.

10 And they gathered them together into a place called Armageddon.

11 And the seventh Angel poured out his vial into the air: and there came a loud voice out of the Temple of heaven from the throne, saying, Behold I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and men see his filthiness.

12 Behold I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and men see his filthiness.

13 And the Angel, who holily according to the commandment of God was to do sacrifice: notwithstanding that those impure spirits do the same wickedly as servants not unto God, but unto that beast that hath seven heads.

14 That is, (to say nothing of other expositions) the mountain itself, or mountain places of Megiddo. Now it is certain by the holy Scripture, that Megiddo is a city and territory in the tribe of Manasseh, bordering upon Issachar and Asher, and was made famous by that lamentable overthrow of king Josiah, whereof 2 Kings 23:30; 2 Chron. 35:22; Zech. 12:11. In this mountain country God saith by figure and type, that the kings of the peoples which serve the beast shall meet together: because the Gentiles did always cast that lamentable overthrow in the teeth of the Church of the Jews unto their great reproach: and therefore were persuaded that that place should be most fortunate unto them (as they speak) and unfortunate unto the godly: but God here pronounceth, that that reproach of the Church, and confidence of the ungodly shall by himself be taken away, in the selfsame places where the nations persuaded themselves, they should mightily exult and triumph against God and his Church.

15 That is, every of them bent their whole force, and conspired together, and prepared to the destruction of all Kings, Princes and Potentates of the world, cursedely bewitched of them by their spirits, and teachers of the vanity and impurity of the beast that committed fornication with the kings of the earth. And this is a right description of our times.
16:17 1 That is, Babylon is undone, as is shown verse 16 and in the Chapters following. For the first onset (as I might say) of this denunciation, is described in this Chapter: and the last containing a perfect victory is described in those that follow. 16:18 1 Now is declared the execution (as is said in verse 27) and the things that shall last come to pass in heaven and in earth, before the overthrow of the beast of Babylon: both generally, verse 18, and particularly in the cursed city, and such as have any familiarity therewith, in the 3 last verses. 16:19 1 That seat or standing place of Antichrist. 2 Of all such as cleave unto Antichrist, and fight against Christ. 3 That harlot, of whom in the Chapter next following. Now this phrase to come into remembrance is after the common use of the Hebrew speech, but borrowed from men, attributed unto God. 16:20 1 That is, were seen no more, or were no more extant. A borrowed Hebraism. 2 Appeared not, which the Hebrews utter after this sort, were not, Gen. 5:24. 16:21 1 The manner of the particular execution, most evidently testifying the wrath of God by the original and greatness thereof: the event whereof is the same with that which is, Rev. 9:12, and that which hath been mentioned in this Chapter, from the execution of the fourth Angel hitherto, that is to say, an incomparable pertinency of the world in their rebellion, and an heart that cannot repent, verses 9 and 11. 2 As it were about the weight of a talent was three-score pound, that is, six hundred groats, whereby is signified a marvelous and strange kind of weight. 17:1 1 The state of the Church militant being declared, now followeth the state of the Church overcoming and getting victory, as I showed before in the beginning of chapter 10. The state is set forth in 4 chapters. As in the place foregoing I noted, that in that history the order of time was not always exactly observed, so the same is to be understood in this history, that it is distinguished according to the persons of which it treateth, and that in the several stories of the persons is severely observed in the time thereof. For first is delivered the story of Babylon destroyed, in this and the next chap. (for this Babylon out of all doubt shall perish before the 2 beasts and the Dragon). Secondly is delivered the destruction of both the two beasts, chap. 19. And lastly of the Dragon, chap. 20, in the story of the spiritual Babylon are distinctly set forth the state thereof in this chap. and the overthrow done from God, chap. 18. In this verse and that which followeth is a transition or passage unto the first argument, consisting of a particular calling of the Prophet (as often heretofore) and a general proposition. 2 That is the damnable harlot, by a figure of speech called hyperbology. For S. John as yet had not seen her. Although another interpretation may be borne, yet I like this better. 3 The sentence that is pronounced against this harlot. 17:3 1 Henceforth is propounded the type of Babylon, and the state thereof in 4 verses. After a declaration of the type, in the rest of this chap., in the type are described two things, the beast (of whom chap. 13), in verse 3, and the woman that sitteth upon the beast, verses 4, 5, 6. The beast in process of time hath gotten somewhat more than was expressed in the former vision. First in that it is not read before that he was appared in scarlet, a robe imperial and of triumph. Secondly, in that this is full of names of blasphemy: the other carried the name of Antichrist, and increased in impiety and injustice and doth in this last age, triumph in both these more insolently and proudly than ever before. 4 A scarlet color, that is, with a red and purple garment: and surely it was not without cause that the Romish clergy were so much delighted with this color. 17:4 1 That harlot, the spiritual Babylon, which is Rome. She is described by her attire, profession and deeds. 2 In attire most glorious, triumphant, most rich, and most gorgeous. 3 In profession, the nourisher of all, in this verse, and teaching her mysteries unto all, verse 5; setting forth all things most magnificently: but indeed most pernicious besetting miserable men with her cup, and bringing upon them a deadly giddiness. 17:5 1 Deceiving with the title of religion, and public inscription of mystery: which the beast in times past did not bear. 2 An exposition: in which S. John declareth what manner of woman this is. 17:6 1 In manner of deeds: She is red with blood, and sheddeth it most licentiously, and therefore is colored with the blood of the Saints, as on the contrary part. Christ is set forth imbrued with the blood of his enemies; Isa. 3:1.
Now there is delivered first a narration of the beast and his story, unto the vision, promised in this verse, and delivered in the verse following. 17:7 given of S. John, as the words of the Angel do show, in the next verse. 17:8 The beast that thou hast seen, was and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, and shall go into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth, shall wonder (whose names are not known of men, but are known of God). 17:9 The story of the beast hath a triple description of him. The first is a distinction of his beast from all that ever hath been at any time which distinction is contained in this verse: The second is a delineation or painting out of the beast by things present, by which he might even at that time be known of the godly, and this delineation is according to his heads, verses 2, 10, 11. The third is an historical foretelling of things to come, and to be done by him; and these are ascribed unto his horns, verses 12, 13, 14. This beast is that Empire of Rome, of which I spake, chapter 13:11, according to the mutations and changes whereof which then had already happened, the holy Ghost hath distinguished and set out the same. The Apostle distinguiseth this beast from all others in these words. The beast which thou sawest, was and is not. For so I expound the words of the Apostle for evidence’s sake as I will further declare in the notes following.

The meaning is, that beast which thou sawest before (Rev. 13:1) and which yet thou hast now seen, was, (I say was) even from Julius Caesar in respect of beginning, rising up, station, glory, dominion, manner and stock, from the house of Julius: and yet is not now the same, if thou look unto the house and stock for the dominion of this family was translated unto another, after the death of Nero from the other unto a third, from a third unto a fourth, and so forth was varied and altered by innumerable changes. Finally, the Empire is one, as it were one beast: but exceedingly varied by kindreds, families, and persons. It was therefore (saith S. John) in the kindred or house of Julius: and now it is not in that kindred, but translated unto another.

As if he should say, Also the same that is, shall shortly not be: but shall ascend out of the depth, or out of the sea (as was said, Rev. 13:1) that is, shall be a new stock from amongst the nations without difference, and shall in the same state go unto destruction or ruin, and perish: and so shall successively new Princes or Emperors come and go, arise and fall, the body of the beast remaining still, but tossed with so many and often alterations, as no man can but marvel that this beast was able to stand and hold out, in so many mutations. Verily no Empire that ever was tossed with so many changes, and as it were with so many tempests of the sea, ever continued so long.

That is as many as have not learned the providence of God, according to the Faith of the Saints, shall marvel at these grievous and often changes when they shall consider, the selfsame beast, which is the Roman Empire, to have been, not to be, and to be and still molested with perpetual mutation, and yet in the same to stand and continue. This in mine opinion is the most simple exposition of this place, and confirmed by the event of the things themselves. Although by the last change also, by which the Empire, that before was civil became Ecclesiastical, is not obscurely signified by these words: of which two, the first exercised cruelty upon the bodies of the saints: the other also upon their souls: the first by human order and policy, the other under the color of the law of God, and of Religion, rag’d and imbrued itself with the blood of the godly.

The beginning of these Kings or Emperors is almost the same with the beginning of the Church of Christ, which I showed before, Rev. 11:1. Namely from the year 35, after the passion of Christ, what with the beginning of the Church of Christ, which I showed before, mine own part, I had rather read in this place, Let there be here a rod, etc. So the Angel passeth fully unto the second place of this description.

This is the painting out of the beast by things present (as I said before) whereby S. John endeavored to describe the same, that he might both be known of the godly in that age, and be further observed and marked of posterity afterwards. This delineation hath one type, that is, his heads, but a double description or application of the type: one permanent from the nature of itself, the other changeable, by the working of men. The description permanent, is by the seven hills, in this verse, the other that fleeteth, is from the seven kings, verses 10, 11. And here it is worthy to be observed, that one type hath sometimes two or more applications, as seemeth good unto the holy Ghost to express either one thing by divers types, or divers things by one type. So I noted before, of the seven spirits, Rev. 1:4. Now this woman that sitteth upon seven hills, is the city of Rome, called in times past of the Greeks, … i. of seven tops or crests, and of Varro, septicps, i. of her seven heads (as here) of seven heads, and of others, septicots, i. standing upon seven hills.

Whose names are these: the first, Servius Sulpicius Galba, who was the seventh Emperor of the people of Rome, the second Marcus Salvius Otho, the third Aulus Vitellius, the fourth, Titus Flavius Vespasianus; the fifth, Titus Vespasianus his son of his own name. 2 Flavius Dominian son of the first Vespasian. For in the latter end of his days S. John wrote these things, as witnesseth Irenaus, Lib. S adversus haereses.

Nerva. The Empire being now translated from the family of Flavius. This man reigned only one year, four months, and nine days, as the history writers do tell.

This is spoken by the figure synecdoche, as much to say as that head of the beast which was and is not, because it is cut off, and Nerva...
17 And the ten horns which thou sawest, are ten kings, which yet have not received a kingdom, but shall receive power, as Kings at one hour with the beast.

18 And that woman which thou sawest, is that great city which reigned over the kings of the earth.

1 The horrible destruction of Babylon set out. 11, 16, 18 The merchants of the earth, who were enriched with the pomp and luxuriousness of it, weep and wail: 20 but all the elect rejoice for that just vengeance of God.

1 And after these things, I saw another Angel come down from heaven, having great power, so that the earth was lightened with his glory,

2 And he cried out mightily with a loud voice, saying, 'It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon that great city, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every unclean and hateful bird.'
For all nations have drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures.

1 And I heard another voice from heaven say, Go out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues:

2 For her sins are come up into heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities.

3 Reward her, even as she hath rewarded you, and give her double according to her works: and in the cup that she hath filled to you, fill her the double.

4 Inasmuch as she glorified herself, and lived in pleasure, so much give ye to her torment and sorrow: for she saith in her heart, I sit being a queen, and am no widow, and shall see no mourning.

5 Therefore shall her plagues come at one day, death, and sorrow, and famine, and she shall be burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a strong Lord,

6 And the kings of the earth shall bewail her, and lament for her, which have committed fornication, and lived in pleasure with her, when they shall see that smoke of that her burning,

7 And shall stand afar off for fear of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mighty city: for in one hour is thy judgment come.

8 And the merchants of the earth shall weep and wail over her: for no man buyeth their ware anymore.

9 The ware of gold, and silver, and of precious stone, and of pearls, and of fine linen, and of purple, and of silk, and of scarlet, and of all manner of Thynewood, and of all vessels of ivory, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brass, and of iron, and of marble,

10 And of cinnamon, and odors, and ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and fine flour, and wheat, and beasts, and sheep, and horses, and chariots, and servants, and souls of men.

11 (And the apples that thy soul lusted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fat and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt find them no more.)

12 And they shall cast dust on their heads, and cry, What city was like unto this great city?

13 And shall cast dust on their heads, and eat, and cry, and mourn, with observation of that which best agreeth unto them.

14 (And the second prediction, which is of the circumstances of the ruin of Babylon: of these there are two kinds: one going before it: as that beforehand the godly are delivered unto the ninth verse: the other following upon her ruin, namely the lamentation of the wicked and rejoicing of the godly, unto the twentieth verse.

15 Two circumstances going before the ruin, are commanded in this place: one is, that the godly depart out of Babylon: as I mentioned, chapter 12, to have been done in time past, before the destruction of Jerusalem: this charge is given here, and in the next verse. The other is, that every one of them occupy themselves in their own place, in executing the judgment of God, as it was commanded the Levites of old, Exod. 32:27, and that they sanctify their hands unto the Lord, verses 6, 7, 8.

16 Of his commandment there are two causes to avoid the contagon of sin, and to shun the participation of those punishments that belong thereunto.

17 He useth a word which signifieth the following of sins one after another, and rising one another in such sort, that they grew at length to such an heap that they came up even to heaven.

18 The provocation of the godly, and the commandment of executing the judgments of God, stand upon three causes which are here expressed: the unjust wickedness of the whore of Babylon, in this verse her cursed pride opposing itself against God, which is the fountain of all evil actions, verse 7, and her most just damnation by the sentence of God, verse 8.

19 With herself.

20 I shall taste of none.

18:7 1 I am full of people and mighty.

18:8 10 Short and at one instant.

18:9 1 Namely the lamentation of the wicked unto verse 19: and the rejoicing of the godly, verse 20. This most sorrowful lamentation, according to the person of them that lament, hath three members, the first whereof is the mourning of the kings and mighty men of the earth, in two verses. The second is the lamentation of the merchants that traffic by land, and in one verse. The third is the wailing of those that merchandise by sea, verses 16, 17, 18. In every one of these the cause and manner of their mourning is described in order, according to the condition of those that mourn, with observation of that which best agreeth unto them.

18:11 1 The lamentation of those that trade by land, as I distinguished immediately before.

18:12 An apostrophe, or turning of the speech by imitation, used for more vehemence, as if those merchants, after the manner of mourners should in passionate speech speak unto Babylon, though now utterly fallen and overthrown. So Isa. 12:9, and in many other places.

18:13 By this is meant that season which is next before the fall of the leaf, at what season fruits ripen, and the word signifieth such fruits as are longed for.

18:14 The manner of mourning used by them that trade by sea.

18:15 The other consequent unto the other ruin of Babylon, is the expulsion or rejoicing of the godly in heaven and in earth, as was noted, verse 9.
18:21 1 The third prediction, as I said verse 1, standing of a sign, and the interpolation thereof: the interpretation thereof is in 2 sorts, first by a simple propounding of the thing itself, in this verse, and then by declaration of the events in the verses following.

18:22 1 The events are two, the one of them opposite unto the other for amplification sake. There shall be, saith he, in Babylon no mirth and declaration of the events in the verses following.

18:23 1 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: and the voice of the bridegroom and of the bride shall be heard no more in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine enchantment were deceived all nations.

18:24 1 And in her was found the 1blood of the Prophets and of the Saints, and of all that were slain upon the earth.

19 1 The heavenly company praise God for avenging the blood of his servants on the whore. 9 They are written blessed, that are called to the Lamb’s supper. 10 The Angel will not be worshipped. 11 That mighty King of Kings appeareth from heaven. 19 The battle, 20 wherein the beast is taken, and cast into the burning lake.

1 1 And after these things I heard a great voice, a close or joining together in harmony: all which I thought good of purpose to distinguish in this place, lest any man should with Porphyrius, or other like dogs, object to Saint John of the heavenly Church, a childish and idle repetition of speech.

3 1 The proposition of praise with exhortation in this verse, and the cause thereof, in the next verse.

19:3 1 The song of the Antiphony or response, containing an amplification of the praise of God, from the perpetual and most certain testimony of his divine judgment as was done at Sodom and Gomorrah, Gen. 19.

19:5 1 The second place of praise as I said verse 1, which first is commanded from God in this verse: and then is in most ample manner pronounced of the creatures, both because they see that kingdom of Christ to come, which most they desire, verse 6, also because they see that the Church is called forth to be brought home: into the house of her husband by holy marriage unto the fellowship of his kingdom, verses 7, 8. Wherefore S. John is commanded to write in a book the Epiphonema, or acclamation joined with a divine testimony, verse 9.

2 1 Out of the temple from God, as Rev. 11:19.

19:6 1 Without the Temple in heaven.

19:7 1 Namely unto that holy marriage both herself in person in this verse and also furnished of her spouse with marriage gifts princely and divine is adorned and prepared in the next verse.

19:8 1 As an ensign of Kingly and priestly dignity: which dignity Christ bestoweth upon us, Rev. 1:6.

4 This is a gift given by the husband for marriage sake and a most choice ornament, which Christ bestoweth upon us, as upon his spouse.

2 Good works which are lively testimonies of faith.

19:9 1 Namely the Angel, as appeareth by the next verse.

19:10 1 The particular history of this verse is brought in by occasion, and as it were besides the purpose, that Saint John might make a public example of his own infirmity, and of the modest sanctimony of the Angel, who hath renounced for himself the divine honors, and recalled all the servants of God, unto the worship of him alone: as also Rev. 22:8.
Ps. 2:9
4 Rev. 17:14
1 Tim. 6:15

11 And I saw heaven open, and behold a white horse; and he that sat upon him was called faithful and true, and he judged and fightheth righteously.  And his eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crowns: and he had a name written, that no man knew but himself.  And he was clothed with a garment dipped in blood, and his name is called, THE WORD OF GOD.  And the hosts which were in heaven, followed him upon white horses, clothed with fine linen white and pure.  And out of his mouth went out a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the heathen: for he shall rule them with a rod of iron, for he is it that treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God.  And he hath upon his garment, and upon his thigh, a name written, THE KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.  And I saw an Angel stand in the sun who cried with a loud voice, saying, to all the fowls that did fly by the midst of heaven, come, and gather yourselves together unto the supper of the great God, That ye may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all freemen, and bondmen, and of small and great.  And I saw the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their hosts gathered together to make battle against him that sat on the horse; and against his army.  But the beast was taken, and with him that false Prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceived them that received the beast's mark, and them that worshipped his image. These both were alive cast into a lake of fire burning with brimstone.  And the remnant were slain with the sword of him that sitteth upon the horse, which cometh out of his mouth, and all the fowls were filled full with their flesh.

20 1 The Angel 2 bindeth Satan for a thousand years.  8 Being loosed, he stirreth up Gog and Magog, that is, privy and open enemies against the Saints.  11 but the vengeance of the Lord cutting off their insolency.  12 The books are opened, by which the dead are judged.  1 And I saw an Angel come down from heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit, and a great chain in his hand.  2 And he took the dragon that old serpent, which is the devil and Satan, and he bound him a thousand 19:10 1 Which are commanded to bear witness of Jesus.  3 For Jesus is the mark that all the prophecies shoot at.

19:11 1 The second place of this Chapter (as I said verse 1) is of the victory gotten by Christ against both the beasts: in which first Christ is described as one ready to fight, unto verse 16, then is showed the battle to be begun, thence unto verse 18: lastly is set forth the victory unto the end of the Chapter. In this place do shine most excellent Properties belonging to his person, that he is heavenly, judge and revenger, according to his person, company, effects, and names.
19:14 1 The company or retnue of Christ, holy, innumerable, heavenly, judicial, royal and pure.
19:15 1 The effects of Christ prepared unto battle, that with his mouth he striketh the Gentiles, naught and destroyeth.
19:16 1 The name agreeing unto Christ according to the former properties, expressed after the manner of the Hebrews.
19:17 1 The second member as I said, verse 11. A reproachful calling forth of his enemies unto battle: in which not themselves (for why should they be called forth of the king of the world, or provoked being his subjects? for that is not comely) but in their hearing, the birds of the air are called to eat their carcasses.
19:19 1 The third member (as was said, verse 11) of the victory obtained by Christ. Un to this appertaineth two things: his bucking with the beast and his forces in this verse: and the event most magnificent, described after the manner of men, in the verses following. All these things are plain.

19:20 1 Namely, that beast with seven heads, of which before, Rev. 13:1 and 17:3.
2 That is, that beast with two heads, of which Rev. 13:11. See also Rev. 16:14.
20:1 1 Now followeth the third place of the prophetical history, which is of the victory whereby Christ overcame the dragon, as I note, Rev. 7:1. This place must necessarily be joined with the end of chapter 12 and be applied unto the just understanding thereof. This chapter hath two parts, one of the dragon overcome, unto verse 10, the other of the resurrection and last judgment unto the end of the chapter. The history of the dragon is double: First of the first victory after which he was bound by Christ unto verse 6. The second is of the last victory, whereby he has thrown down into everlasting punishment, thence unto verse 10. This first history happened in the first time of the Christian Church, when the dragon thrown down from heaven by Christ, went about to molest the new birth of the Church in the earth, Rev. 12:17, 18. For which cause I gave warning, that this story of the Dragon must be annexed unto that place.
2 That is of hell, whither God threw down the Angels which had sinned, and bound them in chains of darkness to be kept unto damnation, 2 Pet. 2:4; Jude 6.
20:2 1 The first whereof (continuing this history with the end of chapter 12) is the 36 year from the passion of Christ, when the Church of the Jews being overthrown, Satan assayed to invade the Christian Church gathered of the Gentiles, and to destroy part of her seed, Rev. 12:17. The thousandth year falleth precisely upon the times of that wicked Hildebrand, who was called Gregory the seventh a most damnable Necromancer and sorcerer, whom Satan used as an instrument when he was loosed out of bonds, thenceforth to annoy the Saints of God with most cruel persecutions, and the whole world with dissensions, and most bloody wars: as Benno the Cardinal reporteth at large. This is the first victory gotten over the dragon in the earth.
years:

3 And cast him into the bottomless pit, and he shut him up, and sealed the door upon him, that he should deceive the people no more till the thousand years were fulfilled: for after that he must be loosed for a little season.

4 And I saw thrones: and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them, and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which did not worship the beast, neither his image, neither had taken his mark upon their foreheads or on their hands: and they lived, and reigned with Christ a thousand years.

5 But the rest of the dead men shall not live again until the thousand years be finished: this is the first resurrection.

6 Blessed and holy is he, that hath part in the first resurrection: for on such the second death hath no power: but they shall be the Priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.

7 And when the thousand years are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison,

8 And shall go out to deceive the people, which are in the four quarters of the earth: even Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle, whose number is as the sand of the Sea.

9 And they went up into the plain of the earth, and they compassed the tents of the Saints, about, and the beloved city: but fire came down from God out of heaven, and devoured them.

10 And the devil that deceived them, was cast into a lake of fire and brimstone, where that beast and that false prophet are, and shall be tormented even day and night for evermore.

11 And I saw a great white throne, and one that sat on it, from whose face the earth and heaven fled away: for he that sat on the throne judged the living and the dead. And when the books were opened, another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things, which were written in the books, according to their works.

12 And I saw the dead, both great and small, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things, which were written in the books, according to their works.

13 And the sea gave up her dead, which were in her, and death and hell delivered up the dead, which were in them: and they were judged every man according to their works.

20:3 1 Namely, with that public and violent deceit which he attempted before, Chapter 12, and which after a thousand years (which is by these) he most mightily procured in the Christian world.

2 Which being once expired, the second battle and victory shall be, of which verses 7, 8.

20:4 1 A description of the common state of the Church of Christ in earth in that space of a thousand years, for which the devil was in bonds: in which first the authority, life, and common honor of the godly, is declared, verse 4. Secondly, newness of life is preached unto others by the Gospel, after that space, verse 5. Finally, he concludes with promises, verse 6.

2 For judgment was committed to them, as to members joined to the head, not that Christ's office was given over to them.

3 This was a type of the authority of the good and faithful servants of God in the Church, taken from the manner of men.

4 Of the Martyrs, which suffered in those first times.

5 Of the Martyrs which suffered after that both the beasts were now risen up, Chapter 13, for these three things are expounded.

20:5 1 Whoever shall die in sin, and not know the truth of God.

2 They shall not be renewed with that newness of the life by the enlightening of the Gospel of the glory of Christ. For this is the first resurrection, by which the souls of the godly do rise from their death. In the second resurrection their bodies shall rise again.

20:6 1 That whereby both body and soul, that is, the whole man is addicted and delivered unto eternal death. So Rev. 2:11.

2 A return unto the intended history, by resuming the words which are in the end of the fourth verse.

20:7 1 The second history, of the latter victory of Christ, as was said verse 1. In which are summarily described the work, overthrow and eternal punishment of Satan.

2 Of which I spake, verse 2. Then therefore shall be given unto him liberty to rage against the Church, and to molest the Saints for the sins of men: unto whom the faithful shall have associated themselves more than was meet, tasting with them of their impurity of doctrine and life.

20:8 1 The work or act of Satan (which is the first member as I distinguished in the verse foregoing) to deceive the whole world, even unto the uttermost nations thereof: to arm them against the people of God, in this verse, and to besiege and oppress the Church, with his whole strength, in the verse following.

20:9 1 As if he said insomuch that the whole face of the earth, how great soever it was filled.

2 The wrath of God, consuming the adversaries, and overthrowing all their enterprises, Heb. 10:27. And this is the second member mentioned, verse 7, the overthrow of Satan.

20:10 1 The third member, eternal destruction against those that are overcome: as I noted in the same place.

20:11 1 The second part of this Chapter, in which is described the judge, in this verse, and the last judgment in the verse following.

2 That is, a tribunal seat most Princelike and glorious: for so doth the Greek word also signify.

3 That is, Christ, before whom when he cometh unto judgment, heaven and earth shall perish for the greatness of his majesty, 2 Pet. 3:7, 10, etc.

20:12 1 That is, Christ the judge, 2 Cor. 5:10.

2 As it were, our books of reckoning or accounts: that is, the testimony of our conscience, and of our works, which by no means can be avoided. This is spoken after the manner of men.

3 The book of the eternal decree of God, in which God the Father hath elected in Christ according to the good pleasure of his will, those that shall be heirs of life. This also is spoken according to the manner of men.

20:13 1 This is a prevention or an answer to an objection: for hopefully some man will say, but they are dead, whom the sea, death and the grave hath consumed, how shall they appear before the judge? S. John answereth by resurrection from death, whereunto all things (however repugnant) shall minister and serve at the commandment of God, as Dan. 12.
14 And death, and hell were cast into the lake of fire: this is the second death.

15 And whosoever was not found written in the book of life, was cast into the lake of fire.

21 2 He describeth new Jerusalem descending from heaven, 6 the bride the Lamb’s wife. 12 and the glorious building of the city, 19 garnished with precious stones. 22 whose Temple the Lamb is.

1 And I saw a new heaven, and a new earth: for the first heaven, and the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea.

2 And I John saw the holy city new Jerusalem come down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband.

3 And I heard a great voice out of heaven, saying, Behold, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them: and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be their God with them.

4 And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, neither crying, neither shall there be anymore pain: for the first things are passed.

5 And he that sat upon the throne, said, Behold, I make all things new, and he said unto me, Write: for these things are faithful and true.

6 And he said unto me, It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end: I will give to him that is athirst, of the well of the water of life freely.

7 He that overcometh, shall inherit all things, and I will be his God, and he shall be my Son.

8 But the fearful and unbelieving, and the abominable and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death.

9 And there came unto me one of the seven Angels, which had the seven vials full of the seven last plagues, and talked with me, saying: Come: I will show thee the bride the Lamb’s wife.

10 And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and he showed me that great city, that holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God,

11 Having the glory of God, and her shining was like unto a stone most precious, as a jasper stone clear as crystal, 12 And had a great wall and high, and had twelve gates, and at the gates twelve Angels, and the names written which are the twelve tribes of the children of Israel.

13 On the East part there were three gates, and on the North side three gates, on the South side three gates, and on the West side three gates.

20:14 The last enemy which is death shall be abolished by Christ (that he may no more make any attempt against us), 1 Cor. 15:16, and death shall feed upon the reprobat in hell for evermore, according to the righteous judgment of God, in the next verse.

21:1 Now followeth the second part of the history prophetical (as I said, Rev. 1 and 11:1) of the future estate of the Church in heaven after the last judgment, unto the next verse of the fifth chapter, in this are two things briefly declareth. The station, seat, or place thereof, verse 1. Then her state and condition in the verses following. Before the state of the Church described, is set down the state of the whole world, that there shall be a new heaven, and a new earth, as Isa. 65:17 and 66:12 and 2 Pet. 3:13, and this is the seat or place of the Church, in which righteousness shall dwell.

21:2 The state of this glorious Church is first described generally, unto verse 8 and then specially and by parts, in the verses following. The general description consisteth in a vision showed afar off, verse 2, and in speech spoken from heaven. In the general these things are common that the Church is holy, new, the workmanship of God, heavenly, most glorious, the spouse of Christ, and partner of this glory in this verse.

21:3 The Church is described by the speech first of an Angel, in two verses, then of God himself in 4 verses. The Angel’s speech describeth the glory of the Church by the most familiar cohabitation of God therewith, by communication of all manner of good things according to the covenant, in this verse: and by removing or putting far away of all evil things in the verse following.

21:5 In the speech of God himself describing the Church, is first a certain exordium, or entrance, verse 5. Then followeth a magnificent description of the Church, by the present and future good things of the same in 3 verses following. In the exordium God challengeth to himself the restoring of all the creatures of which verse 1 and witnesses the calling of 5. John unto the writing of these things, in this verse.

21:6 The description of the Church is of three sorts, by the abolishing of old things: by the being of present things in God, that is of things eternal and by the communication of all good things with the godly, verse 6. If so be they shall strive manfully, verse 7. But the reprobat are excluded from thence, verse 8.

21:8 Their lot, and inheritance as it were.

21:9 A transition unto the particular describing of the heavenly Church by the express calling of Saint John in this verse, and his rapturing by the Spirit, in confirmation of the truth of God in the verse following.

21:10 He meaneth the place and stately seat of the Church, shadowed out in a mountain.

21:12 A particular description (as I noted, verse 2) of the celestial Church. First, by the essential parts of the same, under the similitude of a city to verse 12. Secondly, from foreign accidents, unto the end of the chapter. Thirdly, by the effects, in the beginning of the next chapter, the essential parts are noted the matter and the form in the whole work: of these the superflux and foundation of the wall are entire parts (as they use to be called) which parts are first described in figure, unto verse 14 and afterward more exactly.

21:13 A type of that Church which is one, ample, or Catholic, holy celestial, built of God, in this verse: and glorious in the verse following. This type propounded generally, is after particularly declared, verse 12, etc.

21:12 A particular description (as I noted, verse 2) of the celestial Church. First, by the essential parts of the same, under the similitude of a city to verse 12. Secondly, from foreign accidents, unto the end of the chapter. Thirdly, by the effects, in the beginning of the next chapter, the essential parts are noted the matter and the form in the whole work: of these the superfluous and foundation of the wall are entire parts (as they use to be called) which parts are first described in figure, unto verse 14 and afterward more exactly.

21:13 According to the number of the tribes, of which chap. 7. For here the outward part is attributed unto the old Testament, and the foundation of the new Testament.

21:1 He meaneth the Prophets, who are the messengers of God, and watchmen of the Church.
14 And the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the Lamb’s twelve Apostles.
15 And he that walked with me, had a golden reed, to measure the city withal, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.
16 And the city lay foursquare, and the length is as large as the breadth of it, and he measured the city with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs: and the length, and the breadth, and the height of it are equal.
17 And he measured the wall thereof an hundred forty and four cubits, by the measure of man, that is, of the 1Angel.
18 And the building of the wall of it was of jasper: and the city was pure gold, like unto clear glass.
19 And the foundations of the wall of the city were garnished with all manner of precious stones: the first foundation was jasper: the second of Sapphire: the third of a Chalcedony: the fourth of an Emerald:
21 And the twelve gates were twelve pearls, and every gate was of one pearl, and the street of the city is pure gold, as shining glass.
22 And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the Temple of it.
23 And their city hath no need of the Sun, neither of the Moon to shine in it: for the glory of God did light it: and the Lamb is the light of it.
24 And the people which are saved, shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth shall bring their glory and honor unto it.

22:6 1 And the gates of it shall not be shut by day: for there shall be no night there.
25 2 And the river of water of life is showed, 2 and the tree of life: 6, 7 Then followeth the conclusion of this prophecy. 8 where John declareth, that the things herein contained are most true. 13 And now the third time repeated these words, All things come from him, who is the beginning and the end.
1 1 And he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lamb.
2 In the midst of the street of it, and of either side of the river was the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and gave fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree served to heal the nations with.
3 And there shall be no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it, and his servants shall serve him.
4 And they shall see his face, and his Name shall be in their foreheads.
5 1And there shall be no night there, and they need no candle, neither light of the Sun: for the Lord God giveth them light, and they shall reign for evermore.
6 1And he said unto me, These words are faithful and true: and the Lord God of the holy Prophets sent his Angel to show unto his servants the things which must shortly be fulfilled.
7 Behold, I come shortly. Blessed is he that keepeth the words of the prophecy of this book.

8 And I am John, which saw and heard these things: and when I had heard and seen, ¹I fell down to worship before the feet of the Angel which showed me these things.

9 But he said unto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellow servant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keep the words of this book: worship God.

10 ¹And he said unto me, ²Seal not the words of the prophecy of this book: for the time is at hand.

11 ¹He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

12 ¹And behold, I come shortly, and my reward is with me, to give to every man according as his work shall be.

13 I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

14 Blessed are they, that do his Commandments, ¹that their right may be in the tree of Life, and may enter in through the gates into the City.

15 For without shall be dogs and enchanters, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth or maketh lies.

16 ¹I Jesus have sent mine Angel, to testify unto you these things in the Churches: I am the root and the generation of David, and the bright morning star.

17 And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come: and let him that is athirst, come: and ¹let whosoever will, take of the water of life freely.

18 ¹For I protest unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book.

19 And if any man shall diminish of the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy City, and from those things which are written in this book.

20 ¹He which testifieth these things, saith, Surely I come quickly, Amen. Even so, come Lord Jesus.

21 ¹The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, AMEN.

22:10 ¹The Angel returneth unto his former speech: in which he teacheth the use of this book, both towards ourselves, in this and the next verse and in respect of God for declaration of his truth, thence unto verse 15.

²That is, propound this prophecy openly unto all, and conceal no part of it. The contrary whereunto is commanded, Isa. 8:6 and Dan. 8:26.

22:11 An objection prevented. But there will be some that will abuse this occasion unto evil, and will wrest this Scripture unto their own destruction, as Peter saith. What then saith the Angel, the mysteries of God must not therefore be concealed, which it hath pleased him to communicate unto us. Let them be hurtful unto others, let such be more and more vile in themselves, whom this Scripture doth not please: yet others shall be further conformed thereby unto righteousness and true holiness. The care and reformation of these may not be neglected, because of the voluntary and malicious offense of others.

22:12 ¹The second place belonging unto the use of this book, as I said, verse 10. Also (saith God by the Angel) though there should be no use of this book unto men: yet it shall be of this use unto me, that it is a witness of my truth unto my glory, who will come shortly to give and execute just judgment, in this verse: who have taught that all these things have their being in me, in verse 13, and have denounced blessedness unto my servants in the Church, verse 14, and reprobation unto the ungodly, verse 15.

22:14 ¹The blessedness of the godly set down by their title and interest thereunto: and their fruit in the same.

22:16 ¹The second place of confirmation, as I said, is the speech of Christ, ratifying the vocation of S. John, and the authority of his calling and testimony, both from the condition of his own person being God and man, in whom all the promises of God are Yea and Amen, 2 Cor. 1:20: and also from the testification of other persons, by the acclamation of the holy Ghost, who here is as it were an honorable assistant of the marriage of the Church as the spouse: and of every of the godly as members: and finally from the thing present, that of the own knowledge and accord they are called forth unto the participation of the good things of God, verse 17.

22:18 ¹The obtestation of Saint John (which is the third place of the confirmation, as was noted, verse 6) joined with a curse of execration, to preserve the truth of this book entire and uncorrupted, in two verses.

22:20 ¹A divine confirmation or sealing of the obtestation: first from Christ avouching the same, and denouncing his coming against all those that shall put their sacrilegious hands hereunto: then from Saint John himself, who by a most holy prayer calleth Christ to take vengeance of them.

22:21 ¹The salutation Apostolical, which is the other place of the conclusion, as I said, verse 6, and is the end of almost every Epistle: which we wish unto the Church, and to all the holy and elect members thereof in Christ Jesus our Lord, until his coming to judgment, Come Lord Jesus, and do it. Amen, again, Amen.
